2,000 Arab Students in Cairo Riot

Jordanian Youths Urge Resignation of Pro-West Chief

CAIRO (UP)—Two thousand Arab students—most of them from Jordan—staged a mass demonstration Saturday night shortly after President Gamal Abdel Nasser called an extraordinary session of the cabinet to discuss the Jordanian crisis.

The students called for the resignation of pro-western Jordanian Premier Ibrahim Hashem, formation of a nationalist government in Jordan, lifting of martial law there, reinstatement of ousted officers, rejection of the Eisenhower Doctrine and King Hussein's adherence to a positive neutrality.

The students massed in the streets of Cairo shortly after Nasser held a one-hour emergency session with the Egyptian cabinet and then went into private conference with Syrian President Shukri El Kuwatly, who flew to Cairo Saturday from Damascus.

* * * *

EARLIER, EGYPT said it "is more anxious than any country" to preserve the independence and safety of Jordan.

Meanwhile at Amman, Jordan, King Hussein's pro-western government set up military courts to try enemies of the throne in one of a series of stern moves to assure Jordan's independence. Egyptian newsmen were ejected from the country.

It was revealed that Syrian troops attempted two weeks ago to seize northern Jordan, plunging relations between the two countries to an all-time low.

Sharper TV Screen Revealed

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Navy Saturday announced development of a "revolutionary" new television screen which it said will permit sharper contrasts in black and white sets during daytime.

The Navy said the new screen, which uses a film of phosphor on the face of the tube instead of the usual white powdered facing, also provides a "new and simplified approach" to color television and "is expected to lead to the development of three-dimensional viewing."

Phosphor is a luminous substance which emits light without sensible heat.

The Naval Research Laboratory, which developed the process during a search for better windshields for aircraft, said the facing of film improved daylight viewing of black and white television because of improved contrasts and sharper pictures.

* * * *

THE FILM-COATED tube face was said to reflect far less sunlight than conventional tube faces and to give sharper pictures because the powder coated screens have a grainy texture that scatters part of the light and produces images with hazy borders.

4 WITNESSES 'DISAPPEAR'

Racket Probers Beckon, No Becks

WASHINGTON (AP)—Senate rackets probers said Saturday four key witnesses in their investigation of Teamsters Union president Dave Beck—including Beck's son—"have disappeared."

Chairman McClellan (D-Ark) of the Special Senate Committee conducting the inquiry said the four are needed for questioning in a further investigation of Beck's handling of union funds.

The Teamster chief recently invoked the Fifth Amendment, contending it might incriminate him if he told the committee whether he used hundreds of thousands of dollars of union funds to pay his personal bills and finance a lavish scale of living.

* * * *

THE COMMITTEE now seeks to explore business dealings of Beck and members of his family with the Teamsters Union.

McClellan listed Fred Verschueren Sr., a top Teamster Union auditor, as the most wanted of the missing four. His announcement said the others sought are Dave Beck Jr., and two relatives of the senior Mrs. Beck, whom he identified as Joseph McAvoy, a nephew, and Norman Gessert, a cousin. He said all four have Seattle addresses.

Robert F. Kennedy, the committee counsel, told reporters the U. S. marshal in Seattle and, committee investigators have sought since mid-January to locate Verschueren, to subpoena him for questioning.

* * * *

KENNEDY SAID Mrs. Verschueren, their son Fred Jr., and "the Seattle Teamster organization" all professed to have no knowledge of the auditor's whereabouts.

"We made inquiry with the International Brotherhood in Washington, and they don't know," Kennedy said. "We were told the only person who would know is Mr. Dave Beck Sr., and he hasn't responded."

McClellan said that after "intensive" efforts in the past five or six weeks failed to locate Verschueren, he finally sent Beck this telegram on April 15: "We are trying to locate Mr. Fred Verschueren Sr., and would appreciate your so informing him and also notifying me where he can be reached."

"All we got back," Kennedy said, "was a phone call that he (Beck) had received the message."

Sec. Dulles 'Insincere' ---Mikoyan

VIENNA, (AP)—Soviet Deputy Premier A. I. Mikoyan said Saturday Secretary of State Dulles was insincere and even insulting in trying to set "preconditions or prerequisites" for any conference with the Soviet Union.

He gave that reply to correspondents who questioned him about Dulles' statement at a news conference Tuesday that he would welcome new talks with the Russians if they showed they really wanted to move forward and not just make propaganda. Mikoyan said Dulles himself "tries to create confusion and spread misinformation."

Mikoyan held a news conference of his own before taking off for Moscow at the end of a five-day official visit here.

* * * *

"HOW CAN Dulles make preconditions or prerequisites before inviting anybody to a conference?" Mikoyan asked. "How can he say our aims and proposals are propaganda and his are logical? That is not only not sincere, it is actually insulting.

"The United States needs peace as much as we do . . . We don't want war . . . we need nothing that we would have to go to war for . . . We have plenty of vast territory and big economic developments to keep us busy for two or three generations . . .

"We know Dulles is trying to scare us and other people. But we are not afraid. We in the Soviet Union have created large forces to show the aggressive quarters that we can handle them. So if they know that we are strong they will be careful . . .

* * * *

"HOW CAN YOU hide a hydrogen bomb if you explode it? Our military power in the Soviet Union is not for scaring people or for attacking anybody but entirely for defense."

This apparently referred to the Soviet Union's nuclear tests, lately reported by the U. S. Atomic Energy Commission. To a question whether Russia was willing to stop such tests now, Mikoyan said that would be only a first step toward a complete ban on atomic and hydrogen bombs.

He declared statesmen must "start dismantling" the Atlantic and Warsaw Pacts "by first arranging armaments controls between Central European countries and increasing mutual understanding."

'One H-Bomb Could Cripple W. Germany'

Kremlin Note Given to Adenauer Aide at Moscow Embassy

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet government warned West Germany Saturday night that use of its territory for Western atomic bases would risk nuclear retaliation that could turn it into "a veritable graveyard."

In a note delivered to West German Charge d'Affaires Heinrich Northe, the Kremlin denied it was resorting to "threats or intimidation."

Then it proceeded to say that a single modern well-placed hydrogen bomb could paralyze all vital centers of West Germany in one fell blow.

* * * *

THE WARNING followed similar threats earlier this month to Denmark, Norway and other European nations.

The note reminded West Germany of the horrors the country suffered in World War II when, as it said, "only conventional weapons were used."

In any new war, it said, the territory of West Germany would become an immediate target of retaliation "with all kinds of modern weapons, including guided missiles."

The Kremlin declared Western promises of assistance in case of an attack were pipe dreams.

"The very nature of atomic and hydrogen weapons makes such hopes completely ungrounded," it said.

* * * *

ANY HOPE THAT a future war can be restricted to tactical atomic weapons also is unrealistic, the note continued.

"Modern tactical weapons have the same destructive force as atomic bombs dropped on the Japanese cities of Hiroshima and Nagasaki," the Kremlin said.

"Anyway, the use of atomic tactical weapons would inevitably lead to use of all other kinds of nuclear weapons with all their tremendously destructive force."

* * * *

THE SOVIET government also appealed to German hopes for reunification, one of the most burning political issues in divided Germany today.

GARAGE DOORS JITTERY FROM PLANE RADIOS

SAN DIEGO (UP)—The Federal Communications Commission Saturday solved the mystery of the swinging doors which had plagued Point Loma residents for several months.

Residents complained that their electronically controlled garage doors opened and shut apparently without stimulus. The doors are set up to respond to a radio beam sent out from their owners' automobiles.

Vergne Hoke, FCC director for the area, said he found the doors operate on almost the same frequency as do naval airplanes approaching the San Diego Naval Air Station. When a pilot presses his microphone button, some garage door opens, Hoke said.

New Rain, Floods in Texas

DALLAS, Tex. (AP)—Up to 5 inches of rain fell Saturday night in extreme south Texas, an area relatively untouched by the drenching April rains in Texas.

A new series of thunderstorms, with hail and high wind, swept across the Panhandle and south plains in the western part of the state.

And five of the state's major rivers, fed by nine days of unusually heavy rain in north and central Texas, threatened new floods as the huge volume of water raced toward the Gulf of Mexico.

A 4.7-inch rain fell at Delmita in the lower Rio Grande Valley Saturday night. Lighter rains fell in other parts of the valley and from Alice to Eagle Pass.

* * * *

ON THE SOUTH PLAINS, Sheriff Dee Clements said hail 2 and 3 inches deep covered the highways and fields around Muleshoe, making the countryside look like there had been a snowstorm.

He said the storm extended eastward from Tatum, N. M., to Dimmit, Tex.

Heavy rain, with hail and high winds, was reported at Amarillo and to the north and northwest.

Two tornadoes were sighted in the state Saturday, at Mildred and Fairfield in east Texas, but neither touched ground.

The U. S. Corps of Engineers estimated that floods had caused $9,000,000 in damage along the Brazos River and $6,500,000 along the Trinity River.

The State Highway Department listed approximately 60 highways and roads closed to traffic. Many roads listed as still open were termed dangerous or limited to light travel.

Weird Story of Stalin Effort at Mt. Everest--Did 40 Die?

LONDON (AP) — A weird story reached here Saturday that 40 Russian mountaineers perished attempting to beat the British in scaling Mount Everest in 1952.

Sir John Hunt, who led the successful British ascent of the world's highest mountain in 1953, commented: "I think there is some truth in the story."

The Warsaw Newspaper Szandar Mlodych carried the report about the Soviet Expedition, saying it was under direct orders from Stalin.

A Polish climber named Pawlowski was quoted as saying the Soviet mission was to plant the "flag of peace" on top of Everest as a dramatic gesture in Stalin's peace offensive at that time.

The Soviet expedition reportedly reached 26,400 feet —within 2,600 feet of the top of Everest. In December 1952 the Russians radioed confidently they hoped to scale the peak within two days. That was the last heard from them and presumably the expedition was wiped out by an avalanche, by the paper's account.

Sir John Hunt says he remembers a mystery plane circling Everest while the British expedition was training on the mountain in April 1953 before launching an ascent.

* * * *

"A STRANGE PLANE flew overhead," he says. "It came from the north at 15,000 feet, circled round for a while, then turned back to the north.

"We vaguely wondered at the time whether it was a Russian plane. We had heard Russians had set off from the north, or Tibet side of Everest in 1952.

"I think there is some truth in the (Warsaw newspaper's) story. But I don't believe that 40 Russians reached a height of 26,400 feet.

"It is more likely that an advance team of six men tried to reach the top and disappeared, as was reported in some Italian and Swedish papers.

"We had always thought that any attempt on Everest from the north was asking for disaster. The Swiss knew that, and their expedition tried from the south.

"I went to Moscow in 1954 to tell the story of our climb. A group of Russian climbers told me then that Russia did not send an expedition to Everest."

Boy Burned Playing 'Torch' Recovering

TORRANCE — Seven-year-old Mike Maxsenti was recovering in his home at 812 Cota St. Saturday from severe burns of the left leg, suffered when he played a game of human torch with two playmates.

Mrs. Claudio Maxsenti, Mike's mother, said the boy told her he was playing in a neighbor's yard with two other youngsters who had a can of lighter fluid and a pack of matches.

One of the boys, 12, poured the lighter fluid on his trouser leg and the other, 9, touched a match to it, the burned boy told his mother. He said the object of the game was to "wipe out" the flames with bare hands before any damage was done.

* * * *

ALARMED AT THE stubborn flames, Mike leaped into a sandpile and with the help of the other boys put out the blaze.

The boy was treated at Torrance Medical Center for first, second and third-degree burns of the left leg from the knee down.

Juvenile officers said they will have a talk with the parents of the other boys in the dangerous "game."

Philip Ducks Out on Brass, Chats With Welsh Folk

CARDIFF, Wales (AP)—Prince Philip ducked quietly out of an official city reception Saturday and mingled with thousands of Welsh folk. His bodyguards didn't notice him go.

The result: A near-melee as dozens of surprised women fought to get close enough to touch Queen Elizabeth's husband. Policemen were called in to hold them back.

Philip spent some time strolling among the throng, pausing now and again for a chat with people he met. After returning to the reception he told Cardiff officials: "I just wanted to meet the people."

Such informal mixing with nonofficial groups is rare for members of Britain's royal family, but several newspapers lately have been urging royal advisers to relax the rules.

Fleet's Quick Move Leaves Many Behind

NAPLES, Italy (UP) — The super carrier Forrestal, the battleship Wisconsin and the rest of the mighty U.S. Sixth Fleet cruised in the eastern Mediterranean Saturday.

The exact position of the fleet remained a closely guarded secret.

Its major warships, including the Forrestal, the Wisconsin and the cruisers Des Moines and Salem assembled off the Italian coast Friday and steamed eastward together.

The ships converged in runs from French and Italian ports that were made so swiftly hundreds of crewmen were left behind on shore.

The U.S. destroyer tender Everglades put out from Cannes on the French Riviera Saturday for the fleet maneuver area with 250 seamen who were on leave when the fleet received its urgent sailing orders.

Naples, the main base for the fleet, was being used as a collection point for other sailors who were away when the ships sailed.

L.A.C. Says: Better Take a Look

Before the voters approve a $1,500,000 expenditure for a mile square camp site and buildings in the San Bernardino mountains, we suggest they take a look at other expenditures which must be faced. All such expenditures must be paid for from taxes. We face some staggering increases.

On the June ballot will be a bond issue for $6,884,000 for the water department. It is an essential measure to maintain our water supply and distribution system. We are told this bond issue will be paid for from water department revenues. But we are also told water rates will be raised.

We have some 1,300 acres of park land in the city. Last year we voted $4,900,000 to develop them. But a statement by the president of the Park Commission says: "This required only approximately half of the amount of money necessary to completely develop the parks with facilities." From that we must assume we will need another $4,900,000 bond issue to complete development of our parks here at home.

When the $29 million of bonds were voted last year it was estimated upland oil money would pay all the costs of interest and redemption of principal. At that time the airport oil field was bringing in about $1,625,000 a year to the city. That money was being used for general city purposes. Starting this July all upland oil money is to be used for bonds.

But now we find the airport oil income has dropped from that figure to an estimate of only $1 million for the year. But the experts estimate it will drop to less than $500,000 next year and to $150,000 two years from now. That means it will take close to a million dollars of new tax money to take care of bonds already voted, which it was expected would be paid from oil revenue.

But this is only half of it. This oil money which has been used for general city expenses will no longer be available. Therefore, that million dollars must come from new city taxes—unless expenditures are cut, and no one believes they will be cut. In fact, much greater expenses for streets and general city housekeeping are expected.

School teachers are asking for pay raises of from $300 to $800 a year. In our opinion they deserve the raise. But to grant it will cost one or two million dollars more than is now paid. That must come from increased taxes. Because of the tremendous increases in enrollment we must add more teachers and school buildings.

Then, city employes are asking for a 5 per cent increase. We believe they are entitled to it because cost of living has increased by almost that amount since their last raise. But such a raise will cost close to another million dollars a year. County employes are also asking for increases—all of which must be paid from property taxes.

If all these added costs are totaled it would mean increased taxes equal to almost 75 per cent of our present city tax rates. They would be collected by different branches of local governments—city—School —county. But they would all be levied on property and collected from local taxpayers.

These are but a few of the added costs we face. They are evidence of how governmental costs creep up. It is up to the people to stop and carefully consider approval of further expenses. The Barton Flats program is presumably for 6th graders who are given five days in school camps. But it is also a fact that the facilities are used by adults for week-end trips. A large portion of those using Camp Hi Hill facilities are city, school and Recreation Commission employes.

The $1,500,000 cost of the project will be charged directly to taxpayers. It will not be a bond issue which would require a two-thirds majority vote. About 20 per cent of the school district is outside of Long Beach. But this plan will place the entire cost on Long Beach taxpayers. The School Board has refused to place the Barton Flats project on a district wide bond issue. These are factors voters should consider when they vote on the project May 14. —L.A.C.

Harry and Adlai Are $100 Speakers

WASHINGTON (AP) —Former President Truman and Adlai E. Stevenson will be the main speakers at the Democratic Party's $100 a plate fund-raising dinner here May 4.

This was announced Saturday by the Democratic National Committee.

The dinner will be held in the National Guard armory in honor of congressional leaders and Democratic governors. It will be sandwiched in between a meeting of the national committee May 3 and a session of the party's new advisory council, of which Truman and Stevenson are members, on May 5.

Other speakers at the banquet, which leaders hope will sharply reduce the party's deficit of more than $400,000, will be Rep. John W. McCormack of Massachusetts, House majority leader; Gov. G. Mennen Williams of Michigan; Rep. Edith Green of Oregon, and Chairman Paul M. Butler of the national committee.

Butler has invited all 29 Democratic governors for a discussion of issues at panel sessions preceding the dinner. Seven so far have accepted.

Beaten in Cuba, Says Wyoming Man

MATANZAS, Cuba (UP) — Guards at President Fulgencio Batista's home in suburban Varadero Beach beat, threatened and detained a wealthy Wyoming cattleman and three companions last Sunday night, it was announced Saturday.

The U.S. Embassy arranged for the release of Lawrence K. Lunt Jr. and his friends after they had been held for two hours.

The embassy said it is "bringing the matter to the attention of the proper Cuban authorities." The delay in announcing the incident was not explained.

* * * *

HEAVY SECURITY precautions were in force at Batista's beach house on the night Lunt charged he was manhandled because the president spent holy week at the nearby resort, some 90 miles east of Havana.

A corporal armed with a tommy gun signaled Lunt to halt as he was driving by the house. His Belgian-born wife Beatrice and the son and daughter of Brazilian Ambassador Vasco T. Da Cunha were with him.

As soon as the car stopped, the corporal walked over and punched Lunt in the face, he said. He menaced the American with the butt of his gun when he jumped out of the car to demand an explanation.

* * * *

LUNT SAID the attack was "unprovoked and outrageous."

Cuban authorities insisted that he take a drunk test, and then refused to sign a certificate when it proved that he was sober, the American said.

Lunt himself was not allowed to communicate with anyone, but the Da Cunhas were able to get hold of their father. The Brazilian ambassador reported the incident to the U.S. Embassy.

BULL IN SEA FIGHTS SHARKS UNTIL RESCUED

RIO DE JANEIRO (AP) — The crew of the Dutch ship Alkaid had a thriller to tell on their arrival Saturday—the story of a bull that jumped overboard in the middle of the Atlantic and was rescued from a school of sharks.

They said the bull, one of a herd of 11 en route to a Brazilian stockman, became frightened and leaped into the sea when the ship was a few days out of the Azores. The Alkaid halted and the bull swam around the vessel for 90 minutes in a group of sharks.

Crew members finally managed to herd the animal to the ship's side, get a cargo net under him and lift him back aboard.

Russ Warn W. Germany About Adopting A-Arms

militarization already has created serious obstacles to Germany unification, the note said, and the "transformation of the country into a nucleus of atomic war would deal an irreparable blow" to these hopes.

The Kremlin said Communist East Germany so far has refrained from atomic armament.

It did not, however, suggest that this might possibly have been dictated by the Soviet Union's own fears of the possible outcome of such form of militarization within its restive satellite.

* * * *

THE SOVIET Union said it would be willing to reach agreement with the Western powers not to locate atomic weapons on the territory of either Germany, a proposal that held little hope of serious consideration in the West.

The note to Bonn was released by Tass, the official Soviet news agency, a few hours after Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko handed it to the German charge d'affaires.

The promptness of the release probably was motivated by the fate of similar notes to Denmark and Norway earlier this month.

Those notes were released in Copenhagen and Oslo before they were released in Moscow, the full propaganda effect of an original announcement.

Bonn Denounces Note as Threat

BONN, Germany (AP) — West Germany's government Saturday angrily denounced a Soviet warning of calamities that might follow if the West German army is equipped with atomic weapons.

A special announcement termed the Soviet message "interference in internal political affairs" and a "massive threat."

The announcement complained that Moscow deliberately ignored assurance by Chancellor Konrad Adenauer to Soviet Ambassador Andrei Smirnov only Thursday that West Germany neither possess nor has asked for any kind of atomic weapon.

Because Adenauer specifically asked that this assurance be conveyed to Premier Nikolai Bulganin, the government called the Soviet note "astounding."

West Germany is torn by a bitter political controversy over the still theoretical question of whether it should base its defense on nuclear arms. The matter has become a prime election issue.

LOVE GROUNDS GRANDMA

Female Parachutist Lands With 'I Do'

By BERT RESNIK

Love partially grounded Long Beach's 42-year-old parachuting grandma Saturday.

Mrs. Emily Brown came down to earth long enough to say "I do" in a wedding ceremony with Chief Yeoman James C. Myers, 42, USCG, of 1080 Elm Ave.

A couple of weeks before the "I do," there was an "I will" from the feminine dare-devil for her groom-to-be.

The "I will" was in reply to his request for her to give up parachute jumping when she became his bride.

Mrs. Brown did a lot of looking before she leaped at the decision. She had 62 parachute jumps to her credit, all made in the last two years.

* * * *

SHE WAS BOOKED for a parachute performance in Canada on June 5. A month later, she was scheduled to do her jumping in Czechoslovakia.

Marriage would mean shooting the chutes and cancellation of her performances.

But Myers' only reason for asking her to give up the non-grandmotherly sport was for her own welfare. He felt it was too dangerous.

So a few days after he asked her, Mrs. Brown checked with him to see if they couldn't work out a compromise. She'd give up the parachuting, but, please, couldn't she go on flying.

For Grandma Brown has a private flying license, too.

* * * *

MYERS SAID ok, provided he could go along when she went chasing off into the wild blue yonder.

The romance initially took wings here when Mrs. Brown was introduced to Myers last year. He asked her to go ice-skating with him.

Their second date was at a roller-skating rink and Mrs. Brown knew she had found her sports-loving kind of a man—even if he drew the line at parachute jumping.

They werewed by the Rev. Frank M. Kepner in the First Baptist Church. It is the third marriage for Mrs. Brown. Her two previous husbands are deceased.

* * * *

FINGERING HER gloves before the ceremony, she confided: "I feel more nervous than if I were going to make five parachute jumps, one after another."

It is the first marriage for Myers. It showed.

"I feel . . ." he said. "I feel . . . well. I don't know how to explain it. I feel a little bit shaky."

* * * *

MRS. BROWN'S three married daughters, mothers of six children, were quite calm. The daughters are Mrs. H. J. Snider, Mrs. J. V. Snider Jr., both of Ontario, and Mrs. Richard P. Boyd, 2503 Danmead St., with whom Mrs. Brown has been staying.

The blissful couple left for a honeymoon in the mountains following the ceremony.

And Myers doesn't know it yet, but his wife confided she plans to teach him to be a pilot.

They were off to a flying start Saturday. Both were walking on air.

MODEL RAILROAD ENTHUSIAST

C. B. Lumsden, of Glendale, seems to enjoy his job as judge of a model building contest at the meeting here of the Pacific Coast Region of the National Model Railroad Assn. More than 300 delegates attended the 13th annual three-day meet, which winds up today. New officers are Karl K. Busch, San Diego, regional president; Charles McDonaugh, Jr., San Francisco, vice president, and Dick Abbott, Frenso, secretary-treasurer.—(Staff Photo.)

Mob Heckles U.N. Russians

NEW YORK (U.P.)—Some 700 Hungarian-Americans and newly arrived refugees, hurling red ink and bitter words, Saturday picketed the building housing the Russian United Nations delegation.

The placard-carrying demonstrators shouted "Russian murderers . . . go home!" A bottle of red ink was splattered against one side of the building.

Police Probe Mystery Explosions in Britain

LONDON (U.P.) — Police were trying Saturday to determine the cause of two mysterious explosions which occurred at widely-separated points in Britain Friday night.

A motorist near Glasgow, Scotland, saw one of the explosions, which he said was caused by a "ball of fire" which exploded with "brillian blue flash" and enough force to bounce his car a few inches in the air.

* * * *

THE EXPLOSION in Scotland left a crater 18 inches across and two feet deep.

A second, more powerful, explosion occurred in the woods near the Epsom racetrack outside London. No one saw that explosion, so the circumstances are uncertain.

Police found a crater five feet across and three feet deep in the Epsom Woods. Pieces of a metal casing were found nearby.

The Scottish ball of fire appeared to come from the sky, and police believe it may have been a rare form of meteorite.

Promotions by USAF Up for Hearing

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate Armed Services Committee plans a public hearing, probably Thursday, on Air Force efforts to promote movie star Jimmy Stewart and 10 other Air Force Reserve officers.

Sen. Margaret Chase Smith (R-Maine) has questioned the proposed promotion of Stewart, now a colonel, to brigadier general, and promotion of 10 brigadier generals to major general.

Mrs. Smith, herself a lieutenant colonel in the Air Force Reserve, wrote Chairman Russell of the committee last month that there is "some doubt as to what degree some of the nominees are truly active reservists."

At her request, Russell asked the Air Force to supply detailed records on each of the proposed general, with emphasis on reserve training and duties during the past 10 years.

* * * *

SEN. SMITH said she had protests from numerous other reserve officers that some of those on the Air Force list had been inactive until just before their names were considered by a special promotion board.

Stewart, listed as James Maitland Stewart by the Air Force, and the other nominees will not be required to appear in person at this time.

Instead, Lt. Gen. Emmett O'Donnell Jr., assistant chief of staff for personnel, and James H. Douglas, new Secretary of the Air Force, will be asked to answer questions by Mrs. Smith and other senators.

Solomon Topic at Club Meet

Oscar Wild, minister of Parkcrest Church of Christ, will talk on "King Solomon's Discoveries" at a meeting of Long Beach Masonic Club Thursday noon in the Wilton Hotel. James Campbell will be chairman of the day, and Lyle Huggins will preside.

JUST BEFORE THE COFFEE BREAK

Milady Makes Quite a Splash With Paint Brush, Coffee Cup

The Painting, Paperhanging and Coffee Drinking Society (women only) had another session Saturday and not a single member painted herself into a corner.

But that's because the organization is sixe years old now.

"We're old hands at this house painting now," commented one of the members in good stepladder standing—Mrs. E. J. Craigo, 200 The Toledo.

"I must admit, though," she said, "that I used to paint myself into a corner now and then."

"We've really improved," added Mrs. Frank Gillelen Jr., 5926 Applan Way. "Why, we even paint and hang paper at the same time nowadays and you can hardly do that."

* * * *

SEVEN OF THE organization's members descended Saturday morning on the home of Mrs. Olive H. Kennedy, 5451 E. 2nd St. Mrs. Kennedy, mother of one of the members, Mrs. Barbara MacKenzie, 5575 E. Seaside Wk., left when she could stand the noise no longer.

By late afternoon the crew had painted the living room, bathroom and kitchen.

Other members of the kaffeeklatching painters are Mrs. Jack Berbower, 389 Haines Ave.; Mrs. Oliver O. Flood, 60 Prospect Ave.; Mrs. Ruby Cupper, 5275 The Toledo; Mrs. Joseph Canning, 25 Cherry Ave., and Mrs. Carl Armstrong, 345 Lakeview St.

The whole idea, they say, is to paint one another's homes when they need painting or even when they don't need painting.

"We put away gallons of coffee," Mrs. Gillelen remarked.

THE SOCIETY prides itself upon its other club work, too. Represented are Miss Universe Pageant hostesses, Community Chest workers and Red Cross Gray Ladies.

Mrs. Armstrong is especially keen about the society.

When members showed up at her place, they found an apartment house, with seven out of nine units scheduled for painting.

That particular kaffeeklatch lasted seven days.

Redondo Council to Get Bids on New City Hall

REDONDO BEACH—Bids on financing and construction of a proposed new City Hall will be laid before the City Council Monday night in the last regular meeting of the group before a majority of its members returns to private life.

Three of the present council—Chester Dailey, Robert Goldstone and William F. Czuleger—were defeated for reelection April 9 and will bow out of office Wednesday. Mayor J. Russell Shea also will be replaced at that time.

City Manager Francis E. Hopkins expressed optimism that the lame duck council will approve financing bids for the new City Hall, first building of a Civic Center proposed for a site at Diamond St. and Elena Ave.

Hopkins said he also would recommend that the council approve a bid to build the structure for $466,642 bid by the Mayfair Construction Co. of Los Angeles.

The bids on financing, lack of which has delayed a decision on the civic project, have been promised by the city's financial consultant, the city manager said.

5,300 Marine Corps Reservists Expected

CAMP PENDLETON (AP)—More than 5,300 officers and men are expected here this summer for the organized Marine Corps reserve annual training periods.

Reserve untis extending from Atlanta, Ga., to Portland, Ore., will receive two weeks training from June 10 through Aug. 30.

BARGAIN FOR UNCLE SAM

She Becomes Citizen to Help Protect U.S.

By JACK McDONALD

Uncle Sam got himself a bargain in Mrs. Aurencia Carman, brand new citizen.

Most immigrants who sign up as Americans do it to share in freedoms and protections the U. S. offers.

Mrs. Carman, a peppery little 61-year-old grandmother of 1426 Pine Ave., did it to protect the U. S.

She went along for 41 years as a "visiting" Portuguese alien. She didn't care about papers — until they told her she could no longer serve in the Ground Observer Corps without them.

* * * *

"I WAS A GROUND observer eight months in Bremerton, Wash. Then I came here a year ago, and they wouldn't let me be one until I was a citizen. You know how we need ground observers. I got busy right away," she said.

Mrs. Carman took out her papers when she came to live with a daughter, Mrs. Pauline Anderson, at the Pine Ave. address. She studied U. S. history and current affairs at home. Friday she took the examination.

"I was nervous and shaking like a leaf," she confessed. "The more I had read about the country, the more interested I got and the more I wanted the papers."

* * * *

SHE DID ALL right, according to the examiners. They told her she answered 180 questions correctly. One examiner observed that that was better than most life-long Americans could do.

Now Mrs. Carman intends to go to work as a governess. Her spare time, naturally, will be devoted to ground observer work. And to reading more U. S. history.

Blast Victim in Torrance Dies of Burns

TORRANCE — Raymond Lee Martin, 23, of 11332 Woodbury Rd., Garden Grove, critically burned in an explosion at the Harvey Machine Co. plant on April 16, died Saturday in Torrance Memorial Hospital.

Martin was the blast's second fatality. Robert F. Wade, 21, of Lawndale, was decapitated when a titanium melting pot exploded in a classified area of the plant at 190th St. and Western Ave. here.

* * * *

A THIRD MAN, Vernon Adams, 41, of 4045 W. 163rd St., Lawndale, was seriously burned.

Martin is survived by his wife, Irma L.; a daughter, Mary Ann; two brothers, Therman R. and Whitham; a sister, Dolores Eileen Martin, and his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Whitman Martin.

The funeral service is scheduled at 3:30 p.m. Monday in Mottell's & Peek Colonial Funeral Home, Midway City, with direction by Stone & Myers Mortuary, Torrance. Interment will be at Sunnyside Memorial Park, Long Beach.

Loot Recovered

CHICAGO (AP) — The FBI Saturday said that 24 fur pieces valued at $37,465—part of the loot in a $121,281 burglary at Baltimore, Md.—have been recovered following the arrest of Albert Paull, 46.

Angler Saves Child, Trout His Reward

PESCADERO (AP) — Jack Kluge, 21, of Belmont was fishing at Hidden Valley Lake near here Saturday when he heard a splash near-by.

Sandra Aitken, 6, of Sharp Park had wandered away from her mother and fallen into 30 feet of water.

Kluge jumped in, clothes and all, still clutching his fishing rod, and dived twice before he located the girl and brought her out. Apparently none the worse, she was hauled off home by her mother.

When Kluge recovered his rod he found an eight-inch trout on the hook.

Social Security Lists Run From Aaaa to Zyzys

By WILLIAM B. HARWOOD

BALTIMORE (AP)—Do you know Mr. X, Mr. Y or Mr. Z? Perhaps Mr. Ng or Mr. Oz live next door. Maybe you've met Odear, Oboy or Ostop, Mr. Hah or Mrs. Ugh.

All these are names of actual persons listed among the more than one million different surnames on the rolls of the Social Security Administration's Bureau of Old Age and Survivors Insurance (BOASI).

The names run all the way from Aaaaa to Zyzys and include persons named simply X, Y or Z. In fact, 21 of the 26 letters of the alphabet are surnames by themselves. The only exceptions are C, J, O, Q and W.

To the people at BOASI—whose daily job it is to delve through millions of earnings accounts and make additions, corrections, and deletions—these are more than just unusual names. The numerous variations of similar names and the frequency with which a certain name occurs is important information to them.

At the last count, the bureau was custodian of 153 million names, including dependents and beneficiaries, and the earning or claims records of those people.

* * * *

FACED WITH the ever-increasing number of records and ever diminishing space, the bureau enlisted the aid of an electronic brain, IBM's 705, and last year began transferring all its account records from punch cards to magnetized tape which can be run through the brain.

In addition to simplifying the search for an account number or summary card and getting the wage information needed from that card, the system compresses the records into a matter of inches or fractions of inches.

In a check of account numbers for corrective purposes, the bureau fed into the brain 118,500,000 account numbers and the first six letters of the person's last name. Last July when the check was started, there were that many different accounts in the BOASI files. The number had grown to 121,745,050 by the first of this year.

The names were committed to the tape in numerical order by account numbers. In return, the brain typed out a complete alphabetical listing of the names, including the frequency with which that same name occurred, and the frequency ranking.

* * * *

AN OUTSTANDING authority on names estimated in 1950 there were approximately 350,000 different surnames in the United States.

The BOASI brain found 1,023,000 different names on the basis of the first six letters only.

In addition to 13 persons named X, there are 575 different names beginning with X and a total of 3,141 persons with X names. That's the smallest letter category, with Q ranking second.

Forty people are named Ha and six Hah.

Twelve are called Dad, 13 Daddy, 40 Dada, 44 Daddi and 101 are Dadds.

Father is the name of 660 others.

Only seven are Mama and 16 are Mom, but 133 will answer to Ma.

Five answer to Hades and 202 to Hell.

For 5,426 persons named Angel, there are only 55 Halos and 6,444 Harps.

Although 17 are called Easily, it's Easy for 20.

There are 534 Misers and 2,789 with Money as their name but the Rich outnumber the Poor, 24,236 to 1,813.

For 13 Mends, there are 30 Torns. More than 75,000 are Black but only 10,376 are Blue.

* * * *

SOME 16,000 are called Bird but there are 3,931 Eagle, 13,088 Crow, 15,376 Finch, 10,747 Peacock, 236,988 Robins and 11,670 Swan.

People named Mouse outnumber the Cats more than 10 to 1, but there are only 10 Pups. And for the 150 named Mouse only 39 will answer Eek. For 56 named Hide, only 260 will Seek.

For 134 Horses there are 4,603 Grooms. Others with names in the animal kingdom include Deer, Doe, Ewe, Fox (75,853 of them), Ape, Goat, Otter, Oxen, Lion, Tiger, Whale, Shark, Frog, Yak and 23,033 Roach.

For 10 who are Stop, 186 are Go. More than 16,000 are Good compared to 4 who are Bad. And the Loves outnumber the Hates, 36,441 to 19.

Some of the other unusually named persons who gave permission for the BOASI to disclose their moniker are Pork Chop, July Bonus and July A. September—the A standing for August.

Then there's Constant True Love and A. Stranger.

Five More Beauties Selected for 'Miss Welcome' Finals May 3

By BOB HOUSER

Hard-put judges selected five more lovelies Saturday at Pierpoint Landing in the second of three preliminaries toward the selection of a Miss Welcome to Long Beach for 1957.

Three blondes and two brunettes were named from a dazzling field of 18 to join five other finalists selected Friday night at Municipal Airport. Five more will be added to the fabulous 15 vying for the Miss Welcome title in the last preliminary at Alamitos Bay today at 1:30 p.m.

Saturday's first ladies are Loretta Newton, 19, of 2205 Cota Ave.; Dorene Porter, 18, of 6385 Lewis Ave.; Anne Trebes, 20, of 1310 E. Roosevelt Rd.; Judy Windsor, 18, of 2425 Eucalyptus Ave.; and Barbara Holmes, 18, of 4821 E. 14th St.

Emcee John Paap, former president of the sponsoring Junior Chamber of Commerce, introduced Friday night winners to the Pierpoint Landing gathering of several hundred persons. They are Donna Albertsen, 4705 Whitewood Ave.; Jean Ellen Bray, 4109 Ostrom Ave.; Dorothy Hardcastle, 4249 Montair Ave.; Connie Rae Herbst, 1920 Henderson Ave.; and Carlene Skillman, 201 E. Neece St.

* * * *

THE 15 FINALISTS will compete May 3, in Municipal Auditorium for the Miss Welcome title, a year-long ambassadorial post as this city's hostess.

Vest-pocket biographies on Saturday's winners:

Loretta Newton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Newton, is a brunette, 5 feet 4½ inches tall, weighs 118 pounds, measures 36-24-36. She does secretarial and bookkeeping work for the Golden State Potato Chip Co. and aspires to be a singer of popular songs. She is a member of Singers Workshop here. She is a graduate of Poly High and attended Long Beach City College last year. "It was real nice," she said of her winning, "I'm very happy and enthused."

* * * *

DORENE PORTER is a stunning, green-eyed champagne blond who drew excellent notices a few months ago for her portrayal of the Marilyn Monroe "Bus Stop" role in a Lakewood Players production. She is 5 feet 5, weighs 117, measures 37-22-35. She does modeling now and wants to be a big-time actress. She likes swimming, riding, water and snow skiing. "I was thrilled to death," she said Saturday. She's trim despite a love for pizza. "I just go on a 'no eat' diet every month or so."

ANN TREBES, daughter of Capt. and Mrs. John Trebes, is a honey blonde of the breathtaking, statuesque type. Statistically she is 5 feet 6, 124 pounds, 35-24-36. She too aspires to be an actress, is now playing in the Community Players production of "A Man Called Peter," does radio announcing, and played a lead in "Happy Time" last semester at Long Beach State College, where she's a sophomore. She keeps that figure by weight-lifting in a local gym. Her selection Saturday was "the happiest day of my life."

* * * *

JUDY WINDSOR, who becomes 18 next Wednesday, was the baby of the lot Saturday. She's the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Windsor. She set off her brown-haired, green-eyed beauty in a black bathing suit. This Poly High senior is 5 feet 6½, weighs 125, and measures 35½-24-36. Judy has designs on a career as a fashion co-ordinator. "I couldn't believe it when they called my number."

Barbara Holmes, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Holmes, knew she was a winner for a longer time than the other contestants; the winners were called in numerical order and when 39 was called out, Barbara's Number 40 was the only number left. "But I still couldn't be sure. I thought they must have passed over somebody by mistake." Miss Holmes is 5 feet 6½, 124 pounds, 36-24-36. She works in customer relations for North American Aviation and would like a career in such work or in public relations.

Judges for the Miss Welcome competition are Malcolm Epley, Press-Telegram executive editor; Miss Karen Keeler, Miss Colorado of 1954 and now a Long Beach school teacher; Prof. James N. Noguer, of Long Beach State College; Mrs. Arthur Randall, chairman of the Miss Universe Pageant hostess committee; Mrs. Sibyl Smith, Miss Welcome of 1956; Mrs. June Doherty, of the Miss Universe Pageant, and William Graf of Bill Graf Studios.

Campaign to Fight Obscene Literature

WASHINGTON (LE)—A group of churchmen Saturday formed a committee to wage a nationwide campaign against obscene literature.

O. K. Armstrong, Springfield, Mo., a former Congressman, said he was elected chairman of the committee by about 30 Protestant leaders who conferred here for four days.

Bizarre Plan to Find Greenlease Money

ST. LOUIS (AP)—The Post-Dispatch said Saturday night a former husband of Sandra June O'Day sent two emissaries to tell the father of the murdered Greenlease boy that she knew who had the missing $300,000 half of the Greenlease ransom.

The emissaries broached a bizarre plan two years ago which they believed would result in recovery of the money if the father, Robert C. Greenlease of Kansas City, would give them a car equipped with a tape recorder and pay other expenses, the newspaper said. The plan was rejected.

In a story by Theodore C. Link, dispatched from Kansas City, the Post-Dispatch said the two men were sent to meet Greenlease and his attorney by Thomas L. Hammond of Du Quoin, Ill., an ex-convict who subsequently married the O'Day woman and then was divorced from her.

• • • •

"SHE DID NOT know about the approach to Greenlease, but Hammond was convinced she knew where the missing ransom was because of her repeated statements to him and to other associates, the newspaper said.

Sandra June O'Day had spent the night at Coral Court, a St. Louis County motel, with Carl Austin Hall, kidnap-killer of 6-year-old Bobby Greenlease, after Hall fled here. He and his accomplice, Mrs. Bonnie Brown Heady, were arrested and executed, but the missing ransom has never been recovered.

Greenlease, a wealthy automobile dealer, and his attorney, Roy C. Hormberg, met with former City Judge L. P. Harris of Du Quoin and Henry Goodman, a licensed private detective of Belleville, Ill., who died last fall, the Post-Dispatch said.

The newspaper said the plan was to induce Sandra O'Day to start talking after a few drinks, then use the information to initiate prosecution.

• • • •

THE MEN TOLD Hormberg in response to a question their expenses would be $10,000 to $20,000 plus a percentage, which they didn't name, of whatever might be recovered.

In Kansas City, Greenlease said they took part in a meeting with two men who claimed to have access to information that might lead to recovery of the money. They said Hammond wasn't present and his name wasn't mentioned.

"We told these men we saw nothing in their proposition," Greenlease said. "We talked for only 10 minutes and we told them we didn't believe they could do anything more than the FBI was doing."

Miss O'Day repeatedly told officers she did not know what became of the missing ransom money.

Russ Making Vaccine to Fight Polio

MOSCOW (U.P.)—A Soviet scientist said Saturday that polio has become a "great problem" in Russia and the country has started producing a Salk-type vaccine to combat it.

Professor M. Chumakov, a member of the Academy of Medical Science, wrote in the latest issue of the magazine "October" that Russian production is "in no way inferior to the highest American standards."

Chumakov visited the United States last year to study the vaccine developed by Dr. Jonas Salk of Pittsburgh.

A TOURIST'S VIEW OF Movieland

—Associated Press Photos

"Saw Ronald Colman House; Learned Jack Benny Not Ronald Colman's Neighbor."

"Living Room Furniture Ugly as They Come."

Benny Not Colman's Neighbor

On orders from boss, played tourist in movieland.

Looked part, too — camera around neck, purposeful expression.

Bought ticket for Tanner Gray Line Motor Tour of Hollywood, Beverly Hills, movie stars' homes in lobby of Hollywood Roosevelt Hotel across from Grauman's Chinese.

Boarded bus outside for four-hour trip. Bus full of people with cameras around neck, purposeful expressions.

Most tourers elderly. Couple of unmarried school teacher types. Two young couples, one with small son, other with mother-in-law from Delaware. Sat beside mother-in-law.

* * * *

BUS HEADED for downtown Los Angeles Tanner terminal to pick up rest of load.

Bus driver — Glendale man named Avery Peck—pointed out Capitol Records building, Brown Derby, Moulin Rouge, CBS Radio and Palladium, giving spiel over PA system.

Delaware mother-in-law said couldn't see anything at all. Daughter sympathized.

Drove onto freeway. Driver gave rundown on county freeway system. Said freeways cost average $3,500,000 a mile. Said speed can't be under 55 in inside lane. Said latter information obtained hard way.

Turned onto Harbor Freeway at big interchange. Learned 2,500,000 cars a day pass there. Picked up rest of passengers at terminal at 3rd and Boyleston Sts.

* * * *

HEADED WEST, all seats occupied. Driver made introductory remarks to new passengers. Suggested getting comfortable, removing coat, shoes, if desired. Passengers snickered.

Asked where everybody from. Shouts of Pennsylvania, Michigan, Illinois, Nebraska, South Dakota, Ohio, etc. Nobody from Brooklyn. Nobody applauded.

Mother-in-law yelled Delaware self consciously. Driver didn't hear. Yelled twice more. Strong voice. Little nasal, though.

Passed Good Samaritan Hospital off Wilshire. Driver informed audience it is one of 135 hospitals in city. Said Howard Hughes recovered from plane crash there, Lana Turner and Ava Gardner at bedside.

At Lafayette Park just past Alvarado St., learned land given city by woman who requested no smoking there. Scanned park. Didn't see smoker one.

* * * *

Woman from Delaware still couldn't see a thing. Daughter couldn't either.

Driver told joke about conducted tour in Detroit. Said bus passed house driver said was Ford home.

Woman in front seat asked, Henry? Driver said no, Edsel. Another house, driver said Dodge home. Woman asked, Horace? Driver said no, Joseph.

Came to big building with steeple. Driver said place First Church of Christ. Man in back of bus pipes up, OK lady, go ahead and ask him. You can't be wrong every time.

Delaware woman laughed. We laughed. Everybody laughed.

Passed Vermont Ave. Driver said straightest street in LA. Said runs 26 miles from Hollywood Hills to San Pedro without a curve. Took Vermont on way home. Driver dead wrong. Two or three bends. Tricky ones.

Into Beverly Hills. Passed Chasen's Restaurant where stars really eat. No sign of recognition from driver.

Through residential section. Shown homes of director Billy Wilder, Hal Wallis, Rosalind Russell, Jimmy Durante. 1955 sedan in drive Durante's, driver said.

* * * *

WENT BY former home of Marion Davies. Big place. Then houses of Ronald Colman, Mike Romanoff, Dinah Shore, Desi and Lucy, Jimmy Stewart.

Learned Jack Benny NOT Ronald Colman's neighbor, no matter what Benny says on program.

Next Randolph Scott's place. That's my boy said Delaware woman, finally getting into spirit of things.

Short detour into Holmby Hills, Bel Air, past homes of Gary Cooper, Sonia Henie, Beautiful area.

Into Brentwood where two smart kids at roadside opened up with squirt guns. Powerful ones. Caught one right in kisser through open window. Controlled self.

* * * *

UP WINDING ROAD to Will Rogers ranch.

Rambling place with polo field in front yard. View of ocean and Santa Monica Canyon.

Paid quarter to walk through house. One room full of mementoes and quotes like what America needs is fewer speedometers and more alarm clocks.

Living room furniture ugly as they come. Other rooms better. Outside people taking each other's picture in front of house, signing guest register. Wondered what happened to old guest registers.

Back Wilshire and Sunset to hotel. Off bus into car for home.

Pulled up at own house.

Little place. Awfully little place.—PAUL WALLACE.

CASE OF RELUCTANT GHOST

Darrow Will Attend Chicago Fete in Spirit

CHICAGO (AP)—Clarence Darrow once made a pact to reappear after death at a park bridge in an elaborate spoof aimed at proving there is no hereafter. He never believed he'd show up. He never has.

But he'll be here in spirit Wednesday as Chicago celebrates the 100th anniversary of Darrow's birth.

Lawyers, philosophers, statesmen, writers and teachers are among those who will celebrate toward eulogizing the lawyer-philosopher who rose to fame as "attorney for the defense"—champion of the underdog.

Actually, the observance comes nearly two weeks after Darrow's birthday—April 18—because sponsors wanted a date that wouldn't conflict with the Easter holiday period.

Principal sponsor of the day-long celebration is the Adult Education Council of Greater Chicago which bends its efforts toward stimulating cultural activities in the nation's second largest city.

* * * *

FIRST EVENT on the program will be a morning dedication at a bridge across a lagoon in Jackson Park on the south side. This was the site until recently of an annual ritual by Claude D. Noble of Detroit, who went there March 13, the date of Darrow's death in 1938, in an effort to evoke some sign of being from the departed lawyer.

Noble would kneel, hold aloft a book, and then call upon the spirit of Darrow to knock it free or in some other way manifest itself.

The bridge, which will henceforth bear Darrow's name, was the one from which the lawyer's ashes were strewn after cremation.

Darrow, an agnostic, once commented upon his attitude toward religion in a note to the Associated Press, written less than a year before his death. In the note he said:

"I feel as I always have, that the earth is the home, and the only home, of man, and I am convinced that whatever he is to get out of his existence he must get while he is here."

THE MAJOR EVENT of the day will be the centennial address by Joseph N. Welch, Boston lawyer who gained national prominence during the McCarthy-Army televised hearings. Welch was counsel for the Army.

The grand ballroom of the Sherman Hotel will be outfitted as a courtroom for Welch's banquet address.

Actor Melvin Douglas, who performed in a role fashioned after Darrow in the play, "Inherit the Wind," will appear in Francis Coughlin's one-hour drama, "Darrow for the Defense."

A morning symposium—"Freedom Under Law"—will bring together Dr. Edward J. Sparling, president of Roosevelt University; Louis Zara, novelist; Edith Sampson, former member of the U. S. delegation to the United Nations; Dr. Preston Bradley, minister of the People's Church, and Socialist Norman Thomas.

Darrow's reputation as a champion of the underdog was founded in part on his availability to persons of all classes and creeds. This will be remembered to some degree in the centennial celebration during an informal seminar period in which anyone or everyone may have his say.

* * * *

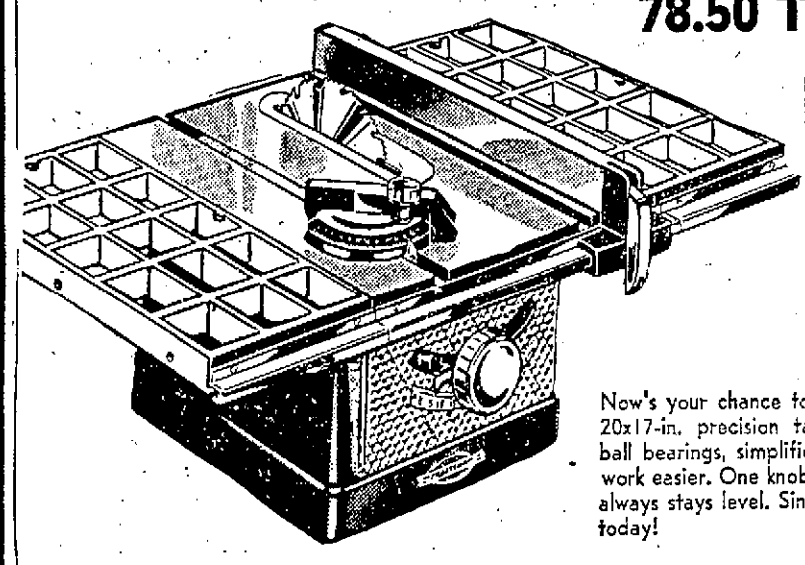

DARROW WAS BORN in Kinsman, Ohio, but it was in Chicago that he took one of the first giant steps toward fame. He was 37 and general counsel for a railroad when he walked out to become lawyer for Eugene V. Debs, Socialist leader indicted for conspiracy in connection with the American Railway Union strike in 1894. He stepped then into the role the world knew him best—"attorney for the defense."

In the years following the trials with which Darrow was connected read like a compendium of the nation's greatest cases.

He was counsel for the McNamara brothers in the Los Angeles Times dynamite case; for the defendants in the Moyer, Haywood and Pettibone case, for the murderer of Idaho Gov. Steunenburg; for Loeb and Leopold; and for the Scopes evolution case, the so-called "monkey trial" at Dayton, Tenn.

Here's the Truth About Rabies

Veil of Mystery Lifted From Disease of Terror

(On April 11 an Anaheim man died of rabies. Later 22 persons were told to undergo the Pasteur treatment because they were exposed to the disease by contact with the stricken man. This article was prepared to lift the veil of mystery from rabies and to offer a course of action for anyone who is exposed.)

By BEN ZINSER

Medical science, never noted for its brevity of communication, wastes no words in describing the finality of human rabies.

Once rabies has developed in man, one medical journal observes, the prognosis is uniformly fatal.

But the terror of rabies is not death itself.

It is rather in the dying.

In all his experience as a doctor of medicine, City Health Officer I. D. Litwack says he has found human rabies to be the most "frightening" of diseases.

"For once a person has developed rabies, the doctor is helpless," Dr. Litwack says.

Like any physician, Dr. Litwack has seen men die.

"And the most horrible deaths I have ever witnessed," he says, "have been those of rabies victims."

* * * *

HUMAN RABIES begins as any other infection — fever, headache, throat irritation, nausea.

Then, two to four days later, an itching sensation at the site of the wound.

This itching—or tingling pain—is the first significant symptom in the diagnosis of rabies.

Next, the muscles stiffen, the nerves tense. The victim becomes anxious. He senses approaching doom.

A recent clinical study completes the description:

"When the patient attempts to drink, there is an immediate vise-like contraction of the swallowing muscles, with an excruciating painful spasm of the glottis and the pharnyx. The body trembles with convulsive movements. The jaws are clenched. Respiration is impossible.

"After several attempts to drink, the pain is so terrible that despite intense thirst, the patient cannot be induced to try to swallow liquids. The sight of water or mention of the word brings on an attack."

* * * *

IT IS THIS FEAR of water that gives human rabies its other name of "hydrophobia."

Death usually occurs two to three days later from heart or respiratory failure.

Specifically, rabies is an acute infection of the central nervous system. It is caused by a virus and is transmitted to man by infected domestic or wild animals, usually the dog, by means of a bite or scratch. Man gets the disease by the contamination of the resulting wounds with infected saliva.

Although the argument is sometimes advanced that rabies in dogs is not particularly common, the State Department of Public Health makes this point:

"One case of rabies in an animal population is a source of danger to all animals as well as man. In California, one puppy, three months old, exposed 72 persons to the disease. The Pasteur treatment was given to all 72 and, fortunately, no human cases of rabies occurred."

In Long Beach last year three persons had contact with rabies, but the Pasteur treatment averted onset of the disease in all three cases.

Nevertheless the City Health Department reports that 2,341 persons were bitten by dogs during 1956 in Long Beach. Herein lies the threat.

* * * *

WHILE THE DOG is primarily responsible for the spread of rabies, the disease has been observed in California in coyotes, skunks, foxes, bobcats, racoons, deer and even the mongoose. An attack on a man in Madera, Calif., by a rabid bat was reported in 1955.

If a person is bitten by an animal, health officers recommend these steps:

1. If possible, capture and confine the animal so it may be observed for symptoms of rabies. If the animal is normal and remains so for 14 days, no antirabic treatment will be necessary unless the exposure was of a severe nature. If the animal shows evidence of rabies when captured, or if symptoms develop within 14 days, treatment should begin immediately. If the animal cannot be located, then the victim should be treated as a precaution.

2. The bite victim should wash his wounds with soap and running water. Repeated soap applications with alternate rinsing should be done for 10 to 20 minutes.

3. Finally, the local health officer should be notified.

* * * *

TREATMENT ORDINARILY is called the "Pasteur" but sometimes is referred to as the "Semple." It was Sir David Semple who modified Pasteur's technique, substituting killed rabies vaccine for weakened live virus. At any rate, the treatment consists of 14 to 21 daily injections of killed rabies vaccine.

The treatment is hazardous. Reactions vary from localized pain to muscular weakness to transient paralysis. In rare cases permanent paralysis or even death results.

In the Los Angeles County area, from 1940 through 1946, nine cases of severe post-vaccinal reactions — including one death — occurred among 5,500 persons receiving treatment, marking an incidence of one severe reaction in 600 treated cases.

But the threat of hydrophobia warrants the treatment, doctors explain.

In cases of severe exposure, the victim, usually receives a hyperimmune serum, which is prepared in horses by repeated injections of rabies vaccine. The processed horse serum possesses antibodies against rabies. It must be used as early as possible after exposure since it is of doubtful value after 72 hours. It should be followed by a course of vaccine. Like the vaccine, the serum can be dangerous since it may produce shock and serum sickness.

* * * *

WHEN IT COMES to the question of prevention of rabies, the Health Division of the Long Beach Community Welfare Council believes that the most effective control method is vaccination of all dogs.

It urges enactment of a city ordinance which would make vaccination compulsory.

One injection of the vaccine has been found effective in preventing rabies infection in dogs if given prior to exposure.

The fact remains that rabies can be controlled. It has been completely eliminated in Denmark, Norway, Sweden and Great Britain. And it has never become established in Australia or the Hawaiian Islands.

Exposure List Levels Off

SANTA ANA—The list of those exposed to rabies by the rabid death of an Anaheim man has leveled off at 22 and no others will be required to take inoculations, Dr. Lee Russell, Orange County health officer said Saturday.

Last to be notified of her risk by health authorities was an 18-year-old student nurse who had left Orange County General Hospital for an Oregon vacation before the patient's death was attributed to rabies. She is now taking the Pasteur treatment.

County residents were urged to watch their pets for suspicious ailments.

Long-term plans for a new anti-rabies pet clinic at the County Animal Shelter, 12562 S. Placentia Ave. have been advanced with a schedule of vaccinations Tuesdays and Thursdays from 1 to 5 p.m., effective this week. Vaccination fee is $2.

Meanwhile medical history reveals that a century ago Orange County surgeons made a practice of amputating the section of the body bitten by a rabid animal and prescribed a concoction of dried chickweed and scarlet pimpernel, boiled in a quart of strong beer.

The dose was downed every morning for three days. Records fail to disclose results of the "cure."

U.S. Trade Fair a Smash Hit, 730,000 Attend

NEW YORK (AP) — The U.S. World Trade fair closed Saturday to a chorus of opinions that it was a smash hit.

Fifty-nine nations displayed their wares in colorful exhibits at the New York Coliseum. There were Italian motor scooters, Polish hams, Israeli wines, German engines and a wide selection of other goods on view.

The total attendance during the fair's two-week stay was estimated at 732,000. Of this number, 127,000 were representatives of business firms. Only about 100,000 business representatives had been expected.

Beauty Queen Not Only One Crowned in Contest

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (UP) — "Miss City Beautiful" was not the only one who got crowned at a beauty contest here Friday night.

The father of one contestant mixed it with the boy friend of another and in the excitement, His Honor, the Mayor of Memphis, Edmund Orgill, got shoved around in the role of peacemaker.

It was while the orchestra was tuning up with "A pretty Girl is Like a Melody" and the beauties themselves were backstage that fistcuffs erupted in front row center.

The principals were Joe C. Smith, 41, father of a contestant, and Bill Black, 18, who was sitting with his girl friend's mother. Smith, said to have suffered a bloody nose in the incident, did not show up in court Saturday and forfeited $52 on disorderly conduct and assault charges.

Young Black did appear and the charges against him were dropped.

Black said the fight started not over the qualifications of the contestants but over the choice front-row seats. He said he was with a party of 10. All except him left at intermission to get soft drinks, he said, and he was saving their seats.

Two men, one of whom he identified as Smith, sat in his friends' seats, Black said, and refused to move.

"Smith started pushing me in the ribs real hard and cussing," Black said. "He said something about a fight. Then he looked at me and asked 'You ready?'"

Black said he replied that he was ready and the combat began as the crowd surged forward to break it up, the orchestra began blaring and the beauty contestants pecked from behind the curtains to find out what gave.

Mayor Orgill tried to pull the battlers apart and "got shoved down against a seat," said a witness, W. Hemingway, 68.

Hemingway helped Orgill to his feet and said "Mayor, we're too old for this, let's move."

Police finally separted the fighters and took them to headquarters where they were booked and released.

The contest proceeded meanwhile and Natalia Dunn, an auburn-haired high school student, emerged as "Miss City Beautiful."

Girl in 10th Week of Steady Hiccups

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (UP) — Maureen Norton, 17, Saturday began her 10th week of almost continuous hiccuping.

The schoolgirl's hiccups stopped once last Thursday and then resumed again. Physicians have been unable to relieve the condition.

Finds Russia Like U.S. in Some Aspects

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP)—Soviet Russia sometimes seems like home sweet home to American visitors these days.

Dr. Henry J. Gomberg of the University of Michigan cites two examples from his 12 days in Moscow early this month. They showed the lighter side of Russian life.

One concerns the bitter arguments, so common to Americans, between taxicab drivers and private motorists. The other is the familiar bargain-basement sale.

Gomberg says cars for the every-day Russian citizen are something new. Until recently, automobiles were used almost exclusively by cab drivers and government chauffeurs. Then cars were placed on the market for the people to buy. It takes a year to get delivery.

"Since these private drivers are new," Gomberg says, "they often find themselves getting cussed out by the taxi drivers, a reversal of the way it is here."

* * * *

GOMBERG also tells of a woman's hat sale at the state-run GUM Department Store.

"There were mobs at the counter," he says. "And thousands were waiting in line all the way out into the street to get at them.

"There's a terrific hunger for consumer goods and it's an accepted fact that if there's something you want. You get in line automatically."

Gomberg's trip to the Soviet Union, however, was not made as a tourist. He was invited there to present a scientific paper at a meeting of the Russian Academy of Science. Gomberg is assistant director of Michigan's Memorial-Phoenix Project, for research into peaceful uses of atomic energy.

As for his overall impression of Russia, Gomberg says:

"The need for our continued and increased efforts in scientific research and development are essential not only for our own progress, but to maintain our competitive position for the next few generations.

* * * *

"RUSSIAN SCIENTISTS are out to get ahead of us. They're not ignorant and they're not incompetent. They're using the only methods they know. I wouldn't say they're better than ours, but we can't sit around and wait."

Gomberg says Russian scientists are superbly trained in schools and universities. They train for 5½ years before they are ready to go to work in specialized fields.

"There's no question about their concept of discipline, their concept of taking orders, their concept of staying in line," Gomberg says. "They definitely check back with higher authority all the time."

Gomberg, whose visit dealt with radiation and radioactive isotopes, says he learned little about what the Russians are doing in the closely related field of atomic power. His conference was not devoted to that field.

But he was able to tour an atomic power plant 80 miles south of Moscow.

* * * *

HE RETURNED with an impression that there was a wide variation in the workmanship of the various sections of the reactor and its building.

"The workmanship evident on the essential parts of the reactor was very high," he says. "It was the same on the instruments. But the workmanship on the building, the wiring and the piping was low by our standards.

"They were using practices we used 30 years ago."

The Russian scientists he met, Gomberg says, appeared very happy and "living on the top of the world." He describes their positions as the "nearest thing to a privileged group or aristocracy."

Like American scientists, they fear a global war would be "a war of annihilation," Gomberg relates.

New Pleasure Predicted for TV FANS

Hospital Wing Guarded Against Nuclear Assault

A 1,000-bed surgical building designed with an eye to atomic or germ warfare will be dedicated at San Diego Naval Hospital May 15.

The addition cost more than seven million dollars and is the largest single Navy structure to be built in the 11th Naval District in more than 10 years.

Structural concrete has been used and activities which would be needed immediately after nuclear or bacteriological attack have been placed below ground. A decontamination entrance has been provided.

The building has 13 operating rooms, a galley to supply food to the entire hospital and extensive medical service areas. More than 100,000 of the 369,244 square feet comprising the total floor area is devoted to bed space. Solariums adjoin each of 24 wards.

INVITATION TO DANCE

Paul R. Rioth (center), chairman of the Long Beach Armed Forces Ball, invites high-ranking Navy officers to lead the grand march the night of May 11 in Municipal Auditorium. The officers are Rear Adm. Robert L. Campbell (left), commander of the Naval Base here, and Rear Adm. Victor D. Long, who will take command of the Mine Force, Pacific Fleet here Tuesday. The dance is presented by the City Armed Services Commission free for members of the armed forces and their ladies.—(Staff.)

435 U. S. Teachers to Go to Europe

WIESBADEC, Germany (U.P.) —The U.S. Air Force will bring 435 new teachers from the United States for the schools it maintains for children of airmen in Europe.

Dr. J. A. Mason, superintendent of USAFE schools, said the teachers would replace those leaving at the end of the current term and also provide the additional staff for an expected increase in pupils. Some 22,000 pupils are attending the schools.

British Freighter in Egypt Port on Canal Trip

CAIRO (U.P.) — The Egyptian Radio reported Saturday that the British-flag freighter Attangallah, en route from Rotterdam to Colombo, arrived in Port Said Saturday and prepared to pass through the Suez Canal.

The broadcast said the Attangallah, which is not listed in Lloyd's Register, paid tolls to the Egyptian Canal Authority.

If the report proves true, the ship would be the second freighter to pass through the canal under the terms recently prescribed by Egypt.

Court Orders Pins Out of Wife's Voodoo Doll

NEW HAVEN, Conn. (AP)—Robert J. Glover, 31, convicted of breach of the peace and given a suspended sentence, had just one request Saturday as he left City Court.

Would somebody please remove the "hex" pins from a voodoo doll his estranged wife had fastened on the door of his room?

While Judge Alfred A. Toscano called a momentary recess in the next case, which he had started to try, Assistant City Attorney John N. Reynolds pulled every pin out of the foot-long doll that had been entered in evidence.

Mrs. Marie Glover, 35, testified she had attached the pin-studded doll to the door of her husband's room, with a small picture of him fastened to the doll's head and patch of red over the heart.

She knew, she told the court, that voodoo theory says such an act will bring death to the person represented by the doll, but insisted she herself didn't believe it.

"I thought I'd give him something to think about," Mrs. Glover testified. "He nags me all the time. I did not intend any meanness."

Glover was arrested April 9 after Mrs. Glover complained he had pushed her.

Mr. and Mrs. Glover occupy rooms in a building here, she on the second floor, he on the third.

Float in Fire Cleanup Parade Rises in Smoke

CHICAGO (AP) — A float in a Chicago cleanup campaign parade caught fire Saturday and sent firemen scurrying for water.

The float—sponsored by the firemen—carried the replica of a house in which 13 people supposedly had lost their lives in flames. It bore the inscription: "Let this be a warning to you."

Firemen said a smudge pot giving off smoke inside the house apparently overheated and ignited the display.

Tip Sheet Bill OKd

SACRAMENTO (UP) — The Assembly Saturday passed and sent to the Senate on a vote of 59-2 a bill making it a misdemeanor for any unlicensed person to sell horse racing tip sheets.

'Yoo Hoo' Yemm Real Yummy, Recalls 3 More Wives---Total 12

CHICAGO (UP) — The many wives of Walter (Yoo Hoo) Yemm may be a blessing in disguise and help him escape a bigamy charge.

Authorities questioned Yemm, 47, time and time again Saturday in an effort to find his legal wife and press a bigamy charge against him.

But Yemm, an assistant purchasing agent for a machine company, has been unable to provide a clue to wife No. 1.

* * * *

HE HAS INDICATED he may have at 'east 12 wives, and Patrick Egan, assistant state's attorney, said there "may be 23 for all we know."

Unless Yemm's legal wife can be found, and she is not divorced, authorities don't have much of a case against Yemm and he could conceivably go free, Egan said.

"We can't figure out which of all these women was his legal wife," Egan said. "And we've got to know that if we're going to prosecute him for bigamy."

Yemm seemed to keep finding wives, and "just happened to remember three more" to boost the total to 12, Egan said.

* * * *

EGAN REVEALED it would take a "lot of investigation" to determine how many wives Yemm really has. He planned to ask for a long continuance when the case comes up in court Monday.

Making the problem exceedingly difficult, Egan said, was Yemm's "hazy memory" for names, particularly the maiden names of women he married. Although Yemm has given numerous first names, he doesn't recall marriage dates or last names, Egan said.

If Yemm should escape the bigamy charges, Egan said, the women he claims in marriage might possibly file civil suits charging non-support or consorting.

* * * *

YEMM WAS caught when he attempted to take another wife —No. 13. His new bride-to-be asked police check on her future husband.

Detectives were astounded as they kept finding wife after wife of Yemm's.

He first admitted six undivorced wives, then increased it to seven in revealing their names. Still later, Yemm remembered a few others, boosting the total to 12.

"Another one, Corrine I think, called up one day and said she was getting a divorce," he said. "Do you suppose that counts?"

* * * *

BESIDE BEVERLY Simms, 31, a typist, and the former Wilma Pyzik, 48, a clerk, both of Chicago, Yemm admitted to being married to women named Edith, Betty, Stella, Corrine, Gladys, and two named Mary.

Yemm also recalled one of his wives was named Lucille and that they were married in Shreveport, La. He couldn't remember her maiden name and was hazy whether the wedding date was between 1942 and 1944 or 1945 or 1946.

Neither Beverly nor Wilma would admit willingness to return to Yemm. Beverly said she "would not stick" with Yemm while Wilma classified herself and Beverly as "temporary stopovers" for Yemm who was "just looking for someone he could really love."

Detective Amos Mitchell said Yemm preferred church weddings because he "liked to collect the presents."

11 Men, Penniless in Youth, Win Alger Success Awards

NEW YORK (UP) — Eleven men who worked their way from virtually penniless boyhoods to business and professional prominence were announced Saturday as winners of the annual Horatio Alger awards.

Bronze plaques will be presented to them May 9 at the Waldorf-Astoria Hotel by the Horatio Alger awards committee of the American Schools & Colleges Assn. The awards are named for the Horatio Alger "rags to riches" novels.

The winners:

Charles C. Bales, head of the C. C. Bales Agency, an insurance firm, Atlanta, Ga., who started work at 12 in a country store.

John Bentia, president of the Alliance Manufacturing Co., Alliance, Ohio, a former newsboy.

Thomas Carvel, president of the Carvel Co., Yonkers, N. Y., who once drove an ice cream truck.

Alwin F. Franz, president of Colorado Fuel & Iron Corp., Denver, a former newsboy and mill worker.

Joyce C. Hall, president of the Hallmark Greeting Card Co., Kansas City, Mo., who began as a stationary store clerk, then started his own business on $148 borrowed from friends.

Gwilym A. Price, president and chairman of the Board of the Westinghouse Corp. He started work at 16 in a Canonsburgh, Pa., tin mill.

Dr. John J. Sheinin, president of the Chicago Medical School. He came to the United States as a penniless youth from Russia, worked as a laborer, and earned his way through school.

Harry Sugar, president of Alsco Inc., Akron, Ohio. He borrowed $300 in 1945 to manufacture aluminum doors and windows. The firm now has 36 plants.

John Ware, chairman of the Board of Northeastern Water Co. and American Water Works Co., Philadelphia, who earned his first money at 16 working for an electrical contractor.

Adam Young, president of Young Television Corp. Oldest of eight children, he left high school and became an NBC page boy to help support the family during the depression.

Louis Zahn, president of Zahn Drug Corp., Chicago, who as a youngster sold chewing gum and razor blades in Chicago's Loop District.

PICNIC SLATED

Annual Trinidad, Colorado, picnic will be in Bixby Park from 11 a.m. to 2 p.m. May 5.

Ike Turning Against Right-to-Work Laws

By WALTER T. RIDDER, ROBERT LEE AND WILLIAM W. BROOM (Independent, Press-Telegram Capital Bureau)

WASHINGTON — Labor Secretary Jim Mitchell thinks he may have President Eisenhower on his side in opposition to the so-called "right-to-work" laws which 18 states now use to ban the union shop. Mitchell has been consistently outspoken against such legislation—which the Taft-Hartley Act permits the states to write—while Ike has always said it's a matter for the states themselves to decide.

But Mitchell feels Ike went a little farther at his last news conference in cautioning the states to "look at this thing very carefully" and avoid getting "a confused thing operating."

As for federal legislation outlawing the union shop, nobody gives it a ghost of a chance. A handful of conservatives, notably Chairman John McClellan (Dem., Ark.) of the Senate rackets investigators and Sen. Barry Goldwater (Rep., Ariz.), have recommended a flat prohibition written into the Taft-Hartley won't be amended at all this year—and that if it were there would still be no federal restrictions on union agreements.

And administration-backed measure relating to union pension and welfare funds stands the best chance of any labor legislation in this session of congress, but that would be entirely separate from Taft-Hartley.

A PROMINENT newspaper publisher recently returned from a visit to a certain resort in Florida. When asked what kind of people went to the place, he replied—"Old crumbs with a lot of dough, well-bred, who think they are the upper crust."

* * * *

THE DULLES BOYS, John Foster and Allen W., get mighty tired of hearing various puns on their names. 'Dull, Duller, Dulles, for instance. The other night, Allen recalled what he considers the most excruciating play on the Dulles name. At high school in Watertown, N. Y., he followed a Doolittle in the alphabetical roll. The teacher, consistently and maddeningly, chanted each day—"Do-little, Doo-less."

Bus Crash Hurts 10

LAPORTE, Ind. (UP)—A motorist drove into the path of a South Bend-to-Chicago bus near here Saturday, causing a collision in which 10 persons were injured. Four of the victims were taken to Fairview Hospital in serious condition.

Humphrey Lauded by Top Demo

WASHINGTON (UP) — Chairman Cannon (D-Mo) of the House Appropriations Committee said Saturday it would be "a national disaster" if George M. Humphrey resigned as secretary of the treasury.

Humphrey, Cannon said, is "apparently a stabilizing influence in the cabinet for economy."

Cannon praised Humphrey even though he and the former Ohio big businessman are in opposing political parties.

Humphrey has been reported about ready to leave the Treasury post which he has held since President Eisenhower first took office in 1953. Humphrey himself has declined either to confirm or deny the report.

* * * *

CANNON, WHOSE committee is the first to handle Eisenhower money requests on their way through Congress, took note of the row over Eisenhower's 72-billion dollar budget for the new fiscal year—a record peacetime high.

Humphrey has figured prominently in the economy question ever since he said early in the year that the budget should be cut wherever it is safe to do so. Continued high federal spending, he said, could eventually lead to a hair-curling depression.

* * * *

CANNON SAID Humphrey has been a cabinet force trying to "hold down" some of these wild expenditures" and the growth of federal agencies.

WORLD NEWS BRIEFS

Thompson Named Envoy to Soviet

AUGUSTA, Ga. (UP)—Llewelyn E. Thompson, a career diplomat who speaks Russian fluently, was chosen by President Eisenhower Saturday to be the new ambassador to Moscow.

Thompson, 52, now envoy to Austria, will succeed Charles E. (Chip) Bohlen at the important Soviet Union post. Bohlen has been reassigned as ambassador to the Philippines after four years in Russia.

James C. Hagerty, White House press secretary, announced at the President's vacation headquarters here that Thompson's nomination—which had been forecast for months—will go to the Senate next week.

Navy Plane Lost

TOKYO (UP)—A U. S. Navy Beechcraft plane believed to be carrying four persons was reported missing Saturday on a flight from Atsugi Naval Air Station near Tokyo to Komai Airbase in Central Japan.

A Navy spokesman said the plane was last reported 45 miles south of Tokyo just four minutes after it left Atsugi. The Navy spokesman did not know immediately how many persons the missing plane carried. A Japanese press report said it had four persons aboard, including three officers.

Boy Shot in L. A. Gang War

LOS ANGELES (CNS)—Six teenage boys were jailed by police early Saturday after a 16-year-old youth was shot and critically wounded in an outburst of teenage violence in southern Los Angeles.

Fred Gallegos, 10221 S. Broadway, was hit in the abdomen by one of two bullets fired from a moving car into a crowd of spectators at a traffic accident at 107th and Juniper Sts.

The six suspects, booked at 77th St. Police Station on suspicion of assault with intent to commit murder, are Richard Juliana, 16; Henry Rodriguez, 18; Gilbert Rivera, 17; Valentino Rentira, 18; Henry A. Mangaser, 17; and Joe L. Martinez, 17.

Honduras Protest Spurned

MANAGUA, Nicaragua (UP)—Nicaragua Saturday rejected a protest from Honduras claiming invasion of Honduran territory.

The foreign ministry made its reply public. It said the town of Mocoron, which Honduras claims was invaded, "is and has always been Nicaraguan territory." Honduras recalled its ambassador Friday as the dispute grew heated over the alleged invasion and supposed insults. Mocoron is in a disputed border zone.

Haydn Score Found, Russ Say

MOSCOW (UP)—A long-lost musical score by 18th century composer Franz Joseph Haydn has been discovered in the Leningrad Library, the "Moscow News" said Saturday.

The newspaper said the score was a divertimento for two clarinets and two French horns in five parts. The title was written on the fly leaf in Haydn's own hand together with the numbers 761. According to experts, the figures indicate the work was written in 1761.

U. S. Grant Home Dedicated

GALENA, Ill. (UP)—The home of Ulysses S. Grant, who rose from soldier to general to President of the United States, was dedicated here Saturday as an Illinois state memorial.

Gov. William G. Stratton dedicated the home as the Grant Home State Memorial for the 135th anniversary of Grant's birth.

CONGRESS CALENDAR

WASHINGTON (UP)—Status of major legislation in Congress:

SCHOOLS—House Education-Labor Committee delayed action until May on compromise five-year, $2,000,000,000 school construction aid bill.

HOUSING — House action pending on $2,900,000,000 housing expansion plan, including special benefits for veterans.

MERGERS — House action pending on bill requiring advance notice to government on mergers involving $10,000,000 or more.

CIVIL RIGHTS—House Rules Committee help up racial rights bill, plans to hold hearings after Easter recess.

DISABILITY — House judiciary committee continues consideration of presidential disability bills.

BANKS—House action pending on Senate-passed bill to modernize federal banking laws.

WAGE-HOURS—House and Senate committee action pending on bills to expand coverage of minimum wage act.

PENSIONS — House action pending on Senate-passed bill to grant former Presidents $25,000-a-year retirement pay.

Expand Air Transport, Legion Urges

WASHINGTON (UP) — The American Legion's National Security Commission urged Saturday an expansion of America's air transport building program to meet the needs of the mobile atomic-age army.

The commission also recommended that Congress consider the new military pay plan to stress skill and merit rather than length of service. This plan was drawn up for the Defense Department by a committee of civilians and past and present defense officials headed by President Ralph J. Cordiner of the General Electric Co.

* * * *

THE TWO recommendations by the National Security Commission were among several the group voted to present to the Legion's national executive committee in Indianapolis May 1-3. The commission is headed by Will F. Nicholson, mayor of Denver.

Girls Say Local Wolves Louder

By JAMES R. McCAULEY

The wolves of Lakewood and Long Beach howl louder than they do in Hollywood.

That is the opinion of a pretty blonde model and movie bit player who successfully has battled off wolves in both locales—Rose Marie Bush of Lakewood.

Miss Bush also has kept some pretty good statistics—the ones on paper, that is—to prove just how much safer she is at Hollywood and Vine than at home.

A MODELING JOB in Lakewood or Long Beach often brings as many as 50 phone calls a week from wolves who want to date Miss Bush for dinner. In a Hollywood job as an extra or bit player, there's only one or two "big bad wolves" to look out for, she said.

"I don't know why the wolves are worse in Long Beach and Lakewood—they just are," Miss Bush said as she sat down beside a dresser jammed with beauty queen trophies.

"Actually, I seldom go out with a man who asks me to dinner. The modern Lakewood-Long Beach wolf usually starts every conversation with, 'Let's have dinner together tonight'."

"Those dinner wolves are the most dangerous," said Miss Bush.

ACTUALLY, CAREER-MINDED models or Lakewood girls who use modeling as a springboard have little time to fight off wolves.

Miss Bush, for instance, has devoted lots of time to winning beauty titles. She is Miss Winter of Long Beach, Miss Air Force of 1957, Miss Outboard Motor, Miss Driver's License and a princess in Lakewood's Pan-American Festival.

Besides, she has traveled to Hollywood for bit roles.

By the time the 19-year-old beauty queen writes back home to her family in Jackson, Mich., and keeps her beauty trophies polished there is little time in her life for wolves or non-wolves.

ANOTHER CASE in point is pretty Rita Pike of 231 Redondo Ave., a striking model who parades the latest fashions at a Lakewood restaurant.

Miss Pike models two or three times a week at fashion shows. One evening she got 11 calls from boy friends but turned down all date offers because she had a photographic modeling engagement.

Modeling in Lakewood or Long Beach is more than a full-time occupation.

WHAT'S ALL THE WHISTLING?

When it comes to wolves, there's nothing like a local yokel, according to two Lakewood beauties. Pretty Rita Pike (left), model for a fashion show at a Lakewood restaurant, finds that modeling and dates don't mix, nixes a telephoned date offer. Reading Variety Magazine in her dressing room to find out when her motion picture will be released is Lakewood's Rose Marie Bush. Rose Marie asserts Long Beach and Lakewood wolves are more numerout than the Hollywood variety of wooers.

2 Nuclear Sub Plan in Pacific

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Navy said Saturday it plans to assign two nuclear powered submarines to the Pacific Fleet during the summer of 1958.

The plan was disclosed by Adm. Arleigh Burke, chief of naval operations, in a letter to Rep. Pelly (R-Wash). Pelly recently wrote Burke suggesting that one of the United States' two nuclear powered subs — the Nautilus and the Seawolf — be assigned to the west coast on a permanent basis.

In his reply Burke said the desirability of such an assignment "as soon as practicable" is recognized by the Navy and is now being considered.

* * * *

"IT IS PLANNED to temporarily deploy the Nautilus to the Pacific for an extended demonstration cruise during the late spring and early summer of 1957," Burke wrote.

"During the summer of 1958, it is anticipated that two such ships will be assigned permanently to the Pacific fleet."

Burke said the Navy would have liked to have sent the Nautilus to the Pacific sooner but the move had been delayed by "problems concerning the introduction of new-hardware for nuclear-propelled ships into the fleet . . ."

The Navys third atomic powered submarine, the Skate, is due to be launched May 16 at Groton, Conn. Two others, the Sargo and Swordfish, are scheduled for completion in 1958.

Know the People in Whose Hands You Place Child

LONG BEACH Unified School District and its Southland neighbors observe Public Schools Week during the next five days.

It's the week when parents get a special chance to find out more about the place their children spent most of their days.

School district residents are urged to visit classrooms and participate in the various programs which students and teachers have prepared.

THIS ANNUAL EVENT is dismissed as unimportant by some residents, including some parents of school-age children. But we don't see how anybody can consider it unimportant to meet the people to whom he sends his children for guidance five days a week nine months of the year.

Every parent should know his child's teacher and principal, what kind of classroom the child attends, the subjects he is studying, and the methods by which those subjects are being taught.

If he does not know these things, how can a parent know, except by hearsay, whether his child has desireable school facilities? If he doesn't know that, how can he plan for the child's future or vote intelligently in school board elections involving school issues?

IN THE LONG RUN, no district can expect to have a better school system than the district's residents demand. Fortunately, the local district is one in which the residents have asked for a good system, maintained a good administration, and supported school activities. The result is an outstanding school system.

THE THEME OF NEXT WEEK'S observance is "Better Schools Build Better Communities." Out of its own schools will come many of a community's future leaders. Whether that is good leadership will depend to a large extent on the residents of the school district today.

In the coming week Southland school district residents can signify just how interested they are.

Acheson Blast at Moral Force Can Hurt U. S. Foreign Policy

WASHINGTON — Dean Acheson — the man who was responsible primarily for preventing Gen. MacArthur from bombing enemy bases in Manchuria — and thereby winning victory in the Korean war — now has begun to lecture President Eisenhower and to call him a "pacifist."

In a cynical and sarcastic denunciation of "moral force" and a broadside attack on the United Nations, the former Secretary of State in the Truman administration has written a curious article for "Reporter" magazine which can do considerable damage to American policy abroad in these critical times.

* * * *

MR. ACHESON today enjoys the doubtful distinction of being the first American Secretary of State in history to accuse his own government of "selfish ambitions" in another part of the world. He says this, too, in the face of a record of many decades of unselfishess by the United States in world affairs. Mr. Acheson in commenting on the Middle Eastern situation, wrote:

"President Eisenhower told us on Feb. 20 that 'the United States has no selfish ambitions or desires in this region.' I fear we must disagree. We have many."

If Mr. Acheson had said merely that the United States has a deep interest in the Middle East it would have been understandable, but to attribute "selfish ambitions" to the United States is to ascribe a mischievous motive to his own government. Undoubtedly the Communists will construe "ambitions" to mean territorial ambitions and will repeat it in their propaganda in the Middle East.

It is at the term "moral force" that the former Secretary aims his shafts of ridicule and derision. Mr. Acheson says:

"Mr. Eisenhower at the outset of his political career sought for and found a satisfyingly firm stance in what he has continually referred to as 'moral and spiritual values.' . . . An ebullient optimism gives expression in what Mr. Eisenhower has called man's 'God-given ability to be master of his own destiny.' . . .

"This belief in the supremacy and sole validity of moral power is reinforced by the profoundly pacifist conclusions that President Eisenhower has drawn from the development of Russian capacity for nuclear warfare. Since the consequences of nuclear warfare might well be catastrophic beyond imagination, it is an easy step to the conclusion that all force is immoral and that its use can only be justified to meet a greater immorality—someone else's use of force against one's own country."

One wonders by what stretch of the imagination Mr. Acheson can attribute pacifism to President Eisenhower who in 1955 sought and obtained from Congress authority to use force to defend Formosa and who in 1957 sought and obtained from Congress a resolution proclaiming that the United States is "prepared to use force" in the Middle East. There is certainly nothing in the record to indicate that the President "is not prepared to use military force" to defend American interests when necessary.

Not so long ago Mr. Acheson was condemning secretary Dulles for using phrases that the former secretary interpreted as meaning liberation of satellite countries by force. Now he implies America should have favored a war with Russia over Hungary.

Mr. Acheson says, moreover, that he does not believe that "the purpose of American policy is to carry out a 'crusade' or 'mission' to bring about equal justice or to 'vindicate' international law." Many people will be surprised at this and many other comments by Mr. Acheson in the same article.

Americans have not forgotten that had Mr. Acheson been as meticulous in his adherence to military force in his historic speech of January 1950 when—as was charged in Senate debates so often—he "invited" the Communists to invade Korea, the whole war in the Far East in June 1950 might never have happened and the lives of many American boys would have been spared.

CONGRESSIONAL QUARTERLY

Spending in House Campaigns Soared to New High in 1956

WASHINGTON — Candidates for the House of Representatives reported spending $2,918,158 in their 1956 campaigns.

That is the highest total reported since Congressional Quarterly began its compilations of the official reports to the Clerk of the House in 1948.

It is $800,000 more than the $2.1 million reported in 1954, the previous record year, and exactly $1 millon more than was reported in 1952, the last Presidential election year.

* * * *

EVEN SO, it does not begin to approximate the total spent in last Fall's Congressional campaigns. Many of the candidates noted in their reports that all or most of their spending was handled by local committees, which are not required to report their finances to Washington.

The $2.9 million spending disclosed in the CQ study is an addition to the $33.2 million the Senate Privileges and Elections Subcommittee report of Feb. 3 said was spent in the 1956 campaign for Federal office.

Seventy-five winning candidates—more than one-sixth of the House—said they received and spent no money in the general election campaign. All but six of these Representatives are southern Democrats, whose political tenure is more likely to be challenged in the Democratic primary than in the general election. The law does not require costs of primary campaigns to be reported.

Spending reported by Republican candidates totaled $1,553,972. Democrats said they spent $1,350,226, about $203,000 less than their rivals. Republicans had a similar lead over the Democrats in reported campaign contributions, which totaled $2,549,743 for the two parties.

The most expensive 1956 contest, according to the official reports, took place in Georgia's 5th District (Atlanta), where Rep. James C. Davis (D) defeated Randolph W. Thrower (R) by 26,000 votes. The total spending was $43,218, including $20,190 disclosed by Davis and $23,028 reported by Thrower and his campaign committee.

The highest total reported by an individual candidate candidate was the $31,234 spent by ex-Rep. Sam Coon (R) in his unsuccessful bid for reelection from Oregon's 2nd District. Coon's report included $17,790 spent by his campaign committee. His successful opponent, Rep. Al Ullman (D), reported only $1,145 of personal expenditures.

Gifts from persons or groups outside their own states amounted to $638,131, slightly more than one-quarter of the total receipts reported by the candidates.

The gifts candidates acknowledged receiving from organized labor amounted to $295,004. Union contributions of $290,404 were reported by 181 Democrats, and seven Republicans said they received a total of $4,600.

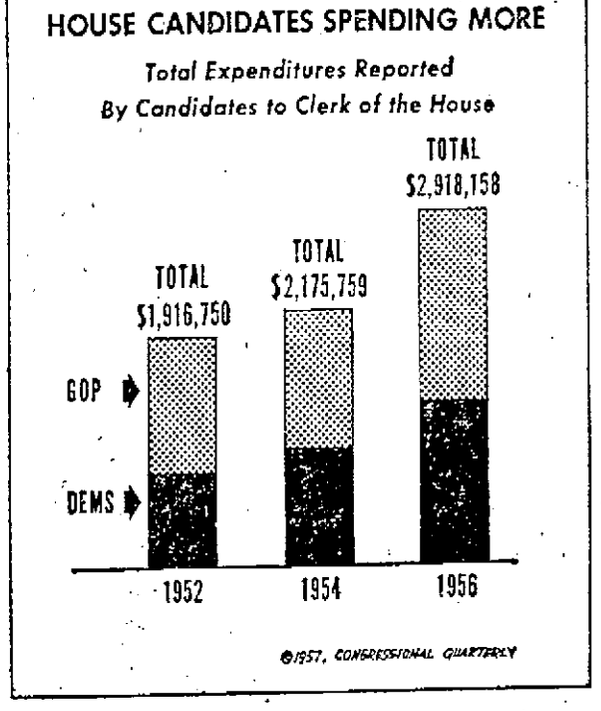

* * * *

THE GOP candidates singled out for labor support were Reps. John Beamer and William G. Bray of Indiana, John B. Bennett (Mich.), Gordon Canfield (N.J.), Hugh Scott (Pa.) and Thor Tollefson (Wash.) and ex-Rep. James G. Donovan (N.Y.), who was defeated for reelection.

Labor contributions were also reported by the opponents of Bray, Bennett, Donovan and Tollefson.

The Congressional Quarterly compilation indicated compliance with the Federal campaign fund reporting requirements was more complete in 1956 than it had been in prior years. All the elected Representatives filed statements and only 27 defeated candidates were noted as delinquent.

Bohlen Training Wasted in Manila Assignment?

WASHINGTON—A new Middle East crisis is shaping in which the crucial elements again is what course the Soviet Union will pursue regarding it. The United States can afford to stand by only as the Russians do not openly intrude.

The leading Russian expert remaining in the American government, Charles E. Bohlen, arrived in Washington Monday following a four-year tour of duty as Ambassador to Moscow. Not a single gesture has been made in his direction from Augusta, Ga., where the President is taking his usual spring golfing vacation, nor from other top policy-making circles.

FLEESON

The State Department, in fact, says that Bohlen has practically finished his "debriefing" on the Soviet Union. His "tight schedule," it also is said, is made up through May 6 and is entirely devoted to preparing him for his new assignment to the Philippines. He is, in short, doing only what any reassigned ambassador normally does.

Each day the Soviet-steeped envoy reports to the State Department. Each day he merely goes through the routine designed to prepare him for his ambassadorial duties in Manila. It is an area strange to him. His personal friends regard it as inadequate recognition of his long service in the tough Moscow job. Diplomatic observers feel it is a deplorable waste of his training.

The secrecy practiced by the men in the Kremlin is legendary; the practice of diplomacy with them is largely a matter of "feel." This makes it all the more extraordinary that so little effort is being made by top policy-makers to absorb in the short time he will be here all that Bohlen has learned.

He has seen it all since the death of Stalin, including the scaling of the heights of U.S.-Russian amity at Geneva and the subsequent toboggan slide of that relationship as Russian influence and arms openly penetrated the Middle East.

He has returned as the Russians seem to be making another shift of tactics in an effort to live down the Hungarian tragedy. Some observers think they would like another summit conference to give them back a tinge of respectability. And there is a Middle East crisis once more.

It is reported that the senior old guard Republican of the Senate, Styles Bridges of New Hampshire, expects to use Bohlen's Philippine appointment as a weapon to exact Senate confirmation of his controversial protege, Scott McLeod, as Ambassador to Ireland. Bridges has said he would oppose Bohlen, as he has on other occasions.

* * * *

IF THE WHITE HOUSE has any reason to fear this type of operation, it is all the more important to identify Bohlen with the President and give emphasis to his unique diplomatic value.

Yet the appointments with the policy-makers of the White House, the Pentagon and even with Secretary of State John Foster Dulles do not appear on the Bohlen schedule or anywhere else. Actually a few short and formal interviews would hardly suffice in the circumstances; the key to using what Bohlen acquired through so many months is long hours of absorption in his company.

Sen. Ervin Does Astute Job Stalling Civil Rights

WASHINGTON—Astute Sen. Sam Ervin, the North Carolina ex-judge, has been doing one of the calmest, most courteous, most effective jobs of legislative filibustering in some years. Southern senators have given him the job of stalling the civil rights bill and he is doing it.

PEARSON

For approximately four weeks, Sen. Ervin has been telling his colleagues about tyrannical tactics of King George III and his refusal of trial by jury. He has done this in closed-door executive hearings of the Senate Judiciary Committee which the public cannot attend, and he has done it until other senators know the history of King George III by heart.

Closed-door judiciary meetings begin at 10:30 a.m. A few routine business details are finished. Then Sen. Ervin takes over. For more than an hour he talks about George III and the right of jury trial. He wants the right of trial by jury to be included in the civil rights bill in case a violator of Negro voting rights is cited for contempt of court.

Republicans who are supposed to push the civil rights bill and who have made quite a show of wooing Negro votes, sit and listen. Some of them, like Sen. Watkins of Utah, fidget and look unhappy. But they don't interrupt.

* * * *

FINALLY, as the hands of the clock reach 12 noon, Sen. Eastland of Mississippi raps the gavel.

"This committee has no authority to sit while the Senate is in session," he announces, and the hearings on civil rights are adjourned. Sam Ervin has won another week's delay.

Note—This week the judiciary committee will begin another round of listening to Sen. Ervin on King George III and trial by jury.

TOWN MEETING

Says We Sell Readers Short

TO THE EDITOR:

You have carried timely articles and editorials pointing out the increasing traffic fatalities in Long Beach. One of your commendable objectives is to reduce the number of these fatalities.

I'm wondering, though, if you haven't overlooked one major cause of traffic deaths, the drinking driver.

Granted, you carry much liquor advertising, but that shouldn't cause you to sell the readers short in the editorial columns.

LORA B. HARDIN

(EDITOR'S NOTE: This newspaper often notes in its news and editorial columns the evil of drunk driving. Mrs. Hardin's implication, that we sell our readers short on this count because of advertising, is totally without basis.)

Defends Aid to Britain

TO THE EDITOR:

A letter-writer complains bitterly that England has owed us millions of dollars for 44 years and does not pay up. I wish to enlighten him. Foreign governments paid off $700,000,000 in debts last year. The United Kingdom paid the biggest amount—$118,000,000, including $58,000,000 on early post-war credits and $48,000,000 in lend-lease loans—and up to this year the United Kingdom paid $68,000,000 interests on the principal.

* * * *

HE COMPLAINS that our tax money is going over to Britain and says it's high time we confiscated all stocks and investments that they have in this country. Does he forget that during World War II England handed over $4 billion to this country to buy war material? And at present our tax money does not go over to England. It remains here and is spent in our factories to produce war material, and that results in employment for millions of our people.

It is true that this war material goes to Europe. We have to do this for our own security.

Fluoridation Is Safe, Effective, Says Doctor

(Editor's Note: In view of the many letters received on the water fluoridation issue which cannot possibly be printed in full, we have permitted two letters, one on either side, to run well beyond our ordinary letter length. Last week's communication was against this proposal which will be on the May 14 city ballot.)

TO THE EDITOR:

This the public should know before voting for fluoridation. Drinking water containing fluorides is not something new. Nature provides fluorides three to four times the amount necessary to reduce dental decay in the water used by millions of opeople—with no bad effect.

Colorado River water by nature contains one-third of 1 part per million of fluoride but they need to increase the amount to one part per million to reduce dental decay.

A recent survey in a western state disclosed that over one-third of the six-year-olds, three-fourths of the seven-year-olds and the nine-year-olds had some dental decay. A survey shows that untreated needs of children carry over into later life so that by the age of 40 about one-fourth of all people have lost their teeth. Decayed teeth are an economic as well as a health problem.

* * * *

IS FLUORIDATION EFFECTIVE? Boulder, Colo., uses a fluoride-free water while Colorado Springs uses natural fluorides in the water containing 2.5 parts of fluorides per million. In Boulder, using a fluoride free water, 40 to 45-year-olds average 22 decayed teeth while the same aged group in Colorado Springs average less than 10.

In comparing tooth decay rates in these two cities, from ages 20 to 45, it was noted that the decay pattern started in childhood continued into older ages. In Boulder, using fluoride-free water, in the 40 to 45 year old group, there was an average of five times as many missing teeth as their counterpart in Colorado Springs using natural fluoride water all their lives.

A Wisconsin survey developed the rather startling information that the cost of dental work per individual up to the age of 18 was $145 per person in communities where the water did not contain fluoride. Compare this with the cost of fluoridation from five to ten cents per person per year.

* * * *

IS WATER FLUORIDATION SAFE? The Public Health Service conducted a study of people born and raised in Cameron and Bartlett, Tex. The Cameron water supply contains naturally 0.4 parts of fluoride per million while Bartlett's water supply contains 20 times that amount, or 8.0 parts per million. It was found that no clinically significant effects resulted functional effects resulted from the prolonged ingestion of water containing excessive fluoride except for mottled enamel.

Studies on bone fracture experience, bone growth, height and weight, skeletal tolerance, excretion and storage of fluorides, and on the general health of people using fluoride waters have shown no health hazards attributable to fluorides. A comparison of mortality rates in fluoride and non-fluoride communities in Illinois produced neither significant differences in the general death rates nor significant differences in the risk of death from specific diseases such as heart disease, cancer, nephritis and diabetes.

Fluoridation has the approval of the American Dental Assn., American Medical Assn., National Research Council, United States Public Health Service, American Academy of Pediatrics and the American Hospital Assn. Practically all states and local medical and dental societies have given their stamp of approval.

* * * *

PUBLIC health measures such as vaccination against smallpox, immunization against typhoid, diphtheria, tetanus, etc., had a great deal of opposition, just as fluoridation has now. Eventually all people will be drinking fluoridated water.

Personal Drive for Legislation by President Likely This Week

WASHINGTON (AP) — Close associates expect President Eisenhower to take personal command this week of a new drive to get his bogged-down legislative program through Congress.

Congress comes back from a pulse-feeling Easter vacation Monday to face a legislative pile-up behind which most of the major Eisenhower proposals have been stalled.

Eisenhower will be back in the White House early this week after a work and play vacation at Augusta, Ga. His first order of businesss, apparently will be to call legislative leaders of both parties together for a conference on his foreign aid program.

* * * *

ADMINISTRATION officials look to this conference as the opening of a drive by the President to get early action in Congress on school construction aid, a refugee bill, civil rights and other legislation.

Eisenhower has been told by some of his advisers that although he has been plugging for his program in his weekly news conferences, some additional efforts may be necessary to build up popular support for his proposals. In this connection, there has been talk that the President might make some national television appeals for such support.

Eisenhower was represented in top administration circles as being determined to stick firmly by his recommendation for $4,400,000,000 foreign aid program.

* * * *

THAT PROGRAM is the chief target of congressional efforts to cut the President's $71,800,000,000 spending budget. Sen. Knowland, California, Republican leader, has predicted a billion-dollar cut in foreign aid. Sen. Mansfield, Montana, acting Democratic leader, said even deeper reductions should be made.

Despite what is likely to be an almost unanimous recommendation from the congressional leaders for reducing overseas spending, Eisenhower was reported determined not to retreat from the amount he set out in his budget. The President was said to feel that foreign aid represents a keystone in his administration's international program.

Presidential advisers are well aware they face a tremendous battle in Congress on this issue. They suspect also that Eisenhower may have picked a losing fight in his eforts to restore funds cut by the House out of the U. S. Information Agency (USIA) budget.

* * * *

THE HOUSE cut the agency's request from 144 million dollars down to 106 million. Eisenhower said this was "the worse kind of economy," adding that informational activities should expand rather than decrease.

USIA funds are contained in one of several appropriation bills passed by the House on which the Senate thus far has not acted.

The Senate Judiciary Committee will meet Monday for another discussion of civil rights legislation. There is no clear indication when the committee may bring such a bill to the floor but efforts to call up a measure of this nature are certain to touch off a Southern filibuster.

* * * *

MEANWHILE TWO Democratic senators differed over the President's foreign aid program.

Sen. Ellender (D-La) said in a recorded radio broadcast that the $4,400,000,000 Eisenhower requested ought to be cut in half.

Sen. Morse (D-Ore) said on the other hand he thinks "it is better to spend some tax dollars for foreign aid than it is to pay exceedingly high military costs that would go along with the sacrifice of American boys in Europe in unnecessary war."

"I am satisfied," Morse said in a statement, "that when the people come to understand that, they will support those of us who will vote this year for reasonable foreign aid."

BEAUTY MERRY-GO-ROUND

Miss Universe Entry Total Breaks Record

The Miss Universe Contest is a year-long merry-go-round for its producer, Oscar Meinhardt.

And each year its gets to be a little faster ride.

The annual beauty pageant won't officially begin until July 11, but already Meinhardt's offices in Municipal Auditorium are buzzing with activity.

This year more countries than ever before are sending candidates. So far Meinhardt has received 87 entries, from 42 countries and 45 states.

ADDITIONAL COUNTRIES sending beauties this year include Ceylon, Korea, Lebanon, Colombia, Denmark, Portugal, Paraguay, Tunesia, Martinique and Finland. And Hawaii will again be represented after failing to enter last year.

Selection of queen for the Western Hotel Show June 12-14 will be Wednesday afternoon at the Beverly-Hilton Hotel and will launch the search for California finalists in the Miss Universe Beauty Pageant. Wednesday's winner will represent Beverly Hills in the state beauty contest.

Meinhardt and his staff must make countless arrangements for the girls.

This year the job is further complicated as the judging panel really will be international.

In order to see that judging standards are universal, Meinhardt will have judges from Brazil, Venezuela, Cuba, Japan and two from Europe. Two others will be Vincent Trotta, New York, dean of beauty contest judges, and Alberto Vargas, Hollywood. The ninth judge has not been chosen.

Several of the foreign judges will need interpreters.

Selection of the Japanese judge already has been made. She is Mrs. Seijiro Yanagida, wife of the president of Japan Air Lines.

ANOTHER CONTEST CHANGE which makes for more work in the planing stage is the switchover to awarding cash prizes instead of movie contracts. Prizes are valued at over $150,000.

Meinhardt says he can now spend a 20-hour day at the Universe job and still have plenty left to do.

One bright spot, workwise, is the rule change excluding married women from competing. Neglected husbands present an awful problem, Meinhardt says.

Keating Denounces Ike 'Disable' Plan

WASHINGTON (UP) — Rep. Kenneth B. Keating (R-N.Y.) said Saturday it is "inconceivable" that Congress would approve President Eisenhower's plan for dealing with disabled Presidents.

Keating is the ranking Republican on the House Judiciary Committee and a five-man subcommittee that has been studying for more than a year the long-standing problem of who shall determine when a President is physically unable to perform his duties.

Eisenhower has proposed a constitutional amendment which would allow the President to declare his own disability and hand over his powers temporarily to the vice president and the cabinet could declare his inability.

* * * *

KEATING SAID in an interview that with different political parties now controlling the executive and legislative branches, "It is inconceivable that this Congress would give the vice president or the cabinet" authority to pass on a President's disability.

The House subcommittee is expected to start drafting legislation to deal with the question within a few weeks. Keating predicted it will come up with his own plan.

He said there is general agreement with one part of Eisenhower's plan—allowing a President to state his own disability.

* * * *

BUT THE SUBCOMMITTEE already has indicated it will reject the second part of the Eisenhower plan covering situations where a President is too ill to make the declaration.

Keating said his own plan, or some modification of it, offers the only practical approach to such situations. He has proposed that a 10-man commission, composed of members of the cabinet, congress, and supreme court, make the decision.

British Bare Heat-Guided Planekiller

LONDON (AP)—Britain has a new guided missile called the Firestreak which "homes" on heat waves emitted by enemy aircraft.

A government announcement of this and other new weapons said the Firestreak will be carried by the new R1 supersonic fighter plane now on order.

It is the latest development in conversion of Britain's defenses to fit the nuclear age.

The new missile's predecessor, the Fireflash, described as a beam rider, already has shot down several target aircraft in trials the past year, the Defense Ministry said.

* * * *

THE FIRESTREAK will be Britain's No. 1 defense against enemy raiders, pending introduction of a ground-to-air missile, the Bloodhound, which will fly 1,000 miles an hour and find its target by radar. The Bloodhound is expected to go in service next year.

2-WAY BULLET

New Army Gun Tests Wind Speed

WASHINGTON (UP) — The Army says it has a gun that will tell it how fast the wind is blowing.

It calls the new device a "breeze buster."

Developed at Fort Monmouth, N.J., by the Signal Corps, the "weather gun" fires a round-trip bullet. The pellet is fired into the wind and returns to the gun striking an aluminum shield atop the gun.

The Army says that by checking the gun's angle of tilt with a calibration chart it can tell how fast the wind is blowing.

It says the new device may be very important in checking wind velocity prior to launching missiles and rockets.

Chamber Raps Ike's Aid Plans

WASHINGTON (AP) — Policy-makers of the United States Chamber of Commerce Saturday declared their opposition to two of President Eisenhower's federal aid proposals—financial help to depressed cities, and a grant-loan program for school construction.

The proposed resolutions were among a batch of 70 drafted by the Chamber's policy committee for action by some 2,000 delegates to the Chamber's 45th annual meeting which starts here Monday.

Other tentative resolutions, all considered likely to be approved by the delegates at a policy session Wednesday afternoon, would call on Congress to:

1. Provide Secretary of Defense Wilson with the power necessary to complete the unification of the military establishment. The Chamber said that overlapping and competition among the services have cost "billions of tax dollars" in the 10 years since the unification program first was undertaken.

2. Reduce government controls over radio and television stations to "the minimum required by the public interest." The resolution said that "rules now guaranteeing freedom of the press should apply equally to broadcasting."

3. Provide a federal indemnity program to supplement private insurance against damage liability arising from possible catasthrophic accidents at atomic power plants.

Independent SUNDAY Press-Telegram

LONG BEACH 12, CALIF., SUNDAY, APRIL 28, 1957 ★★ SECTION B

Automotive PAGES B-4-7

AFTER 10 weeks of operation, Divorce Anonymous, 2155 American Ave. in Long Beach, has built up its membership to about 200 once-married people and is hard at work trying to keep others from becoming eligible.

The unique organization, offering a social haven for the divorced and counsel for those in danger of a split-up, is attracting considerable attention and some national TV coverage is anticipated.

Its director, Cal Morgan, emphasizes Divorce Anonymous is not a matrimonial bureau or "lonely hearts club." If, in the natural course of events a couple of its members become interested in each other and get up the courage to try marriage again, well and good. But that's not the idea of the organization.

MORGAN, who originated Divorce Anonymous, says the idea came out of his own lonely and depressing experiences after his divorce.

There seemed no place to go but to a bar and that got a little dreary. He got to thinking of what Alcoholics Anonymous had done for forlorn alcoholics, and worked out a plan for an organization that would help solve the emotional and social adjustment problems of the divorced person.

A function of the organization would be to help couples with critical domestic issues to get back on the road of connubial peace.

He tried the idea out on some other divorced people and Divorce Anonymous was set up.

EXPERIENCE so far indicates Morgan hit on a sound idea. The organization has club rooms at the American Ave. address which are open from 12 noon to midnight. It has set up a program of social activities including dances, parties, trips, etc. A couple of weeks ago the gang went by bus to Knotts' for a big day.

Distressed couples coming to Divorce Anonymous for help were given the services of a marriage counselor for a while, but recently a whole panel was set up, including a couple of psychologists, a marriage counselor and some members of "DA."

I asked about the latter, wondering if people whose marriage had ended in divorce would be good advisors for others threatened with the same fate. But it was pointed out that people who have been through the mill have a special knowledge that could be helpful to those experiencing the same problems. Successful people aren't always aware of the pitfalls they've missed.

The panel conferences are confidential, of course, and the participants are anonymous.

LIKE most people when they have hit on a good thing, Morgan and his associates have extension ideas.

The local club is known as the South Bay Club of Divorce Anonymous, and has a 500-member limit. Other clubs are planned at Santa Monica, Los Angeles, Santa Ana and possibly Fullerton.

Members must be divorced people, widowers or widows. If DA is successful in heading off a couple contemplating divorce, they can't join.

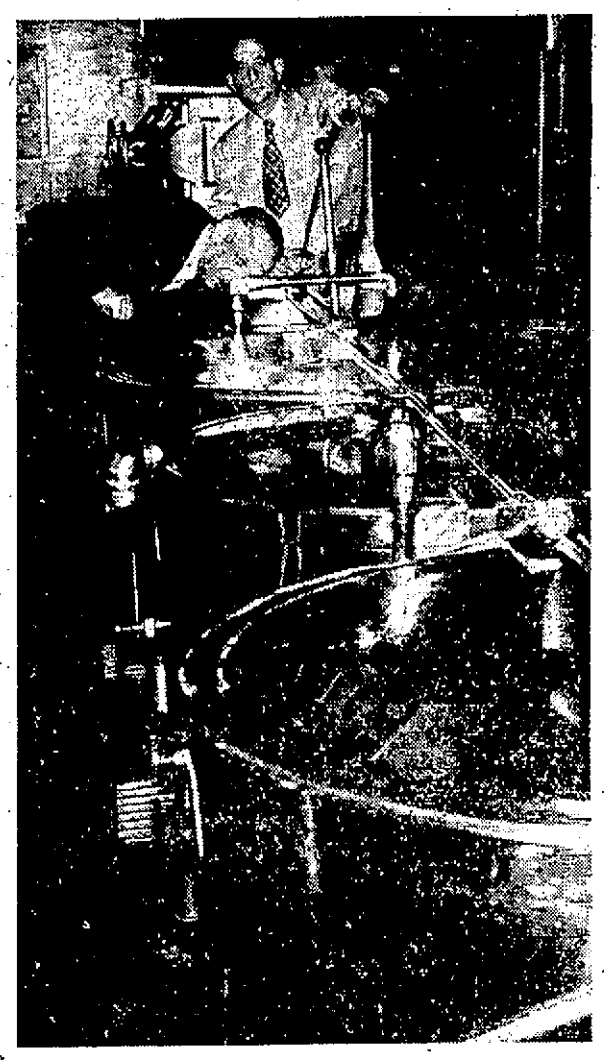

PEOPLE do considerable complaining about "unwanted" mail (usually of an advertising nature) hitting their mailboxes, describing its volume in vague terms.

But Lester L. Marshall of Redondo Beach prefers to be specific.

For some time he kept a running record of mail received at his address. It shows the following: 21 per cent personal mail; 9 per cent various subscriptions; 34 per cent 'occupant' mail; 36 per cent unwanted advertising. Thus mail at his address runs 70 per cent stuff that he doesn't want.

He notes further that rates for this type of mail are so low that while it is the biggest delivering job for the postman, it certainly doesn't pay its way in the p.o. dept.

Cafeteria, Food Bar Set to Open at State College

PREXY AT DRUMS

Dr. P. Victor Peterson, president of Long Beach State College, sights down a line of sparkling steam kettles as he and Franklyn Spessard, cafeteria manager inspect new kitchen facilities at the college. The new cafeteria and snack bar open Wednesday.

Dining Facility Ready to Serve Thousand Meals

Long Beach State College's shiny, new $500,000 cafeteria and snack bar will be opened for business Wednesday, manager Franklyn Spessard announced Saturday.

But, even before the ribbon is cut, plans are being made to expand the facilities to meet future growth of the school, he added.

The new dining facilities will be open Monday through Thursday from 7:30 a.m. to 7 p.m., and on Friday from 7:30 a.m. to 3:30 p.m.

They are designed to seat a total of 1,000 persons at one time, with space for 400 in the main dining room. Among the pieces of modern equipment in use at the cafeteria will be four walk-in refrigerators, a battery of ranges and 40-gallon and 60-gallon steam kettles.

* * * *

SPESSARD WILL have a staff of 50 under his command. A veteran of 25 years in the food service business, he has operated the college canteen for the past several years.

His staff is prepared to serve 1,000 hot meals a day. Food and supply bills alone are expected to total $25,000 a month within two years.

Already, plans are being made to expand the main dining room to accomodate 800 persons, Spessard said.

Protest Hits Dismissal of C.C. Teacher

Protests over the release of piano teacher Edyth Wagner from the Long Beach City College faculty will be lodged by a delegation of students and admirers of the teacher at a meeting of the Board of Education at 4 p.m. Monday.

Mrs. Kathleen Kaill, 23206 Dolores St., Wilmington, a leader of the protest movement, said the board will be requested urgently to renew Miss Wagner's contract for the school year 1957-58.

The teacher has agreed to submit her resignation as of June 13, 1958, according to Mrs. Kaill, so there would be no misunderstanding as to tenure. If she were rehired for 1958-59, she automatically would go under tenure regulations, but can teach another year without doing so.

* * * *

MRS. KAILL SAID that she understood Miss Wagner's contract was terminated because the school administration wants a band and orchestra man who can also teach piano. The official reason given was that her capacities were "limited for our use."

The protestors claim Miss Wagner is a highly qualified teacher who has had great success at City College, and that she was not given termination notice in accordance with standards established by colleges throughout the country.

Program to Aid Refugees

Problems facing newly arrived refugees in this country and how they can best be solved will be the subject of a panel discussion to be held at 2 p.m. Tuesday in the YWCA.

The program, open to all persons interested in sponsoring Hungarian refugees, has been arranged by the Community Welfare Council and the Long Beach Council of Churches.

WATER SAFETY RULE

'Don't Give Up the Ship' Boys!

This isn't really an era of plastic ships and wooden-headed men. It just seems that way sometimes to people whose responsibility is the safety of the thousands of pleasure boaters in the Southland.

But Coast Guard and Coast Guard Auxiliary officials, Red Cross water safety directors, U. S. Power Squadron officers and life guards are becoming increasingly concerned with rising aquatic accident rates.

In 1900 an estimated one million Americans engaged in aquatic activities, compared with more than 80,000,000 today. In the last 50 years, water safety programs have cut the drowning rate among swimmers in half. However, the drowning rate related to pleasure boating has increased. Last year, 30 per cent of all drownings were related to small craft activity.

* * * *

WITH THE BIG pleasure boating season about to shove off from the dock, authorities in the ways of the sea and the men who sail it interject a note of caution for the Sunday seamen.

Compiled from statements by such aquatic safety experts as Coast Guard marine inspector Cmdr. George E. Dobbins and local Red Cross water safety head Donald J. Medley, here are a few pitfalls and suggestions:

Always carry at least one life preserver for each person aboard. This is a Coast Guard rule which is enforced in spot checks. Preservers must be of types approved by the Coast Guard. (Presently, no inflated-type preservers are on the approved list.)

Always carry at least one fire extinguisher on any power boat decked or partly decked over. Gasoline fumes are heavier than air and spilled gasoline or fumes in the bilge is a primary cause of boating accidents.

A working knowledge of seamanship, "the rules of the road," and local water and weather conditions and eccentricities is as important to water safety as a tight hull — whether your craft is a 6-foot pram or a 90-foot ocean cruiser. Pamphlets and classes by the Coast Guard, Red Cross, Power Squadron, Coast Guard Auxiliary and private yacht and boating clubs offer such information.

* * * *

DON'T OVERPOWER outboard hulls. Most hulls have a rated horsepower capacity stamped on a small plate and attached to the hull. Many novices swamp, wreck or flip their craft by ignoring the warning and using too big an engine.

Stay with your craft if it capsizes or swamps. Almost all small boats will stay afloat. Many people drown because they try to swim to safety. Furthermore, a capsized boat is much easier for searchers to spot than a swimmer bobbing in the waves.

All pleasure boaters should know how to swim and knowledge of lifesaving techniques is highly desirable.

Boating is a rewarding recreation and one of the most popular pastimes in the country. It is also safe avocation for persons skilled in its techniques and wary of its dangers.

STAY WITH IT!

Right and wrong actions in event of capsizing of small craft are illustrated by Mr. and Mrs. Ron Maury. Wearing lifejacket, Ron follows cardinal rule: "Stay with the boat!" Mrs. Maury heads for shore without assistance of lifejacket, a necessity for every pleasure boat passenger.—(Staff Photo.)

COASTAL AREAS WARNED

Fog, Fog and More Fog

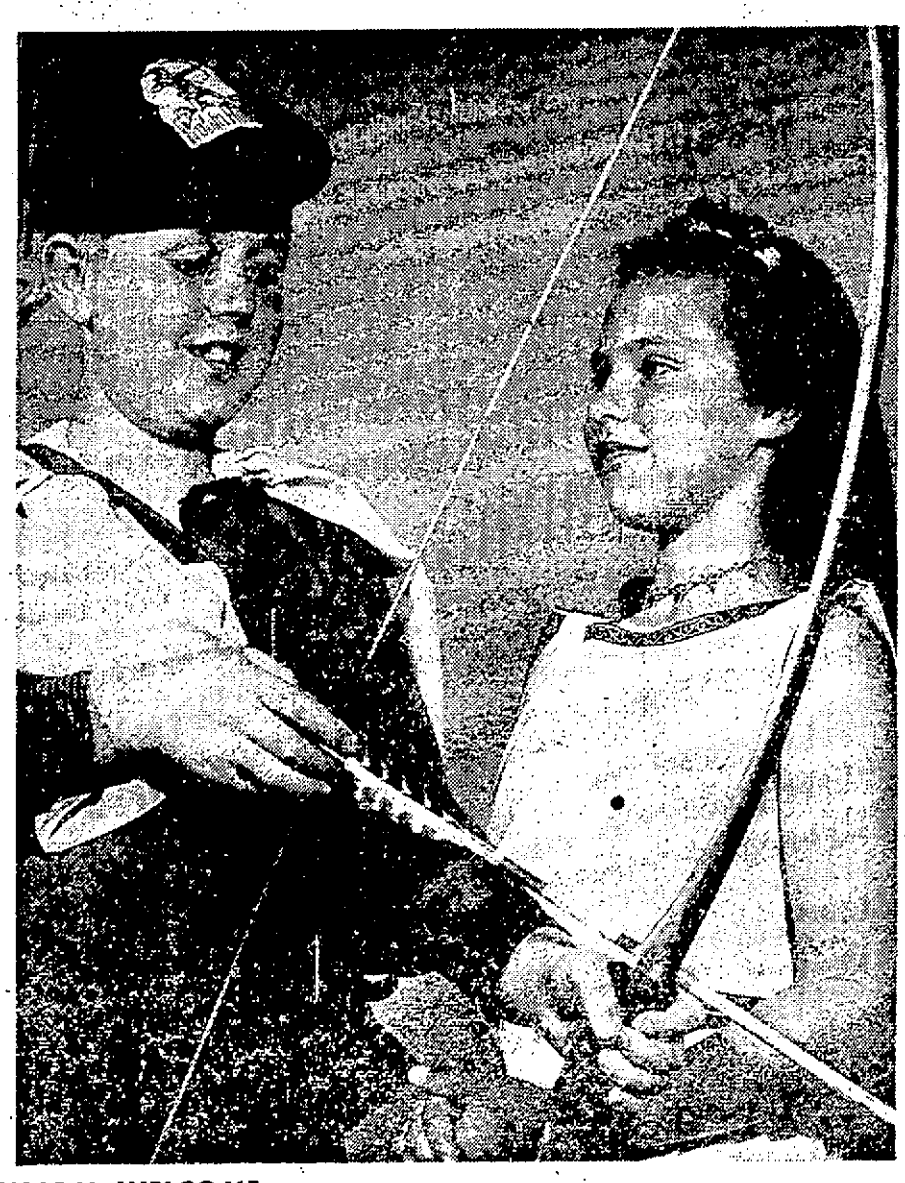

Fog was expected to close in on coastal areas from Santa Barbara to San Diego by early morning hours today, and the weatherman predicts more of the same for early Monday hours.

Visibility in downtown Long Beach was reduced to a few city blocks by 10 p.m. Saturday night, but no traffic accidents were reported due to fog conditions.

* * * *

OFFICIALS at the Long Beach and Los Angeles International airports said both ports would be closed by early morning. Los Angeles airport reported bad fog conditions by 10 p.m., and expected to close down the airport by midnight.

100,000 to View Schools on Display

WARM WELCOME

Guests at Patrick Henry Elementary School open house Tuesday night will be greeted by pupils wearing costumes of historical characters. Young Robin Hood is represented by Dennis Short, 11, of 3637 Hackett Ave., and Helen of Troy is portrayed by Madeline Ortner, 11, of 3742 Gondar Ave. Both are sixth graders at the school.—(Staff Photo by Skip Shuman.)

Open Houses Scheduled at All 74 Units

Long Beach Unified School District will be host to an expected 100,000 persons Monday through Thursday in the 38th annual observance of Public Schools Week.

Theme of the four-day event this year is: "Better Schools Build Better Communities."

Each of the district's 74 schools has scheduled open house for one night during the week.

* * * *

CITY COLLEGE Lakewood campus and Business and Technology Division will lead off with open house from 7 to 10 p.m. Monday. A highlight of the BTD program will be the annual Industrial Arts and Vocational Arts Awards Exhibit.

Tuesday night, the spotlight will be on elementary schools. A wide variety of exhibits and programs is planned, starting at 7 p.m.

* * * *

THE CITY'S FOUR senior high schools will hold open house at 7 p.m. Wednesday. Visitors will be welcomed at the junior high schools on Thursday night.

Douglas A. Newcomb, district superintendent, pointed out all adults — not just parents — are welcome.

"Everyone has a stake in our schools," he explained. "And we hope everyone will take advantage of this opportunity to see just what our schools are doing by way of building a better tomorrow."

EXPENSES UP, TOO

Gas Dept. Gross Gains $1,000,000

By GEORGE WEEKS

Gross income of the Municipal Gas Dept. increased $1,025,631.81 last fiscal year to a total of $9,013,757.42.

But net earnings advanced only $172,875.13 to $4,975,376.33. The difference was an increase of $852,756.68 in operating and miscellaneous expenses.

These figures are revealed in the department's 32nd annual report, just issued by Superintendent L. L. Bendinger.

If the city had been required to pay taxes and to compute interest on investment, the net earning figure would have been $3,387,060.54. For these calculations interest was set at $1,055,623.61, city property taxes at $75,350.03, county taxes at $279,560.71 and franchise taxes at $177,781.44.

REVENUE FROM DOMESTIC SALES increased from $4,844,538.54 to $5,270,613.90. Average cubic feet of gas delivered to each domestic customer during the year was up from 71,541 to 74,127.

The department's domestic accounts gained from 95,884 to 101,581. Some 2,451 of the new customers were added at one time when the city completed the purchase of Southern Counties Gas Company's facilities in the area south of Spring St. and east of Palo Verde Ave. Outlay for the acquisition was $391,821.32.

More than 12,000 customers in the Lakewood-Los Altos section of Long Beach are stilled served by a privately-owned utility, Southern California Gas Co.

PURCHASE OF THE LINES in this section, along with the construction of additional facilities for the expanded service, is planned for completion by 1960.

Estimated cost of the entire project is five million dollars, including acquisitions from both companies. According to present plans, financing will come completely from department earnings, Bendinger said.

Aside from the increase in customers and averag gas use, the department put into effect a 9 per cent boost in rates on June 15, 1956. According to Bendinger, the revised rates "still give the Long Beach consumer his gas substantially cheaper than that supplied in surrounding communities."

Total assets of the department increased $3,708,783.94 during the year, from $14,607,759.67 to $18,316,543.61.

JUSTIFYING THE DEPARTMENT'S pay-as-you-go policy, the report noted that the original bonded indebtedness of $3,950,000 has already cost $4,242,240 in interest alone—and the remaining bonds won't be completely redeemed until 1966. The balance outstanding at the end of last fiscal year was $1,022,000.

In contrast with the previous year, the supply of gas available to the department showed a downward trend as production at the Municipal Airport Field declined.

Total gas available from both royalties and outside purchases by contract was 19,319,637,000 cubic feet. Since the close of the fiscal period the city has obtained an additional supply by means of a new contract with Southern California Gas Co.

Transmission and distribution mains owned by the municipal system registered a net increase from 673 to 682 miles during the year.

30-Ft. Fall Off Rock Hurts Boy Slightly

A Long Beach youth escaped serious injury when he fell 30 feet from a huge rock near Marineland, Palos Verdes, early Saturday.

Clifford McKern, 16, of 6508 Indiana Ave., said a piece of the rock gave way under his hand as he was descending from it after hunting for birds' nests. He struck his head on other rocks below.

Deputy sheriffs summoned to the scene by McKern's four teen aged companions, feared at first the youth was paralyzed by the fall.

He was rushed to the Hillside Clinic, Lomita, for emergency treatment, then taken to Kaiser Foundation Hospital, Harbor City, where he was released after examination.

He suffered several severe body and arm cuts and body bruises.

U. of Redlands Cites Dr. Kepner

The University of Redlands announced Saturday that Dr. Frank Kepner, pastor of the Long Beach First Baptist Church, has been awarded a certificate of merit and appreciation for 20 years' service on the university's board of trustees.

Nuclear Attack Exercise Slated Here on July 12

Long Beach civil defense personnel will take part in Operation Alert, 1957, a simulated nuclear bomb attack July 12 preceded by a four-day period of theoretical mobilization and evacuation.

First announcement of the exercise was made to the Civil Defense Council by Lt. Leonard Kearney of the city CD staff.

Although the council is on record against attempted actual evacuation on short notice, Kearney said the four-day warning will make possible a tactical (and simulated) removal of part of the population.

A new national warning system will be tried out for the first time in connection with the alert, Kearney was informed by the Federal Civil Defense Administration.

Visitadores Prepare for Annual Trek

More than 30 men from the Long Beach area will be among 550 horsemen who will ride out of the Santa Ynez Valley Saturday on an eight-day trek to Santa Barbara.

The group will be comprised of members and guests of Los Rancheros Visitadores, largest riding group of its kind in the nation.

Following a custom started in 1930, they will ride first to Mission Santa Ines at Solvang, to receive the blessing of the padres.

Near the end of the trek they will ride to Mission Santa Barbara for a Ranchero fiesta program. The public is invited to attend both mission dress appearances.

Riders to participate include men from all over the United States, Canada and Hawaii. Among them will be movie world personalities Edgar Bergen, Noah Beery, Jr., Walt Disney and Montie Montana, and California Lt. Gov. Harold J. Powers.

Riders from this area will include:

Robert E. Bixby, Ralph L. Cormany, Fred S. Dean, William M. Edmondson, Howell G. Haney, Nathan McKenzie, Robert McNulty, Robert H. Pearce, Frank Vessels, Sr. and Frank Vessels, Jr., Long Beach; John B. Merritt, North Long Beach; Joe Dawkins and Jack White, Avalon; Dewey H. Burden, Compton; Linden H. Chandler, Lomita.

Robert A. Batterton, G. Kim Breitenstein, William E. Evitt, William E. Hershey, Clifton A. Rix, Andrew D. Shaw, Gordon W. Shultz and Dr. Alex B. Wilcox, Rolling Hills; Joseph A. Benni, Wilmington; Newell E. Fait, Corona del Mar; Paul B. Treat, Fullerton; Louis E. Nohl, Olive and George W. Hawkins and A. Paul Mantz, Santa Ana.

Los Angeles County Sheriff E. W. Biscailuz; G. Ivan Smith and Neil W. Duckels, Bellflower; John D. Gregg and Evan N. Manning, Whittier.

Portuguese Mark Discovery of California Today

SAN DIEGO (UP)—Portuguese naval representatives will commemorate their countrymen's discovery of California in a plaque-presentation ceremony at Cabrillo National Monument on Point Loma today.

The monument to the memory of Juan Rodriguez Cabrillo was designed by Alvaro de Bree, who also designed the plaque to be presented by Capt. Manuel Rodrigues, officer in charge of the Portuguese mission in the United States.

Long Beach, L. A. Harbors Plan World Trade Week Celebration

The 31st annual observance of World Trade Week, sponsored locally by Long Beach and Los Angeles ports and the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce, will begin May 20, with a special Harbor Day celebration here scheduled for May 26.

First big local event of the week will be a luncheon May 22 in one of the Long Beach port's new transit sheds at Berth 20, Pier C, at which guests will include members of the Long Beach-Los Angeles Propeller Club and top executives from Southland business firms.

Alvin K. Maddy, executive secretary of the Board of Harbor Commissioners, organized the event. William A. Harrington, harbor commissioner and first vice president of the Propeller Club, will be chairman.

* * * *

FEATURED SPEAKER will be Ralph E. Casey, president of the American Merchant Marine Institute. A boat tour of Los Angeles and Long Beach harbors will follow.

Harbor Day events include boat rides sponsored from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. by the Long Beach Harbor Department, in which about 10,000 visitors are expected to be accommodated, and an appearance at Berth 12, Pier B, by the Sacramento, old paddlewheel ferry in the Bay Area.

On the ancient vessel, which will appear through arrangements by the Long Beach Junior Chamber of Commerce, will be world trade exhibits, travel motion pictures furnished by American President Lines and refreshment stands.

* * * *

THE NAVAL SHIPYARD'S big YD-171, the world's largest self-propelled floating crane, will be on display at Berth 13, Pier B. On the other side of the pier will be the anti-submarine carrier, USS Princeton.

Long Beach's two fireboats will demonstrate their water-squirting prowess intermittently off Pierpoint Landing.

As part of World Trade Week, the Los Angeles Advertising Club is sponsoring a contest to select Miss World Trade, with the winner receiving a round trip to Hawaii on the cruise ship Leilani. Local entrant is Carol Beck, California Maid of Cotton.

A plaque will be presented by the World Trade Week committee to the individual who has made outstanding contributions to world trade. Jack Warner, of Warner Brothers Studios, won the plaque last year. Only local winner was Eloi J. Amar, Long Beach port manager, in 1953.

Climax of the observance will be a formal dinner dance May 24 in the Beverly Hilton Hotel.

LINCOLN
UNMISTAKABLY...THE FINEST IN THE FINE CAR FIELD

Invite a Lincoln over for a weekend

If you weren't among the delighted people who accepted our invitation a few weeks ago—to spend a whole wonderful weekend with Lincoln without obligation—we suggest that you make your arrangements as soon as possible.

As you probably know, we first extended this unique invitation about a month ago—and were promptly swamped with requests for cars.

After getting to know Lincoln on a "first-name" basis, most people came back with the same report: "Now," they told us, "we know exactly why we're seeing so many Lincolns. It's the finest car we've ever driven—bar none."

They made this discovery, of course, driving a Lincoln over to that mission they had always wanted to see, out into the desert, or up into the mountains. They had a wonderful time, and so will you.

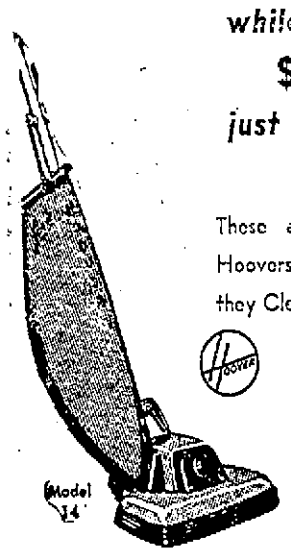

As soon as you can, we invite you to enjoy the same kind of experience. Take a Lincoln home with you—for a day, an evening, or an entire weekend—and see what you've been missing.

And one more thing. Many, many people who now own Lincolns—including a lot of our "Weekenders"—made the surprising and pleasant discovery that the step up to this fine car is much easier than they'd ever guessed.

Call and arrange for your Lincoln today. Drive it as though it were your own, and discover why it's unmistakably . . . the finest in the fine car field.

Abortion Verdict Due Monday

Two Doctors Await Court Rulings Here

By DON MADDOCK

Guilt or innocence of the last two alleged members of a giant illegal abortion ring headed by mobster Jimmy Utley will be pronounced Monday by Superior Judge Beach Vasey.

The verdict on Dr. Arthur Lawrence Cummings, 42, of Sunland, and Dr. Patrick Edward Jordan, 46, of Los Angeles, will follow arguments by opposing counsel.

Testimony in their trial ended April 5. Judge Vasey, who heard the case after the defendants waived jury trial, took it under submission to study the 1,200-page transcript of their preliminary hearing and 500 pages of trial testimony.

* * * *

CUMMINGS AND JORDAN submitted their case on the preliminary transcript. The testimony was augmented by four days of evidence-taking before Judge Vasey.

Dep. Dist. Atty. Thomas W. Cochran was prosecutor. Dr. Jordan was represented by Attorneys William T. Pillsbury, Ernest L. Graves and Philip E. Poppler.

Cummings and Jordan were two of five persons arrested by Los Angeles police and accused of being members of the Utley gang.

The others pleaded guilty during preliminary hearing to one count each of conspiracy to perform and performing illegal abortions.

Dr. John David Crum, 46, of Beverly Hills, and Evelyn Kooistea, 28, of Sunland, were sentenced by Judge Vasey to two-to-five-year state prison terms.

Mary L. Campbell, 35, of 3481 LaJara St., Lakewood, Mrs. Kooistra's sister, was granted three-year probation with the first year to be served in County Jail. She is confined at Terminal Island.

* * * *

CUMMINGS AND JORDAN are charged with conspiracy and numerous substantive abortion counts—Cummings, eight, and Jordan, 10. The state also alleged, and Cummings admitted, that Cummings had a prior felony conviction, for attempted abortion, in June, 1955.

The two remaining defendants allegedly performed many abortions at 4586A California Ave., Long Beach, and 9753 E. Flower St., Bellflower, from February to June, 1956.

Utley, the Van Nuys hoodlum who once worked on the gambling ship Rex off Long Beach, was named but not arrested as a conspirator. However, he was sentenced to 10 years in prison on other, similar, charges.

Toastmaster Meeting to Fete Founder

Dr. Ralph C. Smedley, founder of Toastmasters International, will be guest of honor during observance of District 51 Day by Toastmasters of this area, beginning at 10 a.m. Saturday in the Wilton Hotel.

Doctor Smedley will conduct an educational symposium at 2:30 p.m.

District members will assemble at 10:30 a.m. for a council meeting, during which officers will be elected.

Other highlights of the day's program will include a noon luncheon, humorous speech contest, a 2:30 p.m. fashion show for members' wives, and a banquet and speech contest at 7:30 p.m. Roy D. Graham, District 51 governor, will preside.

$1,133 Jewelry Theft at Motel

The theft of $1,133 worth of jewelry from the Atlantic Boulevard Motel, 6141 Atlantic Ave., was reported to police Saturday by Oscar J. Olsen, owner of the motel.

Olsen told police that the jewelry was taken from his office at the motel. He said it was removed from a dresser drawer some time Saturday.

Council Candidates Offer Declarations of Platforms

By THE LOOKOUT

City Council candidates produced platform declarations last week covering subjects ranging from abolition of the federal income tax to improvement of alleys and fencing of drainage canals.

With the primary election coming up just two weeks from Tuesday, the 32 aspirants for nine council posts stepped up their campaigns for district nominations. Because there will be no city-wide voting on council candidates in the primary, the ballot drives were concentrated in the districts.

* * * *

SOME CANDIDATES declared opposition to the present method of Council election, whereby nominations are made by district and the final choice by voters of the city as a whole. Declarations for straight district voting were made by Cass Waranius, running in Dist. 2, and Don L. Wilkins, Dist. 7. Councilman D. Patrick Ahern, Dist. 6 candidate for re-election, frequently has declared for straight district election of councilmen.

Some other platform samples:

R. C. (Bob) McClearn, candidate in District 1, emphasized that if elected he will "throw a beacon light" on city affairs, keeping all voters posted "from the inside looking out."

Al Williams, Dist. 4 candidate, issued a platform emphasizing expansion of water supply by pressing for movement of Northern California water south, and of eliminating drainage-ditch hazards by fence erection along ditchbanks.

Burl E. Carter, Dist. 1 candidate, said he favors resurfacing rough streets, alleys and courts and establishment of a zoological garden and art gallery.

* * * *

EWDIN J. WILSON, running in Dist. 6, declared for a wider educational program administered by the police department, while Waranius, in Dist. 2, said he favors abolition of the federal income tax because it takes funds that could be used on the local level.

Dr. Paul Wilkins, Dist. 8, said Long Beach should develop year-around attractions to compete with Hollywood "glamour" and suggests steps to bring major football games and major league baseball to the city.

Most candidates declared for positive steps to eliminate subsidence, expansion and completion of the park program, improvement of public transportation facilities, strengthening of law enforcement. Summaries of candidate declarations will appear in a series of district contest stories in the Press-Telegram and Independent in the next two weeks.

Fire Hits Yuma

YUMA, ARIZ., (AP)—An explosion-punctuated fire Saturday roared through a tinder-dry industrial section, destroying 4 buildings, damaging two others and endangering the nearby downtown business section in this southwest Arizona city.

Hitchhiker Beats, Robs, Takes Car

A 24-year-old man was kidnaped, beaten and robbed early Saturday by a husky bandit who stole the victim's car.

William D. Caswell, of 717 W. 36th St., San Pedro, told police that he picked up a hitchhiker at Ocean Blvd. and Temple Ave. about 1 a.m.

* * * *

THE HITCHHIKER struck Caswell with his fist and threatened to cut the victim's throat unless he was permitted to drive the car. Caswell complied. The robber turned the car around and drove to the Belmont Shore area.

He parked on a dark street, took $6.35 from Caswell, a $7.50 shirt and a pair of Cashmere socks worth $5. At E. 2nd St. and Ximeno Ave., the victim leaped from his car when it slowed down and fled. The bandit drove away with the 1954 Pontiac sedan.

Police Bring Suspect Back From South

REDONDO BEACH—Suspect Robert Welcher, 22, of 711 Longfellow Ave., Hermosa Beach, was returned here Saturday night from Arkansas to stand trial for the kidnaping and assault of a 15-year-old Redondo girl last March 19.

Welcher was brought back from Little Rock by Det. Lt. Robert Stone of Redondo police, who flew east last Wednesday to speed extradition proceedings.

Welcher was captured by FBI agents a few days after the crime was committed.

Welcher and Armand E. Fashion, 20, of 18532 Doty Ave., Torrance, are accused of the crimes.

HISTORY'S THEIR SUBJECT

Camp Fire Girls model costumes for I-Yop-Ta District pageant Monday at 7 p.m. in Hughes Junior High School auditorium. Clockwise from top are: Judie Russell, 13, as Miss Universe; Cheryl Berg, 12, early day bathing beauty; Julie Nelson, 10, Indian, and Dana Bernabeir, 12, in Spanish costume.

Mrs. Sels was a member of a pioneer California family.

FRECKLED BEAUTY

Camp Fire Pageant's Likely Hit

Miss Universe may have freckles, and quite possibly the little Indian cutie will have a comic book tucked in her back pocket—but the show still has all the makings of a hit.

The show, in this case, is the historical pageant which will be presented at 7 p.m. Monday in Hughes Junior High School auditorium by the Camp Fire Girls.

The girls will present a colorful review of Long Beach history, from the earliest Indians to the modern Miss Universe Pageant.

After the show, honor badges and beads will be awarded to the girls.

JOHN L. BURTON

TWO-EAR HEARING ADVANTAGES SHOWN BY BELTONE EXPERT

Hearing with two ears, which we are inclined to take for granted, has distinct safety and sound advantages, John L. Burton, distributor for the Beltone Hearing Aid Company said today.

A dramatic demonstration comparing hearing with two ears (binaural) and one ear (monaural) was shown to a group of hearing specialists in Long Beach.

Burton used a two channel sound tape to illustrate the advantage of hearing with two ears, as contrasted with one ear hearing. The tape was engineered at the Beltone laboratories in Chicago.

Startling effects such as a Shriner's parade by recognizing direction as it marches into one ear, passes in front, and departs through the second ear; and a symphony orchestra sounding colorless because of one ear reception were produced.

Safety benefits of binaural hearing was shown through sound effects simulating a near traffic accident. The functions of two ears in selecting desired speech out of background noises also were demonstrated.

Ability to pinpoint the source of sound, Burton pointed out, is one of the major advantages of binaural hearing. He noted that binaural hearing glasses, such as those developed by the Beltone Company, have made it possible for hard of hearing persons to enjoy binaural hearing. Furthermore, the hearing glasses receive the sound at the ear level, adding to their ability to deliver sound more normally.

"It offers important safety advantages to the person with a hearing loss," he said. "In traffic or on the job, sounds of danger, such as screeching brakes or defective machinery, now can instantly be determined, located and evaded."

Binaural hearing enables persons to:

1. Determine the source of speech or sound.
2. Estimate the distance of sound's origin.
3. Select desired sound or speech from background noises.
4. Hear sound more accurately with respect to quality and range.
5. Hear more clearly with less power drawn from the hearing aid.

The recorded Shriner's parade demonstrated that sound is not heard simultaneously by both ears, but heard first by the ear closest to the sound. Normal speech, even when easily heard, is difficult to understand when heard with one ear, since the high frequency consonant sounds cannot be effectively differentiated from other speech sounds.

One of the more dramatic effects demonstrated by John L. Burton was the existence of what can be called an inner "tuning" mechanism, which enables a listener to select the sounds a person wishes to hear from a number of competing noises. In listening to a conversation in a room where many people are talking at once, it is more difficult to select the desired sound monaurally. When binaural hearing is employed, the "tuning" mechanism seems to go to work, enabling the listener to hear the sound he wishes while suppressing awareness of background noises.

When listening to music, Burton explained, binaural hearing enables the listener to hear the full qualities of the orchestra. Woodwinds, violins, brass and percussion are easily distinguished and enjoyed.

Why not come in for a FREE demonstration, see for yourself the value of TWO-EAR HEARING, phone or write for an appointment. Liberal terms. John L. Burton, President, Beltone Hearing Aids, 701 Kress Bldg. Phone HE 7-3818.

TO PICK UP FOREIGN CARS

Dave Thomas Group Leaving for Europe

The largest group of participants in Triumph's first European Rally for Americans will be lead by Long Beach dealer, David V. Thomas, it was announced by Dorothy Deen, executive vice president of Cal Sales, Western importer-distributor of the English sports car.

The Thomas party of Triumph purchasers who will take delivery of their new TR3s at the Coventry, England, plant includes 14 Southern Californians and two Albuquerquans. A total of 81 Americans will rendezvous in New York Friday to fly by chartered plane to England. After taking delivery of their Triumphs, the three-week Rallye will cover six European countries. The cost of the trip and the car approximate U. S. delivered price, Thomas said.

Southern Californians who bought their TR3s from Thomas and will accompany Dave and Mrs. Thomas on the European trip are: Mr. and Mrs. Verne Schacht, Dr. and Mrs. Stan Challis and Mr. and Mrs. John Hamilton, all of Long Beach; Mr. and Mrs. Ed Gibb, Palos Verde Estates; Dr. Joe Reynolds and Bert Tilton of Glendale; Mr. and Mrs. Sargeant Harris, San Gabriel, and Mr. and Mrs. Irish Seligman, Albuquerque.

IT MIGHT SAVE A LIFE—When driving in town or on the highway it is the responsibility of the motorist to keep from congesting traffic and creating a bottleneck by driving too slow, warns Sgt. Bill Meyers of the Long Beach Police Dept. Even driving with the speed limit as posted, you are required to keep to the right when traffic collects behind you unless are are passing or turning left.

Car Theft Laid to Seized Driver

COMPTON—Charles J. Murphy, 26, of Los Angeles, who was captured by California Highway Patrolmen after a wild auto chase last Monday, has been charged in Compton Municipal Court with stealing a car from James H. Lewis, 18004 Elaine St., Artesia.

Municipal Judge Ralph C. Dills on Friday held Murphy under $1,000 bail pending his preliminary hearing here May 6 on the grand theft auto charge.

Murphy was injured when he wrecked the auto he was driving on Pioneer Blvd. near 195th St., Dairy Valley. He was arrested there by CHP Officers J. Zylstra and R. Troxler from the Norwalk station.

Bonds Will Help Pay for Schools

WILLOWBROOK — The $12,000 worth of Willowbrook Elementary School District bonds recently sold by the Los Angeles County Supervisors to the Security-First National Bank will be used to help pay for new school buildings being planned. State funds will pay for the major part of the construction.

The bank offered an interest rate of 4.75 per cent. A premium of $61 will reduce this rate to 4.67 per cent, according to Supervisor Burton W. Chace.

The bonds sold are part of a $75,000 bond issue voted by the people to make the school district eligible for the state funds.

Corcoran Will Join Clough in Law Office

Corcoran has been in the law business here since 1952.

Clough is one of Bellflower's pioneer attorneys, having started practice here in 1929.

MOTOR SPORTS

Outstanding Riders to Compete in Catalina Motorcycle Races

By PAUL WALLACE

The sleepy island of Santa Catalina, 22 miles off the coast here, normally is the realm of world weary vacationers and honeymooners.

Next weekend, as it has once each May for the past six years, the whole complexion of the resort will change.

The shouts of pit crews will replace the leisurely conversation of sun bathers. The thunder of tuned engines will drown out the occasional buzz of outboard motors in Avalon Bay.

And lovers of speed and derring-do at the controls of racing machines will crowd the narrow streets for the 7th annual running of the Catalina Grand Prix—this country's premier amateur motorcycle competition.

* * * *

THE RIDERS will leave Avalon in groups of five, head for the interior on dirt mountain roads and fire trails, wind through perilous switchbacks and return across the golf course and through the roped off streets of Avalon to the sea.

Saturday, 150 cycles of under 350 cc engine displacement will run a 10-lap, 60-mile race starting at 1:30 p.m. Sunday, the big bikes will make a lengthened 10-lap, 100-mile tour.

As usual at any Southland amateur cycle event, super star Bud Ekins will be the man to beat. Winner of the race in 1955, Ekins saw everything go wrong in the 1956 event and wound up sixth. His 1955 record time still stands, however.

Ekins, who has won virtually every big race hereabouts at least once, suffered a fractured collarbone six weeks ago in a scrambles at Crater Bowl and has not been on a two-wheeler since.

* * * *

HE HOPES the bone will hold up for the tortuous 100-mile Sunday event. In deference to the injury, however, he will forego competition in Saturday's small bike grind.

Surprisingly, the master will ride a 500 cc Triumph twin rather than the powerful 650 cc bikes most of the other hot dogs will wrestle. He won on a 500 cc Trophy model in 1955, lost on a 650 cc Trophybird last year.

The engine is the same one that set a world's production motorcycle speed record of 128 m.p.h. plus last year at Bonneville. It was tuned by Bellflower Cycle Shop owner Hazen Bair and will be mounted in a Trophybird frame.

Facing Ekins and the other Triumph-mounted experts this year will be a new threat from BSA—50 horsepower, 650 cc Spitfires.

* * * *

THE POTENT new BSA scrambles racers will be in the hands of such talented pilots as Long Beach's Charles Cripps and Jack Simmons and last year's Catalina winner, Chuck (Feets) Minert, the spectacular Huntington Park fireman.

Other top BSA threats are aircraft engineer Walt Axthelm, second last year; C. H. Wheat, third in 1956, and Arvin Cox. Former Long Beach rider Nick Nicholson also will ride a 650 BSA.

Three top local riders will take big Triumph Trophybirds around the course. They are San Pedro's Bob Sandgren, second over-all in point standings last year behind Ekins; Cal Bottum from Bellflower, and Jim Goldsmith, outstanding amateur from Long Beach.

Other big bike entrants from this area include Roger White, Phil Troutman, Norm Reeves, Bob Tondro, Ed Betts, Vern Hancock, John Matthews, Dick Larson, Earl Wilson, Donald Frey and Charles Walters.

The local entry in the small bike classes will be led by Kenny Harryman, Corky Pennington, Hazen Bair, Elmer Rasmussen and Bottum.

* * * *

OTHERS RIDING the lightweights will be Johnny Muckenthaler, Henry Ramirez, Don Makela, Jim Crockett, Buggs Mann, Andy Anderson, Bert Harris and Bruce Yoder.

Veteran cycle enthusiast, film star Keenan Wynn will race aboard a 200 cc Triumph Cub, as will Lee Marvin, young movie actor.

As final official results of the races take several days to compute, we will carry them in our May 12 column.

* * * *

THE GOLD CUP DRAG RACE MEET will go today at the Santa Ana Drag Strip at Orange County Airport. We booted one when we called it for last Sunday.

A big car show is set for the campus of Compton College, 1111 Artesia Blvd., next Sunday under sponsorship of the Compton Elks Lodge.

Class A flat track motorcycle racing will return at 2 p.m. today to the Midgetapolis Speedway in Agoura on Ventura Blvd., 6 miles west of Woodland Hills.

Tour of Schools in Lynwood Set by Businessmen

LYNWOOD — A tour of Lynwood schools by businessmen on Education-Business Day Wednesday will be a feature of Public Schools Week opening Monday, according to Don Reber, school superintendent.

Open house will be held at all the schools, which will be visited by representatives of the Lynwood Masonic Lodge. The Masons sponsor Public Schools Week here each year.

The businessmen will meet at 9:30 a.m. Wednesday in the school administration building. They then will go to Hosler Junior High School where a program will be presented, after which they will be guests at a luncheon at one of the elementary schools. In the afternoon the high school will be toured.

Man Apparent Suicide Victim

NORWALK (CNS) — Richard Dale Blake, 31, of 9416 Millergrove Dr., South Whittier, was found dead in his car parked in front of 9300 Longworth Ave. Saturday.

Deputy sheriffs said Blake apparently killed himself with carbon monoxide.

Deputies said Blake left the following note to his wife, Mavis May, 27:

"Darling, this is the only way I can see. Take my insurance and pay every nickel we owe anybody. Take money and make a down-payment on a house and fix up your Ford with the balance. Marry again to a nice guy when you find one. Never tell the children bad things about me."

Blake was a soap salesman.

Glass, Bugs, Lead in His Bread OK

VIENNA, Austria (AP) — A reader wrote to the newspaper at Vezprem in Hungary commenting on the government-operated bakery:

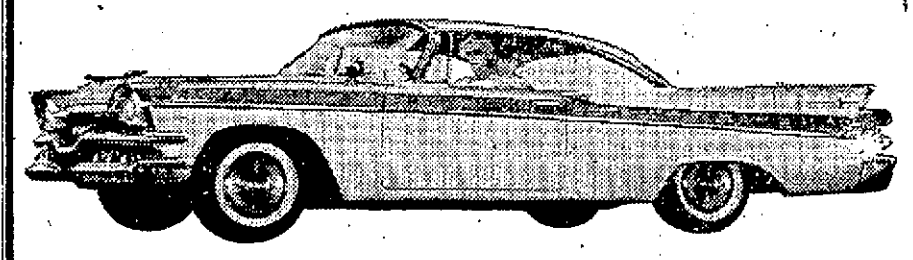

"First I found pieces of glass, bugs, bits of string and lead in the bread, but said nothing. Then the bread came out burned, sour and dirty, but still I held my peace.

"Finally, yesterday at lunch my mother produced half a razor blade from her mouth. What are they trying to do to us? Train us for fakirs?"

Chrysler First to Sweep Field for Mobilgas Run

By ART STEPHAN

Independent, Press-Telegram Auto Editor

A doff of the derby to Chrysler Corp.

Never before has one manufacturer swept the field in the annual Mobilgas Economy Run.

Never before has one family garnered so many gleaming trophies, symbolic of automobile supremacy, in this famed test of motor car efficiency.

When the whirring statistical computers had stopped in Sun Valley, two names stood out far and above all else — Chrysler and the Alsburys.

Winning each of the four classes was a Chrysler product. Winning two classes were the young Alsbury brothers, Mel and George, with Mel also winning the sweepstakes title for the second year in succession.

As if this were not enough to make the 1957 Mobilgas Run stand out in automotive history, the participation of women drivers for the first time alone would have made this year's run history-making.

• • • •

WOMEN SURPRISED everyone except themselves and A. C. Pillsbury, regional director of the United States Auto Club, supervisory body of the run. Pillsbury had predicted the girls would do well, and that they did.

The run this year proved more conclusively than ever before that a well-maintained car that is driven carefully can save every motorist money.

It also proved the well-engineered Chrysler automatic transmission is this year's most efficient device of its kind.

Mel Alsbury Jr. won the run a year ago with the Imperial when that Chrysler product alone in the line had the new transmission. Since then it has been extended to the rest of the Chrysler cars, and their wins in the run demonstrated that it can't be beat for efficiency.

• • • •

ED GOULD, general manager of the R. O. Gould Chrysler-Plymouth dealership in Long Beach, was enthusiastic in congratulating the Alsburys for their run performance.

"I felt we had the winner again this year in this big beauty," Ed remarked as he affectionately patted the hood of a sleek Imperial standing on his showroom floor. "With victory-driver Mel Jr. showing his heels to the pack last year I saw no reason the Imperial couldn't repeat. The Alsburys certainly kept it in the family."

As for women drivers, Mary Davis' win in the eight-cylinder Plymouth Belvedere over veteran driver Marshall Martin in a six-cylinder Ford proved conclusively that a good woman driver is every bit as good as the best men pilots.

This contest, the most competitive in the entire run, was nip and tuck all the way over the 1568-mile four-day drive from Los Angeles to Sun Valley. Mary's heavier car gave her a higher ton-mile average, and ton-mile figures pay off. Ton-miles are simply the result of multiplying the car's miles-per-gallon figure by its weight in tons.

Women drivers scored only fractionally less as a whole than did men drivers, with an average of 20.23 miles per gallon against the men't 20.64 miles per gallon for all cars. On the basis of ton-miles the women were only five-hundredths of a ton-mile behind the men.

• • • •

WOMEN DROVE identical cars to those piloted by men, for the rules of the nation's top highway performance event decreed women could compete in the run if entrants wished to supply a second car of the same model.

The rules also directed that whichever of the two cars attained the better ton-mile figure would be used in the final scoring, with the other car not to be ranked. Thus it meant a contest between a man and a woman driver in similar cars, the winner to be eligible for ranking in the run.

Mary Davis, in the Plymouth in the low-price field, thus first defeated former sweepstakes winner Dick Griffiths in an identical Plymouth, and then defeated the other nine drivers in competitive makes in the popular low-price class.

Mel Alsbury's mother, Mrs. Mildred Alsbury, was ranked an unofficial second in her Imperial, but her champion son outdrove her to put her out of contention in the high-price class. She still attained second highest ton-miles of the entire fleet of 23 cars, proving the efficiency of the Imperial.

• • • •

TINY, BROWN-HAIRED "Grandma Millie," as she was known to all on the run, also proved not-so-young drivers can be capable pilots.

"I hope this helps to prove that women are just as good drivers as men," Mrs. Alsbury told reporters following the run.

Highest actual miles per gallon — which the public always watches with interest — was racked up by Marshall Martin in his six-cylinder Ford. His 22.25 miles per gallon was only eight-tenths of a mile better than the pretty blonde Mary's score.

• • • •

INDICATIVE of the interest in the run, more than 100 reporters of newspapers, radio and television were on hand at Sun Valley for the finish. More than 30,000 words relaying the colorful story of the run went out over the telephone and telegraph lines to every nook and cranny in America and to population centers throughout the free world.

In addition, top figures in the automotive world from Detroit to Los Angeles, car-building capitals, anxiously watched their representatives glide smoothly over the finish line in front of the Challenger Inn at the world-famed ski resort.

But for the Alsburys—and the thousands of Chrysler Corp. officials, employes and dealers throughout America — this was the day of days when the Mobilgas Economy Run wound up its 14th event since 1936 with great credit to the Alsburys and Chryslers.

Many Traffic Lights on Trip

During the Mobilgas Economy Run, the cars passed through 225 miles of speed restriction zones, and encountered 274 electric traffic signals—but from Los Angeles to Sun Valley, they made only 29 arterial stops.

This year the cars dipped to sea level and climbed to 7,382 feet above, but on previous courses they have varied from 203 feet below sea level to nearly two miles above.

976,000 Tourists

OSLO (AP) — More than 976,000 tourists visited Norway last year, an increase of 9 per cent over the total for 1955. Most were Swedes.

FIRST LADY WINNER

Pomona Plymouth Dealer Bill Shadoff congratulates driver Mary Davis and relief driver Ginny Simms for driving Plymouth to the championship in Class A of 1957 Mobilgas Economy Run. Mary Davis drove her Plymouth V-8 hardtop to victory over competitive models in the popular low price class with a ton mile mark of 52.6211.

OFFICIAL MILEAGE—AVERAGE FOR ALL CARS . . . 20.4

TOP PERFORMANCE—TOP MILEAGE. Cars representing over 90% of U. S. 1957 model automobile production got a thorough testing in the tough Mobilgas Economy Run just completed.

These high-horsepower stock cars, all with automatic transmission, used 1957 Mobilgas Special — the same superfuel you buy at Mobil stations. Despite increased horsepower and size of car, official average mileage was outstanding.

Over 1568 rugged miles of mountain passes, long stretches of open road, tight town traffic, in all kinds of weather, with altitudes ranging from sea level to 7382 feet, every car reported dependable, knock-free performance and mileage.

TOUGH, IMPARTIAL TEST. Rules for the Run are rigidly made, rigorously enforced. Impartial observers, provided by the Sports Commission of the United States Auto Club, sat constantly alongside Run drivers.

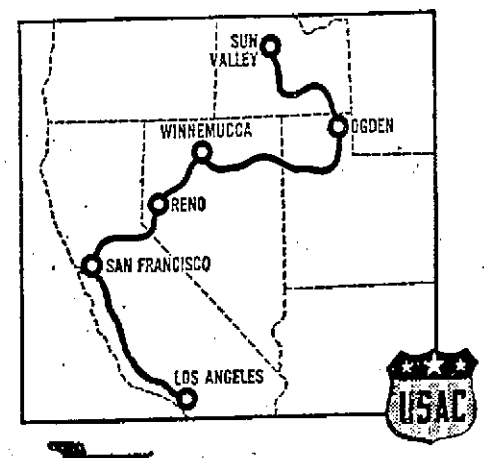

Their job: to be sure cars were held to maximum legal speeds, never coasted, and all traffic laws scrupulously observed.

HERE'S THE RUN THEY FOLLOWED:

The Mobilgas Economy Run is an impartial mileage test of cars competing against others in the same price class. Sponsored annually by General Petroleum Corporation as a public service to motorists.

DODGE DELIVERS

Bill Losher, left, driver of the winning Dodge Coronet "500," is shown with the trophy he won for finishing first in the low medium price class of the 1957 Mobilgas Economy Run. Losher drove the Dodge to a ton-miles per gallon mark of 55.9820 and 22.0047 actual miles. With Losher is Steve Newton, president of the Southern California Dodge Dealers Assn., who entered the car in the run.

'CHRYSLER YR.'

Bryant Is Elated at Showing

"Do you need further proof that this is Chrysler Corp.'s year?"

This was the answer of Bill Bryant, general manager of Glenn E. Thomas Dodge-Plymouth dealership in Long Beach, as he was asked to comment on Chrysler's sweep of all four classes in the 1957 Mobilgas Economy Run.

"I feel extremely pleased that we have both the class-winning Dodge and Plymouth on our showroom floor.

"Since these models were introduced last October our styling has been the envy of the industry.

"Now the Economy Run proves our cars are the most efficiently engineered on the road.

"I repeat," Bill declared most jovially, "this is Chrysler's year."

Mr. Bryant, it seems, has an opinion.

THE FINISH LINE

The Imperial Crown, driven by Mel Alsbury Jr., gets the flag from official starter J. C. Agajanian as it whizzes across the finish line of the 1957 Mobilgas Economy Run at Sun Valley. The Imperial not only won the high price class, but the sweepstakes award as well, with a near-record 64.5153 ton-miles per gallon and 20.9465 actual miles. It was the second straight year Alsbury Jr. drove an Imperial to the highest honor in the annual highway performance test.

CLASS WINNER

Losher's Car Sets Fast Pace

William J. Losher led from start to finish in his Dodge Coronet "500" to win honors in the low medium class with a ton-mile average of 55.8920 and 22.0047 actual miles per gallon.

The car was the entry of the Los Angeles Area Dodge Dealers Assn. and Losher had to keep pressing all the way to beat out his running mate, Patricia Jones.

Miss Jones got 54.4509 ton-miles per gallon and 21.7803 actual miles out of her Dodge Coronet "500" to take second in the class. However, since only the highest ton-miles car of an entrant figures in the official standings, Miss Jones' car does not count.

THIS MOVED the Oldsmobile 88 Holiday, driven by Lorraine Bell, into second place in the low medium class. Mrs. Bell got 52.7877 ton-miles and 19.5149 actual miles.

Next in order came the Pontiac Chieftain driven by Pierce Venable, who atttained a ton-miles mark of 50.2384 and 20.4221 actual miles. The Studebaker President, driven by Pete Novotny, followed with 44.8769 and 19.9453 actual miles.

The Oldsmobile 88 Holiday driven by Lincoln Paola developed a vibration as the car pulled into Ogden and was withdrawn from the competition. However, at the end of the third day he had been trailing Mrs. Bell's Oldsmobile and would perhaps have been eliminated anyway.

Losher is a retired Navy Commander who is now service manager of San Fernando Motors. He also drove a Dodge in the 1955 and 1956 economy runs.

Agajanian Jumps to Start All

"Jumping" J. C. Agajanian was in there again this year, waving the flags from Los Angeles to Sun Valley, as the official starter of the Mobilgas Economy Run.

He comes by the nickname "Jumping Jay" honestly enough—when he starts an event he spend more time in the air than on the ground. The high leap and the flourish of the flag is his trademark. Year after year, he is the favorite target of movie and still photographers who cover the event.

He sends them on their way at the start, flags them in each night, sends them out again next day, and winds up at the finish line. Hardly has he made his last leap before he is in his car flashing to lap the field to be on hand for the next assignment.

Agajanian is annually represented by a car in the Indianapolis 500. In 1952, his car won the event. Most of the year he devotes to staging races in the Los Angeles County area. But he still finds time on the side to be a rancher.

GOLDEN AGE MEETING

Members of the Golden Age Club will elect officers when they meet Thursday in Linden Hall. Mrs. Ethel Fairbanks will preside.

CHRYSLER CORPORATION SWEEPS ECONOMY RUN!

FORWARD LOOK ENGINEERING AND DESIGN WRITE PERFORMANCE HISTORY— WIN EVERY CLASS IN TOUGH MOBILGAS TEST!

Never before in the history of the Mobilgas Economy Run has one car-making corporation swept all competition aside in every event, in every price, weight and displacement class—right across the board! An unprecedented display of engine and car performance! Here's positive proof that Chrysler Corporation cars with their exclusive and winning combination of functional stabilizer fin styling, revolutionary Torsion-Aire Ride, Pushbutton TorqueFlite transmission, full-time power steering and Total Contact Brakes, are far and away the best buys on the American road today!

Class D and Overall Winner

IMPERIAL – 64.51 TON-MILES*

For the second straight year, an Imperial walked away with the top honors in the grueling Mobilgas Economy Run. This year a Crown Imperial won by the widest margin in the history of the event—12.17 ton-miles more than the next best car.

Class C

FIRST CHRYSLER SARATOGA–56.72 TON-MILES
SECOND DE SOTO FIREDOME–56.44 TON-MILES

A Chrysler Saratoga and a De Soto Firedome dominated the medium price and weight class. Chrysler won the event with an average of 56.72 ton-miles with De Soto a close second. No competitive car was even close!

Class B

DODGE CORONET 500 – 55.89 TON-MILES

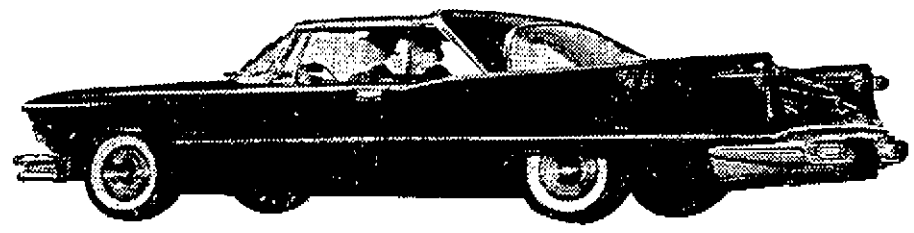

Dodge ran away with all the honors in Class B. A Dodge Coronet 500 negotiated the grueling 1500 mile run with a ton-mile average of 55.89.

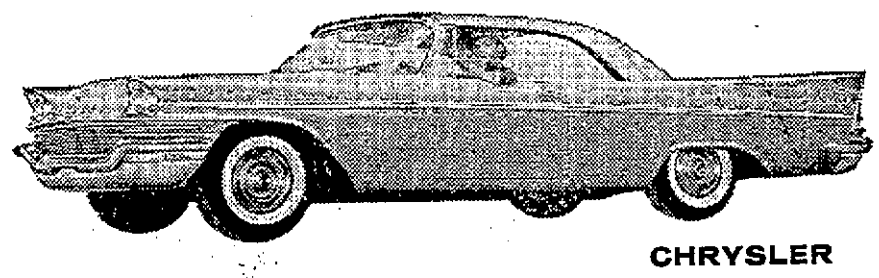

Class A

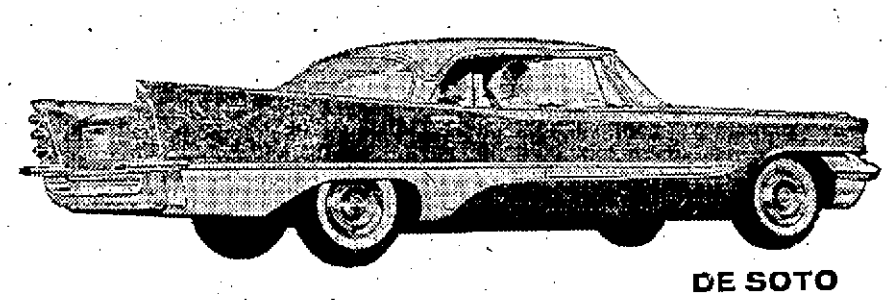

PLYMOUTH BELVEDERE – 52.62 TON-MILES

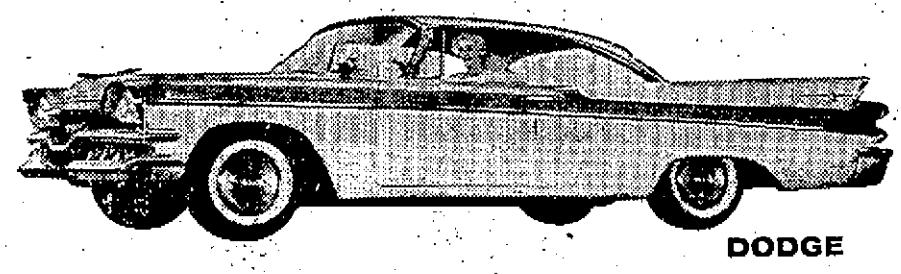

Plymouth topped the big low price and weight class: A Plymouth Belvedere 8 swept the field with an average ton-mile rating of 52.62.

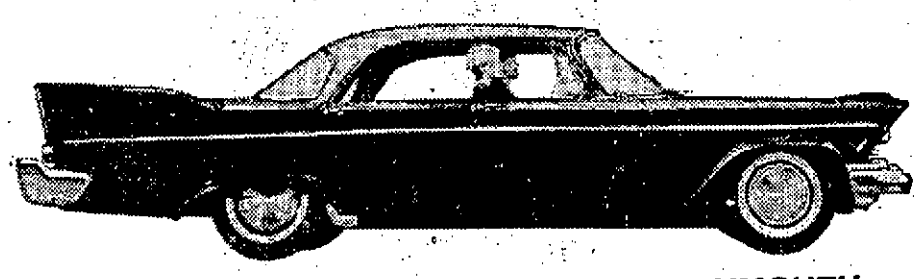

*Miles per gallon multiplied by weight of car in tons. This is the official method used by the United States Automobile Club . . . and figured this way so that all cars, regardless of make or size, may be judged on an equal basis.

MARY DAVIS WINS

Leads All of Way in Plymouth

BLONDE MARY DAVIS, one of the country's top women sports car drivers, proved herself just as adept at driving stock cars as she jumped out in front of the low price class and held the lead the entire four days of the gruelling test to Sun Valley.

Not only did Mary win her class in the Plymouth Belvedere "8," with 52.6211 ton-miles per gallon and 21.3907 actual miles per gallon, but she outdrove three former Economy Run sweepstakes winners, the country's top woman driver and one of the Southland's better known women stock car drivers.

* * * *

SECOND PLACE in the low price class went to Marshall Martin in a Ford Fairlane 500 "6," who was close behind Miss Davis the entire distance. He pushed his car to 52.5181 ton-miles per gallon and 22.2534 actual miles. Martin, who had won the Sweepstakes in 1941, got the highest actual miles per gallon of all cars.

Third was another Ford "6," driven by Ina Mae Overman, with 52.3140 ton-miles and 22.1201 actual miles. However, since only the best car of an entrant counts as the official entry, Mrs. Overman's car does not place in the standings.

In fourth place was the other Plymouth Belvedere "8," driven by Richard Griffith, which got 51.4061 ton-miles and 20.8968 actual miles. However, since Miss Davis' Plymouth won this class, Dick's car does not count in the standings, either.

* * * *

IN FIFTH PLACE was the Chevrolet Bel Air "8," driven by Vince Piggins, with 49.4378 ton-miles and 21.2636 actual miles. Since Mrs. Overman's car and Griffith's car don't count, Piggins was elevated to third place in the official standings.

Next in order in this class were:

Chevrolet Bel Air "6," driven by Jim Rush, 49.0080 ton-miles, 21.4948 actual miles; Rambler Rebel "8," driven by Les Viland, 47.8914 ton-miles, 21.6214 actual miles; Chevrolet Bel Air "8," driven by Betty Skelton, 47.5606 ton-miles, 20.7236 actual miles; Ford Fairlane 500 "8," driven by Al Cottle, 45.4013 ton-miles and 19.1567 actual miles, and Ford Fairlane 500 "8," driven by Mopsey Pagan, 44.9959 ton-miles, 18.9456 actual miles.

* * * *

IN ADDITION to Martin, the other former sweepstakes award drivers that Miss Davis beat out were Dick Griffith and Les Viland. The country's leading woman driver she led was Betty Skelton, who holds more records than any other woman driver; and the well known stock car driver in the event was Mopsy Pagan.

Miss Davis, who is part owner of the Grand Prix restaurant in Los Angeles, drove the Plymouth entered by W. R. Shadoff, Pomona dealer.

Peru, Mexico Featured in Library Films

"Heritage of Our Southern Neighbor" will be the subject of a free film showing at Bret Hart Branch Library, 1408 W. Willow St., Friday at 7:30 p.m. The public is invited.

"Heart of the Inca Empire," a study of the ruins of the famous Inca city of Machu Picchu and "Song of the Feathered Serpent" a colorful picture of ancient Indians of Mexico will portray life as it was in South America before Europeans arrived.

"Architecture Mexico" portrays the advance in modern architecture.

Miss Nina Boyle, film librarian, will introduce the program.

Film Analysis Slated for Club

A critical analysis of motion pictures will feature the meeting of the Long Beach Cinema Club at 8 p.m. Wednesday in the Houghton Park Clubhouse. Films to be studied include two new animated cartoons by Paul Brundage, San Francisco, and "Land of the Pink Cliffs," a prize-winning travelogue by John Booz, Kansas City.

Amateur movie photographers are invited to bring their films for criticism.

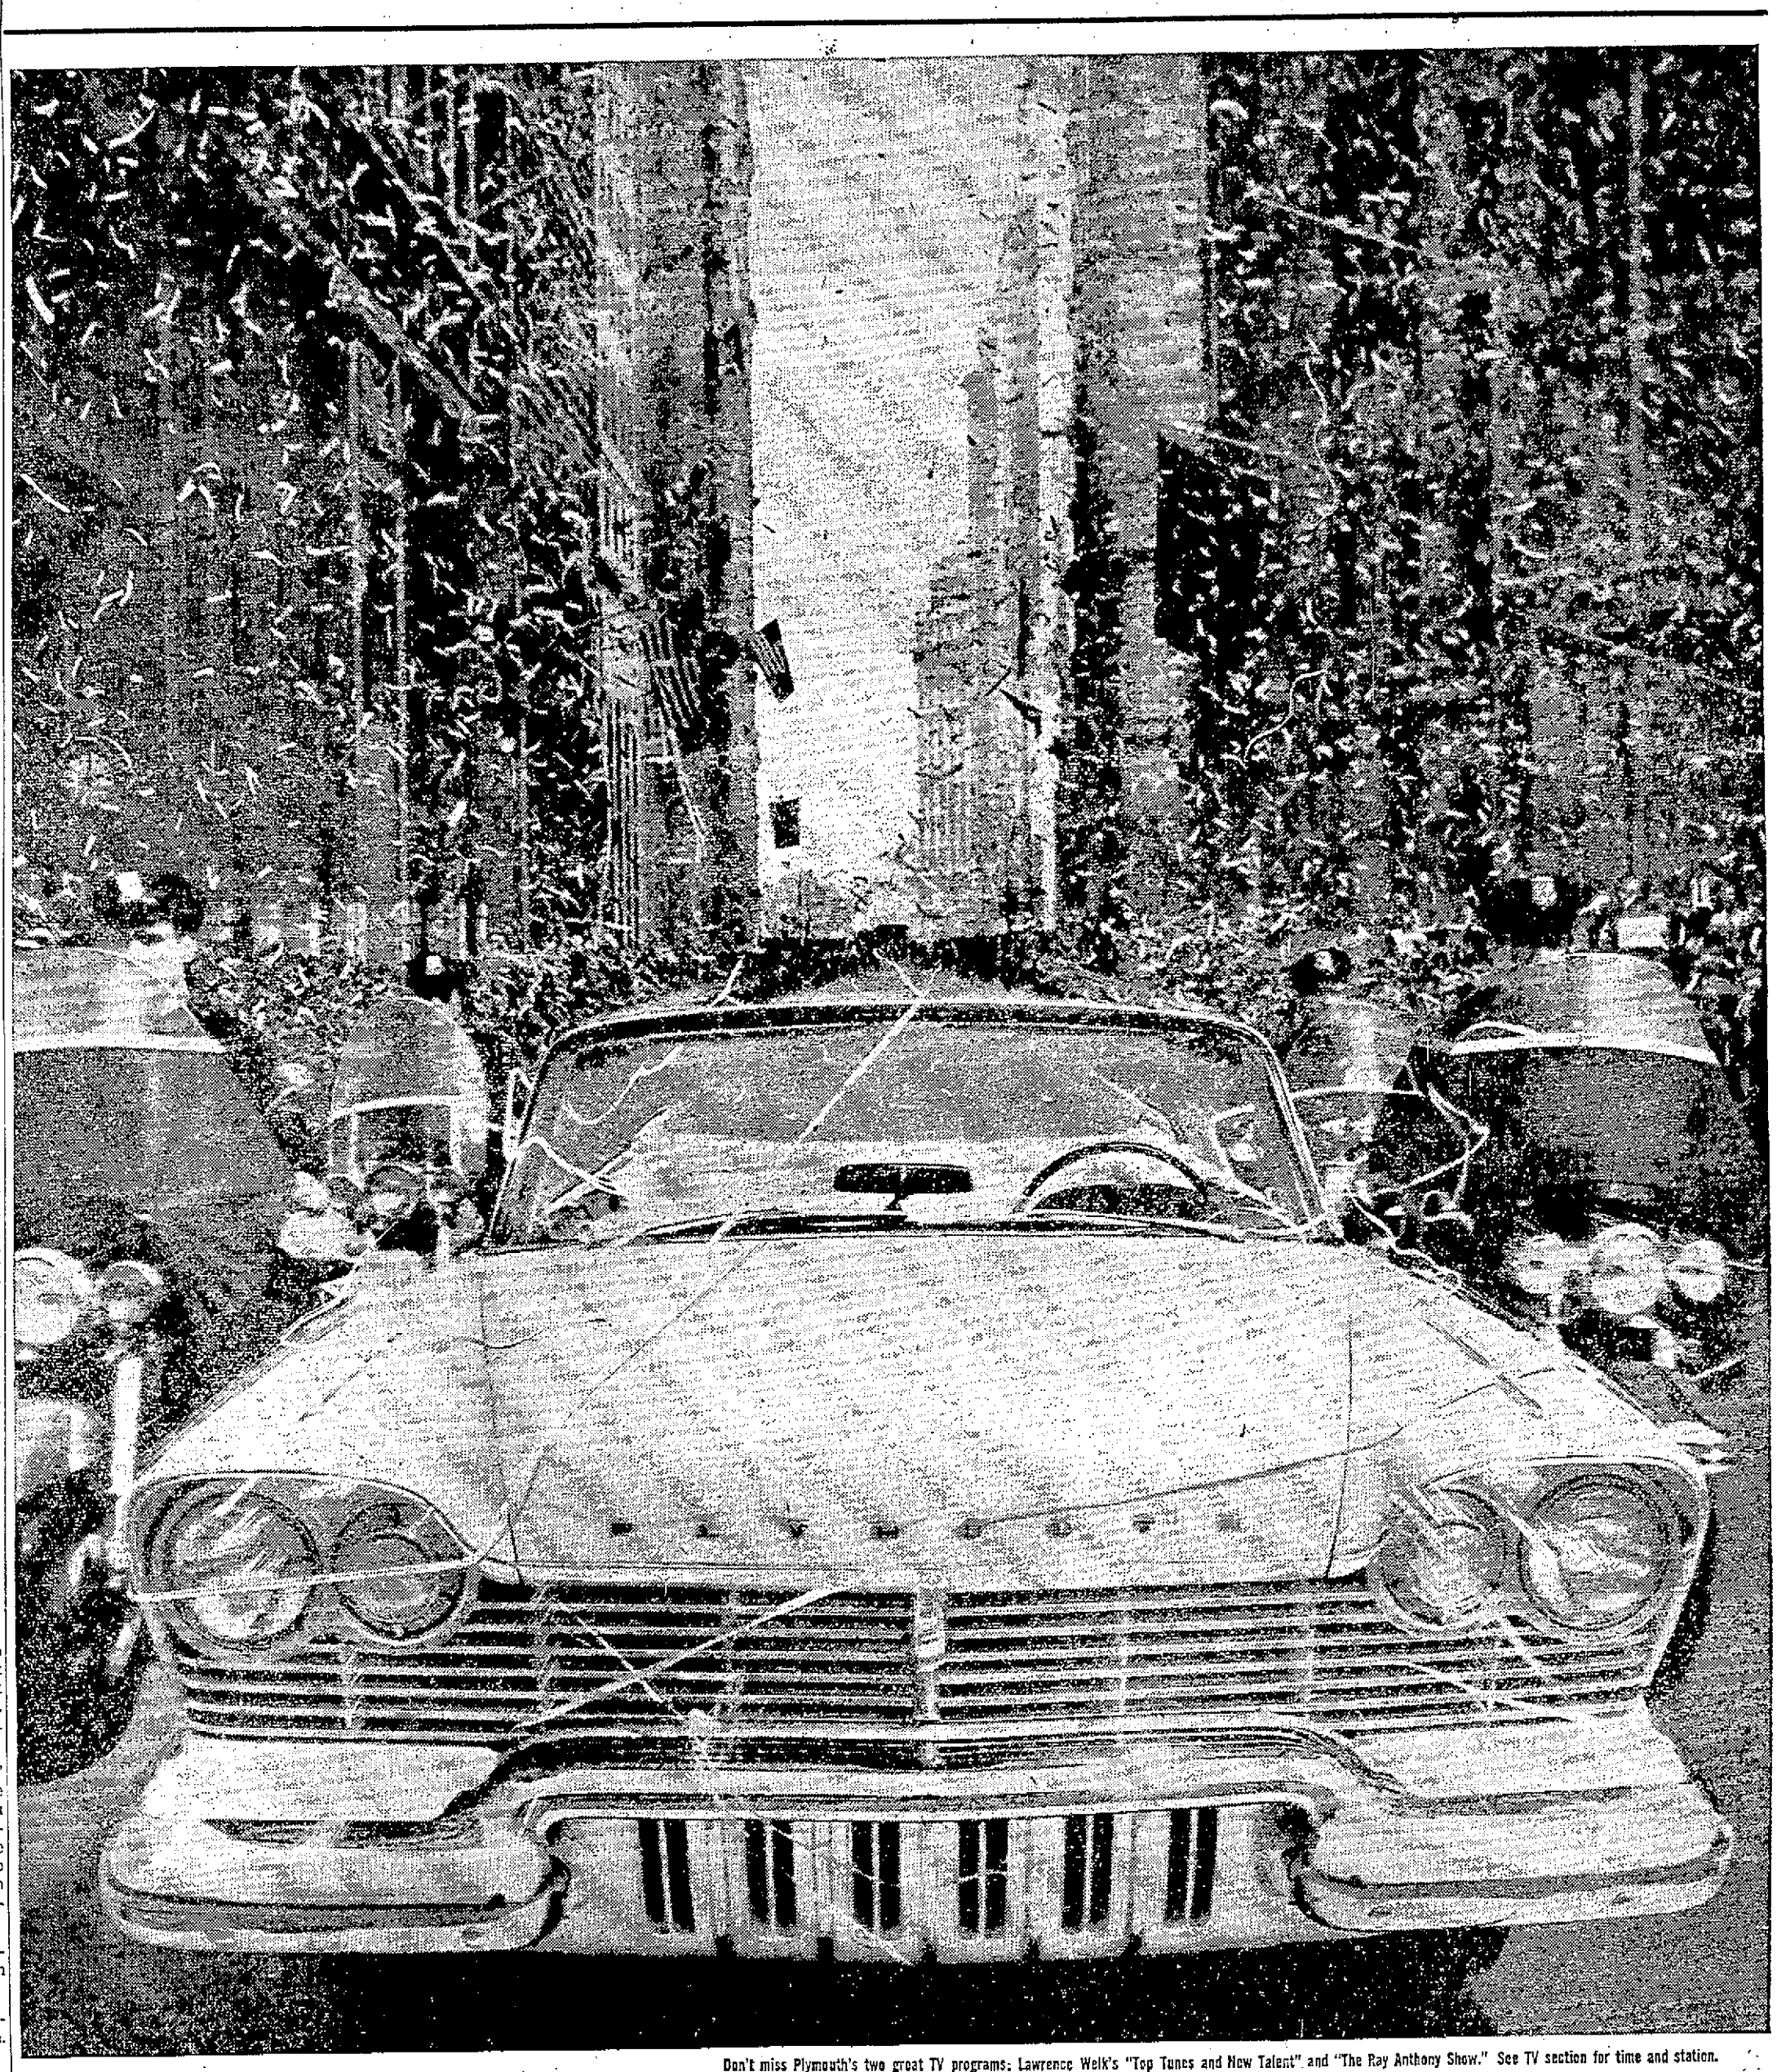

Silver Pesos Planned

VERACRUZ, Mexico (AP)—Silver Mexican pesos will be put in circulation next month, the Bank of Mexico has announced. Although one of the world's leading silver producers, Mexico has few silver coins in use. It makes many on order for foreign nations.

ENOS GOES ON AND ON

If life begins at 40, Enos Slaughter, New York Yankee outfielder, was a frisky one-year-old Saturday. Here he gets a birthday assist in clubhouse by manager Casey Stengel. Ageless Enos played left field and matched his first birthday—after 40, that is—with one hit, a double, in three times at bat.—(AP Wirephoto.)

Stepping out against older horses for the first time, the 3-year-old son of Direct Win — Clabber's Flossie, V. streaked to a three-quarters of a length victory in the $5,000 Barbra B. Stakes before the second largest crowd in Los Alamitos race course history, 12,246 fans.

The attendance was just 112 fans short of the record high of 12,568 who turned out on April 21 of last year and the $707,637 they wagered on the nine-race card was a new high in mutuel handle, exceeding the previous mark of $695,911 established on April 21, 1956.

CLABBER'S WIN, ridden by Ronald Banks and trained by H. B. (Tex) Carrell, raced the 400 yards of the Barbra B. in 20.3 seconds, just two-tenths of a second off the track and world record of sensational Go, Man Go, and paid his backer $10.20, $4.40 and $3.20 across the board.

J. L. Taylor's Dividend, sent away the public choice, was second, a nose in front of L. E. Patterson's Dr. Rand V., the track record holder at 549 yards. Dividend paid $3.40 and $2.90 and Dr. Rand V. $4.30 to show.

In contrast to last week, when he bore out badly and was disqualified and placed last after winning the Derby, Clabber's Win maintained a reasonably straight course Saturday.

* * * *

HE CAME OUT of the gate just a bit tardy, but it didn't take him long to make up for that and, while he drifted out in the drive, he was fortunate that Vanetta Dee, who broke on the outside of him, also took a notion to go out.

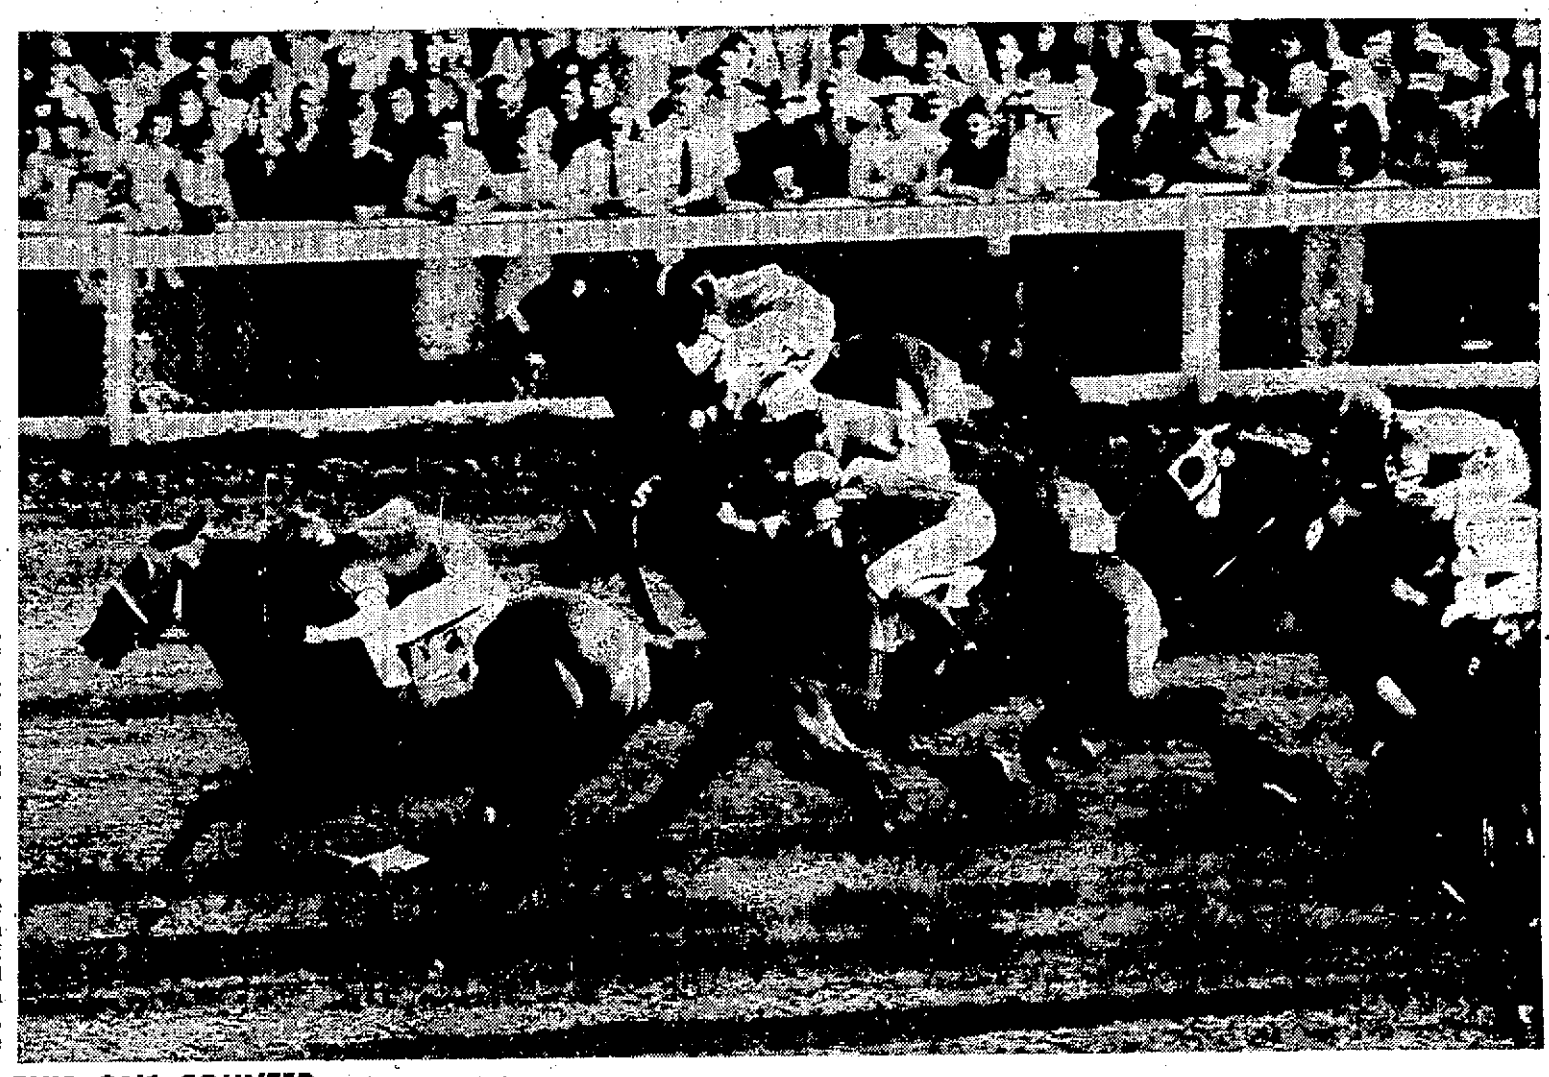

About midway through the race, Clabber's Win started to draw clear and at the wire he was going away.

Dividend, racing on the outside, was forwardly placed from the start, raced with Clabber's Win to the 200-yard mark and then could not match strides with the winner.

THE VICTORY was the 11th of the season for Banks but it left him three shy of Ken Chapman, the meeting's leading rider, who bounced home in front aboard C. T. Guseman's Bella St. Mary at $9.80 in the finale to run his total to 14.

It was a big day for the track, but a rough one for the form players, not a single public choice getting home in front.

THIS ONE COUNTED

Donald K. Brokaw's Clabber's Win (No. 3 at left) streaks across the finish line three-quarters of a length in front of Dividend (No. 8) in Saturday's featured Barbra B. Stakes at Los Alamitos to make amends for his wandering ways on the previous Saturday when he placed first but was disqualified in the $22,000 Derby. Dr. Rand V. (No. 5 in middle of pack) finished third. Ronald Banks rode winner.

Red Sox' Brewer Cracks Yank Jinx

NEW YORK (AP)—Tom Brewer finally cracked his New York Yankee jinx Saturday after losing to the world champs seven times when he pitched the Boston Red Sox to a 2-1 victory that ruined Bobby Shantz' first Yankee start.

The 25-year-old righthander, who previously never had beaten the Yanks in his brief major league career, held his tormentors to five hits but was replaced by Ike Delock after he ran into a wild streak in the ninth. Delock came in with two on and one out and put out the blaze.

* * * *

SHANTZ, ACQUIRED from Kansas City in February, went all the way in a tight duel with Brewer but yielded eight hits to suffer his first defeat.

With the score tied at 1-1 and one out in the third inning, Shantz walked Frank Malzone. The Boston third baseman tried to steal second and was hung up by Yogi Berra's throw to Gil McDougald. However, Malzone escaped safely back to first when McDougald threw wildly.

Billy Klaus' single and a walk to Ted Williams loaded the bases. When Dick Gernert forced Williams at second, Malzone scored the run that proved decisive.

* * * *

BOSTON'S FIRST run came in the first with the help of another Yankee error. Malzone was safe on Billy Martin's fumble and took third on Klaus' single. The decision at third on Hank Bauer's throw to Martin stirred up a bitter argument with manager Casey Stengel and the Yankees complaining to umpire J. Paparella.

After the argument subsided with Paparella sticking to his guns, Williams drove in Malzone with a single, his only hit in three official trips.

The Yanks scored off Brewer in the first when McDougald walked with the bases full. An infield single by Bauer, a single by Mickey Mantle and a walk to Bill Skowron loaded them up.

Ayala Upsets Injured Hoad

NAPLES, Italy (U.P.) — Lew Hoad of Australia, complaining of pains in his arm which once again may interrupt his tennis playing, was defeated by Luis Ayala of Chile Saturday, 8-6, 6-3, in the semifinals of the Naples international tournament.

Hoad, playing in his first tournament after a back injury last January, complained of pains in his right arm muscles while he and Ayala encountered unexpected trouble before winning a doubles match, 6-8, 6-4, 6-3, from Italy's Cesare Guericelena and Antonio Maggi.

After a doctor had directed him to have the arm massaged, Hoad met Ayala in singles, but was obviously off form. Ayala aggressively exploited his hard-hitting game to keep Hoad constantly on the defensive.

Ayala's opponent in today's finals will be Orlando Sirola of Italy, who defeated Hugh Stewart of Los Angeles.

65 Fivesomes Tee Off in Pro-Lady-Amateur

By JERRY WYNN

How to save daylight even with daylight savings time is the problem at Recreation Park today as a bulky field of 65 fivesomes competes in the annual $1,900 Pro-Lady-Amateur golf tournament.

Play begins at 7 a.m. with the last team scheduled to tee off at 3 p.m. Betting is about even money that it will need flashlights on the closing holes.

Each fivesomes will be composed of a pro, a lady and male amateur of his choice, and two Recreation Park Men's Club members. Scoring will be based on one best-ball of the five-some. A 56, by a team headed by pro Max Bayha won last year.

The pro lineup includes well-known Southland veterans Jerry Barber, Eric Monti, Paul Runyan, Smiley Quick, Zell Eaton, Ralph Evans, Fay Coleman, Harry Bassler and Ralph Bloomquist. Eaton's five-under-par 67 was individual low i 1956.

Among the top lady amateurs participating are Shirley McFedters Hale, Darlene Hough, Jane Lange Cadotte and Ruth Miller. National Junior champion Pinky Stevenson will play as a partner to pro Jack Henry. There is no admission charge for gallerying.

10 Whiffs by Score in 2-1 Win

CLEVELAND (U.P.) — Lefty Herb Score, throwing a vastly-improved curve to go with his blazing fastball, struck out 10 men Saturday in pitching the Cleveland Indians to a three-hit, 2-1 victory over the Detroit Tigers. The 23-year-old southpaw struck out seven men in the first three innings.

* * * *

PAUL FOYTACK and Steve Gromek gave Score a battle, holding Cleveland to seven hits. But the Indians squeezed out a run from each. Gene Woodling doubled in the fourth and came home on long flies by Al Smith and Vic Wertz.

What proved to be the winning run came in the eighth on singles by Smith and Wertz, and a long fly by Roger Maris which Al Kaline dropped in deep right field.

The Tigers averted a shutout in the ninth with the aid of a single, a walk, a wild pitch and a fielder's choice.

Troy Routs Cal Spikers

By DICK ZEHMS

Bob Lawson, Ron Morris and Max Truex matched or bettered meet records Saturday as the SC Trojans plowed California's Golden Bears into defeat, 86-45, in the Coliseum before a crowd of 2,891, but Troy will have to do much better next Saturday to escape defeat from UCLA's Bruins in the dual meet titanic of the year.

Brutus Hamilton's Berkeley crowd made one run at the Trojans, closing the gap to 23-22 in SC's favor after five events. When the javelin sweep for SC came in, however, the meet was over.

Lawson started the record performances with a 14.3 flight of high sticks, matching Phil Cope's jaunt in 1936.

* * * *

NEXT OLYMPIAN Don Bowden ran away from the 880 field for a new record in 1:49.7, and Truex shook off Bob House for a fancy win in the two-mile in 8:57.3, running the last mile in 4:24.2.

Jess Mortensen's Bovard Fielders didn't look good despite their romp. The weightmen were either off or holding back. And some of the middle distance Trojans didn't come up to their previous bests.

Except for the high jump, SC collected every first in the field events. And Rock Burgoyne managed a surprising tie in the high jump with Oran Franklin of the Bears.

* * * *

LEAMON KING, Cal's Olympic sprinter, coasted to victories in the 100 and 220, being clocked in 9.9 and 21.5. Lawson was a twin winner for the Trojans, collecting both hurdles. A surprise blue ribbon fell to SC in the broad jump when football star C. R. Roberts stretched out 24-1 1-4.

Troy has its work cut out next Saturday. Rafer Johnson is nearing his peak!

McHale May Replace Briggs With Tigers

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — A Detroit's Tigers' official said Saturday he understood Johnny McHale, the club's personnel director, is "under consideration" for the job of general manager to succeed Walter O. (Spike) Briggs.

Paul A. O'Brien, Tiger vice president, declined further comment on the resignation of Briggs, who was with the club 21 years.

Gutowski Vaults 15-8¼ Shatters Outdoor Record

PALO ALTO (AP)—Bob Gutowski, a slender Occidental College senior, gave himself a belated birthday present Saturday by vaulting 15 feet 8¼ inches to better the world outdoor record by half an inch.

Gutowski, who was 22 last Thursday, cleared the height on his first jump after the bar was moved up from 15-4½. He later missed in three tries at 16 feet even.

The record vault was the second best in history, bettered only by Cornelius (Dutch) Warmerdam's indoor mark of 15-8½. Warmerdam set the outdoor record at 15-7½ inches 15 years ago.

* * * *

GUTOWSKI'S performance overshadowed the Stanford-Occidental dual meet which Occidental won 72-59.

"I had the height on my big jump," he said, "and knew I was over when my feet crossed the bar. He arched over with several inches to spare.

"At 16 feet," Bob said, "my hands slipped on the first jump and I was too tired on the second and third."

Gutowski recently switched back to a steel vaulting pole after using the new fiber glass model during the winter indoor season. "I get a better grip on steel," he explained.

Gutowski said he held the pole 13 feet 8 inches from the end on his record try. When the bar was raised to 16, he moved out to 13 feet 10 inches. Warmerdam held the pole at 13 feet 11 inches when he set the outdoor mark.

* * * *

BOB SAID the Stanford Stadium pit was "one of the best but offered no necessary advantage. I had a slight breeze at my back and the runway was smooth and hard."

The 6-foot, 150-pound chemistry major predicted he'd vault 16 feet before he quits. "That's just about my limit, I think," he added.

En route to the record, Gutowski cleared 14 feet, 14-4, 15 feet and 15-4½, all on his first try.

Gutowski, who placed second to the Rev. Bob Richards in the 1956 Olympic Games, had been inching toward the record all season after vaulting 15-6 indoors at the Millrose Games in New York this winter.

* * * *

GUTOWSKI also had a best-of-life effort in the broad jump, leaping 24-5½ for second place behind Stanford's Frank Herrmann. Herrmann did 25-¼ for his all-time best.

Seven meet records tumbled as Oxy won its second meet of the year from a Pacific Coast Conference member.

Stars Deal Bevos 6th Straight Loss

Lefty Don Kildoo allowed only four hits Saturday as Hollywood made it four in a row over last place Portland, 10-2. Beaver Frank Ernega's two-run homer in the ninth prevented a shutout.

It was the sixth straight defeat for the Beavers and was witnessed by 2,416 fans at Gilmore field.

The Stars got to four Portland pitchers for 12 hits, including homers by Paul Pettit, R. C. Stevens and Jim Baumer.

Pettit socked his homer off Johnny Briggs in the first inning with one aboard. It boosted the former bonus baby's RBI total to seven for the series. Pettit's last three hits have been home runs.

Briggs served up another home run ball to Stevens in the fifth. He was replaced in the next inning after Bill Causion singled home two runs to give the Stars a 7-0 lead.

Tiscareno TKOs Gutierrez in 6th

Ramon Tiscareno, 146, of Los Angeles, unleashed a savage attack Saturday night against Mexico City's Alvaro Gutierrez, also 146, but failed to score a knockdown and was awarded a six-round technical knockout in the scheduled 10-round main event at Hollywood Legion Stadium.

Gutierrez' face was completely covered with blood when ring physician, Dr. Lous Benson, stopped the bout at 2:53 of the sixth.

Tiscareno battered the Mexican welterweight in every round, connecting with solid rights and lefts repeatedly.

SUCCEEDS BILL SWEENEY

Posedel, Cardinal Coach, Named Portland Manager

The Portland Beavers of the Pacific Coast League Saturday named Bill Posedel, 48, St. Louis Cardinals coach, to be the new Portland manager. He succeeds Bill Sweeney, who died April 18.

Posedel, who started in baseball with the Beavers in 1929, is to take over the team in its home opener Tuesday. Portland, which dropped its sixth straight start Saturday to Hollywood, is floundering in the league cellar.

This will be the first managerial post for Posedel, a former pitcher with Brooklyn and the Boston Braves.

He finished his pitching career with Seattle of the PCL in 1948.

Since Sweeney's death the team has been handled by Frank Carswell, who is just ending his playing career. Carswell, an outfielder who only occasionally has entered the lineup this season, will be retained as the Beaver coach.

POSEDEL

L. B. Hosts World Cup Soccer Today

In This Corner with DICK ZEHMS

In the interests of peace, Gregg Engelhard, California athletic director, will go to the Pacific Coast Conference meeting in Spokane, Wash., next month with the avowed purpose of urging a rehearing for all penalized members who are yearning to get a few things off their chests.

Clear the air, is what Gregg proposes. Let the gripers gripe and the complainers complain. Hear them out to the bitter end, he proposes. Then — shut the door.

"If we are going to have a solid conference, I believe any school that feels there is some injustice in the penalties and sanctions assessed should be given a chance to express itself so there will be no animosity in the future," he has suggested. "I want each school satisfied it has no further gripes.

"A rehearing shouldn' take more than a few hours. Let the nine school representatives sit at a table and those who feel the penalties have been unfair speak up. Decisions, if any could be made and accepted. Then everyone could agree to forget it, once and for all."

Unfortunately, Gregg is in the minority. Cal, Washington, SC and UCLA, the targets of the crackdown, cast only four votes. The motion would be outvoted, 5-4, with Oregon State, Washington State, Stanford and Idaho resisting.

In the meantime, the file of jokes is increasing and the ill will lingers on.

BIG POKE, TOO. Ex-Poylite Jim Hanna was the No. 1 rebounder and one of the top scorers on SC's freshman basketball team the past season. He is one of the main reasons why Troy can hardly wait for the 1958 season to begin.

Jim's talents aren't restricted to the basketball court, however. A few days ago he took charge of a game between the Trobabes and Monterey Park High School. He hit "4 for 5", singled home the winning run with two outs in the last inning, and pitched the last three frames.

So far this horsehide season Jim has played third base and first base for the yearlings and has done some relief pitching. He's one of the biggest third sackers in captivity—235 pounds and standing 6-7.

IN OUR MIDST. Boston's Celtics, NBA champions, and the Pro All-Stars play in Santa Ana today and in Los Angeles Tuesday. Which brings up a point in dispute.

Celtic yearling Tom Heinsohn was voted rookie of the year by the NBA over Celtic freshman Bill Russell. Together, they played a big part in taking the Celts to their first NBA title in history. Why?

There really wasn't much to choose between the two. Heinsohn played all 72 NBA games for the Celts. He averaged 16.2 points a game, posted a .387 field goal percentage, bagged 705 rebounds and figured in 117 assists.

Ex-USF star Russell played in only 48 games, joining the team late after playing for Uncle Sam's Olympic quintet. Big Bill averaged 14.7 points a game, had a .427 field goal percentage, grabbed 943 rebounds and made 88 assists.

A compromise might have been better. Bill and Tom could have been co-rookies of the year!

GRID REPORT. Ex-Wilsonite Dick Butler is fighting for the first string center job on the UCLA football team in spring drills. He may win it.

Another Long Beacher at Westwood, Stu Farber, has quit the squad. He was a reserve fullback last season.

Don Clark has one Long Beach product out with the SC Trojans in spring workouts. He is John Guyer, onetime St. Anthony's High star. A center candidate, John will have a tough job fighting his way to the front.

THOUGHTS. In the program Jim Stangeland, new LBCC grid coach, provided for his guests at the recent football clinic here, were these precepts, all in the grid theme:

"Every man I meet is my superior in some way, therefore I learn.

"There aren't any real shortcuts. It takes a lot of practice.

"The real value of an idea is to be found in what a man does with it, not what he says about it.

"One of the greatest mysteries in the world is the success that lies in conscientious work.

"Hustle and breaks are erroneously called luck."

Their application is not confined to football, obviously.

ROBINSON NEARING END

Fullmer 3-1 Pick to Retain Crown

CHICAGO (AP) — Sugar Ray Robinson, nearing the end of a great boxing career, and champion Gene Fullmer, at the height of his, battle Wednesday in a 15 round middleweight title rematch at Chicago Stadium.

Robinson, who will be 37 two days after the fight, is a 3-1 underdog — among the greatest early odds ever against this master boxer-puncher who at his peak was rated pound-for-pound as one of the finest in ring history.

But the old story of age vs. youth dictates that the 25-year-old muscular Mormon from West Jordan, Utah, is too much of a battering ram for Robinson to handle.

The fight will be televised and broadcast nationally by the ABC network beginning at 6 p.m. PDT. Chicago and a radius of 150 miles will be blacked out on TV but will be cut in on radio.

* * * *

UNLESS HE WINS, this undoubtedly will be Robinson's last big pay day. He and Fullmer will get 30 per cent of everything. This includes $100,000 in TV-radio receipts and a gate expected to be around $150,000 based on 12,000 attendance. The winner will be in line to defend against welterweight champion Carmen Basilio in a New York outdoor show in June.

Fullmer, a rib-cracking body-attacking mauler — the type of fighter that always has given Robinson his most trouble — won the 160-pound crown from Sugar Ray in Madison Square Garden last Jan. 2. It was by a unanimous decision and it looked much closer on television than at ringside.

That Robinson still could be on his feet after 15 rounds against the relentlessly pressing Fullmer proved that age still had not completely caught up with this machine-like former champion. But many observers think that Robinson cannot weather it again.

* * * *

THIS WILL BE Robinson's fourth fight for the middleweight title. He won it from Jake LaMotta in February, 1951, lost it to Randy Turpin five months later, but regained it in two months. Sugar Ray retired after Joey Maxim and the heat stopped him in June of 1952—the only time he has been stopped — and turned to night club dancing.

But Robinson came back and, after a series of tuneup bouts that included a loss to Tiger Jones, he scored a second round KO over Bobo Olson to recapture the title in December, 1955.

This will be Fullmer's biggest money bout yet. The last time he virtually fought only for the title, receiving as his share $20,914 against Robinson's $138,190. He had to agree to accept 12½ per cent of the gate and waive his share of TV cash to make the match.

Fullmer never has been knocked out and has a record of 39 victories and 3 losses. He has scored 21 kayoes but only six in the last three years and none of them have been against class talent.

Robinson has 90 knockouts in 139 victories.

Roberts Pounded Again, 10-2

PHILADELPHIA (UP)—Hank Sauer hit two home runs and Ossie Virgil contributed another Saturday as the New York Giants pounded Robin Roberts and three other pitchers for 13 hits and a 10-2 victory over the Philadelphia Phillies.

Ruben Gomez went the route for the Giants, allowing eight hits, one of them a homer by Willie Jones in the ninth inning.

* * * *

ROBERTS, plagued again by gopher balls, went down to his third straight defeat without a victory. He served up his fifth and sixth of the infant season to Virgil and Sauer before being relieved by Seth Morehead in the fifth. Saul Rogovin and Granny Hamner finished the game on the mound for the Phillies.

Sauer's homer off Roberts came with two men on. His second blow, off Rogovin, came with one man aboard.

HANNUM OKs HAWK PACT

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Big Alex Hannum, who took over as coach and chief cheerleader to lead the St. Louis Hawks from last place to within seconds of the National Basketball Assn. title, Saturday night agreed to coach the club next season.

The 32-year-old "holler guy" had been offered a contract after his Hawks lost the deciding seventh game of the NBA playoff to the Boston Celtics in double overtime.

SOCCER ACTION AT BEST
Harry Keough (right), star halfback of St. Louis, moves in on Hector Hernandez, Mexico's all-pro center forward, during recent World Cup game at Mexico City. They'll renew rivalry this afternoon at Veterans Memorial tSadium in second World Cup elimination game.

Mexico, U. S. at Stadium

Hand-picked soccer clubs from the United States and Mexico clash today at Veterants Memorial Stadium, Lakewood and Carson, in a vital game of the World Cup Tournament that has attracted a record breaking entry list of 55 nations. It is the first such game ever held in the United States.

Kickoff will be at 2:30 o'clock and there will be a preliminary game featuring junior teams at 1 p.m.

Although the United States team was blanked 6-0 by Mexico's powerful all-pro team in the first of the two-game series April 7 before 52,000 in Mexico City, hopes are bright for a complete reversal of form on native soil.

Officials of the game point out that goals are meaningless in World Cup soccer. Victories count two points and ties one point, regardless of how many goals are scored.

* * * *

THUS, A U.S. victory today would square the two nations, both of whom have also yet to meet Canada in the North America draw of the world-wide playoffs. Survivor of the U.S.-Mexico-Canada series will face the Central American champion for the right to join the round of 16 nations in Sweden next year.

Six American players who were unable to make the trip to Mexico bolster the home forces today, headed by fullback Terrance Springthorpe, a former pro star of the famous London Arsenals.

Another new addition is Rolf Ganger of the Los Angeles Dancs to the forward line, where he will join Ed Murphy, Chicago; Al Zerhusen, Cincinnati, and Ruben Mendoza and Elwood Cook of the St. Louis Kutis, U.S. Open Cup champions.

* * * *

PLAYING GOAL will be Svend Engedahl of Los Angeles, who was a standout in Mexico City despite the score.

The American team is expected to concentrate its defense on stopping Mexico's brilliant inside right, Salvador Reyes, who scored three time at Mexico City.

However, Engedahl warns that center forward Hector Hernandez cannot be overlooked. Hernandez has scored 18 goals for Mexico in its last six international games against South American and European teams.

* * * *

GOALIE ANTONIO Carvabal, who has played in seven international games, is another outstanding Mexican player.

An estimated crowd of 10,000 is expected to turn out for the soccer classic. Seating at the local stadium, however, has been expanded to 15,000 for today's game. Reserved seats are $3 and general admission $1.95, tax included. Children under 12 are free if accompanied by parents.

Numerous dignitaries will attend, and screen star Maureen O'Hara will kickoff to start action.

WHEELER EDGES TABORI IN 4:06.9

Morrow Runs 9.4, Sparks Relay Wins

DES MOINES (AP)—Olympic sprint champion Bobby Morrow matched the meet 100-yard dash record of 9.4 and anchored Abilene Christian to two new meet relay marks to emerge the individual hero of the 48th Drake Relays Saturday.

A 17-year-old American shuttle hurdles record was shattered and nine meet marks tumbled under pressure of excellent competition among athletes from 78 schools before 17,000 track fans.

In a thrilling stretch duel capping a special mile race, Hungarian distance star Laszlo Tabori was edged by former Iowa ace Ted Wheeler, who set a new meet non-collegiate record of 4:06.9. This bettered the Drake mark of 4:08.4 by Wes Santee in 1955.

Tabori held off the pace until the final lap, but he couldn't shake off Wheeler who moved into contention at the head of the stretch and gradually overhauled the Hungarian runner and breasted him at the tape.

* * * *

MORROW, WINNER of three Olympic gold medals, won the 100 by five feet over Western Michigan's Ira Murchison, who had finished fourth in the Olympic 100 meter won by Morrow.

Missouri's crack hurdles team scissored to a 48.4-second victory in the 480-yard shuttle event—a new American record.

Willie Stevens of Tennessee A&I scored a fast 120-high hurdles victory of 13.8.

Morrow anchored the same Abilene Christian quartet to meet record-breaking triumphs in the university 440 relay (40.5) and in the university 880 relay (1:24.2).

* * * *

ONE OF THE DAY'S fine performances, although falling short of the record, came from Kansas' distance medley team which easily won in 9:51.7, only 1.3 off the American record.

Another strong performance came from Georgetown's unbeaten two-mile relay team which won the university division in 7:32 flat.

Field event meet records were shattered all over the field. Michigan's Dave Owen hung up a shot put mark of 57-5½. Jack Fromm of Pacific Lutheran tossed the javelin 232 feet for a new meet record. Houston's Jack Smyth won the hop-step-and-jump with a record leap of 48-5½.

* * * *

BILL TIDWELL of Emporia State ran the last 440 in 47.0 to give State the college mile relay in 3:15.1, while Notre Dame captured the university mile relay in a swift 3:13.1.

Deacon Jones of Iowa won the mile in 4:10.7 for another meet record, and Joe Rose of Arizona State at Tempe nabbed the pole vault with a leap of 14-5¼. Wilt Chamberlain of Kansas tied Don Stewart of SMU in the high jump at 6-6¼.

Newk Gains Initial Win of Season, 6-2

PITTSBURGH (UP)—Big Don Newcombe, flashing the control which stamped him as the "winningest" pitcher in the majors last year, scattered nine hits effectively Saturday to pace the Brooklyn Dodgers to a 6-2 victory over the Pittsburgh Pirates.

The powerful righthander, who won 27 games in 1956, gained atonement by beating the same team which knocked him out of the box at Ebbetts Field last Sunday. He threw only 90 pitches in notching his first victory of 1957.

* * * *

NEWCOMBE also contributed with his bat in the 14-hit Dodger barrage. He got two singles, his second safety scoring two runs in the eighth inning. He scored one of the two Dodger runs brought in by Gino Cimoli's bases-loaded single in the third inning.

Ron Kline, who yielded 10 hits, was charged with his third defeat against no victories.

Carl Furillo was the only Dodger who failed to hit safely.

Fornieles in 4-Hit Blank of Senators

BALTIMORE (UP) — Mike Fornieles, slender Cuban righthander, retired the first 13 batters he faced and gave up only four hits the rest of the game Saturday in pitching the Baltimore Orioles to a 4-0 victory over the Washington Senators.

Roy Sievers made the first hit off Fornieles when he singled with one out in the fifth inning.

In the second inning rookie third baseman Brooks Robinson of the Orioles twisted his right knee running out a grounder and left the game with a severe sprain.

RAY MUM ON INJURY REPORT

CHICAGO (AP) — Sugar Ray Robinson Saturday refused to discuss published reports that he suffered a rib separation in a training camp injury before losing his Jan. 2 middleweight title defense to Gene Fullmer in New York, but George Gainford, a member of his "entourage" confirmed the report.

Gainford said Robinson had suffered the separation about three weeks before the fight. However, Gainford added, the injury had healed by fight time. Gainford denied reports that Robinson had taken sedation in the form of a tranquilizer drug.

Rose, Flam Duel in Finals

HOUSTON (AP)—Mervyn Rose of Australia thrilled a crowd of 2,000 Saturday as he defeated Vic Seixas in four sets to join top seeded Herb Flam in the finals of the 23rd annual River Oaks Tennis Tournament.

Rose, seeded fourth, used a great net and overhead game to smash the second seeded Seixas, 6-8, 6-4, 6-2, 6-2.

Flam, the little retriever from Beverly Hills, Calif., cut off a late rally by Dick Savitt to defeat the former Wimbledon champion, 6-2, 0-6, 6-3, 6-4.

Making his first appearance at the Oaks, Rose scored 63 placements to 34 for the handsome Philadelphian whom he defeated last Sunday in straight sets in the Dallas Country Club finals.

It will be the third time for Flam, the nation's No. 2 amateur, to meet Rose this spring. In earlier matches Flam had won twice, Rose once.

Five Southland marksmen were included in Jimmy Robinson's 1957 all-America trapshooting team, announced Saturday.

Dianne Williamson of Compton, Helen Thomas of Los Angeles and Lela Hall Frank of Arcadia were named to the women's team. George Williamson of Compton and A. W. Davidson of Downey made the junior squad.

Dan Orlich, ex-Green Bay Packers football player, of Chisholm, Minn., tops the men's team with an average of .9841 on 5,050 registered targets.

Gen. Duke, Bold Ruler Head 8 Certain Derby Starters

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (UP) — Churchill Downs officials are counting on eight certain Kentucky Derby starters for next Saturday's running of America's glory race and, even if they do not get three or four additional starters as expected, the 83rd running of the classic looms as one of the best.

The vanguard of the 100,000 persons who will jam into ancient Churchill Downs when the band strikes up "My Old Kentucky Home" and the cream of his country's three-year-olds parade to the post, already has started to trickkle into town.

* * * *

HOTEL RESERVATIONS for the three big days—Friday, Saturday and Sunday—were hard to get as were seats at the track where the Calumet Farm entry of Gen. Duke and Iron Liege, Fheatley Stable's Bold Ruler, Travis M. Kerr's Round Table, Robert Lowe's Gallant aMn, Clifford Lusskey's Federal Hill, T. Allie Grissom's Shan Pac and William S. Miller's Better Bee face the testing mile and one-quarter distance for the first time in the first of the Triple Crown classics.

The speed of these crackerjack young colts at lesser distances seems to indicate that Whirlaway's Derby record of 2:01 2/5 set in 1941 is threatened. The best showing thus far was made by Gen. Duke when the colt equaled thew orld record of 1:46 4/5 in winning the Florida Derby at Gulfstream Park carrying 122 pounds.

At the same distance, Bold Ruler, carrying the same weight, lowered the Hialeah Park track record to 1:47 and then, carrying the Kentucky Derby impost of 126 pounds, set a track record of 1:48 4/5 in winning the Wood Memorial at Jamaica.

* * * *

FEDERAL HILL, who set a new world record of 1:15 for six and one half furlongs, set a track record of 1:49 3/5 at the Fair Grounds in winning the Louisiana Derby. And then Round Table smashed a track record at Keeneland Thursday by winning the Blue Grass Stakes in 1:47 2/5.

In addition, Gallant Man was only a nose behind Bold Ruler in the Wood Memorial while Better Bee equaled the mile and one-sixteenth track record of 1:42 at Gulfstream Park.

Eddie Arcaro, winner of a record five Derbies will ride Bold Ruler, with Willie Hartack on Gen. Duke and Dave Erb aboard Iron Liege. Last May Erb won the Derby with the D. & H. Stable's Needles, and Hartack finished second with Calumet's Fabius.

The race will get full TV and radio treatment (CBS) from 1:15 p.m. until 1:45 p.m., PDT.

Gen. Duke and Iron Liege are expected to start in the Derby Trial at a mile on Tuesday. Owners toying with the idea of challenging with their horses in the Kentucky Derby get a last chance to test the merits of their horses then.

POOR LINKS CONDUCT

4 Golfers Suspended for Duffing in Ky. Derby Open

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP)—Four members of the Professional Golfers Assn., were suspended for 30 days by their own organization Saturday for poor links conduct in the Kentucky Derby Open.

The penalties climax a drive by the PGA to improve the manners of the players. George Bayer, Ernie Vossler, Don January and Doug Higgins are the players punished.

After complaining because they were not permitted to withdraw from the Kentucky Derby Open, the players turned in "duffer" efforts in Friday's play—Bayer showing the way with a 17 on the 395-yard 17th hole.

January and Higgins took 10's on one hole each and Vossler blew to a 46 on the second nine after firing a respectable 38 on the front side.

"It is no coincidence that these four players were roommates in Louisville," Bob Toski, tournament committee chairman, said. "It is my guess that one man brainwashed the other three."

Won't Move Wichita, Braves Prexy Says

MILWAUKEE (UP)—President Joe Cairnes of the Milwaukee Braves said Saturday that reports the Braves might move their Wichita team in the American Association to another city are false.

Wichita has been having attendance problems because of cold and damp weather. Only 797 persons saw the opening game.

Once Over Lightly
by DAVE LEWIS

For the second time in 17 months, the boxing crowd expects Sugar Ray Robinson to be utterly destroyed.

Robinson fooled them on the first occasion, however, when he flattened Bobo Olson in the second round to regain the middleweight title which he had given up for a dancing career in show business.

Last summer in Los Angeles, he took out Olson again in four rounds to successfully defend his crown.

Then Robinson entered into what proved to be a "suckered fight" on his part. Sugar Ray saw a chance to pick up some quick money in an "easy" bout with Gene Fullmer despite the fact there were easier marks around.

But there appeared to be little doubt but what Robinson could handle the challenger and what's more, Fullmer was so "hungry" that he agreed to fight for almost nothing while giving Robinson the lion's share of the gate just to get a shot at the title.

DAVE LEWIS

Robinson was just a shell of his former self, though as he allowed the awkward challenger to bull him around the ring.

The boxing crowd figures Fullmer will be able to take the aging Sugarman more handily Wednesday night in Chicago than he did in wresting the crown from Robinson last January in Madison Square Garden.

There is no denying that things are shaping up for Fullmer to turn back Robinson's last-ditch bid to regain the 160-pound title.

For the first time, it has been necessary to put a publicity man in Robinson's camp to build a case for the Sugarman in the return go.

They've even gone so far as to have a few oldtime name boxers "plant" predictions that Robinson was certain to win back the title in an effort to instill greater interest in the bout. And this is considered by many in the game as a certain "kiss of death."

But despite this "official" feeling that Fullmer is a cinch, we still lean towards Robinson even though he failed us in the first fight. The January bout proved to be the first major fight we've tabbed wrong in almost two years . . . a record of which we were most proud.

IN THE FACE OF OVERWHELMING opinion within the fight game, we have strong reasons for staying with Robinson.

For one thing, while the clean-living, church-going Fullmer is a credit to the sordid fight game, he nevertheless is awkward, easy to hit, colorless . . . and falls quite a bit short of true championship stature.

He never will be a big draw . . . and will never do the middleweight class any good as champion because of his lack of gate appeal.

Even if he beats Robinson again, his days as champion are numbered. If welterweight king Carmen Basilio can't handle him, then Spider Webb will be the man most likely to dispose of him.

We were in New York for the Robinson-Fullmer go last December, but it was postponed for a month until the first week in January due to Sugar's illness so we headed for home where we finally saw the bout on TV.

We came home though, fully convinced that Robinson was going to beat Fullmer . . . for many reasons.

For instance, outside of a top heavyweight title go, the only real big money fight in the books is a Basilio-Robinson fight. They've been trying to stage that one for two years.

It reportedly was all set for this spring before Fullmer upset the applecart.

The bout was expected to draw in excess of $500,000. A Basilio-Fullmer bout, in comparison, would be extremely lucky to draw $200,000.

THUS, WITH THIS STILL in mind and the fact that the bout has been moved to Chicago where Robinson has always liked to fight . . . we are stringing along with Robinson to regain the title even though we know he'll have to do it with a "desperation" effort.

Robinson realizes that he has little hope of winning if he tries to go the full 15 rounds again as he did in January.

He also is fully aware that if he goes all-out in the early rounds and fails to knock out Fullmer, then he'll be a helpless target for Fullmer in the late rounds.

Strangely enough, Robinson showed that he could easily have handled Fullmer in January had he been able to sustain an attack for three or four or even five rounds.

In twelve of the 15 rounds he hung back waiting for Fullmer to come in and then tried to counter. This didn't work.

In the other three rounds, though, Ray took the lead and by forcing the attack he had Fullmer in a rocky condition in all three heats.

Robinson's legs won't allow him to "use the ring" as he did in the old days. He felt he had to stay still and preserve his energy in the first bout, but Fullmer wore him out with his hulling and wrestling tactics as well as strength-snapping whacks to the body.

Even one of Robinson's handlers admitted after the fight . . . "Ray never opened up. He was trying to last 15. He was afraid to get knocked out like Archie Moore."

For a few rounds Robinson could be the Sugarman of old Wednesday night . . . but most veteran fight men believe that after seven or eight rounds at best he'll be "dead."

BARNEY ROSS, EX-WELTERWEIGHT king who saw Robinson work out while in the East recently, is of the same opinion that Ray is still good enough to get the job done . . . "but it will have to be within four or five rounds."

Ross, who has just finished serving as advisor on the film of his life story, "Monkey on My Back," reveals he knew when he had reached the end of the trail . . . "and Robinson must realize it, too."

Barney hung up the gloves when he lost the welterweight championship to Henry Armstrong in 1938. "I knew in the fifth round of that fight that I was through," he says. "Armstrong's style was made to order for me. I had fought long enough to know whether I was in shape or not and I was. Everything was perfect. Then in the fifth, Armstrong hit me with a right hand that I saw coming. Then he hit with another. I saw it, too, but couldn't duck. Then I took the worst licking I ever had. I didn't kid myself, I'd lost it.

'You get beat a lot coming up but you don't take a licking. It's the fights coming down that hurt you . . . that scar you up and sometimes wreck you.

"Look at Robinson. He's got a lot of cuts around his eyes . . . and he got them in the last two years. He didn't have them when he was at the top of his form. That's the tipoff on Ray."

ROSS REVEALS THAT ROBINSON is strangely quiet and the whole camp isn't the same. "You used to be able to feel the confidence around Sugar's camp, but not this time," he said.

"I asked him if he thought he could beat Fullmer this time and he replied . . . 'I'm going to trust in God as I did before the Olson fight. I spent two weeks with a priest before that one and it helped.'

"But come to think of it," Barney went on, "Fullmer is an elder in the Mormon Church and he's undoubtedly got a lot of faith in God, too!

"You know, I've been pretty religious and still am. I spent 13 months in the narcotics hospital at St. Albans and you think about God a lot in a place like that.

"I point that out because I don't want anyone to think I'm being sacriligious when I tell you a story about a priest and boxing.

"There were two fighters in the ring nervously awaiting the bout to start and when the bell rang, one of them crossed himself quickly and then tore into his opponent.

"There was a priest sitting with us and somebody turned to him and inquired . . . 'Do you think that will help him, father?'

"'Only if he can fight,' the priest answered.

"That's the way it'll be for Robinson Wednesday night!"

We're stringing along with Robinson on the premise he can still go at top speed for six or seven rounds. And that may be more than enough if he comes out punching.

After all, he's still the "class fighter" of the two even though he's way over the hill!

ABC LEADERS 'SECURE' WITH ONE DAY LEFT

FORT WORTH (AP) — With only one day remaining in the 54th American Bowling Congress tournament, it appears all leaders were secure in their positions.

Harlan Hensley and Carroll Yocum of Middletown, Ohio, led contestants in doubles event Saturday with a combined effort of 1256. After a robust 445 beginning, the pair cooled to 410 and 401 games. Hensley was the heavy shooter, contributing a 644 set.

Three men Saturday reached the coveted 1800 mark in the all-events, marking the 284th time in the tournament that the goal has been reached. Bob Price of Long Beach, Calif., had an 1820 aggregate, Edward Hudspeth, San Antonio, Tex., had 1817 and Leroy Leifeste had 1808.

A's Nudge Chisox in Ninth, 3-2

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP) — Jim Pisoni lined a single through shortstop in the bottom of the ninth Saturday night to give the Kansas City Athletics their first win of the season over the Chicago White Sox, 3-2.

The A's, who had lost four straight to the White Sox, smashed three hits off starter Dick Donovan and loser Dixie Howell to score two runs in the ninth.

Harry Simpson led off with a single and was sacrificed to second by Lou Skizas. Howell came on in relief and promptly gave up singles to Hal Smith, scoring Simpson, and to Pisoni. Smith also drove in the A's other run with a single in the seventh.

Sherm Lollar hit his fourth homer of the season in the seventh. Singles by Bubba Phillips and Luis Aparicio produced the other White Sox run in the eighth.

NO SPITBALL PROTESTS

Fidgety Burdette Maintains Long Jinx Over Reds, 5-4

CINCINNATI (AP)—There wasn't even the slightest sign of a protest Saturday as fidgety Lew Burdette survived trouble several times and hurled the Milwaukee Braves to a 5-4 victory over the Cincinnati Redlegs. It was his ninth successive win over the Reds.

Only 10 days ago Burdette was accused by Redleg manager Birdie Tebbetts of being a "cheating spitballer" and a crowd of 23,816 turned out in threatening weather to see what would happen when they came together again.

The Reds, after spotting the Braves a pair of runs, had Burdette hanging on the ropes in the third but the lack of a base hit kept them from knocking him out of the box.

Cincinnati scored the pair on a walk, an error, a fly and consecutive singles by Gus Bell, Wally Post and Crowe. A walk to Ed Bailey filled the bases, but Don Hoak hit into a double play.

* * * *

PRIOR TO THAT, Hank Aaron had hit a home run in the opening inning and the Braves picked up another in the second on a double by Johnny Logan and a single by Burdette.

The Braves got two more in the fourth on a single by Logan, a double by Bill Bruton and a sacrifice fly by Burdette.

Joe Adcock homered in the fifth and George Crown of the Redlegs hit one in the second.

Vikings Take Swim Crown

Viking star Bert Petersen splashed to a new national junior college record of 58.5 in the 100-yard butterfly as Long Beach City College's swimmers rolled up 130 points to successfully defend their Southern California title in the finals Saturday night at Bakersfield. LACC was runnerup with 72 points, followed by Santa Monica with 50.

Petersen set his new mark in the preliminaries and came back to cop the finals in 59.1.

Dick Byyny of Long Beach captured the 100 backstroke in 1:02.7 while the Viking medley relay team of Byyny, Petersen, John Axton and Fred Simpson was clocked in the winning time of 4:11.

Next test for City College is the State meet set for Fullerton JC next weekend. Results:

100 butterfly—Petersen (LB), Satoria (SM), Alderman (LACC), Sutherland (P), Stephens (LACC), 59.1. (Petersen set national record of 58.5 in prelims.)

9-Run 7th Helps L.A. Catch Sacs

SACRAMENTO (AP) — The Los Angeles Angels, behind 12-3 in the 7th inning, rallied for nine runs to tie Sacramento, then beat the Solons 14-12 in a Pacific Coast League game Saturday night.

Steve Bilko's fourth homer, with two on, was the big punch in the Angels' 7th. The victory was the ninth in their last 10 games and fourth straight.

Bilko also had two singles and a stolen base.

After the Angels tied it in the seventh, they scored the winning pair in the eighth as the Solons committed two of a total of seven errors and Vic Marasco and Wally Lammers connected for run-producing singles.

Douglas Captures Gardena Feature

Ray Douglas took the lead on the 48th lap and fought off Harry Stockman the rest of the way to win the 100-lap CRA sprint car main event Saturday night at Gardena Stadium before 6,500 fans.

Nick Valenta was third. Douglas won by four car lengths.

The six-lap races were won by Jim Hurtubise, 1:38.72; Valenta, 1:34.29; Stockman, 1:35.27, and Howard Gardner, 1:39.04. Stockman also won the three-lap trophy dash in 48:26.

Cal Marksmen Win

BERKELEY (UP) — The University of California won the annual Pacific Coast Naval ROTC "shoulder to shoulder" rifle match here Saturday with a score of 929x1000. Second was Washington with 928, and third was SC with 925.

49ers' Price Sets State Swim Record

Bill Price's new school and state record of 1:03.5 in the 100-yard butterfly highlighted Long Beach State College's fifth place finish in the sixth annual California State College Intercollegiate Swimming and Diving championships held this weekend at San Francisco.

The 49ers closed out their first season of swimming competition by piling up 44 points. San Jose State rolled up 113 points to successfully defend its title for the sixth year. Cal Poly finished second with 103 points, followed by Fresno State with 74 and San Francisco State 58. Los Angeles State and San Diego failed to score.

* * * *

PRICE, WHO SET his fly mark in the prelims, also placed second in the 200 individual medley and fifth in the 100 backstroke.

Another standout on State's 10-man squad was Del Cannon, who copped seconds in the 440 and 1500-meter freestyle events and third in the 220 freestyle.

Stedman Glidden bagged third in the 100 backstroke and fifth in the 200 back. Bob Staats picked up a sixth in the 200 breaststroke while Jim Charlot added a sixth place ribbon in the 200 back. The 49ers closed out their scoring by placing fifth in the 400 relay.

Greengrass to Sacs

Jenkins Spearheads Villanova to Triple

PHILADELPHIA (UP)—Villanova University, with Olympic 400 meter champion Charley Jenkins pouring on the coal in a 46.4 anchor leg, raced from behind Saturday to take the classic mile by two yards and become a triple winner in the Penn Relays.

The Wildcats of Jim Elliott, already victors in the sprint medley and the distance medley, chalked up the big win in 3:12.7 when Jenkins overcame a three-yard deficit, fought off terrific challenges by Texas and Morgan State, and then whipped under the wire ahead of Eddie Southern, the Longhorn anchorman. The Texan was a whisp ahead of Morgan State's Bob McMurray, who was clocked in 45.9.

It was the race of a meet which saw six major records and 13 of a minor nature set, and blossomed into a natural when Texas, Villanova and Manhattan, each in the double-winner class, went gunning for the triple crown.

* * * *

VILLANOVA HAD salted away the sprint and distance medleys, with Jenkins starring; Texas, in its first appearance at the Relays since 1936, equaled the meet records in winning the 440 and 880 relays, and Manhattan, shut out last year, was the winner in the two-mile and the four-mile.

Ed Collymore, subbing for the injured George Sydnor, sent Charley Stead out in front by four yards but Manhattan slashed into the lead on Tom Murphy's second leg, and Manhattan's Bill Lenskold was six yards ahead of Ron Delany of Villanova, with Texas trailing fourth as the third leg began.

At one point, Delany lagged by 15 yards, but he began to pump on the far turn and whittled it down to a three-yard deficit as Jenkins went out for the anchor leg.

The final quarter was a screamer for the 36,112 persons sitting in 89 degree temperatures, hottest in the carnival history. Jenkins began to forge ahead with Southern running a 46.6 quarter right at his heels and McMurray flaming from the pack. They ran it right to the wire, with Jenkins two yards in front of Southern, and McMurray at the shirttails of the Texas racer.

There wasn't a relay record broken. Villanova won the sprint medley by 20 yards over NYU in 3:24.3; Manhattan won the two-mile by 40 yards over Morgan State in 7:39, and the four-mile by 50 yards over St. Johns of Brooklyn in 17:25.7, and Texas equalled both the 440 yard record of 41.1 and the 880 mark in 1:25.4, winning over North Carolina and Indiana, respectively. The other relay title, the 480-yard shuttle hurdles, went to Winston-Salem Teachers in 59.8.

The field event boys had a holiday. Olympic champion Lee Calhoun of North Carolina College set a meet record in winning the 120-yard high hurdles in 13.7 to repeat his 1956 win and Don Bragg of Villanova pole-vaulted 14 feet, six inches for a meet mark.

Bill Sharpe of West Chester, Pa., Teachers set a national collegiate and meet record, winning the hop-step-and-jump with 51 feet, 7¾ inches, and George Dennis of Morgan State won the high jump with a carnival record of 6-8½.

* * * *

KEN BANTUM won the shotput with a heave of 54-8. Greg Bell streaked to a 9.7 triumph in the 100-yard dash.

The invitation 880-yards was won by Arnie Sowell by a yard over Dale Spence of the Quantico Marines with perrenial Reggie Pearman of the New York Pioneers third. Time was 1:51.3.

Bill Duckworth of Georgia captured the javelin throw, getting off a 225-4½ toss.

Celtics, NBA Stars Tangle at Santa Ana Bowl Today

COUSY CONNECTS FOR CELTICS
Veteran Bob Cousy, Boston Celtics sparkplug and one of the NBA's top stars, connects on jump shot despite guarding of All-Stars' Neil Johnston in recent game. At left is Celtics' Bill Russell. Dick McGuire and George Yardley of All-Stars look on at right. Celtics meet NBA Stars at Santa Ana today and at L. A. Shrine Auditorium Tuesday.

The hue and cry of Southern Californians for major league ball will be partially satisfied today and Tuesday when the pro champion Boston Celtics and the NBA All-Stars plunge into the final phase of their cross-country exhibition basketball junket.

Santa Ana is the initial Southland stopover, with today's game set for 3:30 in the Santa Ana Municipal Bowl. It is the only outdoor contest on the 17-game tour.

Tuesday night the professionals take their show into Los Angeles' Shrine Auditorium. They are at San Diego Monday night and conclude the series Wednesday at Las Vegas.

Though the Celtics, champions of the NBA, have run up a bulge in the tour's statistics, it has been by no means an easy match. The Boston quintet won 8 of the first 12 games on the list.

The Celtics are paced by Bob Cousy, NBA "player of the year" the past season; Bill Sharman, Bill Russell and Tom Heinsohn, the latter selected as the league's "rookie of the year."

On the All-Star roster are such names as George Yardley, Dick McGuire, Bob Houbregs, Adolph Schayes and Neil Johnston. The latter two, with averages over the past season in excess of 22 points per game, have the highest averages on either team. Sharman is the top scorer for the Celtics with a 21.1 mark.

A preliminary game is scheduled for 2 p.m. Tickets are scaled from $1.50 to $5.

Seals Score 7 in 7th, Lead in PCL

SAN FRANCISCO (UP)—The San Francisco Seals clouted eight hits good for seven runs in the seventh inning Saturday to beat Vancouver 8-1 and gain sole possession of first place in the Pacific Coast League.

The big inning was fashioned on six singles and two doubles and was the biggest production for an inning by the Seals this year.

It broke up a tight pitching duel and gave Leo Kiely his second win without defeat this season. Seals second baseman Ken Aspromonte suffered a severe nose bleed and had to leave the game in the sixth.

Grant Saves Daley's Win

SAN DIEGO (UP) — San Diego relief hurler Jim Grant choked off a Seattle rally at three runs in the ninth inning Saturday as the Padres snapped their four-game losing streak by eclipsing the Rainiers, 6-5.

Grant replaced starter Bud Daley with two on and two out and retired pinch-hitter Carmen Mauro on a pop fly to third to save Daley's second win.

Bill Bevan and Joe Taylor had opened the Seattle ninth with singles. Daley retired the next two batters, but Padre shortstop Bill Moran booted Juan Delis' grounder, producing two runs. Singles by Ray Orteig and pinch-hitter Dick Aylward netted the third run of the inning.

L.B. State Rallies to Win Pair

Long Beach State staged a couple of Frank Merriwell finishes Saturday to defeat Los Angeles State in a CCAA doubleheader, 8-7, and 3-2 on the 49ers' diamond. For Long Beach, which has a 12-6 overall record, the victories were the first in conference play against five losses.

In the first game Long Beach was down, 7-2, in the bottom half of the ninth, two men out and no one on base. At this point Bruno Cicotti, the L. A. pitcher, had given up only two hits—both to Gary Ford—but he walked Al Totman, Ford got his third hit, then came another walk, a single by George Bishop, an error and Carl Evans hit a grand slam homer.

The 49ers won the second game in the bottom of the last inning also when, trailing 2-1, pinch-hitter John Bierholm walked, George Tela Torre was safe on an error, Joe Reed beat out a bunt to load the bases and Bishop hit a sharp single to drive in the tying and winning runs.

Campbell Wins Title

PINEHURST, N. C. (UP) — Superb chipping and putting by rangy Bill Campbell carried the Huntington, W. Va., golfer to a 3 and 2 finals victory over defending champion Hillman Robbins of Memphis Saturday in the North and South amateur golf tournament.

In winning the event for the third time in eight years, Campbell, 33-year-old insuranceman who captained the 1955 U. S. Walker Cup team, took a five-hole lead in the morning round as he shot an even par 72 without the loss of a hole.

All-Star Seats Gone

ST. LOUIS—(UP)—St. Louis Cardinal ticket supervisor Nat Hall said Saturday that reserved seats in Busch Stadium were sold out for the All-Star game July 9.

Gallardo Faces Carmody in Links Title Play Today

Dick Carmody of Lakewood will face Joe Gallardo of Griffith Park in the 36-hole finals of the Southern California Public Links golf championship at Montebello today. Tee-off time is 9 a.m.

It will be the first major match play test for Carmody, the 19-year-old Long Beach College student who finished second in the recent Long Beach Masters tournament. Gallardo is a former Los Angeles City titleholder.

In handicap flight finals, Dennis Murphy of Meadowlark plays Louie Earl of Recreation Park in class A; George Jones, Lakewood vs. Rod Larson, Meadowlark, B; Joe Sparks, Recreation Park, vs. L. FAVORED HOLANDES FIFTH

Longshot Import Snares Kyne 'Cap

Pibe Carlitos, a 30-1 Argentine bred four-year-old, closed with a rush in the stretch to score an upset, nose victory in the $115,000 William P. Kyne Handicap at Bay Meadows Saturday.

Surviving a claim of foul, Pibe Carlitos won by a nose from Eddie Schmidt, as Count Chic finished third and the number one entry of Holandes II and Eugenio finished out of the money.

Pibe Carlitos had won only $5,000 since coming to the United States in January, brought here by the late William P. Kyne, for whom this race was named. He paid $70, $23.40 and $12.80 across the board. Eddie Schmidt paid $10.80 and $7.30, and Count Chic paid $6.90. Rumbo, another South American horse, was fourth.

* * * *

IT WAS A THRILLING drive to the finish for the 24,230 fans watching the richest race in Northern California history. Pibe Carlitos was clocked in 1:48—one fifth of a second off the record for the mile and one eighth.

The blanket finish found Pibe Carlitos in front by a head, Eddie Schmidt next, a half length in front of Count Chic, who was a nose in front of Rumbo.

The crowd enjoying the hottest day of the spring with the temperature at 80, had bet Holandes down to a 3-5 favorite. He never was in contention and finished a badly fifth.

Ray York was aboard the winner. Willie Shoemaker, aboard Holandes II, said he "had bad racing luck."

* * * *

AT JAMAICA, Midafternoon circled the field on the stretch turn to gain a three-quarter length victory in the 50th running of the Excelsior Handicap before 41,417 fans.

The top-weighted favorite at 126 pounds, with Eddie Arcaro up, toured the mile and one-sixteenth in 1:43 2/5 and paid $4.60 to win. Beam Rider was second, a neck in front of Pylades.

Midafternoon was in seventh place at the half mile pole but then made his typical come-from-behind move on the outside and was with the leaders as they turned into the stretch.

* * * *

AT LAUREL, Joe Culmore rode four winners including Cedrus in the $25,000-added Laurel Handicap. In the three-horse photo finish, Cedrus got the nod by a head over Besomer who was a nose in front of Tudor Era.

It was Cedrus' first stakes victory. He was timed in 1:43 2/5 for the mile and one-sixteenth and returned $21.

RECORD ARMADA

Trout Mania Hits Sierras

CROWLEY LAKE (AP) — A record 10,034 anglers in an armada of 3,178 boats observed the opening of the 1957 trout season in the High Sierra Saturday.

Weather conditions were perfect and the trout were reported responding in good to excellent numbers.

The previous record, established last season, was 6,869 fishermen on opening day.

Don Krake, Arcadia, checked in the first weight limit at 6:14 a.m.

Reports from other waters indicated the fishing and the weather were generally good throughout Inyo and Mono counties.

Baron Noor Tops Caliente Field Today

AGUA CALIENTE, Mex.—Fifteen of the better middle distance runners on the border have accepted their weights for two handicaps here today, which with the Victory Purse, matching seven winning two-year-olds, and another 5-10 highlight the card.

The first division of the Solar Invitation 'Cap with seven going, looms as the best event. Lynn Howard's Baron Noor is rated on top with 120 pounds followed by Gay Marvel, 117 and L'Aigle, Dell Tap and Anaesthetist next with 116.

The second section has eight going with Sun Junior high weighted with 119 pounds followed by Sleepy Brook with 118 and Sonoma Falls and Skip Kahl with 114 each.

In the last two weeks more than 1,000 persons have shared in the 5-10 pool, which last Sunday hit an all-time high of $102,106, with $15,000 added by the track.

Bob Kelley Says—

Wednesday night, after Paul Petitt had come in to pinch-hit for Dick Stuart and delivered the tying and winning hits in the overtime game, Stuart left the ball park alone and dejected. He got in his new car and drove up Third Street to a restaurant operated by former American League star Jerry Priddy.

Stuart slumped into a table in the corner. Nearby, a piano bar was banging loudly, and two or three hundred-proof fun lovers were testing their throats on "That Old Gang of Mine." Grumpily, the ex-sensation ordered a top sirloin, "medium."

In 10 days, he had gone from the hottest item the PCL had seen since the days of Luke Easter, to a bench warmer. There is no telling when Stuart will be able to break into the lineup again, and as he sat and waited for his steak, the kid knew it.

Priddy, making his way around the tables, glad-handing, spotted Stuart. He came over and introduced himself.

"Things not goin' so good, huh kid?" Jerry offered.

Stuart shrugged his shoulders, tried to force a grin.

"You're letting it get under your skin too much," Priddy continued.

"Remember the great Bill Dickey, one of the most feared hitting-catchers of all time? Well, Dickey used to get in slumps, too. One day, he walked up to the plate, and Joe McCarthy waved him back. As Dickey turned around, he saw a rookie swinging a couple of bats — coming up to pinch-hit for him, Bill Dickey!"

* * * *

STUART SLID BACK as a waiter set down his steak. He looked up at Priddy again, attentively.

"Well, as the rookie walked past Dickey, Bill slapped him on the seat of the pants, and said: 'Go get 'em, kid.' That was a great hitter's class coming out. He wanted the man who replaced him to make his best showing. Because Dickey knew his own ability would eventually pull him out of that slump.

"I'll never forget that day," Priddy said thoughtfully. "I was the rookie.

"In other words, Dick, don't go into a depression just because you've hit a slump and been benched. Take it like Bill Dickey. Pull for that guy who replaced you . . . Petit, isn't it? But just keep telling yourself you'll get back in there."

Stuart grinned, and went after his steak with considerable energy. He got the moral of the story.

Since then, I am told, he has hustled harder than anyone on the ball club in pre-game and batting practice. He has cheered harder than anyone when Petitt has come through with a hit. More important, Stuart is doing something about getting back into the lineup.

He's cutting down on his swing, and has resigned himself to the idea that there is something besides home runs, after all, to baseball.

HOW OFTEN DOES a pitcher shake off a catcher? I put this one to Ez O'Donnell, the Hollywood Stars' relief ace.

"If it's a rookie pitcher," Ez replied, "He might shake off the catcher only once in a hundred pitches. Figures the catcher knows more about the hitters than he does.

"But if it's a fellow with a lot of experience, like me, he'll probably shake off one out of every four signals. After all, it's the pitcher's game. He gets the blame—win or lose."

I WATCHED THE Pittsburgh Brooklyn game on TV Saturday and tried to do a professional (if you'll pardon the expression) critique on Leo Durocher, baseball broadcaster.

Overall, I found Durocher very good . . . surprisingly glib, in fact, for a man with only a few weeks play-by-play experience. Naturally, he was a great improvement over his showing as a "color man" on the football broadcasts last fall. Which figures; football isn't Leo's dish.

The only thing I noted was Durocher's tendency to copy the voice inflection of Lindsay Nelson, the No. 1 man on the telecasts. Each phrase ended with his voice hanging in the air. On Lindsay, it sounds great. It's his Southern style. He's one of the best all-around sportscasters you'll ever hear.

But a man must have his own style. It didn't sound natural on The Lip. If Durocher just talks like himself, in light of his startling improvement lately, he'll turn into an excellent baseball broadcaster before he knows it.

And believe me, it hurts me to say that.

If these ex-athletes keep coming into the sports announcing field, I'm going to have to hire out as a bartender in my own restaurant.

L. B. SPEEDBOAT OPENER SUNDAY

Record 234 Entries Await Sail to Ensenada Thursday

By BOB RUSKAUFF

The record vista for a record year in Southland marine sport grows nearer each week-end:

First of the 1957 major speedboat meets on famed Marine Stadium falls next Sunday, with a record entry.

On Thursday, at high noon, an "out of this world" armada of yachts—234 signed entries—will sail from off Newport Harbor jetty on the 10th International Ensenada race. It's the most fabulous sail array ever mustered, anywhere, for an ocean event.

As for the speedboat opener, Commdr. Lee Morehouse of the United Speedboat Association, sponsors, said all now points to an over125 boat entry.

There are two Long Beach area defending champions: Elgin Gates of Surfside, archer supreme and African safari veteran (twice), defends in the swift D-hydroplane class. Howard Thompson, Bellflower, will defend C-hydroplane action, with a top rival potential in Sid Chambers of Long Beach.

Not only outsize in every department is the Ensenada sailing prospectus, but George Michaud, entry chairman, predicts splendid boat-for-boat races within the big skirmish.

There are, for instance, three of the 80-foot M-sloops—Barlovento, Windward and Pursuit; a half dozen of the 40-foot Newporters; as many K-38 and PCC sloops, all making for fine class rivalry.

Add some of the bigger two-stickers, including those of such renown as the Navy's 89-foot yawl, Saluda; John Scripps' Novia del Mar; Zaroya, Sea Drift, Constellation, the new Criterion—and it's a thing terrific in the world of sail.

* * * *

DETAILS AREN'T completed but two famed Long Beach speedboat racers will miss the big May 30 inboard regatta on Marine Stadium and, amazingly won't mind a bit.

Bob Willis and his 130- m.p.h. 266-cubic inch hydroplane Roughneck II, with Guy C. (Red) Wilson going along as mechanic, has been invited to compete in four big International races in Italy. They'll leave Long Beach within two weeks bound, via New York, for Milan, Lake Garda, Venice and way points. They will be guests of Italy's Motorboat Federazione, and Prince Vittorio Battolomeo.

Virginia Country Club will host the Southern California Junior Golf Championship, July 29 through August 3.

The annual match play tournament is sponsored by the Southern California Junior Golf Assn., an organization made up of PGA, private and public course leaders. Mrs. Pat Cameron, as Virginia junior chairman, will serve as tournament chairman assisted by club president Bill Cook and head pro Joe Robinson among others.

The last Southern California Junior Championship held at Virginia had Gene Littler beating Bud Holscher in the finals. Such young talent doesn't seem to be in the offing this year although it is yet too early to get a good line on prospects.

Certain to contend are defending champion Dick Martinez of Laguna Beach and Long Beach City champion Gerald Zar of Palos Verdes. Gone from the junior ranks are 1956 stars Pinky Stevenson, Bobby Boughner, Bobby Irwin, John Nichols and Bob Meade. Irwin, who would have been a favorite at Virginia, his home course, will be 18 years old 10 days before the tournament.

KEEPING PACE with the rapid growth of its locale, the Bellflower Golf Center at Lakewood and Compton Blvds., has become a bee-hive of links activity.

Whereas once you could name your own starting time to play the excellent nine-hole par-three course, today the weekend traffic is heavy. The driving range is a modern one and the miniature course a good test for windmill and tunnel enthusiasts.

A men's club was recently formed and now has more than 70 members headed by president Bill Walsh. On the feminine side, the Douglas Aircraft Women's Club makes the course its home grounds. Junior classes, sponsored by the Bellflower Elks, are in progress.

Veteran Charlie Koontz is head pro and Texan Hank Coger, who began his pro career two months ago, teaching assistant. Former Southland pro Ray Wichman is course manager.

IT APPEARS that Bob Kelley was sorely offended when we criticized him and his sportscasting colleagues in last Sunday's PARticulars for poor reporting of golf.

Call it extreme sensitivity or a guilty conscience. Ole Kell used 379 words and 10 paragraphs in his Thursday Independent column to reply to our 43 words and one paragraph. Which leads to the question, just who is the "Wyndy" one?

We were aware that Kelley was not at Las Vegas but did not specify him or that tournament alone in our statement. However, it is hard to be specific about Bob's ability reporting golf. Engrossed with the dawn-to-dusk accounts of the lives of the Aragon set, he has little time left to devote to golf.

(P. S.: Pass the old grape and gin rummy deck. It was a good shot in the dark, Bob . . . only you had the wrong person!)

LAKEWOOD'S John Richardson, a one, and Willard McCay, a three, are the lowest handicapped team entered in the Ted Wallace Memorial Tournament at Meadowlark next weekend. The Meadowlark Men's Club rates a cheer for its efforts to perpetuate the memory of Wallace, a prince of a man who did so much to benefit area golf . . .

Southern California qualifying for the U. S. Open will be held June 3 at Lakeside. National Public Links trials are slated for Montebello, July 7, and Brookside, July 13. Both are 36 holes . . .

Golfers interested in playing in a Catholic Youth Organization tournament at Bel Air CC, May 17, should write to Rev. John P. Languille, 3802 Brooklyn Ave., L. A. 63, for information and applications.

THIRTY-SECOND interview: Jackie Burke on his stand against gambling: "Our generation inherited a wonderful clean game. I think it's up to us to keep it that way. The PGA's aim is to hold gambling completely out. If anything did happen, we'd be responsible the rest of our natural lives."

W. W. BRADLEY fired a 76 and, with a 12-handicap, won low net honors of 64 in Virginia Country Club's Saturday sweepstakes.

Today the invitational mixed foursome using the Chapman System is set for 11 a.m. Saturday's results:

Low net—W. W. Bradley, 76-12—64; L. D. Lawson Jr., 75-9—66; Lef Hales, 89-15—67; Dave Bradbury, 78-11—67; Stanley Smith, 90-23—67; Jim Ferrie, 70-2—68; Rex Wall, 76-7—68; Stewart Small, 76-8—68; L. Smith Opens 5-Shot Lead Over Berg

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP) — Freckled-faced Wiffi Smith, 20-year-old St. Clair, Mich., star on her first professional tour, turned in a third consecutive sub par round Saturday to widen her lead in the Women's Western Open golf tournament to five strokes.

Wiffi, winner of the recent $7,500 Dallas Open, was seldom in trouble as she went out in par 36 and breezed in the back nine with a two-under par 35 It gave her a 212 card at the end of 54 holes.

Patty Berg, a five-time Western Open winner, held the runner-up slot, but slipped back four more strokes off Wiffi's blazing pace. She shot a 75 for a 217 total.

Jockeys Flagged on Backstretch

HAMILTON, Ohio (AP) — A seven-horse field in the second race at the Hamilton Raceway pounded into the backstretch Saturday and suddenly was flagged down by a quick-thinking outrider.

Someone had forgotten to pull the starting gate off the track and the horses were headed straight for what could have been a serious pileup.

Jockeys halted their mounts before they reached the obstruction in the seven furlong race.

Judges ordered all pari-mutuel bets returned, and the daily double was shifted to a consolation double.

Fishin' Around

By DONNELL CULPEPPER

Lee Moran, newly installed president of the Long Beach Casting Club, is about the handiest man with a rod and reel this city has seen in many years. In fact, he did so well in tournament casting in 1956 that he made an all-time club record, 1,982 points out of a possible 2,000.

His feat won the top trophy when the club members and their wives met at the Imperial Cafe in Garden Grove the other night for the annual banquet.

But Moran was hard pressed by another member, 18-year-old Richard Du Bay, competing for the first year as a senior. He dominated the juniors in 1955. Richard scored 1,967 points for second place. With such casting as that, Moran will do well to start practice for 1957 for Richard will be working hard to reach the top.

Moran, in winning the top honor, had a startling total of such feats as five casts of 100 per cent 1 ndry fly, and a similar number in the wet fly.

Willie Waters finished in third place, H. H. (Zip) Carpenter in fourth and Ed Bradley in fifth.

OTHER WINNERS in the LBCC 1956 tournaments were Clinton Flynn, Harold Barnett, Milton Armbust, Jack Geduldig and Elmo Botkin.

Chris Flynn and Richard Carpenter were top boys in the junior division.

Going into office with Moran were Barney Garlick, first vice president; Willie Waters, second vice president; Bob Williams, corresponding secretary; Hal Barnett, recording secretary; Doss Hamilton, treasurer, and Pete Scott, captain.

Zip Carpenter, the retiring president, became the junior director and George Voigt senior director.

Fred Metzger, a past president, presented the awards and briefly reviewed the history of the LBCC, which was formed in 1925 and which has become one of the state's widely known outdoor organizations.

Claude Kreider, outdoor magazine writer and also a past president, was the installing officer.

The LBCC will entertain other casting clubs of the Pacific Coast when the annual Western Tournament is held here July 19-21.

SURF FLY-CASTING really is catching on with the ocean anglers. Take, for instance, the case of J. H. Douglass, 3540 Olive Ave., who went to the Seal Beach Pier the other day and made two casts with a Vee-Bee fly and caught two halibut.

Harry C. Keller, 122 10th St., Seal Beach, made an even more remarkable showing with some trout flies, catching 10 corbina (10 to 13 inches) and several perch.

Paul Harmon, one of the first to try flies for bonito, mackeral and halibut, caught five bonito in the Long Beach entrance channel. He also got several mackeral and perch at the same spot, using Vee-Bee flies. The bonito ranged from 2 to 3 pounds.

* * * *

OTHER HAPPENINGS in thesurf: Lee Van Tine, 11-year-old Seal Beach lad, caught a yellowfin, spotfin, three or four barred perch and some piling perch, weighed the fish at Tommy's Bait and Tackle Store in Seal Beach and then went merrily on his way to school.

An unidentified angler fished near the Newport jetty and caught four spotfin ranging from 6 to 7½ pounds.

Norman S. Herbert, Los Angeles, fished off the rocks near the U. S. Naval Ammunition De-

Awarding of trophies for each division will close the event in the afternoon.

Cal Crews Sweep Meet With Trojans

OAKLAND, (AP)—California crews swept three two-mile races against Southern California oarsmen Saturday on the Oakland Estuary. They won each event by at least four lengths.

Rowing against Tide, the Cal varsity overtook SC and won by four and three-quarter lengths in 10:48.

The Cal Junior varsity won in 11:02. The Bear Frosh, rowing with the tide, had the best time, 10:42.

Ruttman, Hanks Top Today's Stock Race

Troy Ruttman, 1952 Indianapolis winner from Lynwood, and Sam Hanks, the Pacific Palisades thin man who was runner-up in the 1956 "500", are co-favorites to win this afternoon's 100-mile USAC National Championship stock car road race at Paramount Ranch from a star-studded field including 11 Indianapolis veterans. Qualifying starts at 12:30, first race at 2:30 p.m.

Besides Ruttman and Hanks, other Indianapolis chauffeurs getting in their final tuneup for next month's "500" include Johnnie Parsons, 1950 winner; Jimmy Bryan, Jud Larson, Marshall Teague, Billy Garrett, Dick Rathman, Johnny Mantz, Dempsey Wilson, Jimmy Reece, Chuck Stevenson, Rodger Ward and many more top throttle mashers who'll see action in J. C. Agajanian's five-event program over the two-mile paved road racing course.

Hanks, the 1953 national driving champion, will be seeking his third stock car victory of the year, as well as this third straight road racing win. Sam, who has driven in more Indianapolis races than any other current driver, is leading the national championship stock car point standings as a result of victories at Pomona and Vallejo. Twenty points back with 340 is his Mercury factory teammate, Jimmy Bryan, the 1954 and '56 national driving champion, who won at Phoenix, and then comes Ruttman, who captured the Clovis race and was second to Hanks at Pomona. Hanks won the 1956 Pacific Coast stock car title by getting the checkered flag in last November's 250-miler at Paramount.

Band Concert to Feature Songs by Marilynn Horne

Miss Marilynn Horne, young Long Beach soprano noted for her operatic and motion picture performances, will appear as guest soloist with the Long Beach Municipal Band in its concert at 3 p.m. today in Concert Hall, Municipal Auditorium.

She will sing "One Fine Day" from Madame Butterfly, "Mimi's Addio" from La Boheme and "You Are Free" by Kreisler-Jacoby.

Miss Horne was heard in the motion picture "Carmen Jones." She sang with the Roger Wagner Choral at the coronation of Queen Elizabeth, appeared in the Venice Festival under Igor Stravinsky.

She will return to Europe to sing in the Salsburg Festival and has contracted for opera in West Germany.

Hoegh Likely Appointee as CD Headman

DES MOINES (U.P.)—Reports circulated Saturday that former Iowa Gov. Leo A. Hoegh was under consideration for appointment to a top administrative job in the federal government.

The reports said an FBI agent checked on Hoegh's background at the Statehouse Friday and at Chariton, his home town, recently.

Hoegh supported President Eisenhower before he was chosen as the Republican presidential candidate in 1952.

The former Republican governor was believed to be in the running for appointment as the Federal Civil Defense administrator. That job is held now by Val Peterson, former Nebraska governor, considered now to be a possible choice as ambassador to Denmark.

Hoegh, 49, was defeated by Democratic Gov. Herschel C. Loveless last November when he ran for a second term as governor.

TENNESSEE TALKS

HOLLYWOOD — Tennessee Ernie Ford, the cute, mustached, six-foot, pipe sucking pea-picking Plato of the country music field, had just 40 minutes to down his lunch—including the vodka martini.

"You're the only new guy to crash TV's Top 10 this year—how'd you do it?" I asked him.

"To get into that Top 10"—and he puffed his briar—"you got to be somebody they can watch sittin' there in their pajama tops. You can't be the kind of a guy they got to get up and put their clothes on for."

ERNIE FORD

I've interviewed most of TV's Top 50, but never heard this idea expressed. I pressed for more.

"Well," he explained, squirming a little in his open-throated shirt as we sat there in Lyman's, "I like to be watched or listened to, not because of my talents — and I know I don't have too much — but because people like to have me around.

"It's the same as a bunch of guys will call you to go fishin' every year because they don't have to dress up and put on airs. It's like that on TV. When you're in their home you can't get any closer to them; so you've got to be the kind of person that's welcome there."

* * * *

ERNIE FORD at 38 has become a mighty gigantic fellow around NBC on that philosophy —and while he comes from poor folks down at a wide place in the road in Tennessee, he's not just a "country-style singer" as the hillbillies like to be called nowadays.

Ernie actually attended the Cincinnati Conservatory of Music a few months in 1939 hoping to become a concert singer. He'd done Gilbert & Sullivan operettas in high school, and his father, a "mail man" who played hillbilly fiddle, fancied his young son doing "concert work."

"But my folks was having a real tough time. So when I went home for Thanksgiving, I thought I should go to work and buy coal for the winter," he said.

He fooled around radio announcing in Atlanta and later in the neighborhood of Los Angeles, got married, and then, he says:

"Betty and I set down and did a lot of figgerin'.

"We were both real serious about going to the Yukon homesteading. You had to work five years. Then you got the land you staked out. But suddenly I was offered a disc jockey job, so we let it go at that."

* * * *

AND THEN HE began singing with the records—in his Tennessee tongue.

"I wasn't tryin' to cram my state down anybody's throat because I don't think you can.

"But it seems that a lot of common ordinary conversation where I come from seems very funny to some people."

He dates his success from "Mule Train" in '51, then "I'll Never Be Free" with Kay Starr —then, of course, came the day when his manager, Cliffie Stone, said, "You got to do some more records. You got anything kinda different?"

"I said 'Leuh'—just like that.

"I liked 'Sixteen Tons,' but didn't think anything like that'd happen to it. It's gone over three and a quarter million now."

Ernie, Betty, and Buck, 7, and Brian, going on 4, live next door to Bob Hope, but their decor comes from the local Macy's and is about what the average family would choose if the average family had a two-story ranch house — and was doing real good.

* * * *

ERNIE'LL GIVE UP his daytime show to concentrate on the night program—and this summer he and Betty'll tour New England getting refreshed for the fall.

Plain Jane Becomes Dazzler via Makeup

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Virginia Vincent is one Actor's Studio graduate who thinks Hollywood is a wonderful place. And she gives a woman's reason.

"It was like a miracle. They can say what they want to about Hollywood, but there's no know-how like Hollywood know-how when it comes to make-up.

"I was always typed by New York producers as a female 'Marty.' Every time the part called for a drab girl who couldn't cope with life they called for me."

Warners brought her out here for "The Helen Morgan Story" and immediately dyed her hair a platinum blonde and performed make-up magic that turned her from Plain Jane into Dorothy Dazzler.

"Now I can play glamorous girls, rich girls, poor girls—anything. Hollywood opened up a whole new career for me."

Survey Shows Business Good and May Get Better

By WILLIAM FERRIS

NEW YORK (AP)—Business is humming along at a satisfactory pace this spring in most sections of the country.

There are a few weak spots. Mainly, however, business is confounding the pessimists. In the words of a Dallas banker: "Business is a lot better than the psychology about business."

This is the picture obtained by the Associated Press in a nationwide survey on the business situation.

Employment, buying power and consumption put strength into business. Population growth remains a major prop, particularly on the Pacific Coast and in the Southwest.

These potent factors lead the president of the nation's largest retail merchandising firm, F. B. McConnell of Sears, Roebuck & Co., to comment from Chicago:

"Sales plans for the balance of 1957 are based on the assumption that rising personal income and a growing population, resulting in an expanded consumer goods market, will prove favorable to the general merchandising business."

* * * *

SAN FRANCISCO, Los Angeles, Minneapolis, Atlanta, Detroit report business ahead of last year. So do Cleveland, Pittsburgh and Richmond. There are indications of a slight decline in Columbus, Indianapolis and possibly Cincinnati.

Such major cities as Toledo, Dallas, Philadelphia, New York, St. Louis, Kansas City and Milwaukee report business running about the same as a year ago. In New York businessmen predict a 2.6 per cent gain in employment between January and June. In the last seven years the gain has averaged only 1 per cent.

What's the main single important factor?

Well, in the greater Pittsburgh area John Smith, a composite factory worker, is earning more than $100 a week. He's never had it so good. A year ago he was making $94.

And what's true of Smith is true of the working man in most sections of the country. His weekly earnings are at a record.

* * * *

THE DEPARTMENT OF LABOR says personal income in March reached a record annual rate of $337.6 billion. That was $19 billion higher than the year earlier rate.

In most sections increased weekly earnings have come despite reduced working hours, largely a result of eliminating overtime.

On the basis of Easter sales, consumers appear receptive to the blandishments of the sellers—or, as a Los Angeles credit man blithely says, "We encourage people to spend more money than they care to so that they can live more comfortably."

* * * *

RETAIL SALES, after lagging during the first quarter, spurted in April. Some part of the gain may have resulted from higher prices.

Happily for businessmen, the consumer is making a good record at paying off his debts. No city reports a poor collections record.

Most depressed industry is residential home building and the wails of the builders are heard throughout the land.

Tight money is the villain, at least in the opinion of builders, in the home building picture. And signs tight money might ease are more hazy than vivid.

In Dallas Milton Brown, president of the Mercantile National Bank, says, "Talk about tight money is being exaggerated. It's the old law of supply and demand. Demand is good but not as heavy as in November and December. I expect a better balance sometime this year."

* * * *

TIGHT MONEY appears to have hit home builders hardest. Many have withdrawn from speculative building — they're putting up houses on contract only. A builder in Minneapolis says, "It's damn sure no home builder is going to increase his inventories."

The slack in home building has been taken up by other types of construction. Spending for construction nationally in the first quarter was a record for the period at $9,200,000,000, according to the Departments of Commerce and Labor.

But the general picture on business expansion could best be summarized by a reply from the Minneapolis Honeywell Regulator Co. of Minneapolis: "We certainly are not deferring or abandoning expansion programs. . . We plan more expansion projects within the next six months."

Small businesses are fighting to keep their head above water, plagued by competition from big business and a profit margin price squeeze. Higher livestock prices have helped many farmers and rains have come to the parched Southwest.

Worries over inflation and deflation, if any, appear to about balance one another. A Des Moines banker thinks the situation is about "dead center." That appears to be as accurate a description as any.

Real Estate Club to Hear Engineer

The North Long Beach Real Estate Club will meet Thursday morning, at 8 o'clock, at Mayo's Restaurant, 5929 Cherry Ave. Al Meyer will be program chairman, and the speaker will be Jess Gilkerson, city engineer. His topic will be "Your City and Its Freeways, Now and In the Future."

CONSTRUCTION STARTS

Ground Broken for Big Orange Shopping Center

Ground was broken Friday in the city of Orange to launch the latest addition to Tietz Construction Co. enterprises, beginning construction on a 24,000 sq. ft. Alpha Beta Market, and 15 additional stores of a shopping center at the corner of Tustin and Collins Aves.

W. C. Sheverton, vice president and corporation secretary of Alpha Beta Markets participated in the ceremony, also attended by Joe Goodnight, sales manager of Alpha Beta Markets; George Weimer, City Manager of Orange; Bill W. Tietz, president of Tietz Construction Co.; Harry S. Rinker, secretary-treasurer of Tietz Co.; and Ernest Hahn, general contractor.

The Alpha Beta Market will cost a half million dollars, it was revealed, with the total cost of the complete shopping center to be one and one-half million dollars.

The 10-acre center, to be completed and opened in the fall of this year, will house drug, variety, service and clothing stores, a restaurant and a bank. Bounded on three sides by Tustin Ave., Collins Ave. and Lincoln St., leasing for the area is being handled by William Johnston of the Tietz organization with space currently available.

Office Moves

Horwood Realty, formerly located at 2650 Atlantic Ave., has moved into new and much larger quarters at 2625 Atlantic Ave.

School Talk for Realtors

Long Beach Realtors will hear Dr. William Melchior, assistant superintendant of schools in charge of curriculum, Tuesday morning at the regular Breakfast Meeting in Lafayette Hotel. He will speak on "Better Schools Build Better Communities."

Accompanying Melchior will be the Woodrow Wilson Meister Singers who will present selections from the operetta "Sweetheart."

Max Livoni, program chairman for the Realtors said that Realtors are vitally concerned in the school program because Long Beach is recognized throughout the nation as presenting one of the best balanced educational programs. Because of our high standard of education in Long Beach, many people are choosing Long Beach as their new California home because of our schools, he added.

Skylark Terrace Designs Big Boosters for Sales

Family rooms which are visible from the kitchens in all plans of the homes are sales boosters at Skylark Terrace, 3 and 4-bedroom, family room and 2 or 3-bath development of Tietz Construction Co.

According to Bill Tietz, president of the construction firm, buyers are enthusiastic in their praise of the homes which include spaciousness in the living rooms as well as in family rooms and kitchens.

The homes are on wide lots with up to 85-foot frontages, increasing privacy as well as adding to the beauty of the dwellings. Big enough for swimming pools and other recreational equipment, the lots may be installed with pools as optional equipment, Tietz said, with many buyers taking advantage of the opportunity.

* * * *

CONTEMPORARY or Provincial architecture with heavy shake or crushed rock roofs and brick trim exteriors give versatility to Skylark Terrace neighborhoods. The homes are constructed of genuine lath and plaster with massive fireplaces of used brick or sandstone, sliding glass "lanai" walls, mechanically equipped barbecues, intercom system, abundant closet and cabinet space and two or three baths with ceramic tile and formica surfaces and stall showers with etched glass doors.

Kitchens are all-electric with built-in range and oven, automatic dishwasher, ventilating fan and disposal unit. There are family-size breakfast bars and natural birch cabinetry.

Skylark Terrace dwellings are being purchased in three Southern California locations, Riverside, Lancaster and Garden Grove. Easily accessible to major transportation, recreational areas, schools and churches in all three locations, Skylark Terrace in Garden Grove is also close to new and modern shopping centers.

Priced from $18,000, they are available to both veterans and non-veterans. From Los Angeles, visitors drive out Santa Ana Freeway to Brookhurst (La Palma) and continue south to the model homes. From Long Beach, drive out 7th St. (Garden Grove Blvd.) to Brookhurst and turn north to the model homes.

BUILT BY TIETZ

This is one of the models of the large Skylark Terrace homes which are selling rapidly in three locations. They are developments by Bill Tietz.

Seeking Kefauver Really Wants Estes

SAN DIEGO (AP) — A young miss at the waterfront was searching for a sailor friend who she thought was a crewman "aboard the Kefauver." It turned out she wanted the USS Estes.

Quick Action Urged in Mesa La Mirada

An increase in terms on May 1 makes it advisable for homeseekers to visit Mesa La Mirada today, tomorrow and Tuesday, according to the management of the modern suburban district. For these three days, as little as $335 moves a family in, with immediate occupancy and 30-year terms as added features.

An important advantage of living in Mesa La Mirada is that the great shopping center of this $150,000,000 development is immediately adjacent. The main market structure is being rushed to completion, with one section already finished to provide quarters for a branch Post-office which is now operating. Ground has been broken for a bank building and a new grammar school will be open in the area for the fall school term.

Mesa La Mirada homes have 3 and 4 bedrooms, some with den. All have two baths. Features with special appeal to housewives are the extra-large clothes closets, linen and storage cabinets and walk-in wardrobes. Kitchens also are unusually large and equipment includes GE dishwasher, disposal and clothes washer and dryer. Patios also are large so that families may fully enjoy outdoor living to the utmost in the smog-free climate.

Flying Speed Traps Used in Oklahoma

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP) — The Oklahoma Highway Patrol airplane, flown by Lt. Art Hamilton, accounted for catching 1,929 erring motorists in 1956.

Hamilton, flying above the traffic, spotted the violations and radioed to troopers on the ground, who stopped the drivers.

Trend for Big Home Continues

By ROBERT F. COLL

WASHINGTON (U.P.) — The average family home built last year was a 3-bedroom rambler selling for about $14,500, a government survey shows.

This continued the trend of recent years for bigger, more expensive new houses, the Commerce and Labor Departments reported.

For the past three years, the majority of new homes constructed have been in the $12,000 to $15,000 bracket. But since 1954 construction of homes selling for less have slumped while more expensive housing has risen.

New homes costing more than $20,000 held at about 10 per cent of all construction started through 1954-55. But last year they soared to 18 per cent.

In the $15,000 to $20,000 group new starts have increased to 26 per cent — an increase of 10 per cent over 1954.

* * * *

BUT THE BULK of new starts have remained in the area of $12,000 to $15,000, despite a mild decline from 29 per cent in 1955 to 27 per cent last year.

The upsurge in building for the upper income brackets has all but kicked the bottom out of low-cost housing starts.

Three years ago, the survey showed, 11 per cent of all new homes were built to sell under $7,000. Last year's starts skidded to a negligible 4 per cent.

In the next group, ranging up to $10,000 in price, new starts slumped 5 per cent from their 1945 level of 15 per cent. A mild slump was also registered during the three years in the $10,000 to $12,000 bracket.

Included in the downward trend in low-cost starts was the row house — long an urban housing fixture. The government housing experts said the "small number" of row houses begun were concentrated in the northeast and southern areas.

New Corn Has High Oil Base

CHAMPAIGN, Ill. (U.P.)—The University of Illinois College of Agriculture says it has come up with a new "higher oil-higher protein" corn.

The new strain of corn also has 10 to 11 per cent of protein instead of the usual 8 or 9 per cent and 6 to 7 per cent of oil as against the normal 4 to 5 per cent.

The new corn had proved practical for livestock and is slowly becoming available from some corn breeders, the university experts said.

"However creep-fed lambs seem to prefer the regular corn when offered a choice of it or the higher oil-higher protein strain," they added.

But in all trials—with everything being equal except the kind of corn being fed — the lambs fed the new corn in a "creep" ration gained an average of 7 per cent better than those receiving the same ration with regular corn.

"And the amount of feed required to produce a pound of grain averaged 6 per cent lower than for the regular type," the experts added.

No significant differences were found between the carcasses of lambs fed the new strain and those fed regular corn, they noted.

Costs Not Needed by Chapman Park Buyer

Terms of nothing down, not even for costs and impounds, are causing a rush of buyers to Chapman Park, Fullerton, where just 70 of the 3 and 4-bedroom, 2-bath homes remain to be sold, it was reported yesterday by officials of the Pioneer Land Co.

"The 70 remaining Chapman Park residences are favorably situated on choice sites and offer homeseekers a complete selection of color-styles, exterior designs and floor plans," a Pioneer Land spokesman said.

The nothing down terms, the official pointed out, apply to both non-vets and vets, who may move into the homes of their choice as soon as credit has been verified. Credit clearance, he said, takes from three to four days.

* * * *

HEAVIEST SALES during the past week, he noted, have been recorded in Chapman Park's series one homes, a large group of provincial-styled residences exemplified by furnished models displayed at Commonwealth and Chapman Ave., Fullerton.

The provincial residences, which are priced from $17,725 to $18,825, have hardwood floors on conventional raised foundations, plaster walls and acoustical ceilings.

Included in the home are such features as built-in kitchens with automatic dishwashers, ranges and ovens in color, forced air heating, sliding glass doors, fireplaces of slumpstone, used or combed brick; ceramic tile baths and kitchens, over-size glass enclosed showers, family rooms, ash hardwood paneling and cabinets and, in some models, built-in washer-dryer combinations.

Also popular are Chapman Park's series two homes which may also be purchased for nothing down with no cash needed for costs. Series two have contemporary styling, are priced from $15,300 to $15,925 and are shown at Commonwealth and Cypress Aves., Fullerton.

Both series are easily reached via the Santa Ana Freeway.

A NORTH LONG BEACH ESTATE
Long, low and luxurious is this residence with 3 bedrooms and 2 baths at the S and S Construction Company's attractive new North Long Beach Estates development, at Downey and Harding, in city of Long Beach.

North Long Beach Estates in Demand

Graciously styled 3-bedroom residences designed for families with moderate budgets are in strong demand at the new North Long Beach Estates development, Downey Ave. and Harding St., according to Natan Shapell, executive of the S. and S. Construction Co., builder-developers.

Fully priced from $16,650, these homes are available to veterans for a minimum low down payment, plus small impounds and closing costs, on 29½-year loans, and on monthly terms from $83.28, which include principal and interest. Easy financing for non-veterans is also available, it was stated.

All homes have 2 baths and an extra-large 2-car garage with rear door, and each model includes a built-in deluxe wall oven and rangetop with fan and light, many natural-finish ash cabinets, a sink-installed Waste King Pulverator, semi-automatic dishwasher.

ALL KITCHENS have a large separate service porch with ceramic tile over laundry tray, and "spatter"-pattern floor linoleum, and one floor plan also provides a roomy kitchen pantry.

Spacious front or rear living rooms have Norman, used or new brick log-burning fireplaces with broad raised hearths. In many models the fireplaces are set into richly paneled hardwood walls flanked by sliding glass doors and screens.

Model homes are reached from downtown Long Beach via Downey Ave. to Harding, or via Lakewood Blvd. to Harding, with left turn to the development.

Heavy Sales Continuing in Twin Signature Homes

Continued rapid growth of the Garden Grove area and the increasing public preference for new homes with traditional architectural was credited yesterday for rapid sales in Signature Homes' twin communities.

Especially heavy sales have been noted in Signature's "First Edition" homes, located at Magnolia and Cerritos Aves., south of the Santa Ana Freeway, the builders reported.

" 'The First Edition' homes are our biggest in Garden Grove and feature traditional design, conventional construction and all modern built-in conveniences," a spokesman explained.

* * * *

PRICED FROM $15,800, the new homes are offered on both VA and FHA terms. They offer buyers a choice between three bedrooms and family room and four bedrooms, all with two baths.

Boosting sales, a spokesman stated, are terms to vets with down payments from $320, plus costs and impounds. Monthly payments for non-vets are from $70.35, principal and interest.

Attracting thousands of visitors, it was reported, are furnished model homes at Magnolia and Cerritos Aves. Another Signature Homes' display is situated on Dale St., between Ball Rd. and Cerritos Ave., where smaller 3-bedroom, 2-bath homes in the "Special Edition" series are displayed. These are priced from $11,700 with correspondingly smaller down payments and terms.

Among the many features of the "First Edition" homes are color-styled O'Keefe & Merritt built-in gas ranges and double gas ovens with large look-in doors, automatic time and triple rotisseries. The homes also boast heavy shake roofs, wood-burning fireplaces, "Cathedral" ceilings, colored bath fixtures, ceramic tile throughout, tile pullman tops and forced air heating.

A CINDERELLA ESTATE
This is the Briarcliff model of Cinderella Estates in Tustin which will continue the grand opening today. They are in the exclusive Red Hills Estates area.

Secluded Cinderella Estates Will Continue Grand Opening

Throngs of city folks seeking seclusion in a rural setting thronged the opening last Sunday of the new Cinderella Estates in Tustin.

So great was the crowd that the O'Kain Construction Co., developers, announced the grand opening will be carried through today.

Set in the exclusive Red Hills Estates area, the new Cinderella Estates are architecturally blended into the countryside.

The Cinderella exterior styling has been retained in the new homes but many new interior features have been added. Among them are increased cabinet and storage space in virtually every room, wider use of tile and considerably increased floor space.

* * * *

LUXURY ADDITIONS to the $16,875 homes include such items as clock thermostat which enables the householder to preset the forced air heating and cooling system, and the latest electronic thermostatic control on the built-in range and oven.

There is a built-in system for music or intercom in the home, massive floor-to-ceiling fireplaces, and all of the homes have at least 3 bedrooms and 2 baths.

Prices for the new unit start at $16,875 with total down payment and closing costs as low as $675. There are VA-FHA and conventional terms.

Cinderella Homes are completely enclosed with a block wall to provide estate privacy.

Many routes lead to the Estates in Tustin. From the heart of Santa Ana drive via 17th St. to Newport Ave., then right to Irvine Blvd., and left to the models.

Barber Price '07 Problem

FALL RIVER, Mass. (UP) — There were problems half a century ago, too. The Fall River Herald-News for March 7, 1907 noted:

"Journeymen Barbers discussed barbershop prices and urged a drive to have all barbers charge 25 cents for a haircut instead of 20 cents. Concern was felt about barbers working at other jobs in the daytime and opening shops at night."

For just $109 down, non-veterans may now move into one of the new "Prince Charming" series of homes at Fairview Ranchos, the attractive community developed by the D and E Corp. at Bristol and Fairview in Santa Ana, according to Frank Chandler of Key Land Co., sales agents.

Three models are available at the new low purchase terms, each with 3 bedrooms, 2 baths and 2-car garages.

They are fully priced at only $13,750 and may still be bought by veterans for no down payment except closing costs and impounds.

There is a houseful of modern refinements and conveniences in these large-family homes.

* * * *

HEADING THE LIST is the Waste King kitchen which features all built-in and color-matched appliances. These include wall oven with full-view window and automatic timer controls, rangetop with automatic pilot, complete automatic dishwasher and sink-installed Pulverator.

Adding to the functional beauty of each work-and-step-saving kitchen are roomy natural-finish hardwood cabinets, a built-in dining nook, serving unit, desk and breakfast bar in one compact unit, and a separate service porch.

Floor-to-ceiling fireplaces in living rooms, as well as scenic wallpaper murals and custom lighting fixtures in dining areas, add to the charm.

Furnished model homes are reached from Long Beach via 7th St. to Bristol, then south to the development.

All Goes Wrong but Rescue Made

PADUCAH, Ky. (AP)—Almost everything went wrong but Crossland Miller managed to rescue three half-frozen men from an island in Kentucky Lake.

Hearing a cry for help, Miller tried to unlock the chain that held his motorboat to the dock. The key broke. He tried beating the padlock with a hammer but finally had to cut the chain with a hacksaw.

Miller started the boat and noticed the gas gauge read empty. He grabbed a couple of oars, just in case, and finally made it to the island and carried the three men to his boat. It ran out of gas just as they reached the far dock.

Miller took the three to his cabin and attempted to start a fire. The heater was out of oil so he called for help by telephone. When relatives of the rescued men arrived, they found them in Miller's truck, the heater going full blast.

$100 Billion Cost To Clean up Slums

DAYTON (AP)—To clean up slums in American cities will require expenditure of at least $100 billion in the next 10 years, says James E. Lash, executive vice-president of the American Council to Improve Our Neighborhoods (ACTION).

India Wanting Children's Books

NEW DELHI (AP) — The Indian government is moving into the publishing business to give Indian children more books in this country's language, Hindi.

The government has announced it is prepared to give publishers subsidies if they cooperate. But first the government wants to see the publishers' work.

As a starter, the government has invited publishers to submit drafts of Hindi versions of "Snowwhite and the Seven Dwarfs," "Bambi," "Arabian Nights," "Alice in Wonderland" and "Pinocchio."

Electronic Cooking Demonstrated Again

The public gave high praise for Minor-Built Homes in Garden Grove last Sunday with the opening of the "Electronic Homes."

Minor's "First in America" feature is the new "Electronic" built-in range and oven, which makes cooking time a pleasure. Last Sunday hot dogs were cooked and in the hands of the on-lookers in 35 seconds. Hot, fluffy cupcakes were cooked in 30 seconds, baked potatoes in 4 minutes.

Miss Joyce Markel, home economist, and Don Smith, residential consultant, of the Southern California Edison Co. will demonstrate the Electronic equipment today from noon until 5 p.m.

* * * *

THE DEVELOPMENT affords large frontages from 90 feet to 100 feet and running 120 feet in depth. Most have orange trees now in blossom. Adjacent homes range in value from $25,000 to $100,000.

One important feature found in "Electronic Homes" is that the sales price includes all the built-in units such as a patio and cover, fencing in the rear, front sprinklers, landscaping, lawns, and inside the Westinghouse built-in disposal, dishwasher, and the revolutionary range and oven. An intercom-radio is also included and there will be two fireplaces in each home. One in the living room and one in the family room. These homes will have 2 and 3 baths. "Electronic Homes" also feature extra heavy hand split shake roofs. Tongue and groove sub-floors with hardwood. Lath and plaster walls and acoustical ceilings.

L. D. Minor and Stuart Bartleson are the developers and builders.

The furnished models are open daily from 10:30 to 8:00 p.m. Art Letherby is sales manager.

"Electronic Homes" may be reached from Long Beach by going out 7th St. which becomes Garden Grove Blvd; go left at Gilbert St.; travel to the corner of Orangewood Ave. Better still, see your sub-division map of Orange County in classified.

ELECTRONIC HOME

This is one of the Minor-Built homes which feature electronic cooking. A special demonstration of the speed in the kitchen will be staged again today.

SALESMEN
There is no reason for any man who can sell to make less than $250 per week. Many of our representatives make that much or more on our liberal advance commission plan.

We are a well rated manufacturer with a background of nearly 50 years of successful experience. Our broad line of Building Maintenance Products are needed by every building owner, industry, schools, hospitals, colleges, office buildings, motels, hotels, garages, dairies, greenhouses, canneries, farms, etc.

Our representatives work in permanent fully protected territories, receive full credits on repeat and mail orders from their territories. We have no pet house sales. For full information, write: J. R. Hunter, Box 1017, Station A, Cleveland 2, Ohio.

How to Buy a Used Car With Safety
AND

1. BUY FROM A DEALER WITH A REPUTATION OVER THE YEARS FOR FAIR DEALING.
2. Check the car's history—See its maintenance record.
3. Check the car inside, outside and under for marks of flood, wreck or abuse.
4. Consider condition and extra equipment along with price and compare with others of same make and year.
5. Find out how much for your car but consider the difference rather than the allowance alone.
6. Read the guarantee and see your dealer's service facilities.
7. Figure the interest on any unpaid balance.

Ann's Re-Run Rivals 'I Love Lucy' Cash

By TERRY VERNON

ANN SOTHERN'S "Private Secretary," now re-running, calls for $22,000 each and she gets a hunk of the coin. This is the highest priced re-run since "I Love Lucy" began a second time around. Ann heads for Reno and Chicago with a night club act that includes drummers, chirpers and pianist. She may head back to California via a Las Vegas date.

Henry Fonda says he'll never do a TV series but will do some shows on TV in the fall. They say he's willing to do a benefit spectacular but also that he has nixed the scripts offered so far. He's off to Europe after some personal appearances to plug his new movie.

* * * *

WHEN BOB CUMMINGS ends his current filming he's off to Australia where he owns a 4,000-acre sheep ranch and a hunk of "Territory Rice." Latter is a syndicate formed to grow rice on the flatlands and in the partnership are Art Linkletter and Charles Coburn. Art Linkletter has an 8,000-acre ranch near the Cummings' place. Cummings owns his own producing company and claims it's the "happiest lot in the business."

There's a budget of $115,000 per each for the planned Gary Cooper series of hour-long dramas billed for fall release. CBS will probably slot the show in alternate weeks with U. S. Steel. Coop says he'll have some big-name stars on his series and has talked with Dick Powell, Jack Palance, David Niven and Barbara Stanwyck.

Jack Benny packs his violin and heads for the Flamingo, Las Vegas, to perform in the nitery starting June 20. He is taking Giselle MacKenzie along to fill out his act and asked that she be given equal billing with him. Nice guy.

Stock brokers are saying that the next company to issue common stock will be Desilu, the Desi Arnaz-Lucille Ball company.

Martha Raye has been picked to play the part of "Baby Snooks" in a new TV film series for NBC. This is the late Fanny Brice role.

As Bernadette, a sorry-faced Basset hound, she was worth only $65 to two different owners who returned her because she wasn't housebroken. As "Cleo" on the Jackie Cooper show, she is insured for $100,000 and is the highest paid animal star in TV.

A recent guest on "Face the Nation" was H. Meade Alcorn, new chairman of the Republican Party. He wrote in the guest book, "Harder than winning elections." Next week Paul Butler, chairman of the Democrats, added his words, "Leave that to us."

Folks backstage always said that Marge and Gower Champion were the most devoted of couples. Each time they are due to appear on the stage Gower grabs Marge and hugs her tightly. Actually all he is doing is cracking her back to relieve tension, but it looks like true love.

RICHARD SIMMONS, star of "Sgt. Preston," has traveled by dog sled, snowshoes, skis, horse, etc., in his TV series but when he goes on location in the High Sierras he flies his own plane.

Art Linkletter's interviews with moppets during his "House Party" shows have brought forth some startling replies from the youngsters. The other day he had a small Jewish lad on the show and Art asked him who his favorite friend was. "Porky Pio" replied the boy. "Now, if you were lost in the woods and all you had to eat was Porky, would you eat him?" The boy looked at Art with a superior air and said, "No, Porky is my friend . . . and anyway, he isn't Kosher."

When Red Skelton's script called for a parrot to appear in one of his shows, he solved the casting problem by taking Emmy, the Skelton's own household pet, to the show. The bird says, "Hey, Big Red" . . . and that's all.

Steve Allen seems to be gaining momentum each week and now along comes Johnson Wax with $4,500,000 to spend as alternate week, full-hour sponsors. Waxery is dropping "Robert Montgomery" to take on Allen.

GLORIA TALBOTT went to Hawaii to do some filming and didn't take her family along because of the cost. She phoned each night after work and her phone bill came to $280.

YOU have a stake in higher education

This country needs educated people as never before, and the need will increase. Our whole future may depend on men and women who have learned in college to think soundly and choose wisely—in business, in industry, in civic affairs.

Our colleges are facing a crisis. Already the pressure of applications is straining their capacity. It will double by 1967.

It's not just a matter of adding classroom, laboratory and dormitory space. Faculties, too, must be enlarged and strengthened. High standards of teaching must be maintained. That means increased salaries for professors.

For your own sake, your children's sake, your country's sake, help the colleges or universities of your choice—now!

If you want to know what the college crisis means to you, write for a free booklet to: HIGHER EDUCATION, Box 36, Times Square Station, New York 36, New York.

Blast Victim Taken to Veterans Hospital

Still in critical condition from burns, Francis J. White, 38, of Sun Valley, was transferred Saturday from Seaside Hospital to Long Beach Veterans Hospital.

White was burned severely when gas exploded in his motel apartment, at 6124 Long Beach Blvd. Tuesday. Police said that it was a suicide attempt. White denied this.

11 Australian Civic Leaders to Tour U.S.

CHICAGO (UP) — Eleven Australian business and civic leaders will visit here May 6 as part of a six-week tour to 12 United States cities.

The group was chosen by Premier Henry E. Bolte of the state of Victoria to meet with industrial and financial leaders and encourage American investment in Victoria.

Tele-Vues by TERRY VERNON

There are lots of good shows today, all deserving the lead item, then there is Daylight Savings Time with its changes in the (2) schedule, but we'll stick with ABC's effort to join the competition as the top story.

"Discovery" opens on (7) at 6:30 p.m., a show developed by nine professors of this area and one that will bring education into the home in an interesting fashion. There's a special one-time "Kate Smith Hour" at 9 p.m., with a flock of stars taking part and at 10 p.m., the much-discussed and highly touted "Mike Wallace Interview." Details on all three later on.

Channel (2) has altered its schedule and uses the Ampex tape system to put eastern "live" shows on at new hours and also shifts some filmed shows around. "Odyssey" is now at 5, "Air Power" at 6:30, "Lassie" at 7, "The Champions" at 7:30, and "What's My Line?" goes into the 10:30 p.m. slot.

Throughout the week you'll note other CBS program changes and we'll try to keep you informed on them each day. Check your schedule closely.

DAYTIME DATA—"U. N. in Action" salutes The Netherlands and Queen Juliana on (2) at 8 a.m. . . . "Let's Take a Trip" over New York by helicopter on (2) at 9 a.m. . . . "Catholic Hour" (4) at 10:30 a.m. starts a series of five dramas on marriage . . . Abba Eban, Israeli Ambassador to the U. S. and the U. N., on "Youth Wants to Know" (4) at noon . . . Drew Pearson looks into business embezzlement on "770 on TV" over (7) at noon . . . Walter Lord, author and advertising executive, and Cathleen Nesbitt, British actress, guest on "The Last Word" (2) at 12:30 . . . "Face the Nation" (2) at 1 p.m. has Dr. Fayez A. Sayegh, Arab states delegation director . . . COLOR — "Harvest" (4) at 1 p.m. looks at a women's magazine of 1824. Note that "Feitelson on Art" now becomes and alternate with "Harvest" and will be on next Sunday at this time . . . Hollywood and Portland play baseball on (11) at 1:25 p.m. . . . Joan Vohs is hostess for "Faith of Our Children" on (4) at 3 p.m.

4 P. M.

"Wide Wide World" (4) devotes its 90 minutes to an exploration of California including a ballet on the Golden Gate Bridge, tour of El Camino Real, San Diego Mission, L. A.'s freeways, "Ramona" at Hemet, swimmers and oil derricks at Huntington Beach, UCLA's rooting section in card stunts, Sutter's Fort, Chula Vista for the wetback story, Golden Gate Park, Fisherman's Wharf, Chinatown, Donner Pass, and other points. Gov. Knight will speak at Hemet where Dorothy Bailey stars as "Ramona."

Gov. Knight also is billed for "Eye to Tye" on (2), as series shifts from Wednesday.

4:30 P. M.

A "Home With a Heart"--Right From the Start!

A FEW BRIEF WORDS on one small sign mirror aspirations of hundreds of women and girls. The Assistance League of Long Beach has set as its goal the building of a new clubhouse—a "home away from home" for this and future generations of West Long Beach. Girls Club members. Four of the league's new provisionals, from left, Mmes. Fred McNair, Lyman Berg, Arthur Adkisson and Melbourne Marsh, pledge their efforts to completion of this dream.—(Staff Photos by H. S. Last Year's Dream Is This Year's Goal

By IOLA MASTERSON

For every parent who ever wanted to give his daughter the stars and the moon—but found it difficult to keep her eager young feet in shoes—this story about Long Beach Assistance League should have double meaning.

Last year league members began an audacious dream which is now surprisingly near reality. They dreamed of building a new clubhouse for their West Long Beach Girls' Club where fine young girls, regardless of creed or heritage, would be given added advantages of social life and training so important through the years from adolescence to young womanhood.

Were They Able?

Financially it seemed impossible.

But there were those who had watched women of the league rally behind other calls for community help—and accomplish the impossible. So they held true to their dream and soon the rustling of blueprints will be replaced by the satisfying sounds of construction. That is, provided the generosity and foresight of Long Beach keeps pace until the building fund reaches its required goal.

Mrs. Wing Takes Gavel

All this was revealed through the annual reports presented at the league's annual meeting and installation of officers at Assistance League Clubhouse last Monday. It was at this time Mrs. Kenneth S. Wing accepted the gavel from Mrs. Francis Heusel, pledging to continue the leadership which has brought this huge project so close to realization. Mrs. Wing, whose serenity and composure belies her effervescent energy, was inducted as president by Mrs. Rufus A. Davis.

Other Officers

Others installed were Mmes. Chester F. Yunker, president-elect; Freeland C. Putnam, first vice president; Dan D. Dunlap, second vice president; La Vern Brinkman, recording secretary; Burton W. Chace, corresponding secretary; James Keipp, treasurer (the latter two for second terms in their respective posts); Mrs. Laurence Houts, financial secretary; and to the board of directors, Mmes. William B. Eastman, Mark Kuffel, Harold H. Morris, Frederick Kellogg, Myrl Ott, Eugene Jones, and Harry H. Hamilton, Mrs. Heusel assumed the post of parliamentarian.

A Year Completed

Accepted into active membership at this meeting were provisionals of the past year: Mmes. Eldon Bassett, Ernest Belcher, Chris Conway, Ellis-ton Farrell, Arthur Hagge, Harold Maggart, Gilmer Millie, Waldo Moore, Douglas Newcomb, William Rhorer, Zelma Burson Schooling, Henry Viets, John D. Walker and Carlos T. Gates. They were presented by Mrs. Brinkman, provisional training chairman. "Graduates" from Rick Rickers, junior auxiliary to the league, assuming full membership at this time were Mmes. Douglas Bothwell, F. A. Utecht and Irving M. Smith Jr.

New Provisionals

One of the most interesting phases of annual meeting is introduction of the incoming provisionals. Presented by Mrs. Putnam, their chairman for the ensuing year, were Mmes. Robert Summy, Arthur Adkisson, Emmert Sink, Vernon Williams, Melvin Marsh, Fred McNair, Robert Helms Jr., Calvert Strong, Lyman Berg, Kirt Parks and Roy Taylor, most of whom are pictured on this page. Earlier this month all were feted at a smart presentation tea given in the home of Mrs. Wing, 1407 Bryant Rd.

The Fund Grows

Another report intently heard was given by Mrs. Logan Goodknight, speaking for Mrs. Thomas Noble and Mrs. Bruce Mason who spearheaded the girls club project. Through Mrs. Goodknight they reported that $38,542 has now been banked in the building fund. $50,000 is the minimum needed (based on the opinion of professional advisors) to begin construction.

"BUILDING FEVER" is affecting these newly inducted provisionals of Long Beach Assistance League, from left, Mmes. Robert Helms, Kirt Parks, Francis Utecht Jr. and Douglas Bothwell. Their "fever" mounts in direct proportion to the rise of the big thermometer they hold, a yardstick of the building fund which edges up with each new contribution for construction of the league's proposed girls' club.

In the Wake of a Navy Life

The petite young Navy wife turned her travel stained car into a wide spot on the highway, its worldly District of Columbia license plates at odds with the Arizona wastelands. It was one of a dozen such stops that day.

That stop along a lonely highway is one of the many such memories Ruth Murphy will have in mind Tuesday as she watches her husband, now Rear Admiral M. E. Murphy, Commander Mine Force, U. S. Pacific Fleet, retire from active service and, with his retirement, receive an appreciative Navy's promotion to vice admiral for a good job, well done.

'Little' Memories

She didn't think about it then, but she knows now that such "little" memories are just as important, in their way, as the glittering ones.

In fact, if she has one word of advice to young wives just learning the ways of service life, Mrs. Murphy would tell them to enjoy every minute; to try and recognize that the inconveniences that frustrate them now are most apt to be their favorite stories of the future. And she'd tell them to join in the community life wherever they are stationed; put their roots down, even if only for a little while, because that's the only way any town can seem like home.

A Turtle Was Loose

But returning to that time so many years ago on a western desert — Ruth had lost count of the number of similar stops that day as she traveled en route to Long Beach with her two young sons, Garrison and Jack; their pet turtles and the dog. As usual, one of the turtles was loose, under the car seat again most likely, and needed rescuing.

Besides, the pup had spotted something moving out in the mesquite a few miles back and was requesting, with canine insistence, a chance to investigate.

Ruth got out of the car to stretch. Barring too many more turtle escapes she and the boys would be in Long Beach next day in time to establish "home base" for "Murph" before he arrived with the fleet, due in from the East Coast. At that time her husband was Lt. M. E. Murphy, to be exact, up half a gold stripe since his jg days when they were married in San Diego in 1926.

Familiar Journey

Like thousands of other Navy wives, Ruth was used to tearing across country, car heaped high with things she couldn't wait for the movers to bring in order to start housekeeping-as-usual in a hurry.

Still as slender and raven-haired as when she became Mrs. Murphy, Ruth thinks (and her husband agrees) that Long Beach is a wonderful place in which to say "aloha" to Navy life. They also agree it's going to be a wonderful place to settle down to civilian life. This is their "anchor town" — a city in which they've lived during five separate tours of duty.

Strangely enough, during the 30 years of their marriage, Adm. Murphy has had few overseas stints where Ruth could accompany him. They were married 24 years before he had foreign shore duty where Ruth could live. That was at Guantanamo Bay, Cuba, in 1950, where he was commander of the naval base. Immediately following this they were transferred to Japan.

Reunion in Japan

A remarkable thing happened then — a coincidence that wouldn't happen again in probably a million times to a service family. By then Gary was a young officer in the submarine service and happened to be in Japan. Youngest son, Jack (the civilian of the family, he is now a student at San Diego State), was serving his two-year stint with Uncle Sam as a Pfc in the Army, and he, too, was in Japan. So there were all the Murphys, all on different orders bringing them together at the same place and time, half way 'round the world!

After next Tuesday, when Adm. Murphy relinquishes his command to Rear Adm. Victor Long at formal ceremonies at Mine Force Headquarters, U. S. Naval Station, Long Beach, the most important date the Murphys have is May 7, when they leave by plane for a tour of Europe — "Murph's" gift to Ruth as they begin civilian life.

'Here We Go Again'

"Bless his heart," says the Admiral's Lady. "I've been packing and unpacking suitcases for 30 years and now —here we go again!" But she doesn't fool anyone, including the Admiral, because this is one trip, the very first, when both will travel like vacationers should and she's as excited as if she'd never been beyond the city limits.

For the first time, too, they'll return to the same home, where they can stay as long as they please. Maybe now they can get in a little gardening. And have time to watch a tree grow.

AFTER 30 YEARS of nomadic Navy life, traveling with her husband, Rear Adm. M. E. Murphy, from port to port, Mrs. Murphy prepares to pack suitcases once again—but this time strictly for pleasure! She and her husband leave May 7 for a European tour following his retirement Tuesday. And now hear this! The Admiral's gear may not get its customary top priority suitcase space. Maybe he'll have to carry that camera to make room for something more essential—like an extra party dress! He'll learn it's an old civilian custom!.

The Wild Waves Say

By IOLA MASTERSON

Formal, please—

VERY FORMAL, very elegant and very entertaining is the very least we can say about "The Previewers," that formal first nighter crowd which now attends each new production at Long Beach Community Playhouse.

All dressed up with some place to go next Friday, preview night for "Anniversary Waltz," will be such reservation holders and their guests as Mayor George and Hazel Vermillion, Helen and Joe Kellogg, Tess and Francis Heusel, May and Charles Evett, Ruth and Malcolm Todd, Verna and Larry Collins Sr., Ann and Gene Tincher and—You still with us?

Here are some more who will laugh at the riotous comedy, (rehearsal snoops sneaked the word to us that it IS hilarious). Olive and Sumi Swanson, the William Woelslins, Ruth and Eldon Bassett, Grace and John Rowe, Sally and George Badenhausen, Marge and Lewis Seapy, Anabel and Ben Parks and Elva and Harry Pritchard.

THE SKIES TRIED to keep pace with the champagne and both poured last Saturday night, each, in their own way, adding an effervescent excitement to the beautiful wedding reception Thelma and Denny Evans hosted in their Santa Ana home following daughter Sheila's marriage to Jerry Wendt.

Whether it was clairvoyance or just plain stylish entertaining we don't know, but Thelma and Denny arranged to have their entire back yard, pool and all, covered by a tremendous tent where the close to 500 guests toasted the newlyweds and munched delicious buffet supper.

During the party it rained so hard that the professional tent men present had to slash the canvas here and there so the rain water could escape through into buckets to prevent the tent from collapsing! Instead of "putting a damper" on the affair (oh, you pun loving kid, you) it simply made everyone more gay.

"JO" PAAP POPPED back into town last weekend with her mother, Mrs. Ethel M. Jones, after an especially happy times trip. "Jo" drove son Frederick's car back to him at Fort Sam Houston in San Antonio. They spent several days there and count dinner one night with Lt. Bruce and Joan (Hunter) Purvine at Randolph Air Force Base among their pleasant memories. Then they went on to New Orleans for several more days before returning here.

SPEAKING OF TRAVELLERS, Mrs. Willis (Sue) Bradley took the Polar flight to Copenhagen, we swear it couldn't have been over a week ago, and already friends are receiving cards and letters from her. She is in Heidelberg by now, most likely, beginning an extended visit with daughter and son-in-law, Ann and Col. W. H. Brucker.

TRAVEL NOTES, COMPOUNDED. Florence Cole left Friday for her annual spring trip to New York to see the newest Broadway shows. She has tickets enough to watch 16 different curtains go up!

"My Fair Lady," of course, plus such newer productions as "Hotel Paradise" starring Bert Lahr and Angela Lansbury (it opened to rave notices), "Holiday for Lovers" starring Don Ameche, "Orpheus Descending," which is Tennessee Williams new one, "Visit to a Small Planet," "Hole in the Head," starring Paul Douglas, as well as those foreign imports, "Potting Shed," "Waltz of the Toreadors" and "Separate Tables."

KIWANIS KORNERS is what they can start calling 6th and Los Altos in Alamitos Heights. Latest to join the neighborhood brotherhood will be Dr. Ed and Joan Beebe who have taken the pink slip on the house at the northeast corner.

ZODIAC WISE, Aries and Taurus are each richer by the addition of two April babies —one for each of the heavenly signs. "Skip the signs. Stop at heavenly," say Frances and LeRoy Zierott about their newest granddaughter, Lisa, born Monday at Seaside, second daughter for their daughter, Helen, and Charles Morris II.

ARIES BABY is Mal and Mona (Davis) Groff's young man, David Wayne, who is making life merry at 248 Pomona. "D. W." has some doting grandparents, too, in the persons of Rolly and Mona Davis and Evelyn Groff.

They're saying—

JUST BETWEEN us girls do you know what they're saying out at the Petroleum Club? They're saying that when they move into their new clubhouse sometime next fall the place will need a woman's touch. In fact, new proxy Wilbur Harrison is so fond of the woman's touch idea (you're not the only one, Wilbur, old boy!) that he suggested an auxiliary be started right away.

Betty (Mrs. Irving) Dumm is chairmanning the women's activities and serving with her as committee members are Gloria Wallace, Bernice Stansbury, Margaret Irwin, Naomi Chandler, Oma Fowler and Dorothy Thompson. Club wives will meet for luncheon Wednesday to choose a name.

A HOFBRAU PARTY that won't be hof bad is all ghesetsinheisen for today at Lois and Bill Brown's home, 5401 El Jardin, for Las Madrinas members and their husbands. Emily and Don Gilroy are co-chairmaning.

Achtung! Here's the real supper. The invitations were not only printed in German but were MAILED from Germany! The fact that such suds drinkers as Mary and Reg Barden, Betty and Larry Hunt, "Phil" and Fred Wolcott, Lonita and Leland Nickles and Der Fuhrer herself, Earlene Bennett and husband, Lon, will be there is a tribute to good old American know how. In this case the how was knowing enough to telephone Emily who, as every member knows, speaks German.

THOSE IDAHO newspaper publishers, whose "beat" used to be Long Beach, Jean and Ralph Hunter, are right smack on vacation deadline. They'll leave tomorrow after their visit here with Jean's mother, Grace (Mrs. Roland) Lewis, 5806 Bay Shore Walk, and, of course, with Jean's sister and brother-in-law, Betty and "Bix" Bixby. The Hunters are between papers. They sold their word mill at Ashton and have just purchased the Meridian Times. Meridian, in case you're a little shaky on your potato state geography, is an eight-mile walk from Boise. Fortunately, the Hunters plan mostly to make the trip by car.

UNDERSTAND THAT Vada and Don Spring and the children are off for a two months tour of Europe, flying to New York and thence by liner to t'other side. Vada's parents, the Paul McCrerys, will be over there for two months at the same time but travelling separately, their paths to cross only twice.

Gala Dansant to Aid Adoption Service

WHEN MRS. RICHARD LAKE (left) and her lovely little adopted daughter, Janet, arrived at the home of Mrs. James McCormick (right) for tea, they added more enthusiasm to an already active group which included Mrs. James Brennan and Mrs. Landis Hayward, all busily making plans for the cocktail dansant to be given May 4 by the Long Beach Auxiliary to Holy Family Adoption Service.—(Staff Photo.)

A cocktail dansant on the Long Beach social calendar for May 4 at the Lafayette Hotel promises to be one of spring's most fashionable events. This affair is given annually by the Long Beach Auxiliary to Holy Family Adoption Service. The guest list is long and includes many civic leaders.

Mrs. James Brennan, ways and means chairman, has arranged for Ray Broggie's orchestra to play for dancing from 5 to 8 p.m. and Arthur Murray Studio will add to the gaiety of the evening by giving a professional dance exhibit.

The auxiliary was organized two years ago and in that short time has expanded its part time service to include the addition of a full-time social worker. Non-sectarian, the agency serves children, natural parents and adoptive parents of all races and creeds.

The focus of the agency is always on the child and his needs, and the service is based on the philosophy that every child born into the world has an equal right to an equal chance to be a good citizen in a home which wants, loves and needs him.

Mrs. William Wagner, auxiliary chairman, believes that everyone would like to see, in the near future, every adoptable baby in the home of loving parents. It is toward this goal that the auxiliary works through its philanthropic projects.

Will Direct Symphony Efforts

Mrs. Edmund F. Richards was installed as president of Long Beach Auxiliary to Southern California Symphony Assn., succeeding Mrs. W. G. Rhorer, in an impressive ceremony Tuesday at Virginia Country Club. The induction ritual was conducted by Mrs. Fritz Brueggeman in conjunction with the group's annual luncheon meeting.

Mrs. Edmund F. Richards

Assuming leadership positions with Mrs. Richards were Mrs. Munroe Yunker, first vice president; Mrs. Arthur P. Adkisson, second vice president; Mrs. Betty M. Benwell, vice chairman; Mrs. Thomas J. Russell, third vice president; Mrs. Victor Mingers, vice chairman; Mrs. Reese D. Hansen, magazine chairman; Mrs. Lee R. Denny, vice chairman, and Mrs. Lawrence Hunt, membership chairman.

Also, Mmes. E. Ray Webb, Lawson Overman and William E. Webb, secretaries; Mrs. Don J. Hall, treasurer; Mrs. Albert Stevenson, ways and means; Mrs. Ethel Severson, vice chairman; Miss Gladys Rowan, auditor; Mrs. John W. Persons, parliamentarian, and Mrs. Hubert J. Prichard, Symphony Junior coordinator.

During the business meeting conducted by the retiring president, the success of the sixth annual Headdress Ball was reported by Mrs. Alexander Kadvany and work of the Continuance Fund committee was described by the chairman, Mrs. Thomas J. Russell. Mrs. A. V. Jacoubowsky told of her work in publishing the concert magazine.

Vivid descriptions of unexpected, amusing and touching experiences incident to the Philharmonic Orchestra's concert tour of the Orient last year were told by guest speaker Miss Alice Taylor, Southern California Symphony Assn. secretary.

Delightful finale for the afternoon was provided by pianist Ruth Armstrong, harpist Harriet Wood and soloist Susan Brenner.

Honored guests for the day were past presidents Mmes. Philip M. Thompson, William M. Cedarholm, Walter C. Groshong, John W. Persons and Herbert E. Waite.

Miss Gladys Rowan and Mrs. Lawson Overman were in charge of luncheon and decorations.

Talented Young Musicians to Perform at Benefit

A gala musicale and tea will top off the season's activities for the talented girls who are junior members of the Long Beach Symphony Association.

Piano, flute and violin lessons have been getting more than the usual attention from these music-minded young people who will perform for their friends at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Rex Hodges this afternoon.

The occasion is the annual benefit recital to raise funds for the local Symphony Auditions for Young Musicians.

This year the Long Beach Junior Symphony award was given to Thomasine Davis, pianist, and Thomasine will be guest artist at the Hodges' home today. Other soloists include piano: Laurel Jolly, Marge Matlock; viola: Isla Anna; violin: Nancy Barnes, Karen Polly, Susan Ward, Nadine Bowers; flute: Claudia Edwards. A vocal ensemble also will perform. Vocalists will be Linda Loveren, Linda Lupher, Linda Hossom, Sandy Hunt, Eleanor Segal, and Meredith Seapy.

It is the custom of the energetic group to honor someone at this springtime affair who has given unusual service to the Long Beach Symphony Orchestra. This year the musicale is a tribute to Nicolas Furjanick, associate conductor of the orchestra since its beginning. He is also the well-loved orchestra and band director at Wilson High School.

Linda Loveren, chairman of the Long Beach Juniors, has invited Mrs. Lauris Jones, wife of the conductor, and Mrs. Furjanick to pour tea and coffee for the guests. Assisting in all the plans for the affair have been Mrs. John A. Harris and Mrs. R. G. Akers, members of the board of directors of the Long Beach Symphony Association, who serve as sponsors of the Junior group.

Plan Card Party

Women of St. Luke's Episcopal Church will hostess their annual card party Thursday at the church, 7th and Atlantic. Luncheon will be served at noon under the direction of Mrs. Jess Holton and Mrs. Thomas Sykes. Mrs. Harry McCord will be in charge of table decorations.

Mmes. Arthur Scott, Robert Tingom and Herbert Fielding are directing reservations and ticket sales.

Alicia Club

Alicia Club members will hostess their mothers May 5 at their annual Mothers Day luncheon at Ricarts.

County Music Topic for Ebell Group

A program of special interest will take place Monday morning in Ebell Auditorium when musical activities in Los Angeles County are discussed by two speakers and a 15-year-old pianist will entertain.

The Music Department of Ebell will gather at 10:30 a.m. to hear Mrs. Helen Phillips Cordell, president of the Los Angeles County Music Commission, and Mrs. Howard W. Coy, secretary.

A winner of many awards, pianist Stephen Elliott will play for the gathering. He has played a concerto with the Long Beach Symphony Orchestra, and the Highland Park Symphony Orchestra, has won auditions sponsored by the Long Beach Symphony and has won several gold medals in the international recording festival sponsored by the National Piano Guild. He has also appeared as piano soloist at two annual conventions of the California Federation of Music Clubs.

Mrs. Merton B. Smith, chairman of the department, will present the program.

'Catch Up' Info for Homes Tour Fans

It's catching—

It's catching! Oh, we mean! Yep, the first annual homes and gardens tour planned by St. Helena's Guild of St. Luke's Episcopal has caught the fancy of scores of women. Two additional homes to be opened for the event (not till June 9) will be Ruby and Less Callahans gracious Country Club Dr. home and Ann and Jim Woods beautifully done contemporary modern house on Virginia Rd.

Tickets will go on sale as of Wednesday when Grace (Mrs. Val) Cassady, 4261 Country Club Dr., picks them up from the printers for distribution to the guildswomen. All this was announced at the new group's last luncheon meeting Thursday at the home of Mrs. Harry E. Ridings Sr. on Linden.

There won't be any charge for children under 12 because children under 12 won't be allowed to take this particular tour. What child under 12 would be interested anyhow?

PEOs to Convene Tuesday

"Understanding" is the guiding theme chosen by Mrs. Lorne C. McRae, president of the California State Chapter of PEO for the annual convention Tuesday through Thursday at the Lafayette Hotel.

Two outstanding speakers will be heard during the convention. Keynote address Tuesday afternoon will be given by Mrs. R. W. Shirey, member of Chapter FJ of Long Beach. A past state and national officer, she has chosen "Wisdom Through Understanding" as her topic.

"How to Live at Your Best" is the subject for the address by the Rev. Raymond I. Lindquist, D.D., at the banquet Tuesday night in the grand ballroom of the Lafayette. A total of more than 1,000 persons, including 500 delegates, members, husbands and other guests, are expected to hear the speaker, who is minister of First Presbyterian Church of Hollywood.

Yaltah Menuhin of Long Beach, concert pianist and member of the famed musical family, will appear on the banquet program, as will Mrs. Martina Smith of San Francisco, past state president, who will toast the men and Judge Lyman Sutter who will reply with a tribute to the women. Prior to the banquet a formal reception will honor the state officers.

Among other local artists performing during the three day session are Joseph R. Bjorndahl, baritone; Dorothy Molinari, soprano, Don and Marion Pratt, The Trumpeters and Harriet Wood, harpist.

State officers and honored guests will gather with the convention committee for a pre-convention dinner Monday at 7 p.m. in the Red Velvet Room of the hotel. Mrs. J. Roscoe Howell will preside. Hostess chapters represented will be G, JM, JX, KJ, Long Beach; S, Orange; Y and LC, Fullerton; JK, Downey and JS, Laguna Beach.

Rev. Raymond I. Lindquist

Mrs. R. W. Shirey

Honor guests will be Mrs. Alice Spenseley Rinehard, Chippewa Falls, Wis., first vice president of Supreme Chapter; Mrs. Frank C. Weller, Glendale, and Mrs. A. E. Fox of Laguna Beach, convention advisor.

A reception in the Cavalier Room for delegates and local PEO's to meet informally with the state officers will take place from 8:30 to 10:30 p.m. after the Monday dinner.

A memorial hour at 10:45 a.m. Tuesday in First Baptist Church will include three sacred numbers by the PEO chorus led by Mrs. Frances Whitney. Accompanists will be Mrs. Ruth Nicol and Mrs. Louise Kint, official convention organist-pianist.

Mayor George Vermillion will express official greetings from the city when the convention opens at the 1:30 p.m. session Tuesday. Mrs. J. Roscoe Howell will welcome delegates.

Other program features include a model meeting Wednesday afternoon by Chapter Y, Fullerton and music by a Fullerton string trio; reports on various educational projects of the organization; election and installation of officers, closing address by Mrs. Verda Armacost, Chapter II, Redlands, and trips around the harbor and to the PEO Home in Alhambra.

Miss Donna Marie Decker

Elmer Deckers Tell Donna's Betrothal

Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Lee Decker, 4153 Cedar Ave., formally announced the engagement of their lovely daughter, Donna Marie, to Lt. Donald Hastings Harcourt at a fashionable cocktail buffet party in their Los Cerritos home last Monday evening.

As guests arrived they were presented with tiny cards bearing the surprise betrothal message. The young couple first met in Westwood when the bridegroom-elect was a student at UCLA and his bride-to-be a student at Marymount College, from which she subsequently received her BA as an art major.

Lt. Harcourt is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Hastings Harcourt of Solvang, Santa Ynez Valley. His grandparents are Mrs. Alfred Harcourt of Connecticut and the late Alfred Harcourt, publisher-founder of Harcourt, Brace & Co., and Mrs. Austin K. Griffen of Manaroneck, N. Y. and the late Austin K. Griffen.

Miss Decker, who received her high school education at Polytechnic, is a member of Bachelorettes and a provisional of the Junior League of Long Beach. She is the granddaughter of Mrs. William Elmer Decker and the late William Decker of Indio and of Mr. and Mrs. Francis S. Liebenguth of Detroit, Mich.

Before graduating from UCLA, where he majored in economics, Lt. Harcourt attended both Cate and Webb preparatory schools, in Carpenteria and Claremont, respectively, and studied at Stanford. A Beta Theta Pi, he was commissioned into the U. S. Air Force through AROTC. At present he is stationed in Abilene, Texas.

The young couple will announce a wedding date at a later time.

Those assisting at the announcement party were Judge and Mrs. Fred Miller, Messrs and Mmes. Lynn Hossom, Clare Hamman, Lester Callahan Sr., Joseph A. Ball, Albert Baptie, James Liebenguth, Frank Reagon, Douglas H. Graham and Mrs. Kenneth Jaques.

Also assisting were Messrs and Mmes. Allan Scherer, Gordon Bartholomew, Robert Dumm, Volney McCutcheon, John D. Miller, the Misses Carol Beckley, Diane Owens, Catherine Liebenguth, Clare Liebenguth, Jo Driscoll, and Messrs Jerry Kirkwood and James Liebenguth Jr.

Club Will Honor Young Democrats

Presentation of awards to four outstanding young Democrats, two of them teenagers, will highlight the luncheon session Wednesday of Democratic Women's Study Club at the Wilton Hotel Pageant Room.

The day's activities will open at 10 a.m. with Gerber Davidson, Polytechnic High School senior, and Mary Elizabeth Ann Woodward, Wilson senior, discussing current events and legislation. Also scheduled to speak at the morning session is Emanuel Gyler, attorney for the Marina Improvement League. Mrs. Lucian F. Remley will conduct the business session and election of new officers.

Afternoon speaker will be Superior Court Judge Stanley Mosk who will discuss "The Problem of Reapportionment." Judge Mosk is newly returned from Sacramento where he worked on a reapportionment bill to be presented to the legislature.

Luncheon reservations may be made with Reta Carter.

Card Party Date Changed

Because of conflicting dates, the card party originally scheduled Tuesday by the Rocking Chair Club, past presidents of Woman's City Club, has been postponed until Thursday. The event will take place at 1 p.m. at the clubhouse, 1309 E. 3rd St.

Mrs. Don U. Billings, president, announces the event will be a home-gathering of former leaders of the club. Tickets may be obtained from Mrs. Billings, Mrs. L. H. Jarnagin or Mrs. Tyrone Richardson. All proceeds will go for the new clubhouse.

Ebell Will Tour Italy via Film

Stoncall O'Brien, photographer, traveler, artist and lecturer, will present a film on Italy at the meeting Monday of Ebell of Long Beach.

His commentary, brightened by his enthusiasm and humor, reflects an intimate knowledge of his subject. He will take club members visually to the Riviera, the Leaning Tower of Pisa, marble industries, Florence, Venice and the lake country of northern Italy. Dipping photographically into southern Italy, he will lead his audience to Naples, Mt. Vesuvius, Pompeii, Capri, the Appian Way and the Vatican, among other highlights.

Mrs. James A. Worsham, program chairman, will introduce O'Brien. Group A, Mrs. Kendall Graham, chairman, will be hostess at the luncheon. Mrs. L. E. Shanks, president, will lead the business sessions.

Shrine Installs

In its 36th installation ceremony, Nazareth Shrine No. 8, White Shrine of Jerusalem, inducted Mrs. Hazel Clarkson as worthy high priestess and Ray E. Sharp Watchman of Shepherds.

Other elected officers are Mmes. Gladys Jordan, Helen Thompson, Flora Wagenblast, Grace Van Wagner, Grace Benediktson, Marjorie Bjorkman; and Arnold Mueller.

The stage was set with the Nativity scene, in keeping with the tradition of the Shrine.

Sees Sub, Sighs, Sinks

By ILKA CHASE

Three guesses where I've been! Three hundred guesses where I've been! Give up? In a submarine 57 feet below the waters of Long Island Sound, that's where I've been.

Our boat was the Tench and it was a pleasure to find something in the Navy that can be referrred to as a boat. Generally the boys in blue go white if you call their vehicles anything but ships. The tench is a fish although I had never heard of him until then. All submarines are named after fish and just as fly boys earn their wings, the fish lads earn their dolphins, a pair of them, nose to nose.

I should say that the chief characteristic of a submarine is lack of space.

We lunched in the officers' wardroom, but it isn't a room exactly. It's four narrow benches along the sides of a table seating eight. Since there are only eight officers on board, that's enough, but you don't pull the benches out to sit down. You can't; they're smack against the walls as it is so you slither in. No place for fat boys.

There are about 72 in the crew and I do not envy them their beds. The bunks are in banks of three, not uncomfortable actually for they have good foam rubber mattresses and are of reasonable width, but they are still strongly reminiscent of slabs in the morgue. They are stacked so closely one on top of another that when you are lying on your back the bottom of the berth above you is about four inches from your nose. I don't see how broad fellows manage to sleep on their sides, no room for their shoulders. The fore and aft ones share their bunks with a torpedo.

Due to stringent conditions of this kind, plus the extraordinary self-control and courage that must be required in wartime, the service is entirely voluntary and the subs are usually manned by a very creamy group indeed. The officers we met couldn't have been more friendly or patient in explaining to us what was going on.

After luncheon—steak, peas, mashed potatoes, ice cream, milk and coffee—we went up on deck to watch another submarine, the Corsair, submerge especially for our benefit. It's quite a sight, that sleek, slim creature knifing through the water and then sinking swiftly before your very eyes with only the lethal periscope sticking up. In a rough sea it would be nearly impossible to detect.

A few minutes later, the Corsair rose to the surface at a fairly steep angle, nose first, and inquired courteously whether we would like her to do it again, but I thought she'd done fine.

Actually, you are not conscious of anything much other than a slight pressure in your ears although the very first moment as you start down is exciting because the last man on deck has only seconds to get in and comes sliding down in a rush, banging the hatch to above him and throwing the heavy bolt that locks it.

The interior of a submarine is one solid instrument panel with literally thousands of nobs, dials, levers and lights. The lights flash green when everything is watertight, and red when hatches and valves are still open. It's a fine Christmas tree effect and the crew is very proud of it.

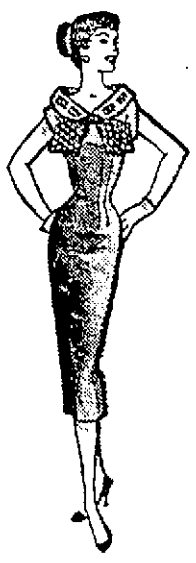

We submerged twice and once I was allowed to watch through the periscope and I felt like submarine captains in the movies when the screen closes in like binoculars with the enemy sighted on the thin crossed lines in the middle of the lens.

May Holds Promise of Gay Social Events, Visits From Friends Among Military Set

By VIRGINIA NEWTON

With the promise of gay flowers in May brought on by April's showers, two prominent clubs, the Long Beach Navy Officers Club and the Wives of Navy Doctors' Club are planning spring events.

May Day at the cocktail hour Long Beach Navy Officers Club members will have a festive dinner dance at the Officers Club, Allen Center, in place of the usual luncheon.

Mrs. Frank Durnell, chairman of the party which will start at 6:30, will be assisted in welcoming members, their husbands and friends, by Mmes. E. J. Kidder, J. A. Kelly, Clark Miley, Marty Loman and Edwina Pollack Gladden.

Then welcoming the month of May with a luncheon that will be followed by a card party will be the Wives of Navy Doctors Club members who will meet at Allen Center at noon May 8. Mrs. Dirk te Groen, a former club president, will be hostess and Mrs. Lewis Dorgan of 4200 Linden Ave., may be contacted for reservations.

Members of this busy club also are reminded of the Happy Hour party Tuesday from 5 to 7 p.m. at Allen Center.

Recent house guests of Col. and Mrs. Anthony McCloskey were Col. and Mrs. Harold J. Berry here from Scott Air Force Base, Ill.

The couples were neighbors in Germany.

Lt. and Mrs. A. E. Hohn and boys have as their house guests the Hohns' daughters, Mrs. Robert Carroll, and pretty little granddaughter Debbie Jean, who came down from Berkeley bringing her other nice grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. L. O. Carroll, with her. Debbie's great grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank De Lapp of Hawthorne, joined the group for a family dinner.

Last Monday a birthday party was given for Anna Marie Lopez by her parents, RM1 and Mrs. Frank R. Lopez of 1810 W. 20th St.

Mrs. Robert Craig was happily surprised on her birthday April 26 with a luncheon given by Mmes. Noreen Davis, Roy Proudfoot and C. M. Murray.

Capt. and Mrs. R. A. Lowry and family will leave for new duty and residence in Honolulu. Capt. Lowry has been attached to the dental dept., at the Long Beach Naval Base and Mrs. Lowrey is a former president of Wives of Navy Doctors Club.

Capt. and Mrs. Austin King are enjoying a vacation in San Francisco. Prior to leaving Capt. and Mrs. D. J. Hegland entertained at a dinner party in their honor.

Mr. and Mrs. Carl L. Steverson from Annadarko, Okla., are visiting with Stevenson's brother and family of this city, Capt. and Mrs. Alvin Steverson.

Wives of officers attached to the USS Worcester and children enjoyed a barbecue supper at the home of Mrs. Marvin Scott recently.

Cutest item of the week, I think, was the postponed Easter egg hunt last Wednesday at the home of Mrs. James Z. Byers for the children of officers attached to the USS Worcester. Mrs. Byers who had the hunt scheduled for Easter morning, had to call the event off because of rain; however through the return efforts of Mister Easter Bunny the hunt came off "egg-sactly" as planned.

TO BE SEPTEMBER BRIDE

Miss Jacquelyn Ann Smith, daughter of Mrs. Arthur E. Smith, 4424 California Ave., and the late Mr. Smith, will marry Francis Bernard Connolly on Sept. 7. She is a graduate of Whittier College where she was president of the Palmer Society. Her fiance, son of the Leo V. Connollys of Santa Rosa, attends USC School of Dentistry and is a member of Delta Sigma Delta, dental fraternity.

TELL ENGAGEMENT

Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Michaels, 1091 Claiborne Dr., today are announcing the engagement of their daughter, Deborah, to Walter Galovan, son of Mrs. Mary Galovan of Chicago and the late Mr. Peter Galovan. They will be married in a home garden ceremony June 9. The bride-elect is a graduate of Wilson High School and USC; her fiance attended George Williams College, De Paul University and Roosevelt University.

Sote Club Plans Party

Sote Club's annual spring buffet dinner party has been set for 7 p.m. April 30 at the home of Mrs. Glenn E. Miller, 1318 W. Spring St.

Fragrant spring flowers and brass candelabra will adorn the lace-covered buffet table, and pastel colors will be used in individual table decor.

Special guests invited to join in the festivities are Mrs. C. M. Shilds, Rolling Hills; Mrs. Al Abernathy, Anaheim; Mmes. Donna Martin, Allen Anderson and Denise Murphy, Downey; Mrs. Roz Hage and Mrs. Bonnie Bauchet.

Meet Thursday

Unaffiliated P.E.O.s will meet Thursday at 7:30 p.m. at the home of Mary Marinello, 5848 Rogene, Long Beach.

TO PERFORM WITH SYMPHONY

Saida Gerrard, modern dance soloist and choreographer, with a company of ten dancers, will perform two suites with the Long Beach Symphony Orchestra during next Sunday evening's concert in Concert Hall of Municipal Auditorium. Lauris Jones will conduct the orchestra. Tickets are available at Humphreys Music Co. and the Symphony Association, 5336 Appian Way.

Mrs. Hudson on WCC Program

Mrs. Elizabeth Hudson, president of the Long Beach Board of Education will discuss educational goals and priorities when she is the guest of Woman's City Club Friday at 1:30 p.m. in the clubhouse, 1309 E. 3rd St.

Mrs. Hudson has been a member of the school board for 12 years and has been its president for five years. She has just completed a two-year term as president of the California School Association. In recognition of her activities and services to the community, Rick Rackers have named her "Woman of the Year."

Long Beach State College Glee Club will sing.

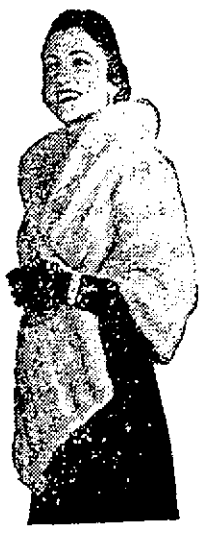

Show to Feature Summer Styles

St. Pius X Institute will present its third annual style show, "Prelude to Summer," at 8:15 p.m. Tuesday in Our Lady of Refuge Hall, Stearns and Clark. Mrs. Al Benz is show chairman, assisted by Mrs. Harry Pertle. Members will model.

Proceeds will go into the Institute's scholarship fund.

MAD HATTERS, EVERYONE!
University Club wives, from left, Mmes. Douglas Benwell, Paul McClaughry and Don Barden, will become "Mad Hatters" Wednesday along with other wives as they don hats as fanciful as they can create for a Mad Hatter brunch to be followed by bridge, canasta or swimming in the clubhouse pool.—(Staff.)

They'll Don the Silliest Hats in Town!

University Wives members, auxiliary to the University Club of Long Beach, are busy making fanciful hats from all manner of unusual materials for a "Mad Hatter" brunch Wednesday at the clubhouse.

Mrs. Paul McClaughry, chairman, has announced there will be awards for the "maddest" of the mad hats worn.

Committee members serving with Mrs. McClaughry are Mmes. Ernest Lockwood, Douglas Benwell, Donald Sullivan, Wendell Wilson, Don Barden, Richard Shelley and Bert Barber. Reservations may be made with either Mrs. Lockwood or Mrs. Barber. Following brunch the women will spend the day at bridge, canasta or swimming.

Saturday night members of the club and their wives celebrated their first year in the new clubhouse at 1150 E. Ocean Blvd. at a dinner party in company with President Julian Davis and Mrs. Davis. Prior to moving to this location last April, the men's group occupied the eighth floor of the Lafayette Hotel.

An Age Barrier to Their Love

DEAR MRS. MAYFIELD:

I am a divorcee, age 35, with four half-grown children whom I support. I have a good job and take good care of my kids. I have fallen deply in love with a man (a soldier) in his early 20s. He says he loves me and that age is no barrier when you love someone.

He is planning on coming back when he gets his discharge to settle down. My friends all tell me I should forget him because of his age. What do you think?—UNDECIDED.

DEAR UNDECIDED:

I agree with your soldier that age is not necessarily a barrier when you love someone. There have been plenty of December-May marriages which have worked out beautifully. (And plenty that haven't!)

But they worked because both husband and wife brought deep understanding to the marriage, and realized fully the problems which would be involved as both grew older—a major one being that one partner was likely to die much earlier than the other.

Now then, what about your situation? I'm afraid you'd better recheck your emotions and see if this is really love you feel.

You're 35 and divorced. You are reaching the age when your children are growing up and your need for male companionship is growing, too, to offset your loneliness.

Meanwhile, your soldier is stationed in a town other than his home. He's feeling lonely, too. When he meets you and you become interested, he's highly flattered to receive the attentions of an older woman. He's probably sincere, too, in feeling that he's in love with you.

But what happens sooner or later? He is discharged from the Army and goes back to his home town — perhaps with the best intentions of returning to you.

But first he visits some of the people he knew in civilian life—his friends, women closer to his own age. And he begins to think: What am I doing, accepting responsibility for four children and for a woman considerably older than I am?

In his absence, you may miss him. But you adjust. And, you begin to see all of the pitfalls involved in such a marriage. With him no longer at your side, your doubts begin to increase.

I'm not saying this is an impossible situation. I say that all of the factors I have mentioned are very real barriers. —MM.

DEAR MRS. MAYFIELD:

About a month ago, my mother brought a 21-year-old guy home from church to meet my 17-year-old sister. I am only 14. My sister, who is very pretty and popular, seems to like him a lot. But he and I have a great liking for one another. I know my parents and my sister would be quite upset if they found out. What do you think I should do?—J.P.

DEAR J. P.:

Nothing. You've probably mistaken politeness for friendship or something greater. He undoubtedly likes you, but I can't believe he'd take a 14-year-old in romantic preference to a pretty 17-year-old. So don't make a fool of yourself and don't get your feelings hurt.—MM.

This feature appears daily in the Press-Telegram.

Family Fetes Goldenweds

Thirteen members of their family honored Mr. and Mrs. Roy L. Harris at a dinner party at the Wilton Hotel Saturday, celebrating the couple's 50th wedding anniversary.

The Harrises, who reside at 3805 E. 2nd St., were married April 27, 1907, in North Bend, Neb. Mr. Harris was in the wholesale grocery business for 40 years in Omaha before he and his wife moved to Long Beach in 1950.

Among those feting the goldenweds were their two sons, Richard of Long Beach and George of North Hollywood; three grandchildren, Susan, Pamela and Patricia; Mr. Harris' sister, Mrs. Cora Smith, and Mrs. Harris' cousin, Mrs. J. A. Farnsworth, and her son, Don.

Violet Show to Feature New Varieties

"Treasure Chest of Violets" is the theme of the annual African Violet Show, scheduled to open Tuesday at 12 noon and run through Wednesday evening, at Norway Hall, 7th and Redondo. The show is sponsored by the African Violet Society of Long Beach. There is no admission charge.

The public is invited to attend and to enter violet plants. It is not necessary to be a member of the African Violet Society in order to enter competition. The individual having just one beautiful African Violet plant in full bloom has the same opportunity to win a ribbon as the fan who grows many varieties, say officials.

Each entry must carry the name of the exhibitor and the name of the variety on the bottom of the container. Two trophies, the National African Violet Society Gold and Purple Ribbons, as well as Blue, Red and White ribbon awards will be made for first, second and third in each class.

Mrs. Helen Koran, president of the Long Beach African Violet Society, promises many new and especially lovely varieties will be shown this year, among them "Pink Petticoats," to be shown for the first time; "Viola May," a new seedling grown by Clarence Wilson of Bellflower and named for his wife, and "Perky Pink," a seedling with a huge double pink bloom, grown by John Rymer of Bellflower. Mrs. Ethel Thalheimer of Long Beach will show two species of seedlings exhibited for the first time: St. Paula Goatzeanna and St. Paula Shumensis. These are just a few of the new and different varieties the public may expect to see at the show — all grown by local amateur growers.

"Dr." R. E. Atkinson, who gained a large following throughout the Southland when appearing on the TV program, "The Plant Doctor," will emcee the show, presenting awards to winning entries. Door prizes, donated by various firms and individuals, will be given away through both days and evenings.

Co-chairmanning the event are Mrs. Viola Wilson of Bellflower and Mrs. Irene Coursan and Mrs. Amy Vogel of Long Beach. Working with them are Mrs. Florence Mitchell, in charge of plant sales; Mrs. Ethel Thalheimer and Mrs. Carolyn Rector in charge of entries and classifications; Mr. and Mrs. John Rymer, hospitality; Mrs. Alice Puryear, in charge of the Opportunity Table, and Mrs. Golda Overberg in charge of the snack bar. Mrs. Blanche Gallagher, Los Angeles, assisted with the schedules.

Bechtel-Fillman Vows to Be Solemnized May 29

Belmont Heights Methodist Church will be setting May 29 for the marriage ceremony uniting Mary Jacqueline Fillman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. August J. Fillman of Wilmington, with Lt. (jg) Richard N. Bechtel, son of Mr. and Mrs. Leonard L. Bechtel of Marion, Ohio.

Betrothal of the popular young couple was revealed to 35 friends of the bride-elect during a party at her home, 56 Park Ave. Guests received miniature packets of rice inscribed with "Dick and Jackie" and "Save 'til May 29."

Miss Fillman is an elementary teacher at Birney School and a member of Spinsters. She was graduated cum laude from San Francisco State College at which time she affiliated with Alpha Delta Kappa, honorary teachers sorority.

Her fiance now is serving as engineering officer on the staff of Commander Landing Ship Squadron Seven in Long Beach, and is a graduate of the Ohio State University at Columbus. He is registered in Ohio as an architect and is a member of Alpha Rho Chi Fraternity.

Why Grow Old?

While Mood of Spring Is Upon Us, Trim the Figure!

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

Spring has a special feel and smell and sound all its own. Like an unusual dish which has a subtle and provocative flavor, the mood of spring is difficult to analyze. However, in its ensemble of sound we can recognize the gentle patter of rain on a roof, children's voices raised in gladness at being outdoors again, the twittering and singing of birds and the roar of vacuum cleaners!

When nature begins to redo herself, we women are seized with an intense urge toward housecleaning and house decoration. Spring cleaning is as familiar a part of this season as spring fever.

This is a time of bewilderment for the man of the house. Even though he sees it happen over and over again, he always is disturbed when the far away but zealous look of a crusader suddenly appears on the face of his wife.

He is living dangerously but he does not know it! No matter how long a man has been married, he never is prepared for the hurricane of self-improvement which spring and spring house cleaning set off in his lady. Even he may be dragged into it as a fringe effect!

There is something about spring which sets off a chain reaction in self improvement. It is a rebirth, a return to a younger outlook and a more youthful appearance.

I know just how you feel. Once we have spruced up our house and gotten rid of some of the clutter and dust, we want to fit into the picture. Why remain cluttered ourselves — with those extra pounds?

You can lose from 5 to 10 pounds in nine days time if you follow my 9-Day Reducing Diet. The handy, 9-Day Diet booklet is available through this column. Just send 10 cents and a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for it. Address Josephine Lowman in care of the Press-Telegram.

In the booklet are listed menus for nine days. If you adhere to these menus, and follow the diet directions, you'll find that you won't have to squeeze into the picture of spring—you'll fit in nicely, minus those extra 5 or 10 pounds.

Try New Styles

The best time to find out how you'll look in a new hairdo is while your hair is lathered with shampoo. No matter how you arrange it then, it will stay in place long enough for you to get an idea of whether or not you like the style.

Sorority Will Honor Founders

PRIDE AND PLEASURE will mark reactions of Beta Sigma Phi members when they meet at their Founders Day banquet to hear a review of their philanthropic accomplishments and to enjoy a program of entertainment. Carefully planning to make the evening memorable are (from left) Wilma Wright, Mrs. A. W. Annderson, Lucylle Kuecks, Lucile Kennedy and Mrs. Louis J. Gillespie.

To commemorate the 26th anniversary of Beta Sigma Phi, international sorority dedicated to social, cultural and philanthropic interests, the Long Beach City Council, numbering 17 chapters and 400 members, will give a formal banquet Tuesday at the Pacific Coast Club.

Hostesses for the affair will be members of Xi Alpha Kappa chapter, of which Miss Lucylle Kuecks is president. Mrs. Anita Christensen is general chairman; assisting her are Mmes. James Fawcett, Hal E. Moore, Lyle Walker and Robert Crum, and Misses Wilma Wright and Lucile Kennedy.

Receiving particular attention as a guest of honor will be an honorary member of the hostess chapter, Mrs. Louis J. Gillespie, who will also give the invocation.

Others who will take part in the program are Mmes. Anita Christensen, John Coleman, Moore, Walter Creasey, Ralph Gillbreath and Byran Ward, president of the council. Mrs. A. W. Anderson has arranged entertainment to be presented by the Arcadia Barber Shop Chorus.

Organized March 27, 1944 with 60 members in five chapters, the Long Beach City Council has expanded to its present size in the Long Beach-Lakewood area.

Members worked diligently to collect $1,700 during the recent Cancer Drive and this year contributed $1,000 to the Sister Kenny Memorial Hospital in El Monte. Other philanthropies include the Cystic Fibrosis Research Foundation at Los Angeles Childrens Hospital, Exceptional Childrens Fund, International Cancer Research and an International Endowment Fund.

NEW BRIDE

In Dominguez Community Methodist Church Charlotte Ann Holt, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Layton L. Holt of Long Beach, became the bride of Reece L. Moors Jr., of Nagadoches, Tex. Both young persons are graduates of Banning High School; the bridegroom attends Harbor Junior College.

Delta Gamma Tea Thursday to Spark School Fund Drive

"May Day for Remembrance" will be traditional theme for the coffee hour planned by Delta Gamma alumnae when they meet at 10:30 a. m. Thursday at the home of Mrs. Gerald Secord, 5431 El Parque. Assisting the hostess will be Mmes. C. Roy Conn, Noble Hines, and W. G. Hein.

A yearly event on the Delta Gamma calendar, the May coffee hour is timed to coincide with and to emphasize the fund drive for the Los Angeles Nursery School for Visually Handicapped Children. The school, which receives its complete support from Southern California Delta Gammas and their friends, accepts children from 3 years to the first grade level.

At the time of its founding, the only other nursery school for blind children existed in Boston. In October, 1938, the Los Angeles school opened, with three pupils enrolled on a day basis. Twenty-two pupils are in residence now, with several more attending the school as day pupils. In addition to the pre-school classes, a cradle club for younger babies and monthly parents meetings are conducted by the school.

An advisory board with a member from each of the Delta Gamma Alumnae Chapters in Southern California assists the school administrators. Mrs. W. L. Sadler represents the Long Beach Alumnae Chapter.

Alpha Phi

Mrs. Scott Gillespie, 44 59th Pl. will open her home Wednesday to Long Beach alumnae of Alpha Phi. Members will gather at 7:30 p.m. for a business meeting and dessert hour.

Your Baby & Mine

HELEN LEE IS THE fairy godmother of every little girl lucky enough to be in the 3 to 6x size range. A designer with a real understanding of their tastes and imaginings, she knows they like colors (thinks every one of them should have at least one red number) and feels that they're happier in clothes that do things. So here is one that does many things. The basic dress has three buttons across the waist front that are either decoration or the means for fastening the oval-shaped and gored apron. Or over the basic can go the rick-rack trimmed pinafore, open to the waist and tied with long streamers. Make collars and cuffs, apron or pinafore in linen, pique or organdy with chambray gingham, batiste, broadcloth or novelty cottons for the dress.

Sizes	Bust	Waist	Hips	Length From Nape of Neck to Waist
3	23	21	23 in.	9 in.
4	24	22	24 in.	9½ in.
5	25	23	25 in.	10 in.
6	26	24	26 in.	10½ in.
6x	26½	24½	26½ in.	10¾ in.

Size 4 requires 1⅝ yards of 36-inch material for dress and 2½ yards of 36-inch material for contrast. To order Pattern No. A-2042, state size; enclose $1.00. Address PERSONALIZED PATTERNS, P.O. Public Relations Workshops Set

Most effective ways to interpret an organization to the public will be demonstrated in a four-week public relations workshop beginning Friday at Business and Technology Division, Long Beach City College.

Editors of daily, weekly and semi-weekly newspapers, a radio executive, photographer and public relations directors will share their skills in the classroom.

Registration for the four week Friday afternoon class may be made in Room 117 on the institute campus, 1305 E. Pacific Coast Hwy. The workshop course is free and open to the public.

Georgiana Hardy to Address Group

Mrs. Georgiana Hardy, member of the Los Angeles Board of Education and a participant on the weekly TV show, "Cavalcade of Books," will be guest speaker at a 12:30 p. m. meeting Tuesday sponsored by the Women's Planning Committee of Southern California at the Pasadena Women's City Clubhouse, 180 N. Oakland.

Mrs. Hardy has just returned from the first commencement for International Christian University in Tokyo and will bring a report on the university's progress since organization. Long Beach members on the sponsoring committee are Mrs. Marvin DeVries and Miss Dorothy Smith.

Reciprocity

Allied Arts International and Guild of Women Composers will stage a combined reciprocity for members of the Presidents Club at 8 p.m. Friday at Pacific Coast Club. A musical program is planned.

Time for 'Clean-up'

By MYRTLE MEYER ELDRED

The end of the week and it's desk-cleanup time. Mrs. R. J. S., the "canvas seat" mentioned by the mother with a cerebral palsied child is not a special chair made for the purpose of upholding such a child in its efforts to walk—but just any light chair, upholstered in canvas, and with arms.

This was easy for the child to carry around behind him and when he fell he fell into the seat. Nothing special about the chair, just the use to which it was put. Try buying any canvas chair at any furniture store.

Mrs. J. P. M., it is sweet of you and your friends to want me to deal in the column with the problems of the older child. I do occasionally get up to 10 years. But this department is geared to the infant and young child and so to change its nature would be to interfere with other columns dealing with older children. I do think the policies which work with younger children such as love, interest, patience, understanding are just as applicable to the older child. Children are children until they are grown.

This is addressed to the mother who sent me a stamped envelope and the name of one of her friends and asked me to send material to this other person over my signature. This is an impossible thing to do. If you had signed your name I could have said, "Mrs. So and So wishes you to have some of this material," but unless I could do this, it is an impertinence for me to send anyone advice unless it is asked for.

This feature appears daily in the Press-Telegram.

Among Career Women

An Installation, a Contest and Bosses' Hospitality All 'Tops'

By ANNE GILCHRIST

An exotic Polynesian theme, in decorations and program, was carried out by Long Beach Quota Club for its installation dinner meeting Monday night in the Coral Room at Brower's Restaurant.

Virginia Youngquist (office manager, Robert S. Moore Oil Well Supplies Co.) accepted the president's gavel from Marguerite Wood, installing officer and charter president of the service women's club.

Taking office with Mrs. Youngquist were Helen Cameron, first vice president; Marjorie Haston, second vice president; Ann Rogers, secretary; and Ruth Peterson, treasurer. Directors installed were Fern Bruce and Erline Heartwell, for two-year terms; Elsie Loper and Rada Metcalfe, one-year terms.

Connie Brown, program chairman, presented Mrs. Ethel Reiman, a native of Hawaii, who accompanied her amusing talk, "The Art of Hawaiian Dancing," with clever songs and hula interpretations.

Rita Phipps, retiring president, was presented with the jeweled past president's pin and an exquisite bracelet of cut crystal, both given with sincere affection and appreciation.

The meeting was closed with the benediction by Wanda Frey Joiner, national founder of Quota, a special guest of the evening, one of many prominent Quotarians visiting from other Southland clubs.

Nominee for Honors

Doris Anderson has been nominated by the Long Beach Chapter of the National Assn. of Legal Secretaries to represent the local group in a contest to select the outstanding legal secretary of the year which will be conducted at national convention in Las Vegas in July.

The nominee has been a legal secretary for more than 22 years, ten of which have been in the offices of Ball, Hunt & Hart, Long Beach. She has served in many offices of the local club, including president, on state committees and as national representative for this club.

Bosses Entertain

In the fall the secretaries honor their bosses.

In the spring the bosses entertain their secretaries.

These are the two "big" events in the year's social activities of Queen Beach Chapter, National Secretaries Assn. It was the secretaries' turn to be honored Thursday night when the bosses were hosts at a "red carpet" dinner in the Cavalier Room of the Lafayette Hotel.

Named "Firm Night," this annual affair is given during nationally proclaimed National Secretaries Week, which ended yesterday.

N. R. Dumont was chairman of the handsomely arranged party and was assisted by Police Chief William Dovey, Richard J. Seltzer, W. K. Palmer and Dr. M. M. Haskell.

Days of Forty-Niners

LONG BEACH STATE COLLEGE EVENTS

by PLACER MINER

Busy, busy, busy—that's the watchword at Long Beach State College these days as the school year swings into the home stretch. So many things are taking place that we sometimes wonder how anyone can have any time to spend on his books. But good students that they are, we know Long Beach Staters are budgeting time for study along with their other activities.

Perhaps most of the energy expended in recent weeks went into our eighth annual 49er Day which we celebrated this past Friday. This day of fun and frolic centered around the 1849 theme which is traditional at LBSC. Booths, contests, eats and what-have-you, in the style of the Gold Rush days were on the agenda. Fay Krater was 49er Day chairman.

Another event which involved a great deal of student planning was yesterday's inter-collegiate student government workshop at LBSC. Sixteen four-year colleges in our area sent delegations which discussed student government from a dozen different angles. This is the second large inter-collegiate gathering which State has hosted this semester; we think it is a feather in the caps of our student leaders that they can sponsor such successful meetings.

The social side of our college is busy, too. Last night Sigma Phi fraternity had its Orchid Ball, and next Saturday is the date when two more Greek groups stage their formal affairs. The Sigma Kappa sorority will be at the Moulin Rouge and the Phi Kappa Tau fraternity will gather at the Greenbrier Inn.

With the accent still on activity, we take note of the Alpha Kappa Psi initiation today from 3 to 7 p. m., the Panhellenic workshop in the Soroptimist House, also today; an Associated Women Students coke hour next Tuesday noon in the Soroptimist House; and a Delta Zeta province conference next weekend at UCLA.

For those who would reverse the old adage, "less talk and more action," there was something last week too. For instance, they could hear Dr. Roy Heinz discuss "Hypnosis—Its Uses and Abuses." Or they could attend a panel discussion, "An Alcoholic Looks at Alcoholism." Or they could attend the latest in the "This I Believe" series and hear Dr. Samuel E. Wiley speak on his personal religious beliefs.

Yup! There's one thing we'll say about Long Beach State: our school has variety.

Tale end of the owl. Our readers will be saddened (or is it gladdened) to learn that Sigma Alpha Epsilon fraternity and their publicity-crazy owl have parted company for good. The bird, which had been painted, birdnaped, buried in the sand, and tarred and feathered during its short sojourn with the SAE's, has had enough; it is now on its way to Texas with the landlord. So now the fraternity is searching for another pet. This time they hope to find a cement lion to serve as their mascot. And when they get it, says an SAE spokesman, they will see that it is "steal proof." Ah, well, the SAE's can dream, can't they?

Today, about 50 members of the Newman Club, Catholic student group, are at Pius X High School in Hollydale for their annual day of recollection. Father William Barry, chaplain of the USC Newman Club, is serving as retreat master. Last Thursday the Newmanites had their installation dinner. Heading the club for the coming year is president Yvonne DeGree.

As long as we started our column on a busy theme, we'll end it that way by saying a word or two about one of the busiest outfits here at State — the Industrial Arts Club. Tomorrow night will see a large number of this 155-member club over at the Business and Technical Division of Long Beach City College where they will play an important part in the current Public School Week. Since late last week members of the club have been assisting industrial arts students in the Long Beach high schools and junior high schools with their displays, transporting them, setting them up, helping with the display, etc.

Card Party Will Benefit Kenny Work

Mrs. William A. Thornton, 2271 Pepperwood Ave., will open her home at noon Tuesday for a benefit bridge-canasta party to be given by the Sister Kenny Auxiliary. Mrs. Walter D. Brown and Mrs. Wallace C. Askew will be cohostesses and Mrs. Lester B. Cooper, president, will greet guests.

Assisting will be Mmes. Fred R. Schwartz, Frank Ellsworth, Robert C. Fussell and Thomas Carr. Members and friends of the auxiliary are invited to make reservations with Mmes. Gertrude Winslow, Alex Johnson or E. H. Bennett.

During a brief business session the nominating committee will report and changes in the by-laws will be suggested.

The Sister Kenny Hospital, at 4039 Gilman Rd., El Monte, serves all Southern California and welcomes visits from organizations and individuals to view their rehabilitation program. Nerve and muscular diseases are treated in addition to polio.

All funds earned by the auxiliary are allocated to the support of the rehabilitation work.

Reciprocity Tea Slated by Exceptional Children Group

For the sixth successive year the Exceptional Children's Foundation will honor with a reciprocity tea those persons who have supported the foundation during the past.

On Friday from 2 to 4 p.m. guests will visit the Long Exceptional Children's Foundation training center at 4519 E. Stearns St. to be greeted warmly by mothers of youngsters enrolled and by the staff.

Guests will learn that faith is the year's theme of the foundation. Groups and individuals who have aided the Foundation so that it may continue training and providing recreation for those mentally retarded children not provided for in the local public school program will be complemented.

Mrs. W. W. Catherwood is general chairman. In charge of refreshments are Mmes. L. D. Englehart and Shirley Lewis. Mrs. Raymond Stevens and Mrs. Englehart are responsible for decorations.

Past presidents of the Foundation who will pour are Mmes. Albert Horn, Ven Fahrney, Malcolm Todd, Kenneth Young, Ralph Ogden and Raymond Stevens, current president.

15 Painters Show at Museum of Art

By VERA WILLIAMS
Independent, Press-Telegram Art Editor

"Re-View '57," the exhibition of Long Beach State College art students' work, closes today, and two new exhibitions will open this week in Long Beach Museum of Art, 2300 E. Ocean Blvd.

(The City Council, on the recommendation of the Municipal Arts Commission, recently changed the name from the Municipal Art Center to the Long Beach Museum of Art.)

"Fifteen American Painters," which will open Friday, features new work of painters who have achieved national recognition. Artists will include Clinton Adams, Leonard Edmondson, Keith Finch, Leon Goldin, Robert Irwin, James Jarvaise, John Paul Jones, Paul Julian, Roger Kuntz, Douglas McClellan, John McLaughlin, Kenneth Nack, Orrell Reed, Howard Warshaw and Jack Zajac.

Biographies of the 15 painters, with records of their major awards and reproductions of their work will be published in a catalogue.

A Pasadena Art Museum loan collection of drawings and paintings by Paul Klee will open Saturday. In the 17 years since Klee's death, his reputation has grown steadily. In five years, the value of his paintings has increased tenfold.

The spring juried exhibition, sponsored by the Long Beach Art Assn., will open next Sunday. Artists are invited to submit original oils, watercolors, pastels, tempera, drawings and prints in the competition, which will be judged by Rex Brandt, who has won 50 prizes and awards.

A purchase award will be added to the permanent collection of the Long Beach Museum of Art.

Hours are Tuesday through Saturday, 10 a. m. to 5 p. m.; Sunday, 1 to 5 p. m.; closed Monday.

By popular request, the showing of 25 oils by Don Prokopowich, 21-year-old Long Beach artist, will be continued for three weeks in The Studio, 1009 Ximeno Ave., it is announced by Doug MacFadden, owner of The Studio. Landscapes and abstractions, many with a surrealist quality, make up the show. Hours are 9 a. m. to 5 p. m. week days, closed Sunday.

Two pieces of T'ang Buddhist sculpture and two examples of early Chinese ceramic ware, purchased from the recent T'ang Dynasty exhibition, plus drawings, prints and paintings by Derain, Baldung Grien, Combiaso and Francheschini have just been presented to the Los Angeles County Museum. They are shown in the Recent Accessions Gallery of the Museum, which is located in Exposition Park, Los Angeles.

May exhibits in the Laguna Beach Art Gallery will include the annual all media, non-juried exhibition of members of the Laguna Beach Art Assn.; a traveling exhibition of the Print Makers Society of California, and interpretations of the Pacific by 10 marine artists.

One week remains in which to see "The Family of Man," more than 500 pictures taken in 68 lands by 273 photographers, shown in the Municipal Art Gallery, Barnsdall Park, Los Angeles. The exhibit may be seen from 1 to 9 p. m. daily through next Sunday.

Tenor Will Sing Today

A recital by Long Beach tenor George Griffith, accompanied by Raymond McFeeters, will be presented today at 4 p.m., at the Long Beach Museum of Art, 2300 E. Ocean Blvd. A wide variety of selections has been chosen for the program, including well known arias, popular ballads and folk music.

An accomplished artist, Griffith has studied with Armand Tokatyan and John Charles Thomas. He was graduated from the University of Wichita and received his master's degree from the University of Southern California. At present he is a faculty member of the Music Academy of the West in Santa Barbara and is a teacher in the Long Beach public school system. McFeeters, well known pianist, has performed in many concerts and recitals in Southern California.

A reception at 3:30 p.m. is planned at the Museum of Art preceding the concert. Serving as hostess will be Mrs. E. B. Leihammer. Assisting also will be Mrs. Clark Collard, who has made arrangements for refreshments.

The specially arranged concert is the 13th in the series presented this year at the Museum of Art, is free and open to the public.

Want to Hear Opera on LP?

"It's always the "Opera Season" with the fine LP recordings now available. The Long Beach Public Library calls attention to some of these old favorites on new recordings, Bizet, "Carmen" (Opera-Comique production); Mozart, "Marriage of Figaro" (Glyndebourne Festival Opera Recording); Puccini, "Madame Butterfly" (Licia Albanese, Jan Peerce, etc.); Verdi, "Aida" (Robert Shaw conducting); Verdi, "Falstaff" (Von Karajan conducting) and Verdi, "La Traviata" (Pierre Monteux conducting).

These may be borrowed from the library on a library card.

FAMILY COMEDY

Honestly, parents can be problems sometimes, sniff Jeanne Bruce and Billy Johnson as they eye their stage father and mother, Allen and Arlene Vadnais. They're the family in "Anniversary Waltz," Community Player's comedy opening Friday night.

Playhouse Comedy Seeks 15-Year Weds as Guests

WANTED: Happily-wedded couples who have survived 15 years of marriage, to be guests of Long Beach Community Playhouse on the anniversary of their marriage in 1942. Bring some proof—other than children. Call Community PlayHouse for further information.

Opening Friday, Long Beach Community Players will present the comedy "Anniversary Waltz" at the attractive theater-in-the-round at 5021 E. Anaheim St.

As the story of the play revolves around the fifteenth anniversary of a happily-married couple, the PlayHouse will entertain as guests couples in Long Beach who are in real life celebrating the anniversary.

Three sets of two tickets will be set aside each Thursday, Friday and Saturday nights of the run of the play, beginning Friday, May 3 and ending June 15, for use of such couples, in order of their reservation.

"Anniversary Waltz" has been popular with theatergoers, having played over a year on Broadway in New York, a year and a half on the road tour and 22 weeks in Los Angeles. This is its first release in Southern California for non-professional use.

Allen and Arlene Vadnais, a husband and wife in real life, play the stage husband and wife of Bud and Alice Walters while Phil Hattery, well known to PlayHouse audiences, and Nora Garcin, a newcomer from Canada, are seen in the roles of the father and mother of the wife. The two children of the couple are portrayed by Billy Johnson and Jeanne Bruce.

Others rounding out the cast include Dr. Charles Fabish as the partner and friend of the husband, Valerie Brown as the maid, and two television men respectively.

All seats have been taken over for the opening on Friday by The Previewers, a formal group attending each opening night.

'Carousel' Cast at LBSC

With casting completed, Long Beach State College begins work on its all-school production of "Carousel," Rodgers and Hammerstein's hit musical which will be staged in the Little Theatre, May 28, 29, 30, and June 1.

Cast in the lead roles of Billy Bigelow and Julie Jordan are John Blackmon and Vicky Bradley.

Other principal roles will be handled by Robin Bowler as Carrie; Paula Smith as Mrs. Mullin; Ed Beckstrom as Mr. Bascomb; Willis Brewer as Mr. Snow; Pat Singletary as June Dancer; Alex McConnell as Jigger; Marvalee Moody as Nettie; and Tom Fitzgerald as the first policeman.

The hit musical adapted from Ferenc Molnar's play "Liliom" was first produced on Broadway in 1945.

Its bittersweet plot, transplanted from Hungary to New England, still retains its rascally hero who falls in love, behaves badly, dies, tries to enter heaven, and then returns to earth for a while to learn the deepest meaning of love.

In State College's production, the singing chorus is composed of 24 voices, with 10 in the dancing chorus. The entire show will be accompanied by a 30-piece orchestra.

It is an all-school musical because the cast is chosen from the entire student body, and four departments, drama, music, art, and physical education, are aiding in the staging.

The production staff includes W. David Sievers, stage director; Charles Neiswander, musical director; Susan Fowler, choreographer; John H. Green, settings and technical director; Inge Schmidt, costumer; Joseph Krause, posters, programs and brochures; and John Elliott, stage-manager.

Play Readings

Readings for "The Four Poster" will take place today at 2:30 o'clock at The Theatre, 2400 Magnolia Ave., Pat Brown, director, has announced. The play, which starred Jessica Tandy and Hume Cronyn on Broadway calls for adult men and women. Persons with acting experience are invited to the readings.

Beethoven or Brubeck--- City College Offers Both

Two concerts scheduled for City College's new auditorium this week will run the gamut from classical to modern, or Beethoven to Brubeck.

Under the baton of Dr. Gerald Daniel, the Long Beach City College Symphony will present its first concert of the year Monday starting at 8:30 p.m. in the Lakewood campus auditorium. The program, sponsored by the Evening Liberal Arts Division student body as a part of Public Schools Week, will be open to the public without charge.

Featured works will be "Sinfonettia" by Gordon Jacob, contemporary English composer, and Beethoven's Symphony No. 3, the "Eroica." Also on the program will be Sacchini's "Overture to Semiramide," Jarnefelt's "Praeludium" and "Theme and Variations" by Erich Korngold, noted motion picture composer.

Wednesday night the Dave Brubeck Quartet takes over, in a benefit concert sponsored by the City College Alumni Association and the Associated Men Students. Tickets will be available in advance from music stores in the downtown, North Long Beach and Lakewood areas.

All of the school's share of proceeds from the Brubeck concert will be added to the $1,668 collected during the recent charity drive on the Lakewood campus. One-fourth of the total will go to aid two former City College students whose children have been stricken by cystic fibrosis.

Brazil Film

"Brazilian Expedition," a documentary record of the recent Los Angeles County Museum expedition into the Brazilian jungles, will be shown in Lecture Hall 100, Long Beach State College, at 7:30 p. m. Wednesday. The film is in color and was made by the same group which produced "Baranca de Cobre."

Collette Quartet

Buddy Collette, noted modern jazz composer and performer, and his quartet will be featured at the sixth annual festival of the arts of the First Unitarian Church of Los Angeles Saturday at 8 p. m.

Speaker Systems Still in Stage of Transition

By PRESTON McGRAW
United Press Staff Correspondent

The perfect speaker system would be a single element—in other words, one speaker with a flat response reaching below and above what the human ear can hear.

So far, there isn't any such such thing. The most acceptable substitute is separating the audible range into two or three parts and reproducing it on two or three specially built speakers. There are even some four-way systems.

At the point of crossover between two speakers, both speakers are producing a single tone. This provides a fertile ground for distortion and the more crossover points there are in a system, the more margin for error.

One of the senior speaker manufacturers, Altec, is dead-set against going beyond a two-way system, though most of its competitors do in their fanciest equipment.

The top high fidelity speaker in Altec's high fidelity stable is the 820c, a corner system in a bass reflex cabinet.

It has one point of crossover—at 800 cycles per second—using two 15-inch woofers to reproduce frequencies from 800 cps down to 30 cps, and a high frequency driver and horn to reproduce frequencies from 800 to 22,000 cps.

The 820c, in the luxury class pricewise, also is a high frequency unit that can be operated admirably on 20 watts. Altec claims it deplores the current trend towards systems using low-frequency speakers because of a proportionately greater bass response.

Possibly the biggest bargain among Altec speakers, without considering appearance, is the A-7.

It employs the same high frequency driver and horn that the 820c does, but uses only one 15-inch woofer. These two elements, with a crossover at 800 cps, are mounted in a cabinet of black-painted wood.

This so-called "utility" cabinet is advertised for use in custom installations, since it is not a corner job. If a high fidelity fan can get his wife to accept it, there is no good reason why he couldn't use the A-7 like any other finished enclosure.

It takes a little more than casual listening to detect the difference between the 820c and the A-7, although the 820c costs almost twice as much.

But there is a difference. The 820c has five more cps at the low end of the audio spectrum, which makes it sound differently all along the line.

Because of the greater bass response on the 820c, the attenuation on the top end of the crossover is set at zero. The top end on the crossover on the A-7 is attenuated at 4 decibels.

Since there is not as much bass on the A-7, the attenuation is necessary to provide an over-all flat response.

Chef of the Week

Sound the Sirens for Missouri Chili 'n' Beans!

By MILDRED K. FLANARY
Press-Telegram Home Economics Editor

He can say in the most pleasant of voices . . . "Well, now, Maaaaaam, I was born in Segrada, Mo., the heart of the Ozark mountains." And Chef of the Week Don Bowers, has merged the same easy manner into the conductance of his ambulance service, too.

The first 17 years of his life were spent in the "show me" state, alternating his "business life" between his dad's ranch and his grocery store.

Then along came the year '34, and the big depression, when even the beauty of the Ozarks could no longer feed-the-soul-of-man, so he came west to visit a brother and sister in Long Beach. Right off, he found himself behind the wheel of an ambulance with the siren going full blast. Four years later he hung out his own shingle, and went into business for himself.

Though he's primed for a 24-hour take-off, the main part of his business has to do with supplying oxygen, medical gases, sick room supplies —and when the stork outfumbles all available equipment in the hospitals, he'll even come up with an incubator.

Though he considers himself a hardy pioneer, on his last horseback trip to the desert, the wind blew, and our "chef" stuck strictly to his sleeping bag while the others rode. He will, without encouragement, revert to his days back at the ole swimmin' hole —and he'd rather fish than eat. He'll rarely ever tell you about the 50 lb. Missouri cat fish which "coaxed" HIM into the water, or about the closest he ever came to snaring a salmon. He hooked himself in the back of the head, we're told.

When it comes to training a Little League Baseball team, he's as capable as they come. His own son, 11, of course is a member, while daughter, 14, is usually in the rooting section.

A Rotarian, Bowers also serves as president of the Southern California Ambulance Assn.

"Chef" Bowers is never known to be still for a moment, but he will stand still for a good batch of Chili 'n' Beans, Missouri Style. You will, too, after you've tried his recipe.

Chili 'n' Beans
Missouri Style

1 lb. pink beans
2½ lbs. ground round
½ lb. suet
1 large Spanish onion
1 10-oz. can Las Palmas red chili sauce
1 8-oz. can tomato sauce
1 oz. chili powder

Cook beans over low heat until tender. Dice onion and brown in melted suet. Drain and add to beans. Fry ground round in balance of suet and add to beans. Add chili sauce, tomato sauce and salt to taste. Simmer for few minutes. Serve with crisp crackers.

School Menus

Macaroni Dish Heads Tasty Fare

The following menus will be served in Long Beach Elementary Schools in the week of April 29-May 3, 1957:

MONDAY: Macaroni and cheese supreme, chopped spinach, molded peach and grapefruit salad, peanut butter sandwich and milk.

TUESDAY: Chopped steak on mashed potatoes, garden peas, apple cheese crisp with whipped cream, whole wheat bread and butter and milk.

WEDNESDAY: Creole noodles, tossed green salad, chocolate pudding with marshmallow garnish, peanut butter sandwich and milk.

THURSDAY: Cheese top burger, cut green beans, fresh fruit cup, flying saucer cookie and milk.

FRIDAY: Baked haddock, fresh carrots, orange juice, whole wheat bread and butter and milk.

The above items make up the Elementary children's lunch 25c. Soup and salad from the Junior-Senior High School a la carte menu are sold in the Elementary Schools, but they may be purchased by the children only after they have purhcased the tray lunch.

JUNIOR AND SENIOR HIGH

MONDAY: Creole noodles with parmesan cheese, peas, spicy applesauce with whipped cream, twist roll with butter and milk.

TUESDAY: Barbecued beef on bun, coleslaw, fruit cup supreme, cheese slice and milk.

WEDNESDAY: Hot meat loaf sandwich, mashed potatoes with gravy, fresh fruit gelatin with whipped cream and milk.

THURSDAY: Pizza pie, cut green beans, frozen peach cobbler with whipped cream, buttered French bread and milk.

FRIDAY: Baked filet of haddock, or meat biscuit roll with gravy, mashed potatoes, tossed green salad with sour cream dressing, whole wheat bread and butter and milk.

Police Wives

At their annual friendship meeting Wednesday at 7:30 p.m. in the Mounted Police Clubhouse, Long Beach Police Wives Auxiliary will stage a fashion show. Wives of all police officers are invited; the auxiliary will arrange transportation.

Worry Clinic

Apply 'Horse Sense' to Interpretation of the Bible

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

Case U-366: Dr. Hall is a dentist, aged 42, whose wife belongs to a church that condemns all other religions as of no consequence.

"She says all other churches are simply anti-Christ," he began, "and not based on the Bible at all.

"Her religion says we must study and fast and prepare for the next coming of Christ. "And we are to read the Bible diligently so that we will be ready for the New Age.

Dr. Crane, as a fellow scientist, what do you think of such doctrines?"

* * * *

MOST OF YOU regular readers of this column probably know by now that I am a lifelong Bible Class teacher. And I had read the Bible from cover to cover eight times before I even finished high school.

Moreover, I have addressed church conventions and ministerial meetings of a dozen of the major faiths. So don't jump to hasty conclusions about the following paragraphs or go off half-cocked and deluge your editor with red hot letters of criticism.

The leaders of most of our churches recognize that the Bible is the textbook of ethics by which mankind has slowly evolved from the jungle philosophy of "might makes right" to the new doctrine of the Golden Rule.

But some biased souls lose perspective and confuse "form" with "substance."

In other words, they now worship the Bible instead of God.

The Bible is just an educational tool or instrument by which God tries to lead us toward a higher plane of living so that ultimately we can make earth so heavenly that only a short step will intervene.

The Bible was inspired of God and very consecrated men tried to interpret God to their age and generation, but they saw God through their own eyes.

* * * *

MOSES THUS may have witnessed a big Egyptian feast, followed next day by many deaths.

So he reasoned that their misery must have come from what they ate. And the meat course was probably roast pork. So Moses may have logically decided to protect his people by vetoing all hog meat thereafter. But Abraham, Isaac, Jacob and Joseph during the 400 years prior to Moses apparently ate hog meat with no ill effects.

And nowadays, when government meat inspectors weed out any trichinosis infected hog, we realize what Moses was trying to do in the age before microscopes and modern scientific meat testing made pork safe.

If God wanted to indict all pork, why didn't he do it for Abraham and not wait 400 years till Moses?

Moses also announced that "eye for an eye and tooth for a tooth" doctrine, which was a great legal milestone in human civilization. For prior to that limitation of punishment to fit the crime, the strong man completely annihilated his weaker neighbor who even accidentally knocked out just one tooth.

Did God order that "eye for an eye" or was that the thinking of Moses who felt he was interpreting God's wishes?

God is also said to have lost His temper and decided to wipe out the Hebrews after the Golden Calf incident, but Moses is reported to have told God:

"Turn from thy fierce wrath and repent of this evil against thy people." (Exodus 32:12). Was that simply the statement of Moses or do you think God actually lost his temper?

In reading the Bible you must thus use "horse sense," for the various writers often ascribed things to God which they may sincerely have believed were true of God in their day, but we now may realize they were wrong.

If God is Truth, then God is eternal, so any supposed Divine laws that now we find are definitely outmoded, must not have been God's views, even though attributed to God by Moses or David or Peter or John or St. Paul.

This feature appears Tuesdays and Thursdays in the Independent.

Oswald Jacoby

Two Ways to Win by Ruffs

East won the opening club lead with the king and continued with the ace and four spot. South ruffed with the ten.

At this point there are two distinct ways to play and make the hand, yet in a recent team match both declarers managed to go down. Here are the correct plays:

Line 1—Lead the jack of diamonds. If West covers, the hand becomes a cinch. If West ducks, let East win the trick. His best defense is to return a trump.

Win this in dummy with the eight. Take the ace of diamonds, the king of spades and the ace of spades in that order. Then trump the third diamond in dummy, the last club in your own hand and the last diamond in dummy. This will give you eight tricks and you will still have a high trump left in your own hand.

Line 2—Play the ace of spades and then the king of spades. Now trump the fourth club in your own hand and lead the jack of spades. East will trump this and return a trump. Win this in your own hand and enter dummy with the ace of diamonds. Now lead the fourth spade and trump it. This will give you seven tricks in and you will still have two high trumps in dummy.

Neither of these plays is hard to find if you approach the play from the problem of getting six trump tricks, two spades and one diamond. In order to get six trump tricks you must either get two ruffs in dummy or three in your own hand.

The first line gets two ruffs in dummy; the second three in your own hand. Both lines depend on the spades going around twice. If spades don't go twice it will be pretty hard to find any winning play at all.

SOUTHLAND TAKES LEAD IN

Conquest of Space

By Bob Whearley

FEW PEOPLE fully realize it, but the Southland is taking the lead in the most ambitious project ever attempted by man: Conquest of space.

From Santa Maria to San Diego, in aircraft plants, in industrial laboratoies and on college campuses, some of the nation's most brilliant scientists daily are tackling the problems that stand in the way of successful space flight.

Their work largely is secret. But recent developments give a good indication of what the future holds.

THE EARTH AND its people will be plunged into that future during the International Geophysical Year (July 1, 1957, to Dec. 31, 1958) when Project Vanguard sends a series of tiny artificial satellites into orbits around the globe.

These satellites will be equipped with special instruments to record extra-atmospheric conditions such as the effects of cosmic radiation and the danger of collision with meteors.

Further along on the tentative table of space conquest come larger satellites, possibly manned space stations. From there, it will be a short step to interplanetary flight. Or so the scientists say.

WHO'LL BUILD the hardware for this budding expedition into outer space?

The Southland has an inside track.

Its biggest industry aircraft manufacture — currently employs about a quarter-million persons in the Long Beach-Los Angeles metropolitan area. Average weekly payroll is $25,000,000.

As man continues to reach out into space, the aircraft business can go only one way—up, both literally and figuratively speaking.

A strong indication of the growing impact of space flight on Southern California's economy was given recently in President Donald W. Douglas' annual report to stockholders of Douglas Aircraft Co.

Increased emphasis on guided missile development resulted in a 40 per cent increase in sales in that division in 1956, Douglas disclosed. Those sales, $140,000,000 worth, added up to 13 per cent of the company's total sales for the year.

Today's guided missiles are the forerunners of the craft which will be carrying instruments, and later man, into outer space within the next few decades.

ANOTHER INDICATION of what the new age of astronautics means can be found in the help-wanted columns of any newspaper in the Southland.

There are thousands of jobs open in the aviation industry. Many of them call for specialties few people had heard about 10 years ago. Specialties like thermodynamics engineering, digital computer programming and hydro-mechanical research.

And it's not just in the help-wanted columns that you find offers of "big pay, full range of benefits" for aeronautics and astronautics specialists. Many aircraft companies run expensive display advertisements on the sports pages.

"Scientists like to read baseball scores, too," said one aircraft industry spokesman. "Besides, the ads stand out more."

BESIDES ACTUAL missile and rocket development, there are scores of allied industries in Southern California which are working on individual parts of the crossword puzzle of space flight.

A Beverly Hills firm is building a vacuum laboratory, and science thinks it can be adapted to simulate conditions of flight into outer space—for testing of both men and equipment.

A Santa Ana laboratory is experimenting in ion propulsion methods, which for years was the exclusive property of science-fiction writers.

A Pasadena metals firm is conducting research into possible materials that might be used for the "skin" and other parts of future space vehicles.

CORRELATING ALL these activities is the Air Force's Western Air Development Command, headquartered at Inglewood.

WADC is commanded by Maj. Gen. Bernard A. Schriever, as much an advocate of space supremacy as Gen. Billy Mitchell was of air supremacy a few short decades ago.

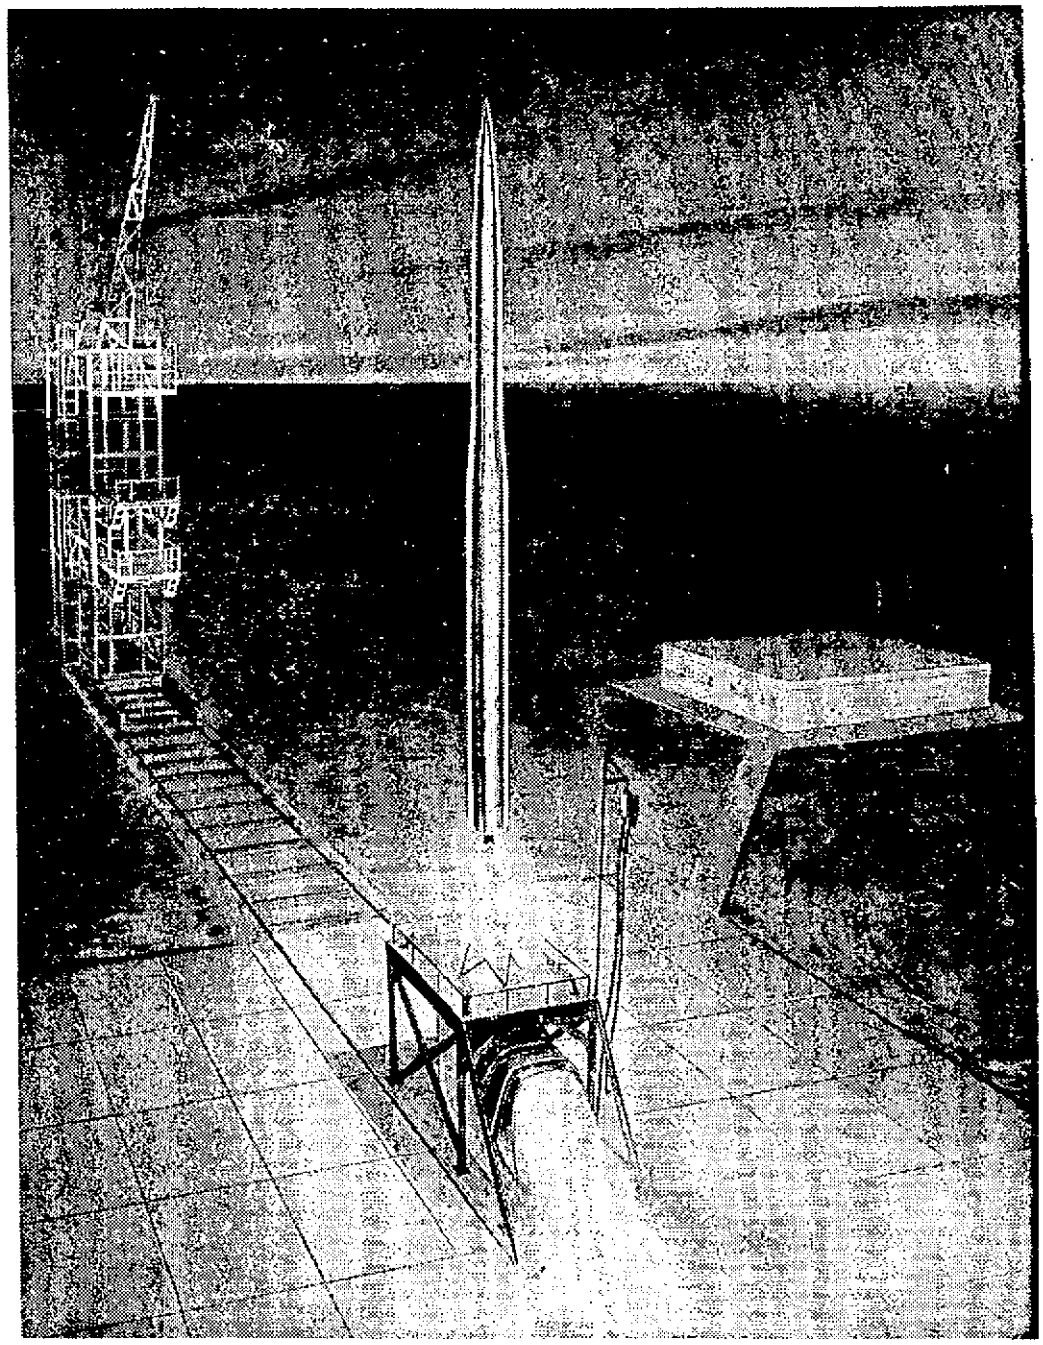

At the recent Astronautics Symposium in San Diego, Schriever told a reporter that man—presumably the American kind—could travel to the moon now, such is the progress that has been made in space research in postwar years.

The matter of just when man does make that flight depends largely "on when he wants to," Schriever added.

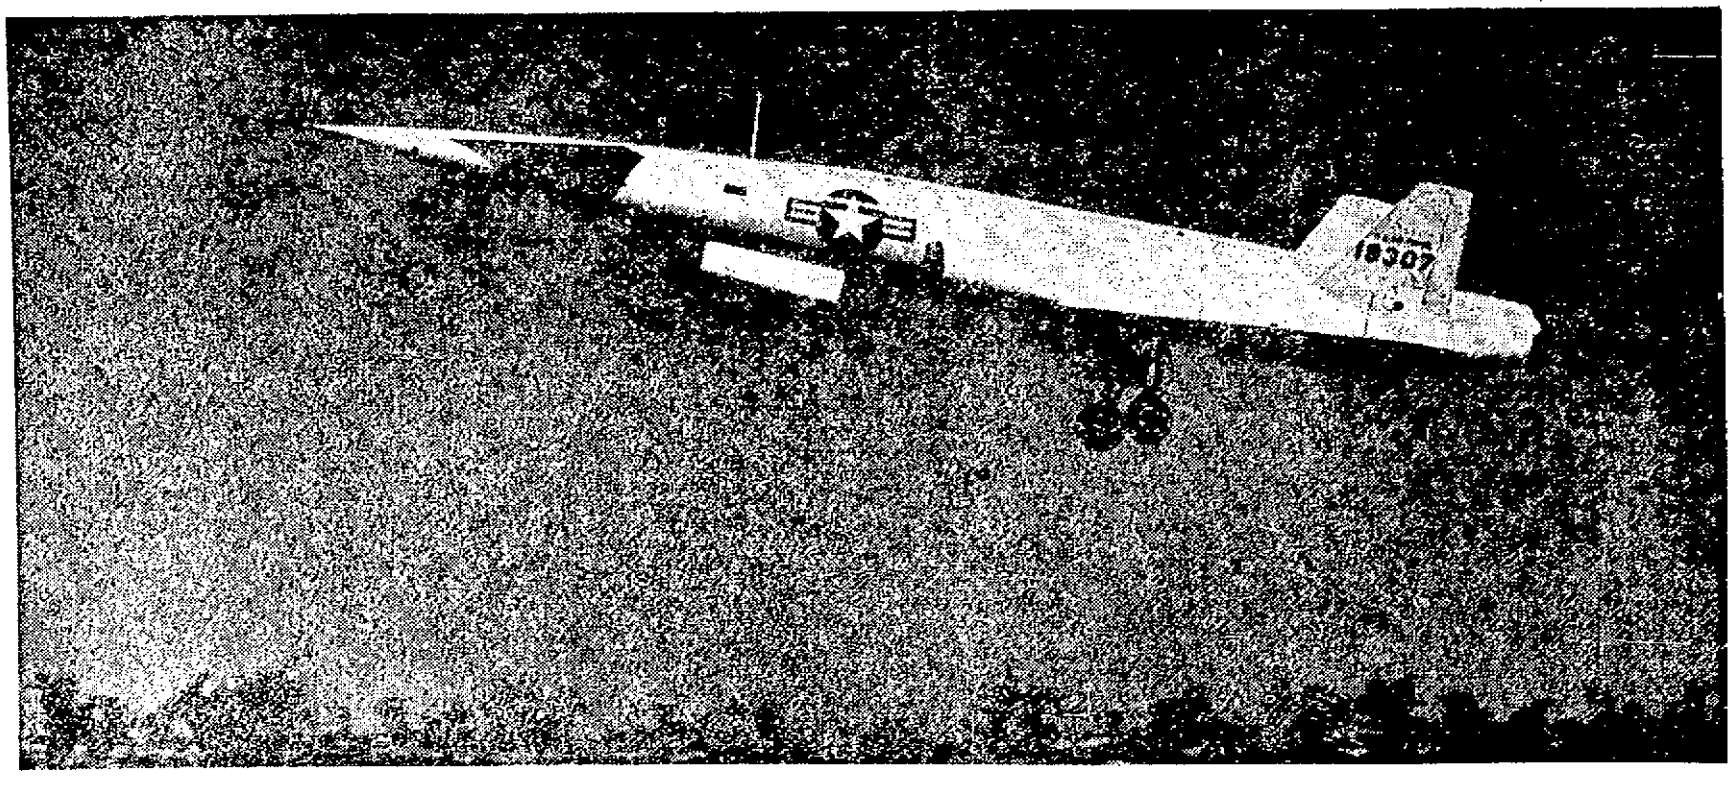

Other scientists estimated that moon landing would come in as soon as five years.

And when it does come, chances are the ship will carry a tag reading:

"Made in Southern California."

Already past its first shakedown tests, the X-10, North American Aviation's unmanned test vehicle, has flown at high supersonic speeds.

Ramona (Dorothy Bailey) and Alessandro (Maurice Jara) live happily in their mountain hut with their baby until Alessandro rides home on a stolen horse.

Jim Farrar (Dusty Bowen) discovers his horse at Alessandro's hut and swears to kill the Indian.

When Alessandro emerges from his little home, Farrar draws a bead on him. History records that the Indian was shot several times even after he had fallen.

After gathering together a posse, Sheriff Merrill (O. E. DeVinna) hunts down Farrar (documented history discloses Farrar gave himself up after shooting).

RAMONA A WITNESS

The Day Alessandro Died

By Hal Wiener

MUCH HAS BEEN written on whether the Ramona Outdoor Play—which celebrates its 30th anniversary season with performances at 2:30 o'clock this afternoon, May 4-5 and May 11 and 12 in the Ramona Bowl in the Hemet-San Jacinto Valley—is fact or fiction.

Whatever dramatic license author Helen Hunt Jackson may have taken to achieve her historical novel, one episode of the drama has documented evidence as to its authenticity. That is the shooting of Alessandro, the Indian hero.

ON THE DOCKET of the San Jacinto Township court is an entry dated "March 24, A.D. 1883," signed by the Justice of the Peace S. V. Tripp. It begins:

"Personally appeared before me Samuel Temple and makes the following statement (namely) that he has this day committed justifiable homicide upon an Indian supposed to be one Juan Diego . . ." Another entry, dated seven days later, concludes with these sentences: "Defendant's counsel makes motion that the defendant be discharged on the ground of justifiable homicide, as no one appeared to prosecute. Motion granted and the prisoner is discharged as it appears that no offense under the law has been committed."

THESE TERSE WORDS are part of the documentary evidence of an incident which was to fire one of America's greatest writers to create her renowned best-seller. Only a few months after the killing of Juan Diego, Helen Hunt Jackson was a guest of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Jordan in San Jacinto, where she conceived the idea for her novel Ramona.

The Indian—Juan Diego—became Alessandro, and the villain who killed him—Sam Temple—became Jim Farrar.

The actual shooting of Juan Diego by Temple was told to Mrs. Jackson by a Miss Sheriff, who was a teacher at the Soboba Indian School. According to this story, here is how it is supposed to have happened.

"A CAHUILLA INDIAN named Juan Diego had built for himself a house and cultivated a small patch of ground on a high mountain ledge a few miles north of the village. Here he lived with his wife and baby. He had been for some years what the Indians call a 'locoed' Indian, being at times crazy, never dangerous, yet certainly insane. His condition was known to the agent, who feared he would be obliged to shut him up if he did not get better.

"Juan had been off to find work at sheep-shearing. He came home at night riding a strange horse. His wife asked him about the horse. Juan looked at the animal and replied confused 'where is my horse?' The woman, much frightened told him to take the horse back, and Juan said he would after he had rested.

"From his sleep he was awakened by the barking of dogs and ran out of the house to see what it meant. The woman followed and was the only witness to what then occurred. A white man named Temple, the owner of the horse, which Juan Compton's big guns are the 90-mm. antiaircraft cannon with which the 234th AAA Battalion batteries are equipped. Sgt. Paul J. Molthen shows this one.

Biggest Little Military City

By George Henderson

COMPTON BIGGEST LITTLE military city in the United States is the title claimed for Compton by the Hub City's chamber of commerce. The saying goes that "Compton is armed to the teeth for defense."

Reason for this is that Compton, with 70,000 population, has three important armories, whereas there are hundreds of cities of the same size with none. A Naval Reserve training station and armory, and Air National Guard and National Guard armories are located here. One mile distant in Lynwood is another National Guard armory.

SHRIEKING SIRENS blast out a red alert and what happens in Compton?

At the Air National Guard armory, 2320 N. Parmalee St., 250 airmen and 19 officers activate their three mobile radar units. These sky-searching units, under the direction of the Air Defense Command, race for mountain hideouts. There, safe from enemy bombers, they lace the skies with electronic fingers, picking up enemy planes on radarscopes, following them on their plotting boards, guiding fighter planes in pursuit by ultra high frequency radio.

The Air Guard, commanded by Lt. Col. Edmund Shaheen and Capt. Noel Paulson would abandon its million dollar federal financed training center of the 148th Aircraft Control and Warning Squadron in case of war and work from hidden locations.

THE SQUADRON trains one weekend a month with its instruments which can reach 12 miles in the air over most of Southern California to locate unidentified aircraft, trace their course on the plotting board, alert fighters of the 162nd Tactical Control Group at Van Nuys to pursue and investigate.

There are six similar squadrons under the 162nd group command, one in Sacramento and others in Washington, Oregon and Colorado.

Recruits are always being sought, not only for radar and radio training but for the motor pool, repair service, mess, supply, teletype, clerical and medical sections.

THE AIR GUARD armory here consists of four large buildings spread over a five-acre site. Antennae on tall towers rise high into the air among the buildings.

Compton's most diversified military establishment is the Naval and Marine Corps Training Station established seven years ago at 600 N. Alameda St.

This attractively landscaped center, with its shops, testing laboratories, rifle range and recruiting stations, always is teeming with activities of the 650 war-trained Navy, Seabee and Marine Corps units.

AFTER LONG months of work in classrooms, wood shops, machine shops, electronic laboratory and other labs, the 330 men and 23 officers of the two USNR divisions on Aug. 23 will go on a two-week cruise on a warship to Honolulu, according to Cmdr. W. W. Madison, station commandant.

They will put into practice what they have been studying all year under the direction of division commanders, Lt. Cmdrs. S. H. Hathaway and J. F. Collins, and Battalion Cmdr. R. J. McKeon. Hathaway's division trains on Thursday nights and Collins' division Tuesday night, each starting at 7:15 p.m.

The 134 enlisted men and six officers of the Marine Corps Reserve commanded by Capt. J. P. Chene, inspector-instructor, and Capt. A. B. Hughes, company commander, get close order drill as well as instruction in classroom, laboratory, rifle range and by motion pictures. They will go on summer encampment for actual battle-type maneuvers June 24-July 6. They train here each Wednesday at 8 p.m.

THE SEABEE construction division of 40 men and five officers meets each Monday at 8 p.m. under the command of Lt. L. J. Robbins, USNR. Their active duty this summer will involve construction work at some port installation, not yet designated.

Least known activity at the center is that of the Naval Reserve Research Company, directed by Lt. Cmdr. M. S. Allen. Periodically Cmdr. Allen

Color TV's Cinderella

By Terry Vernon

Independent, Press-Telegram TV Radio Columnist

FOUR YEARS AGO a slim 17-year-old brunette walked onto the huge stage of London's famed Palladium in the ragged dress of Cinderella. Her voice of astonishing range and perfect pitch, her beauty and irresistible sparkle seemed to suggest that she was created for the role.

Fact of the matter is that Julie Andrews seems to be just that. Her life is a fairy-tale-like story and millions of TV viewers will see her in the "Cinderella" role today in color.

Julie's mother and father were a musical variety team of small fame in England. At the age of 12, Julie joined the act. She had studied dancing and singing and it wasn't long before she was being asked to do solo performances.

ONE SUCH CALL was from Val Parnell, the Palladium boss, and she was signed for a role in the production, "Starlight Roof." There followed two years of traveling throughout the music halls of Great Britain in which she appeared in "Aladdin" and "Humpty-Dumpty." It was these roles that led her inevitably to Cinderella's glass slipper and Prince Charming.

In 1953 she became "Cinderella" on the London stage. This led her to New York in 1954 to play the lead in the Broadway production of "The Boy Friend." However, she didn't get top billing until the show had opened and the critics gave her such vocal ovations that the producers put her name in big lights.

ABOUT THIS TIME Alan Lerner and Frederick Loewe were looking for a girl to star in their musical production "My Fair Lady," based on G. B. Shaw's "Pygmalion." She had a contract with "The Boy Friend" for 12 months and agreed to sign for "My Fair Lady" at the end of the year.

At this period of her life a crooner walked in. Bing Crosby planned to make a TV musical out of "High Tor" for CBS and was hunting for a girl to co-star with him. Julie was a natural and she was paged for the part.

This "High Tor" contract came as a complete surprise when she was visiting her parents in London. It brought her back to the United States and provided her first look at Hollywood.

SINCE BING FILMED his show she was back in New York and in rehearsal with the "My Fair Lady" company before TV audiences ever got a glimpse of her. When this musical hit Broadway, Julie became the toast of the town and "My Fair Lady" was assured of a long, long run.

When it came time for Richard Rodgers and Oscar Hamberstein II to plan a musical production of "Cinderella" for CBS, they agreed that there was only one genuine Cinderella. That is Julie Andrews.

She was signed immediately, even before the book and lyrics were written and ever since has been working at costume fittings, rehearsals, etc.

Briton Julie Andrews, 21, brunette, rises fast to Broadway and TV stardom in Cinderella career.

"ALL OF MY STAGE career has sort of 'happened' to me. I really don't believe in planning ahead. The farthest I've planned ahead is to go to London with the 'My Fair Lady' company next year."

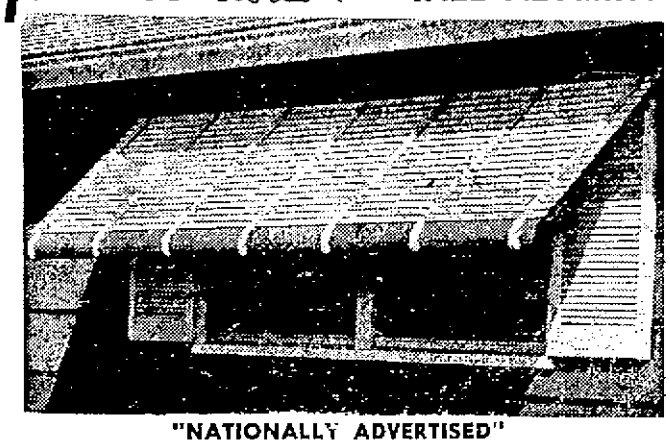

Julie, at 21, says she hasn't planned to make the stage or TV her full career. She has hopes of meeting the right Prince (or commoner) one of these days and settling down to being a housewife and mother with a "big" family.

When "Cinderella" bursts forth on the CBS network in full color on March 31, Julie will be backed by such standout stars as Howard Lindsay and Dorothy Stickney, Ilka Chase, Kaye Ballard, Alice Ghostley, Jon Cypher and Edith Adams . . . all veterans of the stage, movies and TV.

Colossus of Rhodes, one of the ancient Seven Wonders of World, has been recreated by artist Mario Larrinaga for Lowell Thomas Cinerama movie.

Movie With a Do-It-Yourself Plan

LOWELL THOMAS' forthcoming "Seven Wonders of the World" has placed even movie thrills on a "do-it-yourself" basis.

The movie, third of the giant Cinerama undertakings, will offer Southland's moviegoers a unique choice when it is premiered June 5 in Hollywood.

The ancient Greeks had the notion there were seven truly great wonders in the world. But worlds change, and Thomas suggests a good 30 more in his film. You are invited to take your pick.

ALL THE SIGHTS that goggled the Greeks' eyes have been retained in some impressive artwork—the Pyramid of Cheops and its neighbor, the Sphinx, the Hanging Gardens of Babylon, Statue of Zeus at Olympus, the Temple of Diana at Ephesus, the Mausoleum at Halicarnassus, the Colossus of Rhodes and the Pharos of Alexandria.

These are shown first. Then the Cinerama cameras start off on journeys that end three-million air miles and a year later.

As someone once said, it seems that wonders never cease. Thomas & Co. find—a lost jungle-covered city in Cambodia . . . a school for elephants in the Belgian Congo . . . a centuries-old skyscraper city in Arabia . . . a strange Indian bridal procession whose bands play "Yankee Doodle" and "London Bridge."

THE TOUR ALSO offers something of an education in the classics and Biblical history. The Parthenon, the Colosseum, Mount Sinai and Nazareth cross the camera's eye.

As do the Leaning Tower of Pisa, St. Peter's Basilica, the Taj Mahal, Japan's Mount Fujiyama and the Victoria Falls of Rhodesia.

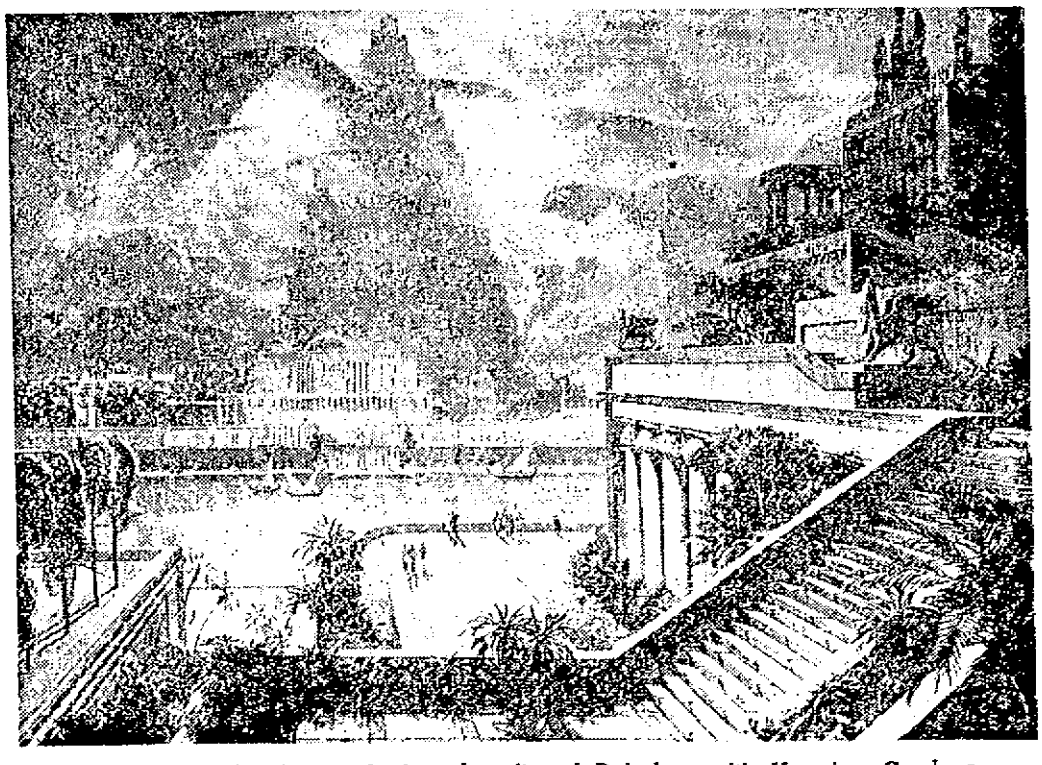

Wild animals, giant Watusi warriors in Africa and an Arabian desert ruler fill in between greater wonders.

Thomas also nominates a host of American wonders. The Statue of Liberty and the Empire State Building, the 60-million-dollar George Washington Bridge on the Hudson River, Hoover Dam, the Grand Canyon and Niagara Falls.

NATURALLY, California's wonders are not overlooked. The giant Sequoia trees make impressive candidates.

The wonder parade goes on through some 800,000 feet of color film. Aerial shots were taken by one camera crew in a converted B25 piloted by Hollywood stunt pilot Paul Mantz, another crew, in a chartered DC4, made the ground shots.

Thomas does the commentary. At the end he gives his new Wonder nominees. You don't have to agree. After all, you've paid your money—so take your choice.

Painting by Larrinaga depicts the city of Babylon, with Hanging Gardens of Nebuchadnezzar and, in the background is the Biblical Tower of Babel.

'Hot Side'

was forced to learn in the community of his choice was how to cook.

While most of his compatriots have chosen the United Kingdom or Continental Europe to further their education, Ahmed put his finger on Long Beach. His first reason was climate. His second —a fellow-citizen from Freetown, S. L., Cecil Maxwell, attended Business and Technology Division of Long Beach City College in 1952.

Long Beach climate has lived up to Ahmed's expectations. Its food is another matter.

COOL, CRISP SALADS, famed in Southern California, are literally for the birds in West Africa. A palate, accustomed for years to richly and hotly spiced, long-stewed meat and vegetables, finds the food of this area pallid.

Since he's here on a five-year visa, Ahmed settled in a small apartment and began concocting recipes. He attends classes on the City College institute campus, completing work for his high school diploma and looking ahead to college work next year. His goal is a teaching credential.

Sierra Leoneans hope to win their race with Nigeria and became the next West African member of the British Commonwealth. Ghana, just east of Sierra Leone, gained its independence earlier this year. Vice President Nixon was a guest at festivities celebrating the event.

SIERRA LEONE is apart from the Gold Coast but it is rich in minerals, particularly diamonds, and conservationists are pushing for conversion of its vast swamp areas to rice fields.

In four more years Ahmed may have some new ways to serve rice in his repertoire. Meanwhile, he continues to prepare main food courses for his own enjoyment after a day at school and a shift of work in Seaside Hospital's laboratory. Here is one of his recipes:

Gravy and Rice
(West African Style)

2 pounds of steak
1 medium onion
1½ tbsps. tomato paste
¾ lb. rice
2 tbsps. Crisco
1 tsp. hot mashed chili pepper
Pinch of salt

Steam-fry steak in warm oil. Remove from pan when both sides are brown.

Fry sliced onion in hot oil until half done. Add chili, tomato and steak with four ounces of water. Cover and cook slowly. Steam-cook rice and serve covered with meat-gravy sauce. Two servings.

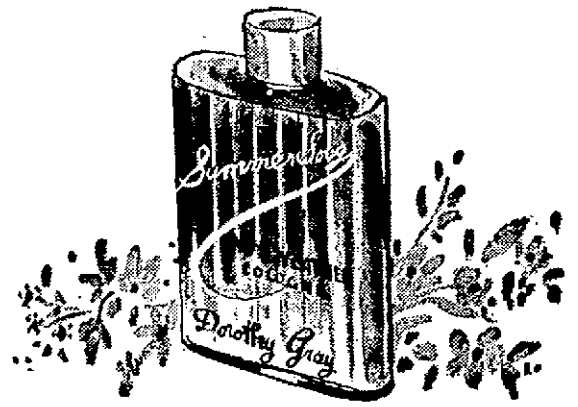

Ahmed has substituted Mexican chili for his native "bene" seeds which are "much hotter." He brought along a supply of spices from Freetown, including "canda," seed from a large native tree. This is a mild spice but "nice," according to Ahmed.

Their running water is a nearby spring, their homes aren't modern, but these cliff dwellers, gathered for a gossip session, have few worries.

Death Valley's Modern Cliff Dwellers

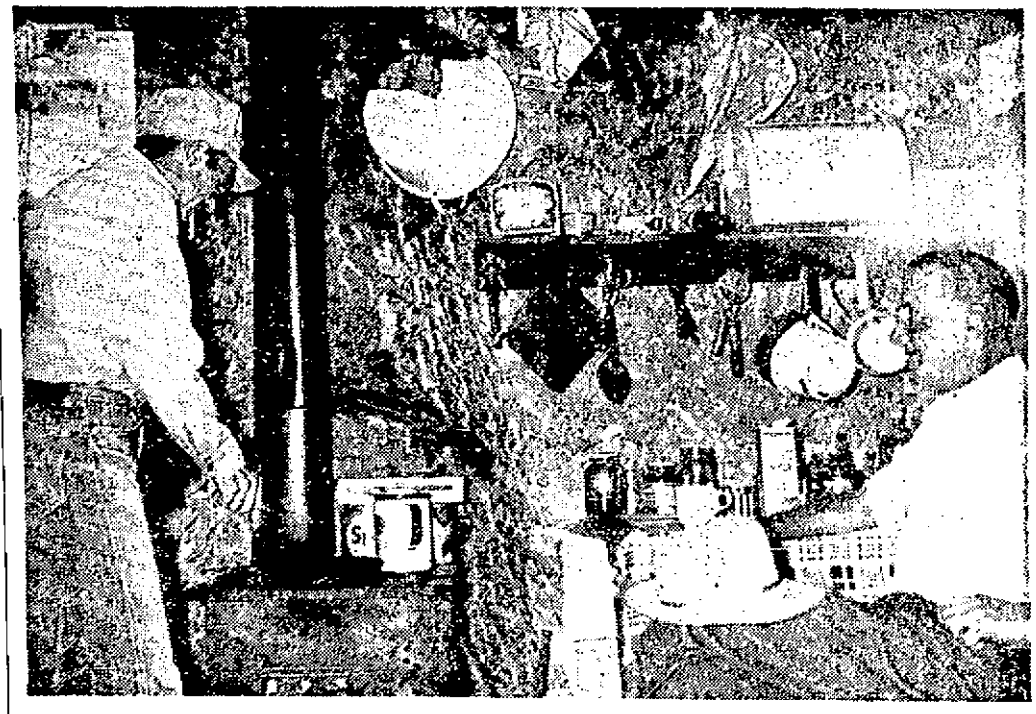

By Glenna Thomas

HOLES CARVED in a silica cliff on the edge of Death Valley may not appeal to some as homes but there are occupants who feel quite content in them. They are all retired miners who spent their working lives digging far below the earth's surface.

The dwellings were dug years ago by miners who bored into the white, chalk-like cliff. Each contains from one to several caverns or rooms. The interior temperature remains fairly even the year around. The meager furnishings are all the bachelors require or want. They are very comfortable and since pensions provide most of their incomes these "no-rent-or-utilities" dwellings are in demand. When one occupant moves (which is seldom), or dies, another just moves in and takes up bachelor housekeeping.

THE CLIFFDWELLINGS are located about a mile south of Shoshone, Calif. on Highway 127. A few miles away nature has provided a natural hot spring for bathing and washing clothes.

The social life consists mostly of talking, with an occasional game of cards. Life's problems, worries and work are at a minimum here and living requires very little effort.

Preparing meals on the old iron stove is a bit on the old-fashioned side, but who cares if one is a bachelor and pays no rent or utility charges?

BOOK REVIEWS

The High Road to Heroism Without Hope

A NOVEL so stark that it is terrifying is "The Spiral Road" by Jan de Hartog (Harper, $4.95). From the dregs of Amsterdam's underworld to the fetid jungles of Borneo and Java the story moves, and provides the reader with scenes of debauchery, of savages and savage customs,-of the horror of leprosy and bubonic plague, of heroism without hope.

It tells the story of a doctor fresh from medical school thrust into a plague area without forewarning after arriving at Batavia in the Dutch East Indies. It tells of his meeting with Dr. Brits-Jansen, hard-drinking veteran of the medical service and a man of deep wisdom; with Captain Waterreus, elderly Salvation Army worker who once was an alcoholic in Amsterdam's slums; with the captain's wife, Betsy, reformed prostitute and dying of leprosy after a long martyrdom administering to other lepers.

Above all, "The Spiral Road" is the story of the young doctor's finding his own salvation in the jungle. The book is not for squeamish stomachs, but if read its vital characters and the strange world in which they move will be remembered.

GOEFFREY WILLIAMS, whose work has appeared in Punch and Lilliput, and Ronald Searle, artist who says he perfected his talent when he was a Japanese prisoner, have joined forces in "Molesworth's Guide to the Atomic Age," humorous volume (Vanguard, $2.75). Author and artist say it is a guide to survival in the 20th century.

FRANK O'ROURKE, who knows and loves his Southwest, and was acclaimed a few years ago for "The Diamond Hitch," has written a new novel that promises to be a success, "The Man Who Found His Way" (Morrow, $3). Opening in Taos in 1927, it tells the story of Joe and Anita Baker, who have a promise of considerable happiness, and who hold the esteem of their neighbors in spite of—or, perhaps, because of—the fact that Joe is the local bootlegger. But very few know that Joe was one of four men who once robbed a bank and left a man dead. How Joe finds the way back to his own self-respect makes a moving story.

AN ATTEMPT is made, possibly for the first time, to tell the complete story of American music in "Panorama of American Music" (Prentice-Hall, $4.95). Written by David Ewen, an eminent interpreter of music, it is the story of our national ballads and folk songs, the songs of Tin Pan Alley, Broadway and Hollywood, New Orleans jazz, swing and symphonic jazz. Woven into it are many precious anecdotes and little-known facts about particular songs and their composers.

IF YOU HAVE children but little money, and if you are handy with tools, "Easy-to-Make Outdoor Play Equipment" (Macmillan, $2.95) should be right up your alley. Author Reginald Hawkins gives complete instructions and drawings for making 40 different pieces of play equipment ranging from a standard swing to an artificially flowing brook with a waterfall. The drawings are clear and the instructions are simple and understandable.

WITH WARM WEATHER and a big season ahead, sailoring folk hereabouts are getting their craft shipshape. Hence, "Make Your Own Sails;" by R. M. Bowker and S. A. Budd, (St. Martin's Press. $2.50) makes a timely appearance. The authors, backed by professional sailmaking experience, contend that any handy amateur can make his own sails if given a bit of sailoring background and proper instructions. Their book provides the instructions, both by printed word and illustration. Sections are devoted to the theory and practice of sails and sailmaking, data on sailcloths, sailmaking operations for producing a wide variety of sails, how to stretch and maintain new sails and how to alter and repair the various kinds of sails. A glossary of terms helps materially.

SUNSET BOOKS have become synonymous with good things in western living, and

BOSLEY CROWTHER

Leo the Lion, a familiar trademark to moviegoers, has been quite a boy in his day. Proof comes in "The Lion's Share" (Dutton, $5), the story of the rise of Loews' — Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer now — as a behemoth in the film industry. And as such, it is a fine, flowing story of American films. The author is Bosley Crowther, winner of the Screen Director's Guild first annual Critics Award, and the text is embellished with scores of yesterday's film greats.

so it is with Sunset's "Barbecue Cook Book" (Lane Pub. Co. $1.95), the second edition of a volume that had its inception in the "Sunset Barbecue Book" of 1938. Full of mouth-watering recipes and equally stimulating illustrations, the book runs the gamut of western eating and gives some eye-opening tips on all the things that can be cooked over charcoal. The recipes are the creations of aficionados of charcoal broiling, collected by the staff of Sunset Books and Sunset Magazine, and nearly all have been tested on a panel of hard-to-please lovers of barbecued meat—whose "ok" was needed before publication.

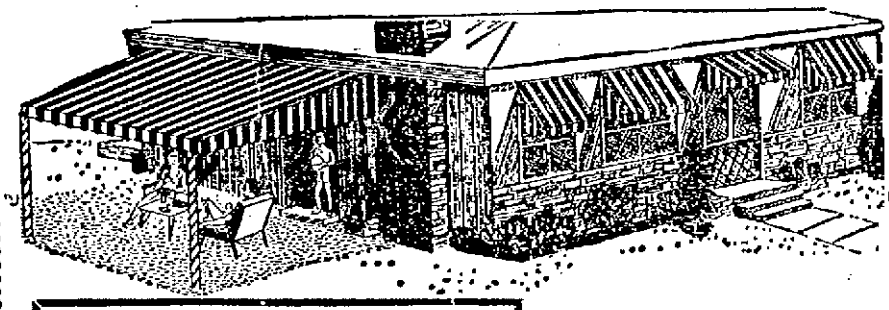

"KEY TO EUROPE," the pocket guide which deserves and wins added popularity with each new printing, is back in a revised, 1957 edition (Crown, $2.50). Here, with all excess verbiage carefully pared away, is everything the traveler abroad needs to know—from passports and visas to which wines to drink in Italy. The little book, prepared by Glenrose Bell Jaffe in collaboration with Ben Jaffe, is a globetrotter that really knows its business.

"CROWN OF GLORY" (Hawthorn, $4.95) is a popular biography of Pope Pius XII, Supreme Pontiff of the world's more than 400 million Roman Catholics. Written by Alden Hatch and Seamus Walshe, the book offers an intimate picture of the humble parish priest who has become one of the important figures of our time. Thirty-eight photographs (some never before published) and 22 full-page drawings supplement the biography. Hatch is the biographer of the Eisenhowers and Claire Booth Luce. Walshe is an Irish-born staff member of the Notre Dame school in Rome.

Fake Stamps

Collectors of Israel stamps are warned that many counterfeits have been detected. This is the word of Peter G. Keller, executive officer of the American Stamp Dealers Assn. The forgeries are not of American origin but attempts have been made to get them into philatelic circles in this country.

WHAT'S YOUR HOBBY?

Rockhound Donald Waite displays rocks that bear footprints, bones of dinosaur age, millions of years ago.

Rocks of the Ages

By Audrey Acker

ROCKS THAT TELL the story of the ages on Earth are evidence of the hobby of Donald Waite, 1715 Luray St., and his collection of rocks has beauty or a story to tell.

Waite has a special interest in his rockhounding, centering his attention on formations connected with dinosaurs and the ages when these great creatures prowled the world.

FROM POINTS far apart, such as the Coyote Mountains near the Mexican border in San Diego County, to the Uinta Mountains, 50 miles from Vernal, Utah, footprints in the sands of time have become marked rocks that caught Waite's eye. The two he has in his collection are actually the impressions of the type of dinosaur that stood on its hind feet, 12 to 15 feet high the particularly vicious variety that was carnivorous.

Most prized of the many bones Waite has gathered is one with the ball and socket joint of a hard-to-pronounce species, which he came upon in the Elkhorn Hills of Kern County. Another is the thigh-bone of a grass-eating variety, which roamed through Utah, Arizona and New Mexico.

ANOTHER PRIZE has a story that challenges the imagination —yet it is the smallest in his collection. This is a guttlestone which at one time must have settled in the gizzard of a prehistoric grass-eater. Like the chicken today that eats gravel to help grind up its food, the early monsters swallowed small rocks to digest their diet of "greens." The pride and joy of the Waite collection has in it the skeleton of a tiny fish that had become stone through millions of years before it was swallowed by some dining dinosaur. "Just imagine how old it must be," Waite says. "We know the dinosaur disappeared from the earth 60,000,000 years ago, and it must have taken almost as many years to make that stone!"

How does Waite know the fossil came from a dinosaur? "Just feel the surface," he says, "see how oily it is. That is the clue, because the ordinary rock doesn't have that touch!"

IT'S NEW!

Amplifier Kit for the Hi Fi

AN EASY-to-assemble 50-watt high fidelity amplifier kit which utilizes a deep-etched photo-electronic circuit board which can be assembled in 90 minutes or less without any special tools or equipment is announced by a new firm in Hollywood.

The deep-etched copper circuit board replaces all wiring and forms the complete base of the Peri-50 amplifier. The kit is not only complete as to all components, including tubes, but even provides the necessary solder and soldering iron. According to Peri research engineers, the pre-engineering of the complete circuit board literally guarantees that every builder will duplicate the laboratory model. The advanced circuitry makes use of Dynaco output transformer and Peri research engineers claim the following specifications for the Peri-50 amplifier:

Power output, 50 watts continuous—100 watts burst peak. Intermodulation distortion less than 1 per cent at 50 watts, less than 0.25 per cent at 35 watts, and under 0.125 per cent at 10 watts. Frequency response 6 cps to 60,000 cps within plus/minus 0.5 DB. Plus/minus 0.1 DB from 20 cps to 35,000 cps at any level from 1 milliwat to 50 watts. Power response: Less than 0.1 per cent harmonic distortion at 50 watts from 20 cps to 25,000 cps and flat within 1 DB over that range. The manufacturer (Printed Electronic Research, Inc., 4212 Lankershim Blvd., North Hollywood) offers a free illustrated brochure showing the complete unit and supplying full specifications and operating characteristics.

The Last of the Reata

Bert Rivera, Antelope Valley pioneer, unwinds a skein of rawhide at his home. He is noted as leatherworker.

By Jo Hindman

BERT RIVERA'S fingers retain their old skill. Now 80, the master leather craftsman is still turning out hackamores, bridle buttons, quirts, and Spanish reatas or lariats, otherwise known as "ropes" by working cowboys.

Last of a long line of California cattlemen, Bert's skill marks the end of an intricate art that can be traced from early-California days through Mexico to the harness makers of historic Spain. The Antelope Valley pioneer ruefully shakes his head when asked if any of the many persons who have come to learn from him, have yet mastered the art?

Bert no longer starts with the "critter" on the hoof; yet he still prepares the basic rawhide, starting with skins taken wet from ranch or slaughter house. First, Bert scrapes off the hair until the skin becomes bald. The pelts he works are pliable. He soaks them in the waters of a pool that collects below a spring running in his back yard which, incidentally, is a pine-dotted canyon bearing the Rivera name.

NEXT, THE SKIN is spread upon the ground. Starting at the perimeter and working in a spiral toward the center, Bert's razor-sharp hunting knife cuts a continuous strip an inch wide.

Bert's wife, Maybelle, says, "It's perfect," and measures with thumb and forefinger. "The strip is uniform from start to finish."

Considering the 50 or 60 linear feet in the strip thus cut out of one cow hide, the evidence proves that Bert's hand and eye are as steady as they were in his hard-riding youth.

Picking up an end of this spiral cut, still lying in a circle on the ground, Bert walks with the strand to a drying rack, consisting of two posts spaced several yards apart. The thong is looped about the posts in a skein. Here, last vestiges of hair and membrane are scraped off.

THE THONG is now immaculately clean for the "fleshing" machine through which the malleable thong is drawn. A calibrated opening in the 'flesher" insures absolute uniformity in the thinned width. Since the narrow strips are sometimes slit into as many as 24 strands for braiding, the necessity for painstaking uniformity is obvious. Once shaped and cut, the hide holds its form.

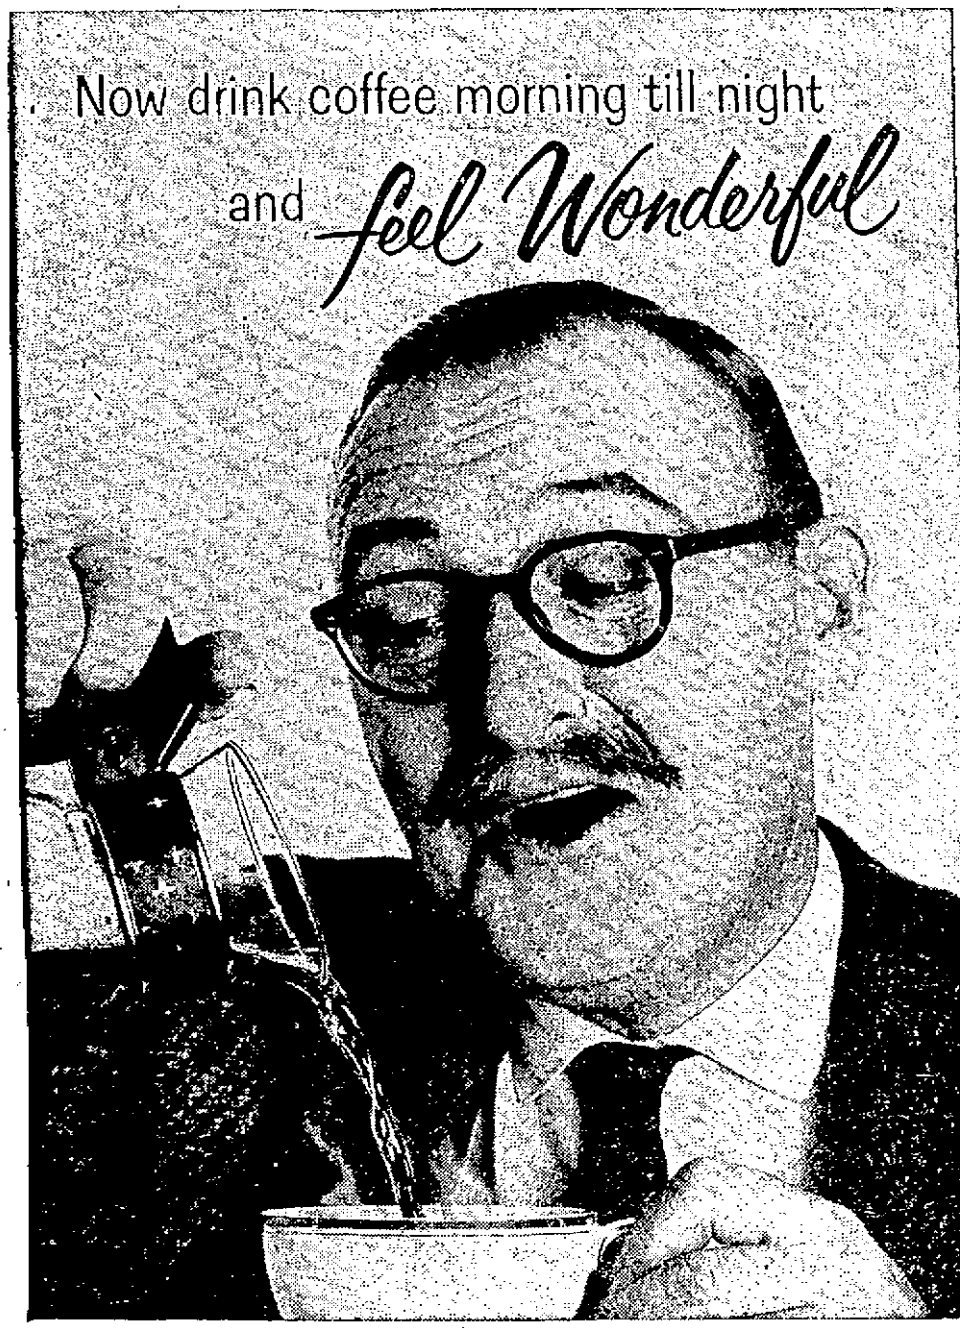

Bert's cutting rack resembles a hitching post, except that deep knife gashes serrate the cross bar. Bert sinks a hunting knife into the wooden bar, brings an end of the thong against the cutting edge, and slits the ribbon, making as many strands as are needed for the particular saddlery to be made. Thongs are cut in widths ranging from coarse to fine—4, 6, 8, 10, 12, 16 and 24 strands. The latter are so delicate that utmost skill is required in handling to prevent breaking.

ROPES ARE made from 4-strand thongs; reins from 8; headstalls from 6; quirts, hackamores, and more reins from 10, 12, or the finer strands. Woven in patterns, strong and durable, the Rivera articles, from harness buttons to exquisitely balanced ropes, are becoming prized as collector's items in the Antelope Valley cattle country where Bert still lives.

Son of Felipe J. Rivera, Bert is descended from the early-

Cut Heating Cost

Studies by the University of Illinois have shown conclusively that insulation saves heating fuel. The researchers compared identical houses, one with properly installed mineral wool insulation and the other without any insulation. They discovered it cost less than half as much to heat the insulated house as it did to heat the one without insulation.

California family which once owned the Spanish land grant now known as Leona Valley and lying at the western tip of the sprawling San Gabriel Mountains. When he was born on May 4, 1877, Southern Pacific trains had been running just eight months between Los Angeles and San Francisco. The historic golden spike event that joined the famous Tehachapi section with the northern spur, took place at Lang's Junction on the desert not far from the Rivera ranch.

As a young cowboy, Bert tied his pony near a depot and country store on the desert. Today, the exact spot has been surrounded by the modern city of Lancaster.

YSIDRO RUIZ, his stepfather, taught Bert the rudiments of leatherwork when the boy was in his teens.

In 1930, the Standard Oil Co. of California awarded Bert Rivera one of the rare Romantic '49er certificates. Last year at Lake Hughes, community leaders called Bert from his Star Route address off Hwy. 138, named him the oldest pioneer in the desert area, and awarded him a trophy and blue ribbon. Grown men, now ranking as pioneers themselves, remember Bert as a vigorous vaquero astride a fine horse running livestock on Sawmill and Liebre mountains, across the desert from the Tehachapis.

Bert maintains modestly, "I come from a long line of cowpokes. I have been a cattleman all my life. Likewise my uncles, cousins, and grandfathers. Whenever I heard of a 'mean' horse, I always bought it and broke it."

Yet, if he wishes, Bert can tick off several careers: Cowboy, cattleman, and gold miner, each a life story in itself. But he merely smiles, forgets more than some people will ever know, and goodnaturedly turns to leather, his lifelong friend.

FEMININE HYGIENE PROBLEM?

Women's specialists now say there are only two important things you need to know.

1. If you need to douche with special solutions, your doctor will tell you. Few women do. 2. For normal use—whenever needed—Hexol is especially fine. Doctors say not over twice a week is sufficient to cleanse and deodorize thoroughly—to be completely safe.

VERY EFFECTIVE—BUT GENTLE Though Hexol is so sure, it makes a snowy white, fragrant solution that feels soft as silk—is actually soothing to use. You'll like it.

EASY TO TRY. A complimentary trial bottle, with a folder of complete directions, will be sent you in a plain wrapper. Just send your name and address to Hexol, 1500 17th St., San Francisco, Calif., Dept. CP-21.

'Important People' Dine in Style

Junior's meals are made attractive today by a variety of prepared foods that are easy for mothers to serve.

By Mildred K. Flanary
Independent, Press-Telegram Home Economics Editor

THIS IS National Baby Week and a good time to review a few facts about child nutrition.

The parade of baby carriages in front of the corner grocery is growing by the day. Or, to speak accurately, by the minute.

No wonder the National Baby Week theme, "For the Most Important People," is designed to tell the grocer's best customers how he feels about them.

Although 1956 births are still being stated in terms of estimates, everyone is agreed that the year set a spanking new record for babies. Latest estimate of registered and unregistered live births for last year is 4,220,000, based on December arrivals of 361,000 babies. Thus the population increased by more than 4 million babies for the third consecutive year.

The big baby boom shows no signs of tapering off, for marriages last year rose 3.6 per cent, the first notable increase in five years.

TODAY'S BABY has a balanced diet, much like an adult, and what a blessing for mothers that they no longer have to measure, mix and stir. Foods are in ready-to-use form and run the gamut from precooked cereal (corn, wheat, oats and rice) to every vegetable the garden can muster or the fruit trees produce.

Strained meats and egg yolks for babies are also outstanding growth foods, supplying body-building, growth-promoting proteins, vitamins and minerals. With all the different kinds of prepared foods, baby will be eating almost as great a variety as the rest of the family. Pediatricians stress the importance of introducing good eating habits and a variety of foods early in life to prepare babies for the wide range of foods offered when they are older.

A wise mother will keep in mind at all times that tots will enjoy a change. The various baby foods can be blended into some wonderfully interesting recipes. Here are a few . . . but first, here's "How Much."

How Much?

Ready-to-use strained or junior baby foods come in convenient sizes:

The 4¼-ounce size yields ½ cup.

The 6½-ounce size yields ¾ cup.

The 8-ounce size yields ⅞ cup.

The 3½-ounce size of strained or junior meat yields 7 tablespoons.

Hearty Chowder

1 cup (about) junior macaroni, tomato, beef and bacon
1 cup (about) junior mixed vegetables
½ cup bouillon, stock, consomme or tomato juice
1 small can (⅔ cup) evaporated milk
2 teaspoons instant minced onion
Few drops tabasco
½ teaspoon worcestershire

Combine first four ingredients in saucepan; heat to simmering. Spoon out toddler's portion or portions. To chowder in saucepan add remaining ingredients; simmer a minute or two longer. Makes about three cups.

Chartreuse of Lamb

½ cup junior lamb
½ cup junior carrots
1 tablespoon junior egg yolks and ham
¼ cup soft bread crumbs
1¼ cups cooked rice
2 tablespoons tomato sauce

Combine first four ingredients; mix well. In a separate bowl, combine cooked rice and tomato sauce. Line two shallow ramekins with rice mixture. Fill centers with lamb mixture. Top with additional buttered crumbs, if desired. Bake in moderate oven, 350 degrees F., 15 to 20 minutes or until centers are bubbly. Serve two.

Plum Pudding

1 tall can (1⅔ cups) evaporated milk
½ cup strained plums with tapioca
1 package lemon instant pudding mix

Combine all three ingredients in a quart jar or shaker. Cover tightly; shake briskly for one minute. Pour into serving dishes; chill. Garnish with bits of maraschino cherries, chopped raisins or chopped candied fruit, if desired. Makes four small servings.

Broilburgers

1 lb. ground beef
½ cup rolled oats
1½ tsp. salt
¼ tsp. pepper
¼ cup grated onion
¾ cup milk
6 slices bacon
6 cooked carrots
2 cups cooked peas

Combine meat, rolled oats, salt, pepper, onion and milk. Shape into 6 patties, wrapping each with slice of bacon. Place on broiler rack. Place cooked carrots and peas in broiler pan. Place broiler rack over vegetables and insert broiler pan allowing 2 inches between surface of meat and heat. Broil the patties on one side until they are brown—8 to 10 minutes. Turn and brown on second side. Vegetables will heat while the patties are cooking. 4 to 6 servings.

SERVE WITH: Toasted buns, Celery and Olives, Berry Shortcake.

BROILED LAMB CHOPS

BROIL CHOPS UNDER HOT FLAME OR IN HOT FRYING PAN, UNTIL MEAT IS WELL SEARED. TURN FREQUENTLY. REDUCE HEAT SLIGHTLY . . . COOK UNTIL MEAT IS PUFFY AND EVENLY BROWNED. SEASON AND SERVE AT ONCE.

Homes, Art, Tea

Propincial charm is blended with contemporary living in the intriguingly styled home of Louis DeHaven Shaw, the house forming shelter for pool.

Photos by H. S. Melvin

Contemporary home of Dr. and Mrs. Paul Saffo is outstanding for feeling of permanence modern often lacks.

By Eileen Ball

SPRING will be heralded in Palos Verdes again this year by the Eighth Annual Palos Verdes Peninsula Homes Tour next Saturday and Sunday, May 4 and 5. Sponsored by St. Francis Episcopal Church of Palos Verdes Estates, the tour invites the public into four highly imaginative and distinctive homes chosen for their varied interpretation of Southern California living.

Climaxing the tour this year a handsomely appointed tea is planned in the new parish hall of St. Francis Church. Overlooking rolling terrain tangled with fragrant eucalyptus, this spacious, Mediterranean-style hall is the perfect setting for a relaxed afternoon refreshment hour.

ANOTHER COMPLETELY new high light of the tour will be an exhibit of original paintings to be displayed in the Plaza of Palos Verdes. The show will be sponsored by the Rembrandt Crew, a group of talented Palos Verdes women.

Ticket-brochures containing a map of the tour and descriptive data will be available at the Fountain of Neptune in the center of Palos Verdes Plaza, Palos Verdes Estates, and at the main gate house of Rolling Hills, Crenshaw Blvd. at Palos Verdes Dr. north. Donations of $1.50 for adults and 75 cents for students (with student body cards) includes refreshments that will be served by the Junior Youth Group of St. Francis Church. Homes to be open:

OVERLOOKING THE Pacific from its secluded site at Crest Road, the magnificent contemporary, split-level home of Dr. and Mrs. Paul Saffo stretches itself int he breeze and bright sunlight. This is truly an outstanding home, one that pays great homage to its architect, Carlton Winslow, AIA.

This, essentially, is a stark house—one where in great dramatic play is given a collection of rare and invalunble art objects. It was the Saffos' wish that their home be frugal with furbelows. Ease of maintenance and a sublime feeling of serenity are the result.

Composition of the house ingeniously combines brick, wood

Exemplifying early Mediterranean styling typical of older Palos Verdes is the Franklin Steinko residence.

The farmhouse styling of the James Barnard residence is seen in this view. Love of old-fashioned charm and comfort is evident in various appointments.

and glass. Everywhere there is a great richness of texture, a great display of honesty in the use of materials. The walls of the master bedroom, for example, are common red brick. Hanging against one wall is a compelling original oil portrait —its bold usage of orange, golds and siennas displayed to perfection against the masonry.

This is a large house, one seemingly made still larger with its openness of plan. High-vaulted ceilings extend from the living area into the dining room—both areas spreading out below the elevated entry foyer that takes a dramatic view of the house from its vantage place.

The entry, indeed, is one of the most striking features of the house. An unusual cloister effect has been achieved with the use of pale amber panes of glass set into ceiling height niches formed by partitions of white brick. The Saffo hummingbird has been outlined in black on a few of the panes—a personal, delicate touch that perfectly offsets the monastic effect of this very unusual entry.

SITUATED ON a rolling hilltop at the edge of the ocean is the Normandy barn and farmhouse of Mr. James Barnard. Against the vast and turbulent background of the sea, this charming whitewashed home at 13 Crest Rd. presents a curious and altogether charming contrast.

This is the home of Barnard's prize-winning Arabian horses — magnificent animals that live a life of rare elegance in the handsome barn, outside which each horse has his own flagstone "lanai!" Actually, the two-story barn includes a completely equipped and furnished guest apartment upstairs and a fabulous tackroom downstairs where a lighted glass display case shows off many of the numerous trophies and awards won by the stately Arabian stallion and his foal. Here, too, is a huge open fieldstone fireplace, an arrangement of masculine leather-upholstered furniture, Barnard's collection of fine saddles as well as an adjoining bath.

The farmhouse, itself, is a deeply comfortable, utterly informal dwelling designed by Barnard specifically for the purpose of providing a peaceful sanctuary at day's end far from the rush of the city. Handmade door handles, antique copper fixtures, second story window boxes, deep cushions and rustic woods keynote this house —pleasantly old-fashioned but "present perfect" right down to the smallest detail.

TYPICAL OF the older Palos Verdes homes is the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Franklin Steinko at 401 Via Media. An authentic example of the early Mediterranean style that left

Star Pupil of School for Horses

By Lowell Washburn

WHITTIER.

NOT BOYS and girls, but horses are trained in a distinctive school in Whittier—the Simmons Ward training school, 12349 E. Washington Blvd., and the headmaster is Olin Simmons, a quiet-voiced horse trainer.

Typical of the school's pupils is Nacip, American born with Arabian ancestors.

Nacip started in "kindergarten" March 18, 1956. The first few days were given over to walks and talks on what a well-trained horse is supposed to do.

FOUR DAYS after he enrolled, Nacip was ridden for the first time.

In April, Nacip reached the two-year-old class, a beautiful, proud bay Arabian gelding.

On April 15, he started to learn the figure eight.

In May and June he was given something of the refined training of a ballet dancer, muscles perfectly coordinated.

June 10 he began to work cattle.

July 18 he worked his first calf out of a herd of Brahma steers.

Aug. 25 he took fifth in the cutting horse event of the 12th annual Arabian Horse Show of California at the Orange County Fair Grounds.

Sept. 8 and 9 he won fifth place in the cutting horse contest and fourth place in the hackamore reining contest in the Pacific Coast Champion All-Arabian show in the Cow Palace at San Francisco.

Graduate of a school for horses, Nacip poses with his tutor, Olin Simmons of Whittier and some of trophies.

BACK HOME in Whittier, in his own surroundings, he won first in the Open Horse Stock show, against older horses with lots more experience. He proudly arched his neck when he was presented with the golden cup.

Feb. 23 and 25 Nacip won first place and a gold cup in the hackamore contest and fourth place in the horse cutting event of the Arabian Horse Assn. of Arizona at Scottsdale, Ariz.

The Right Way

I was driving three elderly ladies to the races and we were having a difficult time finding the way. We stopped at several gas stations for directions. At each station, an attendant gave us his own pet short cut and we were getting more and more confused by the minute.

Finally, my favorite good-humored aunt sitting in the back seat spoke up (she usually has very little to say):

"Perhaps, if we buy some gas at the next station, we'll get the right directions."

We did! And we did!—Mrs. Robert Carmella, 3516 Fashion Ave., Long Beach.

Peninsula Tour

such an indelible mark in Palos Verdes, this house has white stucco that fairly sparkles under a red tile roof. Spanish arches, long balconies, thick, adobe walls and heavy-hinged doors are typical features of the home that enjoys the fabulous setting of a garden that is nothing short of a nature-lover's dream.

The rolling lawns, below street level, are secluded by trees and stucco walls. Grass, like a rich, deep cape, covers the sloping grounds to the planting beds and is clipped to a knife-edged definition. Abundances of fern, azaleas, fuchsias and begonias make this garden a memorable portrait of nature at her loveliest. Landscaping was done by the firm of Eager & Corey. Architect is Roland Coate, AIA.

JUST WHAT ONE of Southern California's most reknowned interior decorators has done within his own home will be seen at the Louis DeHaven Shaw residence at 2409 Via La Selva, Palos Verdes Estates. This house is an effective example of how traditional architecture can be blended with innovations that make for ease of maintenance while providing modern outdoor living.

The entire rear wall of the Shaws' charming provincial living room is glass. This invites a comprehensive view of the garden, the swimming pool and the terrace. Throughout the house is displayed a harmonious balance between the warmth of tradition and the cool, uncluttered simplicity known as contemporary. Architect is Gerard R. Colcord, AIA.

Tool Tips

Saws and putty knives can be easily stored by hanging them with pinch-type paper clips, available in various sizes. The clips hook over nails in the wall, generally over the workbench.

LA REINA RULE

WHAT YOUR NAME MEANS

DEAR MISS RULE: We would like to know about the name CARNES—K.C., Downey.

DEAR MISS RULE: Please give the genealogy of my English name CARNE.—W.H.C., Anaheim.

K.C. AND W.C.: In the prehistoric language of Cornwall, Carne or "Cairn" meant a rocky hill, Cornwall is the peninsula forming the southwest corner of England. The term "cairn" is used in our modern language to describe a small pile of rocks such as our early immigrants placed along the routes west to mark the wagon trails. The baronial branch of the Carne family resided in Wales. Their coat-of-arms has three gold fleurs-de-lis on a blue and black shield. The spelling Carnes expresses "sons of the dwellers on the rocky hill." Descendants of this lineage migrated to Massachusetts in the mid-1600's.

DEAR MISS RULE: What is the meaning of the name SEGUINE.—E.H., Long Beach.

E.H.: The French surname SEGUINE goes back to an ancient Visgothic warrior name, "Sig-Win" meaning "victorious friend." The Visigoths who brought this given-name to France came from central Europe nearly 2,000 years ago. By the 1200s Seguine was recorded as a surname. Jacques Seguine was born in the town of Laferte-Mace, Normandy in the early 1600s. Nicholas Seguine was born in the same period in the city of Poitiers. The family coat-of-arms has eight gold coins on a red shield.

DEAR MISS RULE: I would appreciate information on my family name GALLIGHEN. My grandfather was from County Galway and County Cork, Ireland. I suspect the original name was not the Gallagher which we hear so often.—C.P.G., Norwalk.

C.J.G.: There is a differentiation between the Irish surname Gallighen and the more widely known Gallagher. A medieval Gaelic leader called Gealagan (the white or blonde man) was the founder of the Clan O'Gealagan. The family originated in County Sligo, southern Ireland. Their name was anglicized in the 16th century to Gallighen and later to Galligan.

DEAR MISS RULE: I would like information about my maiden name BLACK. My grandfather was born in Argyllshire, Scotland.—Mrs. E.L., Long Beach.

E.L.: The surname BLACK characterizes your black haired, dark eyed, olive complexioned ancestor. Such outstanding brunettes were a rarity because many early inhabitants of England and Scotland were descendants of blond Anglo-Saxons and Vikings. The Black lineage originated in England but the family descendants have lived in Scotland for centuries. The chief Black family in Scotland had as their coat-of-arms a black St. Andrews cross on a silver shield. Thomas and Hugh Black, of Scotch ancestry were among the first settlers of Dauphin County, Penn., in the early 1700s.

DEAR MISS RULE: I would like the origin of the name BAUMANN.—A.F.B., Long Beach.

DEAR MISS RULE: Please analyze the name BOWMAN.—A.B.W., Long Beach.

A.F.B. and A.B.W.: The German name Baumann has often been re-spelled Bowman in America. "Baum - Mann" the source name, essentially described an occupation, "man of the building construction trade." In England, "Bowman" was applied to a man who made the long yewwood bows used by soldiers. The Baumann coat-of-arms, granted in Saxony in 1790, is a shield divided in half horizontally, the upper part black and the lower half gold. In the center is a pair of silver deer antlers.

Send your names to La Reina Rule in care of Southland Magazine, Independent, Press-Telegram, 6th and Pine, Long Beach 12, Calif., for analysis and brief genealogy, for publication in this column.

PET PARADE

Dogs of War and Peace

By Eleanor Avery Price

NOT LONG AGO, the United States armed forces decided that the German Shepherd was the only dog truly acceptable to be trained for war duties. This decision came as a climax to a long record of achievement of these dogs in peace as well as war.

However, it now appears that even this great dog will be dropped from military service if plans of the Army to disband its K-9 Corps is carried out.

The move, said to be inspired as an economy measure, would mean the demobilization of the Army's 950 dogs currently on duty at home and abroad and the discontinuance of training of about 50 dogs a month the Army has been furnishing the Air Force.

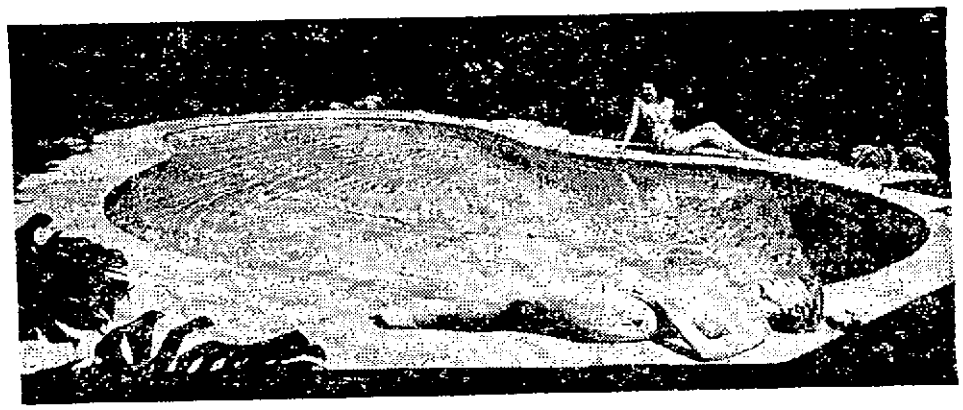

The Gaines Dog Research Center, 250 Park Ave., New York 17, N. Y., believes that the K-9 Corps is a reservoir of experience, a nucleus from which to build quickly should the occasion arise, and it urges that a study be made with a view of finding where costs might be cut without disbanding the corps. Protests to disbandment have been placed with Secretary of Defense Charles Wilson.

NATURALLY, it does cost money to train a good war dog. The Armed Forces daily feed each dog 1½ pounds of raw horsemeat mixed with kibble and meal daily, with cod liver oil and bone meal for calcium added. The course takes several weeks of intensive training to get the dogs "battle-conditioned" to all kinds of gunfire. The dogs have to learn complete obedience, to wear muzzles, gas masks, and to ride in all types of military vehicles. Each dog must learn to find his way through barbed wire, to swim water-filled shell holes, to work in all types of weather and over all types of terrain day or night, to work in complete silence or to give warning by growling, alerting, or barking, and to take the quickest route back to headquarters when on a mission.

LOOKING BACK over the past of the dog as a soldier, almost since the beginning of history dogs have played an important part in battle. Cambyses, king of the ancient Medes, had dogs trained to attack enemy cavalry horses and to dash through almost solid walls of shields to bite the legs of enemy troops.

During World War I, the Germans and English employed many dogs, and in World War II the Americans followed suit. More than 500 war dogs were used by the United States in the Korean conflict as messengers and for sentry and rescue work.

"Never Say Diet Again"

By R. A. Smethurst

—Photos Especially Posed by Bill Gemmitt and Patty Winslow

"I decided we needed to go on a diet," said my wife, serving me 3 carrots and a leaf of lettuce for dinner.

IT ALL STARTED about six months ago when I came home one evening tired, hungry, and at peace with the world. The two kids were watching television and, as usual, were oblivious to my entrance; but Ellen, the little woman, gave me the same kind of welcome-home kiss she'd been giving me for the past ten years. I noticed she was wearing some kind of new robe get-up (I later discovered that the correct terminology is housecoat), and remarked that she looked mighty pretty in whatever it was.

"It's a question of necessity—wearing something loose that covers up all the pounds I've gained," she said.

"I hadn't noticed you'd gained any weight, Hon," I said. "I'm the one," I added jovially. I patted my middle and walked into the bedroom to change into a sport shirt and old slacks.

A FEW MINUTES later I was stretched on the couch in the den, glancing through the evening paper. The television section had been removed as usual, but the front-page news, Malcolm Epley, and the editorial were intact. Ellen poked her head around the corner.

"Here's some grape juice, dear," she said, offering me a glass. I'm a man of habit, and it's long been my custom to have one very dry martini before dinner. I like to conform to ritual.

"Where's my martini?" I asked pleasantly.

"Too many calories," she explained. "It's grape juice from now on."

I WAS TIRED. "What the heck," I said agreeably, and drank the juice. Women get into the darndest moods. Half an hour later both the kids came bounding in the room and landed on my stomach.

"Hi, daddy, dinner's ready. Will you play guns after dinner, huh?" asked Jerry, the oldest.

"Hi, daddy, dinner's ready. Will you play guns after dinner, huh?" said Jimmy, the youngest.

"Yeah. Sure. Hi, kids," I said, unloading them before I headed for the dining room.

Ellen's a doll. What I mean, a real doll. Small, brunette and cute. Also, she can cook like a French chef. Love that gal. I also love her cooking.

"WHAT'S THIS?" I asked when I sat down to the table. On my plate were three raw carrots, about half a cup of cottage cheese (the runny kind I don't like), and a lettuce leaf.

"Dinner, darling," said Ellen. "I decided we needed to go on a diet, and this is the beginning."

I can be masterful at times.

"Bring on the pot roast, honey. I'm hungry," I said.

DO YOU KNOW, that gal wasn't joking? The lettuce leaf with the carrot-cottage cheese entree was supposed to be our whole dinner. Then I noticed the kids had some corned beef hash along with the lettuce salad.

"Got any more corned beef hash?" I asked. "If it isn't too much trouble, I'd like a whole can of the stuff. I'm hungry."

Ellen looked solicitous. "I read an article today which said that if we wives don't watch our weight and that of our husbands —well . . ."

"LOOK," I SAID, "you're just fine the way you are, and I like the way I am. Forget this dieting business."

"I'd rather have a husband than an insurance policy," she stated.

I've long since learned when and where to argue with Ellen, so I ate the rabbit food without further comment. Late that evening I sneaked into the kitchen and enjoyed a can of beans, a can of hash and a couple of slices of bread and jam. I felt like an alcoholic with a hidden bottle, especially when I hid the empty cans in the bottom of the trash.

And that was just the beginning . . .

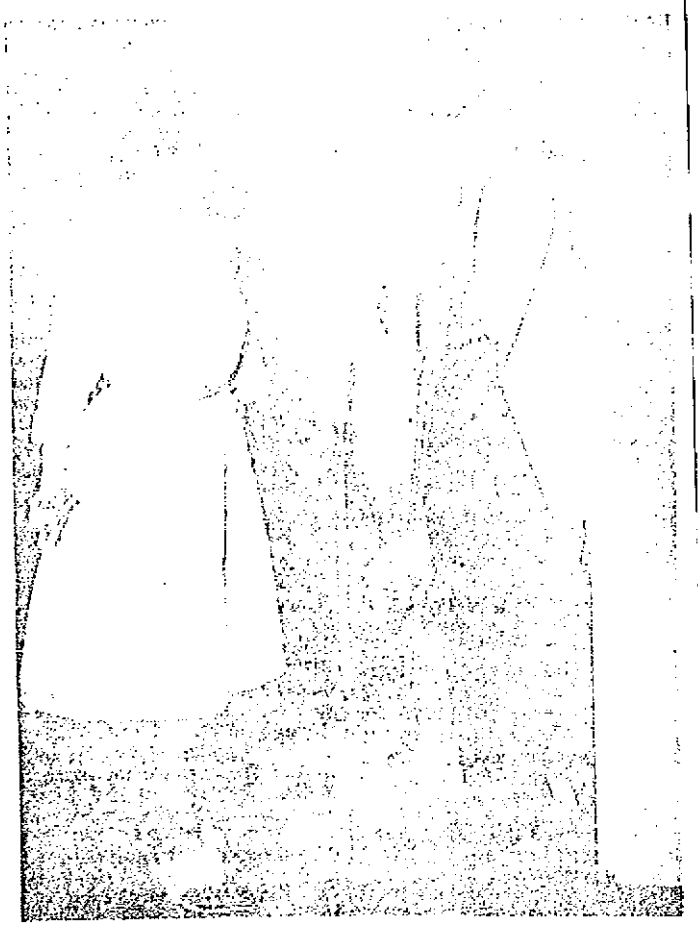

IT'S NOW BEEN about six months since Ellen got the dieting bug, but I can't say I blame her, in one way. It seems to be the thing to do nowadays. Pick up any magazine, and chances are you'll see in bold letters on the cover something like, "How to Lose Weight on the New Orange and Onion Diet" or "You, Too, Can Be Thin on the New Tea and Apple Diet."

Television commercials follow the fad. A slim model is shown nibbling on a cracker while a male voice asks:

"ARE YOU WATCHING your weight like she is watching hers? She is eating Belch's Soda Crackers, which help absorb body fat and take off those excess pounds. Eat Belch's with every meal and watch the pounds float away!"

I turned on the car radio the

"It's a question of necessity—wearing something that covers all the pounds that I have gained," said Ellen.

AROUND THE WORLD WITH DELAPLANE

"We want to visit my family home in Ireland. Can you suggest time of year, cost and so on?"

IRELAND is wonderful in the spring and fall and the coldest country on earth in the winter. Central heating is rare. And while peat makes the most beautiful of all fires, it never is warm enough.

It is a lovely country and inexpensive — hotels about $5 a day double. And the same amount will get you a fine dinner of Irish beef in the best restaurants.

In Dublin: Jammet's, the Green Dolphin, the Bailey and the Red Bank are the best.

Might as well fly tourist to Shannon. It's a short enough flight.

Cars rent cheaply. But you might be cautious about your Irish background. It makes the Irish very unhappy when Irish-Americans come over and fly into the brogue. There are only 4,000,000 of them and 25,000,000 of you. They feel outnumbered.

"I am a woman of 60 and my daughter thinks I might have trouble traveling around Europe if I go by train because of the changing . . ."

NO, I DON'T think you will. If you get your tickets in Europe, go to one of the travel agencies like American Express of CIT. They speak English. They'll issue the ticket right there. And almost everywhere you change trains, they'll have a representative at the station to help you.

You might figure riding first class, though. The second class usually is just the same. But being cheaper, the compartments are usually crowded. First class would be more comfortable for you.

"Where do you go in Paris for the real night life?"

I guess what you are looking for is Place Pigalle. The lively spots are Chez Eve, Nouvelle Eve, Les Naturalistes. These are big, bare shows. A bottle of champagne goes on the table automatically. The flower girl taps you 500 francs before you can unpin the wilted corsage. It's tourist material and you pay tourist prices.

The nicest night club in the district, I think, is the Florence.

One of the flossiest clubs in the world is the Lido on the Champs Elysees. Champagne obligatory but a good show.

If you want to do it a little on the less expensive side, tell the driver to take you to the Place du Tertre. The Bohemian section doesn't have the smooth shows. But there's lots of audience participation and more fun.

"How do you arrange a bon voyage party on a ship leaving New York for Italy?"

THE SHIP has a telephone line hooked up. Call the chief steward and tell him what you want. Because their liquor is usually under bond until you get to sea, you'll probably have to supply it yourself.

They should supply a waiter-bartender (who gets a tip of about $5 for every 10 persons); the hors d'oeuvres and the ice and whatever you need. You put the bill on your ship bill and pay at the end of the voyage.

Your mailed questions will be answered (no phone calls). Send stamped and addressed envelope to Stan Delaplane, Southland Magazine, Independent, Press - Telegram Sixth and Pine, Long Beach 12, California.

Legend of the Rhine

Steamer travelers on Rhine River boats pass the famous Lorelei. It is said that tourists can still hear the remarkable echo of the rock. An ancient German legend says that a beautiful maiden threw herself from this rock in despair over a faithless lover, and since that day she has lured fishermen to their death.

Tours to Hawaii

Popular-priced escorted tours of the Hawaiian islands, designed to fit into a standard two-week vacation period, have been announced by Cook's Travel Service. A folder describing the tours is available free at any Cook-authorized travel agency in this area.

The first tour group is due to meet at the Princess Kaiulani Hotel on Waikiki Beach immediately after arrival in Honolulu by air on Sunday, May 26. Successive parties will form up every other Sunday throughout the summer until Sept. 29—followed by late-season groups on Nov. 3 and Dec. 1.

After two weeks of exploring the beaches and scenic spots of the island of Oahu, Hawaii and Kauai, tour members will say goodbye to their escort and fly home from Honolulu on a Saturday.

Sightseeing highlights will include:

Honolulu, Diamond Head, Pali Pass and Pearl Harbor on Oahu island.

Hilo's orchids, Rainbow Falls, Kilauea crater, the Fern Forest and the luxuriant green Kona coast—on the "big island" actually called Hawaii.

Waimea Canyon, the Spouting Horn of Koloa, Opaikaa, Poipu Beach and the Wet and Dry Coves of Haena on the "garden island" of Kauai.

Inclusive package fare for the 14 days in the island, with tax, comes to $273.01. Air fare between hometown airport and Honolulu is additional.

Music Festival

The renowned Amsterdam Concertgebouw Orchestra, led by well-known conductors, and featuring famous soloists, will spark the Holland Festival of Music and the Drama, June 15 to July 15, according to KLM Royal Dutch Airlines. Plays will be performed in the open in the ancient market place of Delft.

Birthday of a Bridge

Important link in the U. S. highway system, the Golden Gate Bridge will be center of big Bay fete on May 27.

OBSERVANCE of the 20th anniversary of the opening of the Golden Gate Bridge, an inanimate object which had a tremendous stimulative effect an the travel industry, will hold the spotlight in San Francisco on May 27.

The strikingly handsome span across the Golden Gate was built at an original cost of $35,000,000, and largely because of it the Redwood Empire now has a $160,000,000 system of all-year highways used by millions of travelers each year.

By the time the mile-long span with the 746-foot twin towers has been operating for 20 years, it will have accommodated some 165,000,000 toll-paying motor vehicles.

THE REDWOOD EMPIRE Association and the Golden Gate Bridge and Highway District, co-sponsors of the observance, have designated the anniversary activities, appropriately, as a "Salute to Travel."

Recognizing the major impact of the bridge on the travel and kindred industries, transportation companies in all fields are cooperating in the anniversary observance, as well as the contracting and engineering firms concerned with the actual construction of the span and the financial houses which made available the monetary sinews.

Never Say Diet

other night. A sultry voice asked:

"Do YOU want to lose weight? Of course you do. Just take a Way-Loss tablet before every meal, eat all you want, and lose while you eat. You'll re-discover that new figure."

EVEN OUR BRIDGE eightsome has the craze. The other night Joe (I've known him for 15 years, and he's a regular guy) opened on two spades and then said:

"Say, have you heard about that new fish and grapefruit diet? It'll take off those spare tires if anything will."

Hank passed and then remarked:

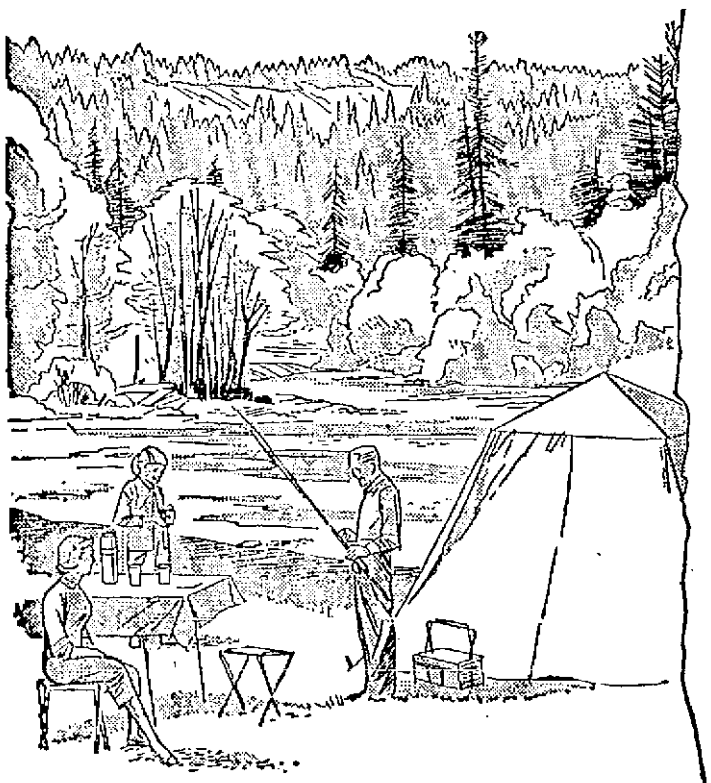

"Yeah, but I read that you can lose almost a pound a day on the apples and eggs plan."

If you can't fight 'em, join 'em, I always say, so I put in my two-bits' worth.

"WATERCRESS and olives. Just plain watercress and olives. It does wonders . . ."

Of course, what they don't know and Ellen doesn't know is, the fact that I stop by Al's Steak House every evening before coming home. After I've fortified myself on a couple of hamburgers or a steak and a piece of apple pie, I'm ready for any dainty tidbit Ellen's planned for the evening meal. I figure it's only a matter of time before things will be back to normal at home, anyway.

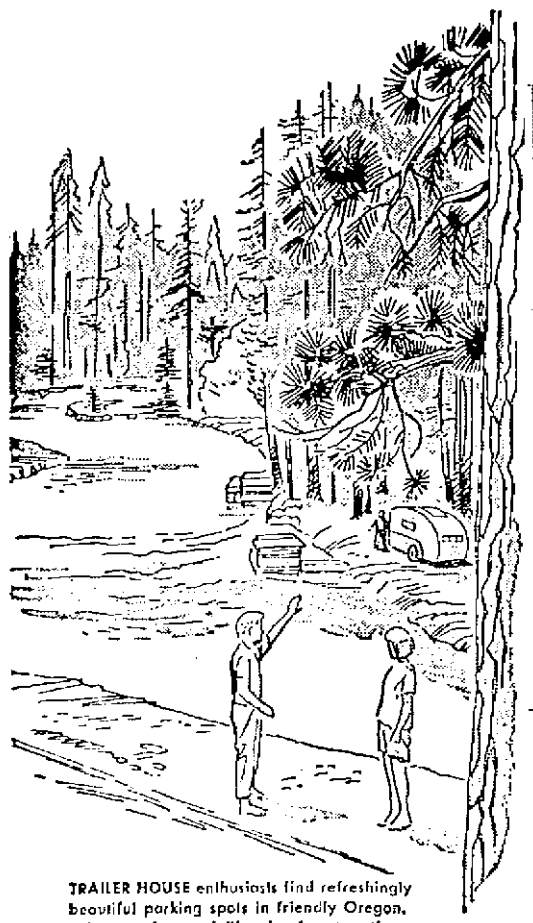

This morning when I put out the trash I found three empty bean cans which I hadn't hidden there!

How to Have Fun with a Garden

By David Gilfillan

Low retaining walls solve a grade problem. Cascading mums over wall, background flowers enhance setting.

CONTINUING with beginners in garden culture and newcomers to the Long Beach area, I want to urge you to plan your garden so that you will be able to enjoy it instead of being a slave to it. One of the greatest mistakes made by beginners is that of overplanting. Don't be guilty of this common error.

Properly planned and planted, your garden will be a thing of beauty and a place where you will be able to find many hours of enjoyable relaxation. Select planting material suited to your area, plant at the proper time and set up a regular schedule of maintenance. This is the starting point for successful gardening.

Keep in mind constantly that we are living in a small horticultural field all our own. There is no other place in these great United States where plant life depends upon man as it does here. By setting up a schedule of planting, feeding, pruning, spraying and irrigating, you will find that your garden chores will be minimized and that you will actually have time to enjoy the fruits of your labor, something you would not be able to do if you get into a "hit or miss" habit of planting.

I WOULD LIKE to pass along a few suggestions on how to overcome some of the common problems which very often face new home owners. If you happen to have a steep grade on your property, give some thought to the installation of a retaining wall before you start planting ground covers (the usual procedure with inexperienced gardeners).

Trying to grow anything on slopes is always a problem, one that is usually very discouraging. You will be surprised to find out how much of a grade can be taken care of with a retaining wall only 18 inches or two feet high. In the event you have quite a large area that is on an incline, two or three of these low retaining walls will give you the same amount of level flower borders that can really be planted to look most attractive.

The planting of cascading chrysanthemums to drape over a retaining wall is most effective and decorative. The plants, incidentally, are still available in four or five-inch pots at your 'mum grower and can be set out now.

BEHIND the mums you can have such old reliables as the marguerite, geranium, delphinium, day lily, agathea and agapanthus. These are foolproof plants for the beginner. To go with this layout, you can interplant with such summer-flowering favorites as the aster, zinnia, marigold, annual phlox, petunia and dianthus.

The handling of plants, once you bring them home from the nursery, is very important. No matter how careful you are, the young plants you purchase from flats receive quite a shock, so a little extra attention at the time of transplanting will pay big dividends in the months ahead.

You will notice that the nurseryman in removing the plants from the flats uses a small tool similar to a putty knife, cutting the soil around the roots in clean squares. Use the same method when you divide the small plants in transplanting to your garden.

WHEN YOU ARE ready for planting, have all the necessary tools by your side. These should include your putty knife, watering can and hand fork. In setting out the plants, keep in mind that you should never plant in straight rows. In other words, don't set one plant directly in front of another. Always move the second plant over so that it will alternate. This method of planting will give the plants room to grow and the border will be more attractive when in bloom than if the plants were set out in straight rows.

The plants (annuals) should be planted in drifts or clumps, using 12 or 18 plants to each clump as shown in a previous column. Wherever possible, use separate colors. You never know what you are going to have in the way of color if you purchase mixed plants.

Coming to the actual planting, hold the small plant in your left hand, remove enough soil with your right hand to accommodate the roots, then draw the soil back in around the roots and press it down firmly.

YOU WILL NOTICE as you do this that you will have small saucer-like indentations around each plant. Leave this as it is until you have set out about a dozen plants, then take your watering can and fill those depressions with water. Repeat this three times to wash the soil in around the roots, then rake the bed over smooth.

The young plants may wilt a little the first few days. If this happens, don't make the mistake of pouring water on the plants two or three times each day. This will shut off the air supply and the plants will die. Water the plants only as the soil begins to dry out and be sure to scratch the surface of the soil frequently with your cultivator to prevent the soil from crusting.

I will have more for you beginners next week. In the meantime, do as much planting as you can now if you are a new home owner so that you will be able to enjoy your garden later in the season.

DON'T FORGET DEPARTMENT . . . Don't forget to set out those citrus trees just as soon as you can possibly do so. . . . Don't forget that all local nurseries have a complete selection of container-grown shade trees. Plant them now for early shade. . . . Don't forget this is a good time to start dichondra lawns. . . . Don't forget to spray your roses regularly to keep them free from aphis, thrips and mildew. Use the special combination spray you can purchase at all nurseries. . . . Don't forget to start feeding your fuchsias and tuberous begonias liquid fish fertilizer. . . . Don't forget to pinch the centers out of your zinnias when they are five inches high. . . . Don't forget you can buy young plants of both fuchsias and tuberous begonias in small flower pots at all garden supply dealers. . . . Don't forget to complete your spring planting for summer color as soon as possible. . . . Don't forget to tell your nurseryman you saw his ad in the Independent, Press-Telegram. . . . Don't forget the Southland garden section next Sunday, and don't forget that the man who goes to church on Sunday will enjoy his garden better on Monday.

Tips on Gardening

GARDENING TIPS for the week . . . For a tremendous flash of color plant the ever-popular canna. The plants should be set in borders or beds as they are at their best when used for mass color effects. One or two plants will not do much of a job. Color range includes pink, red, yellow and peach.

Dahlia tubers should be placed in moist peat or sand until the sprouts appear. In this way the grower will know whether the plants will grow or not. Do not break off the tiny shoot. Dahlias thrive in either sun or partial shade.

Fruit trees, roses and all shrubs that have been planted during the past few months must have plenty of water until they are thoroughly established. Lack of moisture is probably the biggest single factor in the failure of new transplants to develop rapidly.

Broad-leaved rhubarb and thistle-like artichokes can be grown in planters, both plants edible, ornamental.

Ornamental and Edible

IT IS AMUSING, and economical as well, to have decorative plants that are edible. Broad-leafed rhubarb and thistle-like artichokes can be grown easily in window boxes or in patio flower boxes.

A few stalks of tender rhubarb pulled for a pie, will soon be replaced by quick-growing young stalks so the ornamental effect will not be changed.

A modern apartment house in a Los Angeles suburb has carried out this clever idea.

—BERTHA BLANCHARD

Alessandro

had ridden home, rode up, and on seeing Juan poured out a volley of oaths, levelled his gun and shot him.

"AFTER JUAN had fallen on the ground, Temple rode closer and fired three more shots into the body, one in the forehead, one in the cheek and one in the wrist, the woman looking on. He then took his horse, which was standing tied in front of the house, and rode away. The woman, with her baby on her back, walked 35 miles to the Cahuilla village, taking 18 hours to do so, and told what had happened. The murderer went to the nearest justice of the peace and gave himself up, saying that he had in self-defense shot an Indian."

By Dorothy Jonson

As soon as camellias finish blooming, they should be made comfortable for their summer rest.

First of all, they should be given a cleanup spray with a light oil emulsion so as to cleanse them from T s c a l e, spider, mites and other molesting insect life. This is important for both their health and comfort.

After that, they should be fed with any good camellia fertilizer. It's good to give them a little soil sulphur and iron, digging the former in with a little pronged fork so as not to injure the fiber roots, and letting the latter lie on top of the soil, in the root-growing area. Then apply a good thick mulch. You can use leaf mold or steer manure or the cow manure you buy in sacks. Put it on at least two inches thick so that the tender fiber roots of your camellias do not dry out during the hot weather.

CAMERA ANGLES

It's Contest Time

By the Shutterbug

THIS IS ABOUT the time of year we always like to remind our readers of the amateur snapshot contests that are getting under way. Somehow we feel entering a contest is one more opportunity for having fun with your pictures.

During the summer in many cities across the country, newspapers conduct contests especially for amateur snapshooters. There are weekly prizes, and a grand prize awarded at the end of the season. Then all the grand prize winners from the city competitions vie for giant cash prizes in a national contest.

IN SELECTING a snapshot as your contest entry, first be sure that it's a clear, sharp picture. Secondly, check to see whether it has a composition that's generally pleasing to the eye. And finally, ask yourself if it has universal appeal — whether it would tell a simple, direct story to another person who may have no familiarity with the subject.

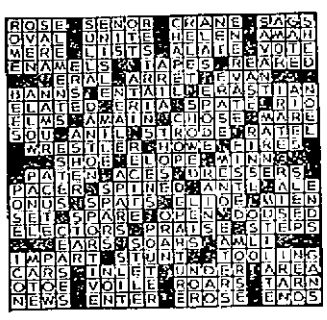

If your snapshot seems to fill these specifications, don't hesitate to enter it in one of the contests.

MORE OFTEN than you think, an unplanned picture taken with a simple box camera by a casual Sunday snapshooter is the very one that walks away with the top honors.

So start watching for announcements of amateur snapshot contests — and right now begin sorting out your snapshots for suitable entries.

LONG BEACH CAMERA Guild will hold a black and white print competition and a color slide contest at 8 p.m. Wednesday in Municipal Art Center, 2300 E. Ocean Blvd., This double competition will leave the evening of May 15 open for a joint meeting of the Long Beach Cinema Club and the Long Beach Camera Guild, further details of which will be announced in this column.

Women Rule Home Plans

HOME BUILDERS and designers may not relish it, but the women of the country are leading them around by the nose.

For the past decade or more, the lady of the house has been calling the shots and telling just how she wants her new home built. The smart home builder listens, or goes broke.

The authority is the U. S. Department of Labor, which is responsible for all sorts of surveys, some of which never see the light of day. This particular survey which placed the women of America on record for all time regarding their opinions on home design, is mighty revealing.

FIRST OFF, women want larger homes than were built immediately after World War II. The average house being built today is nearly 1270 square feet.

They want more functionalism, more built-ins, better space use, more open area homes, more appliances built in with the home originally.

Above all else, they want wood used liberally throughout their homes. They want wood sided homes, the survey shows, by a margin of 89 per cent. Equally as many women wanted wood kitchen cabinets, wood built-ins all over the house, wood storage drawers and cabinets, and a lot of wood paneling.

THEY SAID WOOD gave them a feeling of good style, and well-being. Some had seen walls paneled with the rich colors of this wood left natural so that the grain and texture would help with the decor. Others had seen western red cedar and loved its rich, autumn reds and browns. Still others had seen elegant beauty in champagne colored west coast hemlock, as paneling and for built-ins. Nearly nine out of ten women want to live surrounded by wood because it has warmth and friendliness.

HOW TO Find Space, Lay Out Games on Your Lot

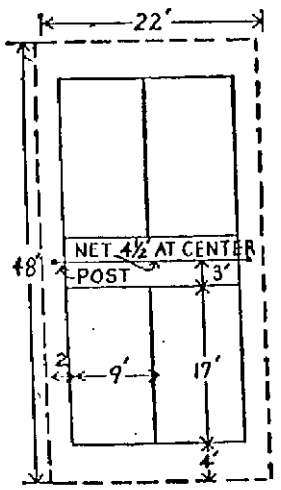

EVEN a stamp-size city lot provides room enough for many games. Don't interpret the space requirements for these games too rigidly. Instructions with each of the court-game sets usually give small-space variations. Use these diagrams as reference, but tailor them to the space you have.

1. VOLLEYBALL. Standard game is a twelve-man, two-team setup. In actual back-yard practice, it becomes a come-one come-all affair. The drawback for most: it takes a sizable chunk of space. Equipment includes volleyball, strong net, and posts.

2. SHUFFLEBOARD. You'll need a paved surface for this game—smooth drive works fine. Six-inch discs, 4 red and 4 black or blue, allow for singles or doubles play. Equipment: 8 discs, 4 shovels.

3. DECK TENNIS. Two players, or as many as 16, can enjoy this "shipboard" favorite. Equipment: 2 posts, net, and a rubber ring called "teniquoit."

4. BADMINTON. Doubles or singles play this racket game, an all-time favorite. Equipment: 4 rackets, shuttles or shuttlecocks, a net and marking equipment. Nets can be taken down easily when not in use.

5. CROQUET. Even though there are some very formal rules, croquet can be a cutthroat game with no holds barred. There are several court setups. One shown is "modern croquet." A square court style is called American croquet; it requires a 60x30 court.

6. HORSESHOES. There are many variations of this game. When you've mastered the back-yard style, investigate tournament game. Since regulation shoes weigh 2½ pounds, be prepared for two pits in grass around stakes. Move stakes closer for youngsters.

PETER G. STATHIS
Kings Love 'em

WHEN YOU come right down to it, nothing smacks more of luxury than a freshly cracked crab served on a bed of chipped ice.

This is a dish enjoyed by kings, presidents and governors. It's also enjoyed by Long Beach area epicures wise enough to visit the Sea Food Grotto at 701 E. Ocean Blvd., where half a crab on ice is being featured with a complete dinner for only $2. (The crab is also served a la carte for $1.50).

The Grotto's trio of owners—Peter G. Stathis, his cousin Big Pete Stathis and Andrew Bratsalis—buy fresh beautiful crabs shipped from Northern California's Eureka Bay. The crabs, which will be in session until June, are served with mayonnaise or cocktail sauce, a smooth bisque (soup), salad, choice of potatoes, a second vegetable, bread and butter, choice of beverage and choice of dessert.

THE SEA FOOD GROTTO, famed for its wide variety of ocean specialties, is also currently featuring another delicious variety of crab. This is the giant king crab from Alaska. The large broiled legs of this unique creature are $2.75 on the complete dinner. Two more interesting Grotto dinner delicacies are fried jumbo Louisiana frog legs, $2.75, and a real bargain dish—grilled fresh corbina for $2. The latter belongs to the sea bass family but has a finer texture and is quite a bit juicier. Among the other entrees featured are abalone, lobster, scallops, shrimp, swordfish, halibut, salmon, sand dabs, barracuda, rainbow trout and steamed clams.

Peter G. Stathis, the Grotto's host, is a former athlete and a great baseball fan. He'll attend the world series this fall—and he hopes it will be between the Boston Red Sox and the Cincinnati Redlegs. "I'm praying that the Yankees won't be in it," he says. "I HATE those Yankees!"

How to drive the new turnpikes see page 16

The author boots Bold Ruler home. So far he's ridden in 17 Kentucky Derbys and won five — both records.

I'll always remember...

A poem by Granny

by EDDIE ARCARO

"I've heard them hiss Hans Wagner and . . . snarl at Cobb . . . But Eddie, Ted and Joe, get this — they never boo a bum."

As I get ready this week to ride in the 83rd Kentucky Derby on Saturday, I'll think often of those two lines of a poem, written by the late Grantland (Granny) Rice and dedicated to Ted Williams and Joe DiMaggio — and me. If it weren't for that poem, I might be just another guy this Saturday watching the greatest of horse races from a seat in the grandstand.

Since I've been riding — over 20 years now — racing fans have booed me. Sometimes this happens when I win; when I lose, always. I don't know why I'm singled out, though it does happen to other athletes too; DiMaggio and Williams are examples. Of course, fans have a right to boo. Still, it makes me sizzle.

It hurt most after I'd won the 1948 Derby aboard Citation. It was my fourth Derby winner, tying a record, and I thought sure the booing would end. But just as certain as death and taxes, the next time I rode an also-ran, the jeers rolled from the stands.

It started to bother me, so much so that occasionally I couldn't sleep nights. My riding was affected. Then someone showed me Granny's poem.

Right then and there I decided to stick it out. First of all, the poem started me thinking that if I gave up the chance to make over $100,000 a year because of some booing, I'd be an idiot. Second, it brought home something to me that a lot of people don't realize: You only get hooted when you're at the top, when you're a champion; the crowd ignores perennial also-rans.

The crowds still boo me, of course, and sometimes it rankles. But mostly I think of Granny's line — "they never boo a bum." And when you look at it that way, aren't boos really the sincerest kind of compliment? ■

On Parade

A YEAR AGO PARADE announced the first Guidebook and Guidemap ever published on America's fast-growing network of high-speed toll roads — the turnpikes. Vacation-conscious readers responded with more than 100,000 orders. Once the smoke had cleared, intensive work began on a new 1957 edition. The aim was to justify your confidence with a Book and Map that would be fresh, up-to-date and even more useful.

Turnpike authorities from coast to coast were queried for new facts. The American Automobile Association, the National Park Service and other Federal agencies, independent researchers and artists — all were asked to contribute. Assistant Managing Editor Ed Kiester not only co-ordinated this flood of material but personally drove the newly opened New York-Chicago turnpike route, both ways. Photographer Ben Ross went along to shoot a pictorial "log."

The result of months of work is described today on pp. 12-17. We think PARADE's 1957 Turnpike Guidebook and Guidemap will answer your need for complete, authentic, up-to-the-minute information on vacation travel. (Don't miss the special offer on p. 13!) Incidentally, if you've enjoyed the "PARADE Vacations" articles in the last two issues, you'll be glad to know there are four more to come.

HEADLINE NEWS in Washington today often is made by one or another young man named Kennedy. Who are the Kennedys? For a revealing story of this new "brother act" by PARADE's own Washington experts, turn to p. 8.

New! VEAL Chop-ettes

QUICK FROZEN

CHOP-ETTES

Wait till you taste Chop-ettes (and don't wait long)! They're breaded, boneless "chops" of all pure meat with the very same country-kitchen goodness as Rath's famous Ham and Bacon. No defrosting—ready to sizzle and serve in 4 to 7 minutes.

Time and time again, you'll thank your lucky stars for Rath Chop-ettes. So quick . . . so easy . . . so delicious!

Choose corn-fed Pork Chop-ettes, lean Veal or juicy Beef Chop-ettes. Each variety is chopped—breaded in the best egg breading you ever tasted—then quick-frozen to hold every smidgen of that country-kitchen flavor.

Pan-fry them (still frozen), or let 'em bubble to a golden brown in your deep-fat kettle. They'll be crisp on the outside, moist and tender on the inside—and real, real good.

Get Rath Chop-ettes the first thing tomorrow from your dealer's Frozen Food Case.

The new Bel Air Convertible with Body by Fisher

Smoothest thing going...that's Chevy!

Chevy's velvet-smooth vitality and solid, road-leveling ride put more pleasure in your driving. And its smoothly sculptured lines and fine finishing touches give you more to be proud of.

That's the beauty of a Chevrolet. Its gay, graceful styling promises a lot of pleasure. And it sure lives up to its promise! The closer you look at it, the more you find to be proud of. You see solid Fisher Body construction and fine details that would do even a high-priced car proud. Chevy's not just beautiful—it's built to stay that way!

When you turn the key, you find the going's every bit as good as the looking. You're directing performance with split-second response—up to 245 h.p.* underfoot—with light, precise steering at your fingertips. You're driving a car that seems to do everything with ease. That goes for taking steep grades, tight turns or just holding a long, straight line on the highway. You begin to see what we mean by sweet, smooth and sassy. Stop in and sample this new Chevrolet in action.

SENATOR AND COUNSEL — John Kennedy, 39, and brother Robert, 31 — strike a fraternal pose for PARADE.

Washington 'brother act'

Keep an eye on those young Kennedys of Massachusetts

by JACK ANDERSON and FRED BLUMENTHAL
PARADE Washington correspondents

WASHINGTON, D.C.

In recent weeks this town has realized it has something pretty special on Capitol Hill: two young brothers from Massachusetts who are making more of a stir than any such "brother team" in memory. One is a Senator, the other a Senate investigator. Both are devout Catholics of Irish descent, born to wealth, personable, friendly and ambitious. Both seem destined to play an important role in the Democratic Party, and hence in America's political future.

The Senator, John Kennedy, is the older brother. Elected first to the House in 1948, then to the upper chamber in 1952, he is a Navy veteran, a World War II hero and author of the best-seller, Profiles in Courage. Last summer he came within a whisker of becoming Adlai Stevenson's running mate. Currently he gets more requests to make speeches (at least a dozen a day) than any other Democrat in Congress. Considered a liberal, he has sponsored legislation (including fair employment and civil rights) which, added to his great personal popularity, makes him the shining hope of many Democrats for 1960.

The Younger Brother

The Senate investigator, Robert Kennedy, is the younger brother. Eighteen months after taking a law degree at the University of Virginia, he came here in 1953 to join the staff of the Senate Permanent Investigations Subcommittee. Among his first acts was to help expose U. S. merchant-ship trading with Iron Curtain countries. Later he turned the spotlight on payoffs in the Government's buying of military uniforms. That brought him in contact with garment-industry labor racketeers and led, indirectly, to the current investigation of labor-management relations. As chief counsel of the Senate Select Committee, he has produced a round of headlines and is set to help create plenty more.

The brothers, then, might be called young crusaders. Observers feel both may so regard themselves. Jack Kennedy is crusading for a more effective Party. Bob Kennedy is crusading against corruption. Simultaneously, both are crusading in behalf of themselves — and of each other.

Alike in many ways, each holds the other in the highest regard. Jack says Bob is the key to the recent revelations of corruption in organized labor. Bob says Jack is heading for the top. Jack, though on the Senate Select Committee, has stayed in the background to let Bob shine. Bob admits frankly that his No. 1 ambition is to advance Jack's career, his own progress taking second place.

This Alphonse-and-Gaston relationship, as disarming as it is productive for both parties, reflects the strong clan feeling of the Kennedy family and its forthright head, Joseph Patrick. A largely self-made man who early saw the value of practical training in politics, Joe Kennedy went from an Irish section of Boston to outstanding success in banking, business and industry. Along the way he served as Ambassador to the Court of St. James's. He also imbued his nine children (seven now living) with tenacity, willingness to work and a flair for getting along with people — all basic to political success.

In pushing Jack and Bob along the upward road, their father has spared no expense where expense seemed justified. Jack's 1952 Senate campaign is a case in point. Outwardly it looked like a spirited amateur effort. Behind the scenes, however, a large staff of speech writers — some getting $1,000 a week — toiled for months to insure the best possible delivery for Joe's likable, tousle-haired boy.

That campaign, too, showed the Kennedy clan feeling at its best. Brother Bob managed it; sisters Eunice, Patricia and Jean stumped the state of Massachusetts holding tea parties; even their mother flew home from Europe to help. After the election, losing candidate Henry Cabot Lodge, Jr., was offered this consolation: "Don't feel badly about it. You only lost by 9,500,000 gallons of tea."

Mr. Kennedy Regrets

So active were the Kennedys, in fact, that one rally produced what may well be the shortest political speech on record. Bob showed up alone. "My brother Jack," he told the crowd, "regrets very much he's unable to be with you. My sister Eunice regrets she can't be here. My sister Patricia is sorry she can't be here, and my sister Jean regrets she can't be with you. If my brother Jack were here, he would tell you that Lodge has a very poor voting record." End of speech.

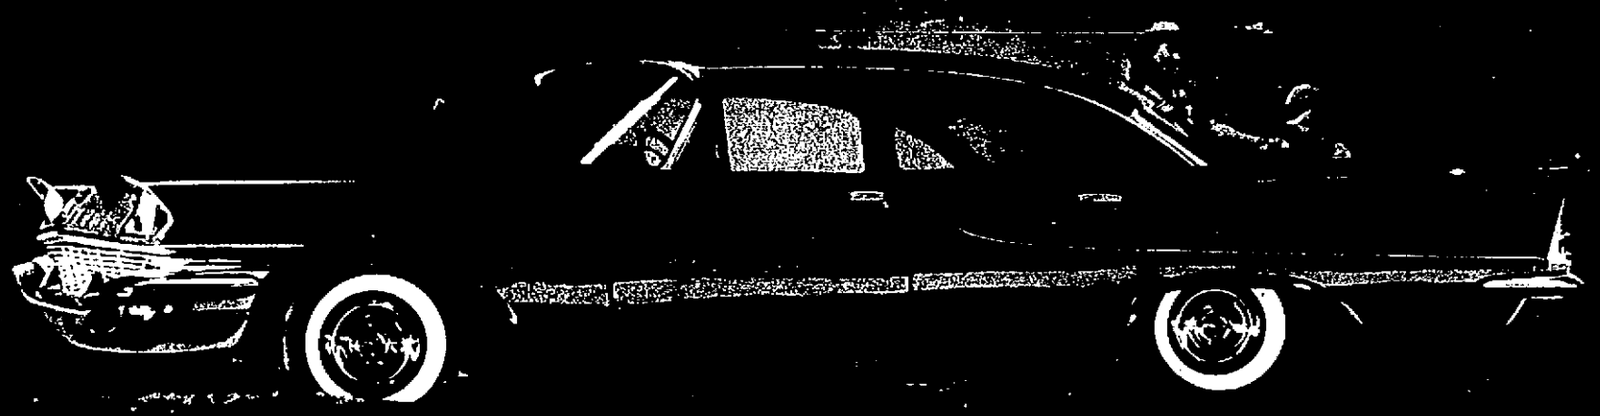

Keeping the energetic Kennedys in line is a man-sized job, and Old Joe is the right-size man. When the clan gathers at his Hyannisport, Mass., estate, his word is law. Meals are served the exact moment he orders them. No one drinks (including in-laws, one of whom is Patricia's husband, actor Peter Lawford). If Father wants to see a movie, everyone dutifully troops up to his private projection room. One day last summer Jack and Bob were playing touch football when Old Joe wanted to take a nap. From an upstairs bedroom came his majestic bellow: "Shut up!" Jack (now 39) and Bob (now 31) abruptly stopped their horseplay and spoke softly until the nap was over.

Old Joe even operates by remote control. The staff of his office on New York's Park Avenue has, among other duties, responsibility for handling his sons' finances, issuing their credit cards, making out their tax returns, buying their homes. When Jack was married in 1953 to pretty Jacqueline Bouvier, a onetime reporter, the staff found them a huge home in McLean, Va. It proved lonely for "Jackie" (the couple has no children), so the staff arranged a switch with brother Bob, his wife and their five small youngsters, who had rented a place in Washington's fashionable Georgetown section. The Bob Kennedys now live in McLean, the Jack Kennedys in Georgetown.

On another occasion Jack was taking a friend to lunch at an ultra-swank New York restaurant. When he went to sign the check, the waiter whispered something in his ear. Shortly Jack told his guest: "Dad's cut off my signing privileges here. Do you mind taking care of it?"

Despite such evidences of power, however, Joe Kennedy has not imposed his political philosophy on his sons. Of Jack he has said, "We don't agree on anything!" Bob seems naturally more congenial to his father's way of thinking. "He's a great kid," the latter once said. "He hates the same way I do."

Joe, Jr.'s, Heirs

Actually, both boys are to some degree the political heirs of their older brother, Joe, Jr., who was the father's original hope to follow in his footsteps. When Joe, Jr., was killed in World War II, his mantle passed to Jack. And Bob, who was taking Navy-officer training at Harvard, promptly quit to enlist as an ordinary seaman and serve on a destroyer named for the fallen brother.

After the war Jack was briefly a reporter and a social worker before deciding to run for Congress. (Intimates say the decision was as much his father's as his.) Bob meanwhile finished up at Harvard, went on to law school and Jack's 1952 campaign.

Soon thereafter Bob was tapped by Sen. Joseph McCarthy to join his investigating staff. Bob accepted, even though his brother Jack was not one of McCarthy's great admirers. But he soon clashed with Roy Cohn, then McCarthy's chief counsel, and resigned. Two years ago he returned as chief counsel, the post he since has filled with notable acumen.

Jack, of course, has received far more national attention than Bob: his job is a good deal more public, and he has been in Washington longer. His speeches and votes are on the record: he has inveighed against giving up the Federal rights to tideland oil, introduced revisions to the Federal lobbying law, sponsored legislation creating a National Library of Medicine. Particularly he has been a spokesman for the liberal wing of the Democratic Party.

In the current investigation of labor racketeering, for example, the Senate had trouble finding a liberal Democrat to serve on the committee. Liberal Democrats have been indebted to organized labor on more than one occasion. At Bob's urging, however, Jack Kennedy accepted the job. Bob proudly pointed to this later as evidence of his brother's political courage.

What Bob himself stands for isn't so clear. To date he has functioned primarily as an investigator. This, perhaps, accounts for the slightly conspiratorial air that sometimes tinges his daily activities. Bob also has a lower boiling point than his brother, and can take sharp issue with persons he considers uncooperative. His No. 1 personal foible is an excessive fondness for chocolate. His idea of a dream dessert is chocolate cake with chocolate icing, topped by chocolate ice cream with chocolate sauce.

The Name Is Magic

It's possible Massachusetts someday will have two Kennedys in the Senate. Their name is so popular in the state that in 1954 a John F. Kennedy breezed through the general elections before the public realized he was a foreman in a razor-blade factory. Today Jack Kennedy is concentrating on reelection to the Senate in 1958. An overwhelming vote would add to his already gathering stature for the 1960 Presidential race.

Jack is realistic about his chances for the Presidency. He knows his youth is a handicap; he knows no Catholic ever has been elected President. Yet he will go into the 1960 convention with both prestige and power.

Bob, meanwhile, might run for the House; as of now, he more likely would try for State Attorney General. He would think twice about the Senate while his brother is still there. But Bob, like Jack, is a political comer.

And always, behind the Kennedy "brother act," is Old Joe Kennedy — a natural political force in himself.

their spirit from their father

FROM THE KENNEDY FAMILY ALBUM...

EIGHT KENNEDYS — plus New York's Cardinal Spellman (r.) — see a portrait of the late Joseph, Jr., unveiled last year at a New York children's home named for him (and Kennedy-financed). He was killed in 1944 piloting a B-24 over the English Channel, won a posthumous Navy Cross.

Stern old Joe Kennedy always demanded that his sons excel in whatever they did. Their resulting will to win shows today in politics as it did in school and sports. At Harvard, Jack was seriously ill when candidates for the swimming team were qualifying for a meet. So he defied doctor's orders and sneaked out of bed at night to train in the swimming pool. (Unfortunately, this made him so sick he couldn't swim at all.)

Once, on Cape Cod, Jack and his older brother, Joe, Jr., arranged a sailing competition. A storm forced the other entries to withdraw, but the Kennedys sailed anyway. In the rough seas, Jack was blown overboard. Joe hauled him out, sailed back to shore and hailed the shivering non-contestants with, "See? It wasn't bad at all out there!"

In the South Pacific, during World War II, Jack commanded a PT boat. One moonless night it was stalking a Japanese destroyer with torpedoes at the ready. Jack's boat was spotted; in the melee, a Japanese ship cut it in two, spilling the crew into the inky waters. Though injured, Jack saved the lives of three men and towed one crewman three miles. They finally got ashore behind the enemy lines, took nine days to make their way to American positions.

Until Jack's operation last year, he and Bob played basketball and football together. Their competitive spirit sometimes made the games rough. Once pretty Jacqueline Kennedy, the Senator's wife, broke a leg playing touch football with them —to the embarrassment of the participants and the general delight of Massachusetts voters. ■

America's turnpikes:

Our new roads will offer you high-speed travel

OPEN ROAD: The Pennsylvania Turnpike, a 360-mile link in the recently completed New York-to-Chicago route, symbolizes new vacation pleasure for Americans.

'Fine and useful,' Secretary of Commerce Weeks says of Parade's Turnpike Guidebook

"PARADE is performing a distinct public service in issuing this fine and useful turnpike guidebook and map at a time when millions of Americans will be taking to the road for their vacations.

"The U.S. Department of Commerce and its Bureau of Public Roads are vitally interested in any project such as this which aids Americans to make better use of this nation's expanding network of highways, of which turnpikes are an important part.

"Your readers should find PARADE's map and driving guidebook, prepared with the help of the Bureau of Public Roads, a reference document of lasting value."

Tomorrow's roads today anywhere. So can today's—if you know how to use them

Sinclair Weeks

TOMORROW, VACATIONERS from Yakima, Wash., and Portland, Me., will face each other across a vast new network of multi-lane, high-speed divided highways: 41,000 miles of road, built by the Federal and state governments at a cost of $50 billion. Motoring Portlanders then can roll all the way west without meeting a stoplight, a crossroad, a hairpin curve or a steep grade.

Tomorrow still is 13 years off. Today, however, you can get the same running start by capitalizing on the older highways that sired the new roads. The future interstate system will carbon-copy America's turnpike system. Today 2,500 strategically placed miles of turnpike — closed, multi-lane, divided, toll express roads — extend to vacationers an invitation to ease, speed, less time at the wheel and more time for fun.

A year ago, PARADE published its first survey of turnpikes (including free roads which measure up to turnpikes). Maybe on your last vacation you drove one — or more than one — turnpike. But new strands have been stitched to the turnpike web since last vacation season. Here's how they have further preshrunk travel time:

- 40 million Americans now can reach Cape Cod in an easy day of driving.
- Motorists bound for the Florida Keys and Caribbean can whiz by, in minutes, congested east-coast areas that once took hours to pass.
- Easterners headed for Western parks can swoop from New York to Chicago (see pages 16-17) in 13 to 14 hours' road time.

Five Brand-new Turnpikes

But these random examples cite only three new toll roads. Five new turnpikes have opened since last summer. The Kentucky Turnpike, 40 miles long, funnels traffic around Louisville and gives it a running start south. The 123-mile Massachusetts Turnpike connects the state's Berkshire playgrounds with the coast. Florida's 108-mile Sunshine State Parkway swings down the coast from Ft. Pierce to Miami. Kansas' 80-mph Turnpike offers a high-speed route through the wheat country.

Total: more than 500 miles, plus the 156-mile Northern Indiana Toll Road, most important of all. When it opened last November, New York and Chicago were linked by a single 830-mile express road. Including New York City's bypasses, one high-speed road now connects Augusta, Me., and the Midwest.

And before you start your trip this summer, three more roads may be completed: the Dallas-Ft. Worth Expressway, Oklahoma's 88-mile Will Rogers Turnpike and a hookup between the New York Thruway and the Garden State Parkway, the "vacationers' highway" which pours traffic down the New Jersey resort coast.

More are being built. Pennsylvania's pioneer turnpike is being extended. The New York Thruway is adding three spurs. Turnpikes are under construction in Virginia, Illinois, Connecticut and Rhode Island. In addition, new free roads with turnpike advantages are being built in several states.

As these roads interlace and interconnect, your vacation benefits multiply. You can save hours — even whole days — by gliding smoothly from one turnpike to another, instead of fighting through a jungle of city streets, stop signs and potholed roads. (The Northern Indiana Toll Road alone eliminates 74 stoplights, 18 railroad crossings, a drawbridge, 15 school zones, 20 major intersections — and immeasurable frayed nerves.)

Like the new interstate highways that are their descendants, turnpikes are built for long-haul driving. They bring the whole country into your back yard — and they should be viewed that way. You're no longer limited to a trip of a few hundred miles because of narrow, car-choked highways. Looking at a map that shows the turnpike system as a system, you'll realize you can drive up to twice as far in the same time.

To help you with such planning, PARADE today announces its 1957 Turnpike Guidemap and Guidebook — expanded and improved and brought up to date as of this summer.

Extensive research by the American Automobile Association and PARADE's staff, aided by the U.S. Bureau of Public Roads, makes the Guidemap unique. At a glance, you can see how turnpikes — a network of red lines — weave together. You can see how divided free roads, marked in green, help speed traffic where no turnpikes exist — or, often, connect turnpikes. You'll see how turnpikes-in-progress (broken red lines) and expressways-in-progress (broken green lines) will speed your travel soon. Other major highways are shown in gray, with route numbers clearly marked.

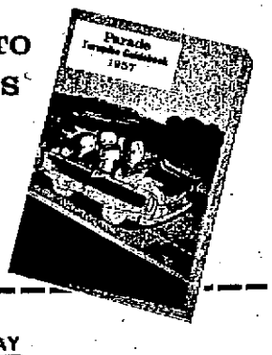

For handy reference, the map folds out of the PARADE Guidebook, an easy-to-read 24-page manual which offers the vital facts — cost, length, route — of each turnpike, plus scores of facts about turnpike driving.

New all has amazing whitening discovery that washes "yellowed" nylon fresh white again, gently... without bleaching!

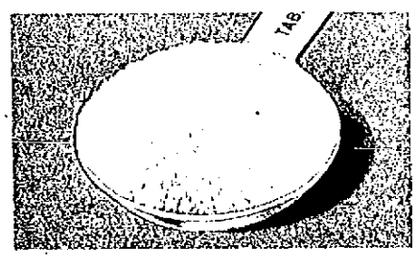

Too "yellowed" to wear with pride. She had just about decided to give away her favorite nylon blouse. Then she heard about new Super-Rinse all with its exclusive whitening discovery... and decided to try it.

It washed fresh-white again after only 3 washings in new all. Laboratory tests prove thick-suds detergents cannot equal new all with AE-160. This amazingly gentle whitener is exclusively in all... and works beautifully on nylon, cotton, and linens.

"Lay-Away Test": Set aside any fresh-washed white you can spare. Something you consider a good example of your whitest white. Then start using new Super-Rinse all. After a few washings, compare the "lay-away white" with one of the whites washed in new all. You'll love the difference you see!

all* costs less to use than leading thick-suds products because all is condensed. You measure by the tablespoon rather than by expensive cupfuls and save on every wash load.

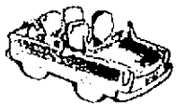

"Controlled suds" will not clog your washer, ruin expensive parts. Automatic washer makers and servicemen prescribe all for best washing results.

Hazards are being licked

The Guidebook can help with vacation planning in other ways. It offers capsule sketches of the national parks (even including Hawaii National Park), lists off-turnpike scenic attractions, suggests motor tours built around turnpikes. It tells you where to stay and how to figure travel costs.

Recently, nutritionists have realized that being cramped at the wheel for hours untracks normal digestion. PARADE's Guidebook tells you what foods agree with long-haul trips, what foods to avoid. And it is filled with hints on driving high-speed roads.

"Highway hypnosis," for instance, is only one problem with which engineers are wrestling. They have found that many turnpike hazards — and accident causes — are mental. The average driver shies from a bridge railing. Even though the road does not narrow, he feels that it does; he drifts into the center of the roadway, a sitting duck for a sideswipe.

Several roads — the Ohio Turnpike and the Northern Indiana Toll Road, most notably — have deliberately widened the roadway at bridges to avoid this illusion. In fact, width is extremely important in newer turnpikes, and will be in the interstate system.

Many new roads will copy the extra-wide shoulders of the Garden State Parkway and New York Thruway, which allow drivers to use all the room that actually is there. Paradoxically, some will build back, in much milder form, hazards that pioneer turnpikes tried to eliminate. Indiana's turnpike, for example, has a gradual curve every two miles to help keep drivers alert.

Says Bertram D. Tallamy, New York Thruway builder who heads the new Federal road program: "We used to think the ideal road was straight as an arrow and flat as a table. Now we know such roads would be ideal only for automatons." Hypnosis can be reduced, Tallamy feels, if drivers have interesting scenery to look at. Tomorrow's roads, Tallamy says, will be routed to pass places drivers want to see.

But this already has been done on the Thruway and some other new roads. The basic fact is that you don't have to wait 13 years for interesting, easy, safe, speedy long-distance driving. Today's turnpikes offer this; PARADE's Guidebook shows you how to capitalize on it.

America's new highways: a progress report

Tomorrow's road network, 41,000 miles of super highway, will cost $27.5 billion. Work has begun on 852 miles, plus 815 bridges. Contractors will bid on another $1.2 billion worth soon; construction will start by summer's end.

Of these roads — four, six, eight and 10 lanes — the Federal Government will pay 90 per cent of the cost.

Work has just begun on an additional 235,000 miles of primary roads — some four lanes — and 520,000 miles of two-lane secondary roads. Costs are split 50-50 by Federal and state governments.

What it takes to be a successful bridegroom today

(with special reference to cash)

The time is rapidly passing when a young man can impress a girl—or her parents—solely with good intentions, good looks and the scent of cologne. The tests today are sterner.

Fundamental is a certain awareness in the delicate matter of money. If you expect some day to be a groom—or if there is one coming up in your family—here are the tests it's wise for a man to pass:

Test 1: He understands the advantages of setting aside money to own stocks or bonds. Nobody is more aware of the fact that investment in the common stock of some sound company can increase family income through dividends, can increase the family's worth if the company grows. He knows that he does not have to be in the upper brackets to invest, that as a matter of fact two out of three shareowners have incomes under $7500 a year.

Test 2: He knows all about the Monthly Investment Plan, including the fact that it enables him to buy stock in many of America's greatest companies for only $40 every three months—up to $1000 a month—helping him, in a steady, convenient way, become an owner of his share of American business.

Test 3: He uses his bean. He knows he should not invest a dime until such basic things as bills and family emergencies are provided for. He knows how foolish it is to risk his surplus money on mere tips or rumors. He is aware that a company may not pay dividends—and may not grow. So he always gets the facts before he buys.

Test 4: He has read our excellent free booklet "INVESTMENT FACTS" which gives the records of some 280 stocks on the New York Stock Exchange which have paid cash dividends every three months for 20 to 92 years. From this booklet he has also learned many interesting facts about investing, such as the cost of buying and selling stocks, where to get good advice, and how to open an account with a Member Firm.

Test 5: Smartest move of all, he has got acquainted with a friendly broker in a Member Firm of the New York Stock Exchange, who is helping him plan an investment program. He knows the broker's job is to help him get facts he wants, give him advice, and serve him when he decides to buy or sell.

When you get hold of this kind of bridegroom you've got a dandy. How do you pass these tests? Let no one put you to shame. Drop in at the nearest Member Firm for the booklet and good advice. It's free. Or send the coupon right now.

WRITER KIESTER tries hopping to loosen leg muscles stiffened by long hours at wheel. Such simple exercises also fight "hypnosis."

New York to Chicago by turnpike

One recent morning photographer Ben Ross and I crossed the George Washington Bridge and headed west. A day and a half later, after a smooth, leisurely trip, we were in Chicago. In 830 miles, we had stopped for no traffic lights, crossed no crossroads, seen no pedestrians.

Such a trip has been possible only since November, when the Northern Indiana Toll Road completed a four-state concrete ribbon linking the nation's two largest cities. Tomorrow, similar long-haul express trips will be commonplace. What we saw showed that tomorrow's driving will be radically different from today's.

We didn't speed. Actually, you can click off the distance in 13 to 14 hours — by keeping stops to a minimum, changing drivers often and racing the clock. We drove mostly at 60, the exact speed limit in New Jersey and 5 miles under the limit in Pennsylvania, Ohio and Indiana. We took frequent breaks, and stopped for the day after eight hours.

Still, we found speed the turnpikes' big asset. Not road-burning speed, but constant speed. Distances melt as each minute means a mile. You're 100 miles from, say, Youngstown, Ohio; you know you'll be there in 100 minutes. If a mountain looms ahead, you know you'll zip over or through it without easing up on the gas.

To travel this way makes it worth the $11 cost. We paid 50 cents on the bridge, $1.65 on the New Jersey Turnpike, $3.90 in Pennsylvania, $3 in Ohio, $1.95 to cross Indiana. The total toll breaks down to about 1⅓ cents a mile.

These are no-nonsense highways, designed for drivers in a hurry. The New Jersey Turnpike, first and most hectic of the four we drove, emphasizes the point. There's a place on turnpikes for the driver who wants to take it easy and inspect the scenery. But such a driver must be extra vigilant. He must keep a wary eye on traffic ahead, which he is approaching at headlong speed, and on traffic behind,

CLEAN CLEAR THROUGH —and Deodorized Too!

THAT'S A FAB WASH!

DAZZLING WHITE, OF COURSE, BUT SOMETHING MORE . . . Your FAB wash gives you a glorious bonus . . . it's deodorized! Clothes washed with old-fashioned products may look clean, but may actually have hidden dirt left in them. But modern FAB washes clothes clean clear through . . . not just bleached white or blued white. And FAB's deodorizing action leaves everything you wash the freshest possible.

It's as if suds and sunlight had pierced through and cleansed every single thread in the fabric. FAB-washed clothes . . . FAB-washed towels . . . FAB-washed bed linens are fresh and sweet-smelling because they're really washed, not just whitened. So let your next wash be clean clear through—and deodorized, too. That's your FAB wash.

FAB Is The Hard-Working, Heavy-Duty Detergent For The Whole Family Wash . . . And Dishes, Of Course!

Parade does 830 high-speed miles without a stoplight which is approaching him the same way.

After two hours, we left New Jersey for Pennsylvania via the new hump-backed Delaware River Bridge, which directly connects the two roads. The pioneer turnpike, the Pennsylvania is not quite so modern as the others, but the mountains it slices through (via seven two-lane tunnels) are spectacular.

Tooling along at 60, we began to realize that the side mirror was the most valuable piece of equipment on our 1957 hardtop. Cars traveling 65 or better repeatedly popped into the "blind spot." A few chilling characters "hung" there, unwilling either to pass or to drop back.

Some such drivers, we felt, showed symptoms of so-called "highway hypnosis," in which you lose judgment of distance and speed. Much has been written about this trance-like state, produced by almost unchanging driving conditions. From our experience, it's doubtful that it ever can be licked completely. We tried all the suggested cures: change drivers often, vary speed, perform exercises (left), stop for coffee. Still, as we passed directly from the Pennsylvania Turnpike to the Ohio, we knew that no "cure" was really that.

Sleep Does the Trick

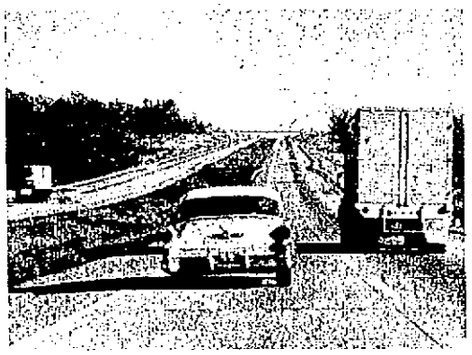

In Ohio, we soon followed one of the turnpike's new signs — "Motel Area Next Exit." (These signs are a real blessing, since some exits have no motels and are miles from anywhere.) A night's sleep ended the hypnosis, and we pushed off on the second, and smoother, leg of the trip.

The Ohio Turnpike and the Northern Indiana Toll Road, which were connected last year, are virtually identical; traffic is light and moves easily over gentle terrain. Extremely wide center malls (minimum: 56 feet) separate traffic lanes, as the picture at right shows; they reduce cross-over collisions and also stop drivers from edging away from the inside edge of the passing lane. Ofter the lanes are on different levels, which reduces glare from oncoming headlights.

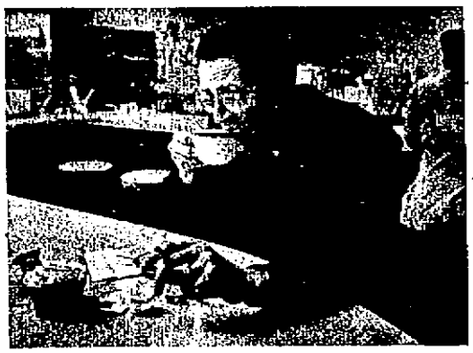

These are the modern touches on the newest of turnpikes. As we left Indiana's toll road at the Chicago line, we could see the construction on a still newer highway — the Calumet Expressway. In 1959, drivers will be able to continue their trip right into Chicago's Loop. Meanwhile, the road from New York invites you — now. ■

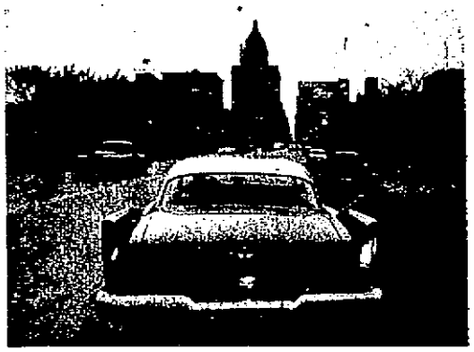

CHICAGO BOUND, PARADE's "tourists" get their first toll ticket at entrance to New Jersey Turnpike.

WIDE ROADS give drivers plenty of elbow room. In some places, lanes are out of sight of each other.

COFFEE BREAK helps Kiester relax at Ohio restaurant. Turnpike restaurants are spaced 15 to 25 miles apart.

JOURNEY'S END outlines Chicago skyline. By 1959, turnpikes will take westbound traffic around Chicago.

NEXT WEEK: Two remote sandbars off the North Carolina coast have been bypassed for years. Now, new roads linking them to the mainland forecast a booming beach resort in the future. Read about an Ohio family that got there first — and how you can do the same.

What makes a girl

Have you ever wondered why some girls seem to be popular without even trying? And why others, no matter what they do, never are?

When I say "popular" I don't mean the girl who is liked only by boys. Or the big wheel who gets all the offices, but whom nobody likes very much. Or the girl all the other girls like, but who doesn't seem to have what it takes with the opposite sex.

The girl who dates, the girl other girls like, the girl who, if she wants to be, is chosen for clubs, elected to office, the girl teachers can count on — that's the girl who really is popular.

Today's example is Pat Holt, who lives in Rockville Centre, N.Y., with her attractive mother, engineer father and a younger sister and brother. A Southside High School senior, 17-year-old Pat is brown-eyed, medium blonde, 5' 6" and 120 lbs. A typically pretty American girl, Pat has a smile and a "hi" for everyone. She seems to be relaxed and poised, even when she's charging around — which is most of the time.

Girls I talked to said, "Pat's a good winner. You can't begrudge her anything she gets."

One boy said, "Pat's sympathetic. You can talk anything over with her." Another boy said, "Whatever Pat's doing, she always looks neat and pretty."

A teacher said, "If some girl is left out of a discussion, Pat is quick to bring her back. She doesn't do it to get a following; she's just plain nice."

One thing I noticed: Pat has acquired basic good manners. Because she knows what to do and what to say, she doesn't have to worry about how to meet a person or introduce a person, or how to put you at ease.

At school, Pat has a 93 per cent average. She made the National Honor Society as a junior, is vice president of G.O., works for the Red Cross, writes for the year book, is her school's candidate for the State Citizenship Award.

I asked Pat what tips she had for other, younger girls. Here's what she came up with:

"If you expect to have dates and be popular with girls, too, you've simply got to like people — and show it. I doubt," Pat adds, "that you would ever find a snob who was popular — though some might admire her.

"Whatever you do, take it easy. Don't worry. Don't push for what you want. Trying to convince people you're popular won't get you anywhere.

"If you're running for office, remember that there's responsibility connected with the job. One girl I know worked terribly hard to get elected, then simply sat back and did nothing. She made an awful mess of things, and lots of enemies, too."

Popularity to most of us simply means being liked. How can you get along with boys without feeling shy? Have lots of friends among the girls in your class? Talk with adults more easily?

Here's what I think other girls can learn from Pat:

Act friendly. Don't go around thinking all the world is against you. It isn't. But you won't learn this unless you invite friendship. Smile. Say hello.

Be understanding. Try not only to talk, but to listen to your friends. Really listen.

Be honest. One girl called Pat "sincere." One boy used the word "decent." What they meant was that Pat doesn't promote herself by putting on an act.

More Useful Advice

Don't push. Go at your own pace. Not every freshman is ready to date. And the late bloomer very often wins out in the end. The girl who tries too hard at first may wind up by not being liked by anybody.

Look your best. Slouching and slumping simply aren't pretty. Be sure that what you have on is neat and clean and right for the occasion. This makes it easier for you to forget yourself and join in the fun.

Mind your manners. Your parents have been drumming some rules into your head for years. Others you have to pick up as you go along. But lots of girls don't even try. Then they find themselves feeling awkward, tongue-tied, shy, out of place. Knowing the simple rules of etiquette helps to give you poise.

Take it easy. Don't brood over mistakes and disappointments. Friends change; boys you like don't always like you; somebody else gets elected. Pat would say, "So what? That's life."

Pat herself will be off to college next fall. She applied to three, and says she'll be happy in any one of them. She will, too. Pat's that kind of girl. ■

WITH BOYS

Though she doesn't date often, boys like Pat because she "has a sense of humor, and brains — but doesn't flaunt them." Her main interest, Dick Kulp, is at Dartmouth. Here she walks with Dick's brother, Tommy (l.), and another friend.

WITH TEACHERS

Pat (volunteering at switchboard) "is respectful without fawning, has a mind of her own," says teacher Louise Austin.

WITH GIRLS

Most girls consider themselves Pat's friends. Here Pat (r.) is snapped "hacking around" with Nancy Colman (l.) and Judy de Greck, two classmates she sometimes joins for no-date fun on week ends.

Dali

Sleep inspires new

EN ROUTE to a studio in New York, Salvador Dali carries gun he fires to create "bullet" paintings. At 53, he is famed for "freak" techniques — but many artists consider him a master of design.

by KARL KOHRS

dreams up a painting

'masterpiece' fired out of a gun

MUSTACHE points get "cosmic vibrations," Dali says. At full moon they grow "violently."

CROWNED with laurel (to bring on creative dreams), Dali sleeps with new painting. He calls bulletism the "peak" of his career.

NEW YORK.

"Dali," says Salvador Dali, "now sleep always . . . sleep-sleep-sleep. I dream extraordinary dreams about the condition that exists inside the bullet. Then I awake and shoot the gun . . . bom-bom-bom. The image inside the bullet is shot into the lithograph stone and voilà, there is the picture."

Thus the famous Spanish painter, interviewed here the other day, explained "bulletism," the current phase of his artistic career. (An example of one of its results, called The Two Angels, appears at the head of his bed in the photo at right.) In "bulletism," the "brush" is an ancient muzzle-loader (left) which shoots a special shotgun type of shell. Dali bores a hole in it, pours ink into the casing, then fires the shell against a lithograph stone. The resulting splatter is transferred to paper in the usual "blotting" operation.

"This image," Dali explains, "already exists within the bullet, like the chicken within the egg. Alors, I take one hair of the mustache and one hair from the head of my wife, Gala, and with them I trace and emphasize the ultimate design . . . Si!

"Bulletism," Dali goes on, "is the beginning of something . . . the first attempt at the use of the controlled accident, an entirely new technique. Now I work in black and white, but it is possible also in color. So I am working on that.

"With bulletism, I have proved that, instead of killing with a gun, it is possible to create. The explosion brings life instead of death."

That's what the man says, anyway. ■

IRONING RACK: Held upright by a partly open drawer (or by board itself), this steel rack takes up no floor space, won't upset. $2.98. H. H. Horwitz & Assoc., Room 718, 624 S. Michigan Ave., Chicago 5, Ill.

FOR MARBLES CHAMPS: Worn on the belt like a conductor's money changer, this holder for marbles dispenses one at a time. Holds 23 marbles. 69¢. Dyer Prods. Co., 514 Second St., N.W., Canton, Ohio.

FOR PIPE SMOKERS: You don't even have to open this plastic pouch to fill your pipe. The built-in plunger automatically fills and tamps. $1.95. Smoker's Corner, Box 363, Tuckahoe, N.Y.

Toe-saver: For steep downhill cutting with power mowers, where a slip can be dangerous, there's a Y-shaped chain that clamps to each side of mower, lets you guide it from a safe distance. Wood handle. $3.95. Genal Prods. Co., Box 36, Overland 14, Mo.

Easier dishwashing: Load the hollow handle of a plastic dishmop with liquid detergent, wash dishes for week or more without refilling. $1. Leisure Industries, Dept. 51, 96-09 Metropolitan Ave., Forest Hills 75, N.Y.

Play ball, Pop? Father can teach Junior how to bat, doesn't have to chase the ball or worry about windows with a newly developed trainer. Regulation-size ball on a nylon cord is cast (rather like a fishing line) with an aluminum pole, retrieved by pulling a metal ring. $3.95. Elman Prods. Co., 211 Roosevelt Drive E., Massillon, Ohio.

Car scratch remover: Minor scratches that don't go down to the primer coat or bare metal can be hidden with a new cream. Wiping with a dry cloth restores original finish luster. 3-oz. tube: 75¢. Woodhill Chemical Mfg. Co., 1391 E. 33rd St., Cleveland 14, Ohio.

Handy clipper: You don't have to chase flying nails with a new clipper. A receptacle fitted to the blades catches them as you cut. It's 5¼" overall, of high grade steel. $3.95. F. G. Busse, Dept. 54, Vineland 13, N.J.

Pet's door knocker: Your dog can signal to get in or out without marring the door finish with a new board knocker. Mounts on either side of door. $1. House of Finds, Box 77, Tarzana, Calif.

For vacation: Avoid soiling clothes by packing shoes in your suitcase with a new lightweight case. It's 22½" x 18", holds six pairs. $17. Bunte's, 2891 Gibson St., East Gary, Ind.

Add-on anchor: Weighing 9 lbs., a new small-boat anchor is threaded to take a 4-lb. weight that digs into the bottom in rough weather. Anchor: $3.75; weight: $1.50. Thoss Mfg. Co., 206 W. 3rd St., North Manchester, Ind.

Last night I nearly died of embarrassment because of my LOOSE FALSE TEETH!

If you have ever felt this way, use amazing new Poli-Grip cream. With Poli-Grip, false teeth fit tight and snug...won't slip or slide!

Pleasant tasting Poli-Grip cream locks slipping, sliding dentures firmly in place, even anchors shallow lowers.

Unlike messy, hit-or-miss powders, Poli-Grip cream spreads evenly, smoothly... holds plates tighter, longer.

Snug, Tight-Fitting Comfort

The minute you use Poli-Grip you feel its snug, tight-fitting comfort. Poli-Grip lays a wonderful comfort cushion between plates and tender gums to eliminate the friction that rubs gums sore and raw.

Now you can eat steak, corn-on-the-cob...even bite into sticky taffy...without rocking, wobbling dentures embarrassing you. You can laugh out loud, cough, even sneeze. The fear of your plates dropping away from your gums is gone!

What's more, hot liquids like steaming coffee or hot soup will not melt Poli-Grip away as they do weak powders. Poli-Grip grips no matter what!

Start now to enjoy the assurance that comes only when you know your false teeth are locked firmly in place. Try Poli-Grip cream today. At any drug counter. If Poli-Grip doesn't hold your plates tighter, longer than powders...or anything you have ever tried, you get double your money back!

AN EX-SALESMAN, Vice-President Nixon calls salespeople "vital insurance" against the failure of free economy.

SALESMAN (r.) tries "selling" vacuum cleaner to actress on show as part of instruction in door-to-door salesmanship.

ACTRESSES engage in dramatic

A NEW USE FOR TV

It gives tips to salesmen—and everybody gains

On two recent evenings more than 40,000 salesmen in 34 cities sat down to watch a television spectacular. What they saw you will never see on your home TV screen. Yet the show, government and sales leaders agreed, could have a profound effect on all Americans.

Sitting in auditoriums and watching on closed-circuit TV — the picture is piped to the screens by private wires — the salesmen got brush-up lessons in selling from the top men in their field. The lessons were given in straight talks and in dramatic skits, and all of them were priceless. Reason: The men who gave the lessons would never have given them to so many without TV; they couldn't give up the time to travel to 34 separate cities for 34 separate talks.

With Tele-Sell (the name for this new use of TV) all the lessons could be given from one place at one time, thus cutting the cost. For both lessons, totaling three hours, each salesman paid $10, agreed afterwards he'd gotten his money's worth (see opposite page).

How will the consumer benefit from Tele-Sell spectaculars? Points out Arthur (Red) Motley, president of Parade Publications and chairman of the Department of Commerce's National Distribution Committee: "Manufacturers are turning out goods in immense quantities. But will the goods be sold? The crucial point is at the distribution line — marketing and selling."

If the goods pile up at this point, Vice-President Richard Nixon told the salesmen, "Our factories would cease producing and our standard of living would fall . . . Without a strong economy, the cause of freedom [here and throughout the world] would soon falter."

By learning their Tele-Sell lessons well, summed up Secretary of Commerce Sinclair Weeks, "you salespeople help not only yourselves, but free enterprise and America." ■ skit. Woman (r.) is selling a neighbor, proving everybody is prospect.

How salespeople reacted to Tele-Sell

H. SHERWOOD FLATHER, Director of Sales, Bureau of National Affairs:

"It will undoubtedly go down in sales training history as the birth of a new and dramatic way to stimulate this country's sales people to do a better and more professional job."

MARY BAYNES, Owner of a Washington, D.C., gift shop:

"It was inspiring for all fields of selling but particularly to selling in retail stores. The well-presented instruction could very easily be applied to increase sales potential."

CARL HAMRICK, Promotional Sales, Washington Gas Light Company:

"The program was the finest demonstration that I have ever been privileged to attend in the sales field. The dramatic manner in which it was presented was most refreshing."

Low-calorie luncheon

by BETH MERRIMAN
PARADE FOOD EDITOR

Your weight-conscious friends will bless you when you serve this delicious luncheon. It adds up to a mere 322 calories — yet the food looks good and, even more important, tastes good.

CHICKEN AND TOMATO SALAD

Layer 1

- 1 envelope unflavored gelatine
- ½ cup cold water, divided
- 1 can (10½ oz.) cream of chicken soup
- ¼ teaspoon salt
- ½ teaspoon Worcestershire sauce
- ¼ teaspoon hot-pepper sauce
- 1 tablespoon lemon juice
- 1 can (5 oz.) boned chicken, diced
- ½ cup chopped celery
- ¼ cup chopped green pepper
- 2 tablespoons chopped pimiento
- 2 teaspoons grated onion

Sprinkle gelatine on ½ cup of the cold water to soften. Place over boiling water and stir until gelatine is thoroughly dissolved. Blend remaining ½ cup cold water into soup. Stir in dissolved gelatine, salt, Worcestershire sauce, hot-pepper sauce and lemon juice. Chill until mixture is the consistency of unbeaten egg white. Fold in remaining ingredients. Turn into 5-cup mold; chill until almost firm.

Layer 2

- 1 enveloped unflavored gelatine
- 1¾ cups tomato juice, divided
- ½ teaspoon Worcestershire sauce
- ½ teaspoon sugar
- ¼ teaspoon salt
- 2 tablespoons lemon juice

Sprinkle gelatine on ½ cup of the tomato juice to soften. Place over boiling water and stir until gelatine is dissolved. Stir in remaining 1¼ cups tomato juice and remaining ingredients. Chill until mixture is the consistency of unbeaten egg white. Spoon on top of almost firm first layer. Chill until firm. Unmold on salad greens. Makes eight servings.

Wesson® Oil takes the smoke out of frying!

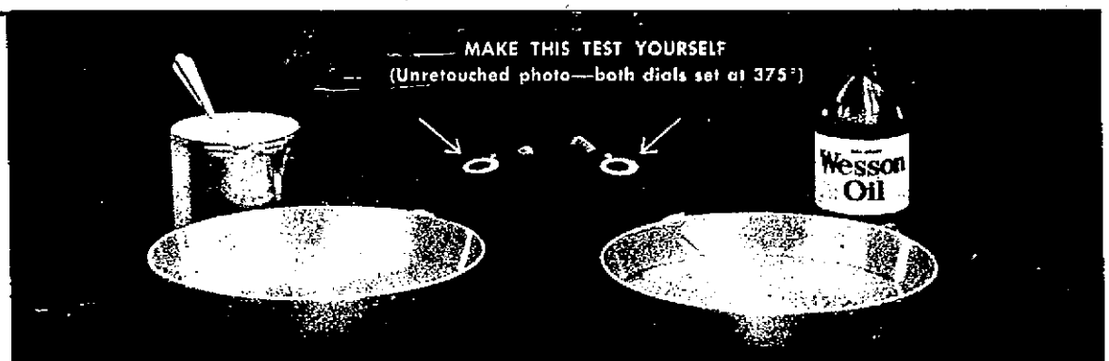

Smoke's out! Flavor's in!

Enjoy cleaner frying with no clinging odor

Brighter flavor in foods—no greasy film even after they've cooled

More safely digestible frying than with costliest solid shortenings

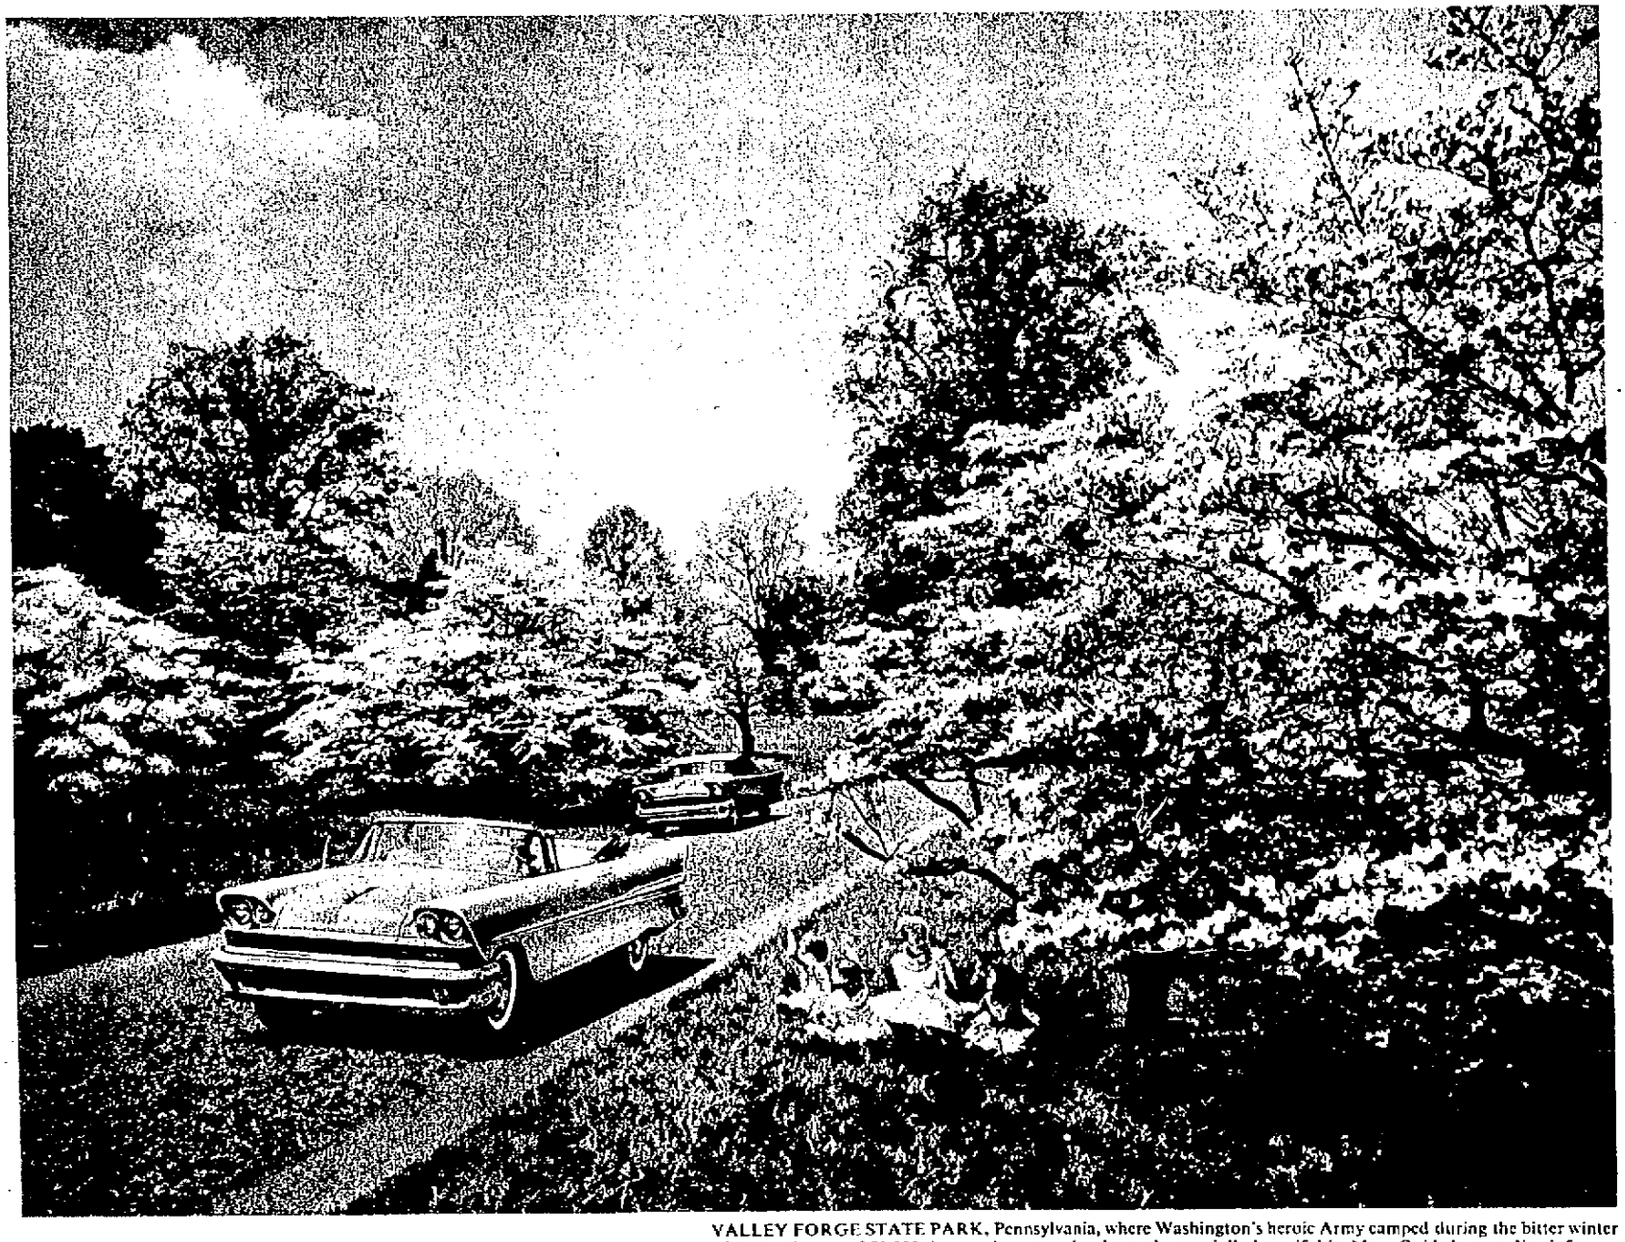

Easier and thrifty—Wesson's the shortening you pour and can use again and again

SOLID SHORTENINGS SMOKE—the special ingredient they contain that makes them good for baking, breaks down at frying temperature, and smells up your kitchen. Besides who wants to eat food fried in smoking shortening.

WESSON OIL DOES NOT SMOKE because it is all shortening in its purest form—nothing added. Wesson is so clear in color, so light in body, it pours almost like sparkling water—it's the freshest money can buy.

ENJOY SPRING IN A NEW CAR

Answer the call of the open road this spring in a new or better used car. You can buy the automobile of your choice now through the C.I.T. Time Purchase Plan . . . the broad plan that includes seven important protections for you, your car, and your family. So stop in this week to see your dealer. And when you've chosen the car you want, ask him to finance it through the C.I.T. Plan. He'll make all the arrangements quickly, right in his showroom. You'll enjoy driving more when you buy your car on the "C.I.T. Time Purchase Plan for Carefree Driving."

YOU GET ALL THESE BENEFITS WITH THE COMPLETE C. I. T. PLAN

1. THE BEST CAR INSURANCE SERVICE YOU CAN GET. Your car is insured against collision, fire, theft and many other causes of loss. No shopping for bids in case of accident. Repairs made promptly and completely by your own dealer.

2. TOWING AND ROADSIDE HELP. You are repaid up to $10 for service costs if your car breaks down on the road.

3. "BORROWED CAR" PROTECTIONS. You, or any relative living with you, get all the foregoing protections when using a borrowed passenger car. (Not available to purchasers in Massachusetts or Canada.)

4. ESTABLISHED CREDIT. You can request any one of our offices to pay a bill for emergency car repairs. You repay in convenient monthly instalments.

5. LIFE INSURANCE. Your family will own your car outright without further payments in the event of your death while this insurance is in force on your life.

6. CASH BENEFITS IN PERSONAL ACCIDENTS. You are covered by a Limited Travel and Pedestrian Accident Policy, in case of your death or loss of sight or limbs from many traffic accidents. (Not available to purchasers in Ohio or Calif.)

7. HELP IN LEGAL DIFFICULTIES. You can get bail bond up to $5,000 at no extra expense if you, or a member of your family, are held in custody on traffic charges. (Not available to purchasers in California or Canada.)

LOCAL SERVICE. Anywhere you drive in the U. S. or Canada, there's one of C.I.T.'s 465 offices nearby to give you immediate action and assistance on these protections.

Today's miracle surgery

From brain to toes, it's saving lives in new, safer ways

by ROBERT P. GOLDMAN

The patient, a 51-year-old accountant, could not walk down a hall without feeling agonizing chest pains. A year before, he had suffered a heart attack. Now, the pains were caused by inadequate blood flow to the heart. No drug offered relief.

In the next hour he was to undergo a daring, inside-the-heart operation. Surgeons would create a new blood supply to the heart by irritating it with talc and sewing a flap of his own chest tissue right into the heart muscle.

Despite the obvious dangers, the man did not die. Far from it. He came through in fine shape. His chest pains disappeared. In three months he returned to work.

For that patient — and millions more who today must undergo all sorts of operations — this is surgery's age of miracles. Techniques undreamed of before World War II are saving and prolonging lives, repairing injured body organs in almost unbelievable ways.

No age group has been overlooked. Tiny infants from a week or a month old are getting some of the benefits of the great new surgical advances. So are people in their 70s, 80s, even 90s.

Today's surgeons can stop your heart and start it again after making repairs. To assure better surgery, they can slow down your blood flow, actually slow the rate at which your body cells "live."

New Parts for Old

They can provide machines to breathe for you during the operation, keep your body's vital fluids in balance.

They can plug up holes in your heart, go inside your brain to repair it, give you a new stomach, a new hip joint, a new jaw, elbow, bladder.

They can replace lost tissue in your skull, move the fingers around on your hand so you can use it effectively once again.

And that's only the beginning. To accomplish the surgical wonders of 1957, doctors use your own tissue, bits and pieces of plastic tubing, plastic sponge, piano wire, ice, stainless steel and even their own fingers to poke little holes in a heart valve to restore full circulation of blood and life itself.

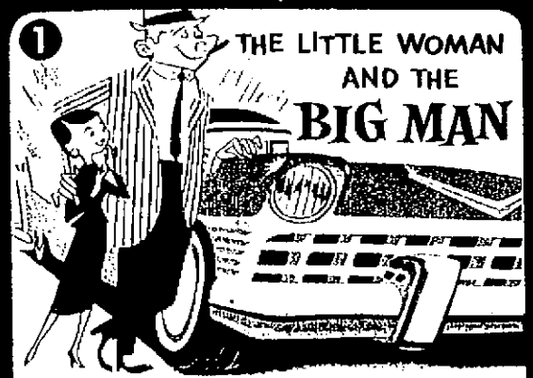

Is it any wonder that you read so often in newspapers of how surgeons have cheated death or disability?

The story behind surgery's present-day miracles may not be as dramatic as the operations themselves. But it is as important.

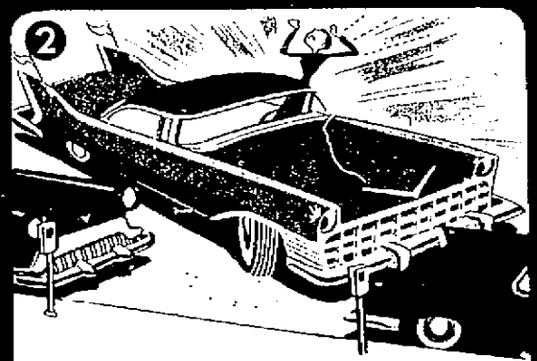

With the end of World War II came a series of medical advances — result of years of research by chemists, pathologists, anesthesiologists and other members of medical-research teams. Their painstaking work makes today's wonder surgery possible.

First came the antibiotics, penicillin and the others, in wide use from 1946 on. These cut down pre- and post-operative infections and thus reduce the chances

Once there was this real Little Woman whose husband was a very Big Man. And he bought a great Big Boat of an automobile.

When the Little Woman drove it, she thought she was piloting a battleship. It was hard to drive. It was hard to park. It was hard to garage.

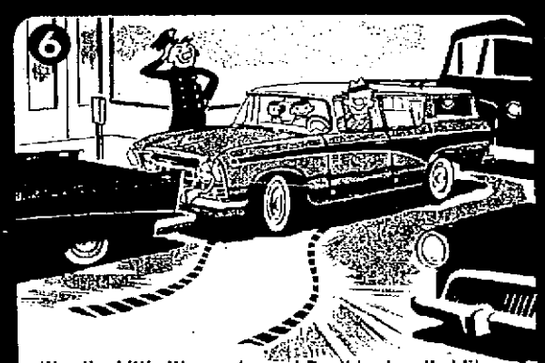

This buggy drank gas like a B-52. "Why," asked the Little Woman, "should I drive two tons of steel to take the kids to school, to shop, or go to the beauty parlor?"

So she took her Better Half by the hand, and they looked at a cute little imported car. But it wasn't big enough to hold the Big Man, the Little Woman and the kids. So then they found . . .

Rambler—only car with "big car" roominess, foreign car maneuverability and economy, the "6", that holds the cross-country economy record, a penny a mile for gas, with overdrive.

Was the Little Woman happy! Rambler handled like a dream. Sipped gas, instead of guzzling it. Fitted in the garage with room left over. Now the Little Woman laughed at friends with big, overgrown cars.

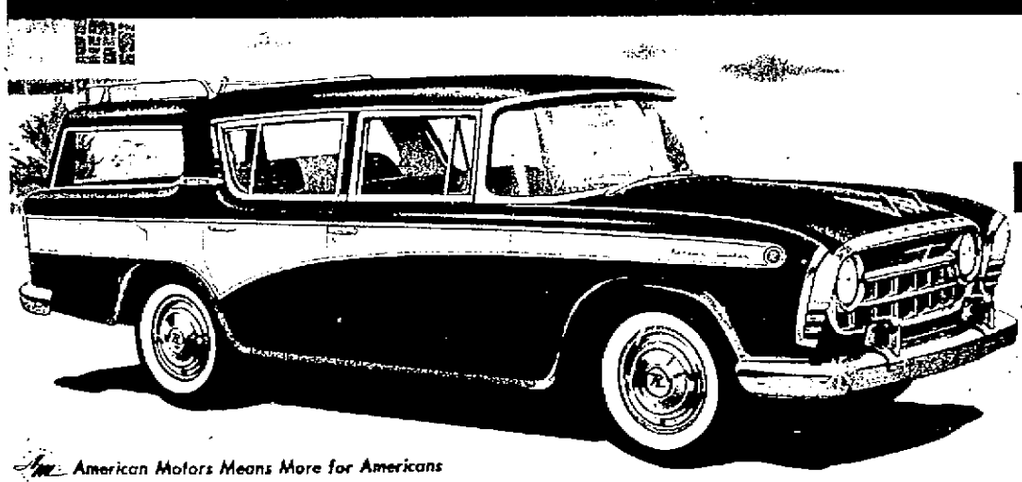

Her Rambler had Airliner Reclining Seats that made up into nap couches for small kids. It had All-Season Air Conditioning, worth its weight in gold come trade-in time. It had luxury features galore.

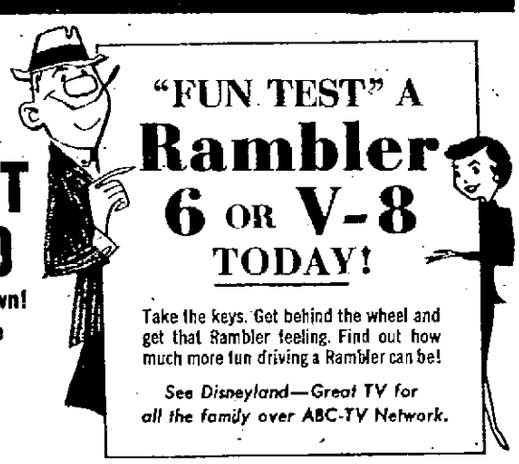

When she and the Big Man figured costs, counted the fact that among all low-priced cars, Rambler is 'way up in trade-in value, they found they could own and operate two Ramblers at the cost of their old Big Boat.

So the Big Man bought a new '57 Rambler V-8 for himself. Little Woman's happy. Big Man's happy. So will you be when you discover how much car you get in Rambler. Try one! Have fun driving!

HEART SURGERY team at work at Johns Hopkins: A 9-year-old girl is undergoing surgery to repair a hole in her heart. At left, a member of the team carefully watches the mechanical heart to make sure it is pumping the right amount of blood. A mechanical lung also was used to help pull that patient through.

Today's amazing feats may of death before, during and after surgery.

Then there was startling progress in anesthesia. Without today's amazing anesthetics, light, medium and heavy — tailored to the patient's needs — much bold surgery would be out of the question.

Other advances followed: improved use of blood for the patient in surgery, increased knowledge of how body fluids sustain life, development of recovery rooms for post-surgical patients and 101 mechanical devices to help maintain life functions while the patient is on the operating table. One more vital factor is the courage of surgeons themselves.

Add it all together and you have the background of today's miracle surgery.

What does all this mean to you? Two things above all: shorter hospital stays and greater safety. Since 1946, many operations have become 20, 50, even 70 per cent safer.

In cancer of the uterus, for example, surgery is 60 per cent safer than it was 20 years ago. And the death rate from the disease, years after surgery, has dropped 40 per cent. Even in lung cancer, a major cause of death, surgery has become 50 per cent safer.

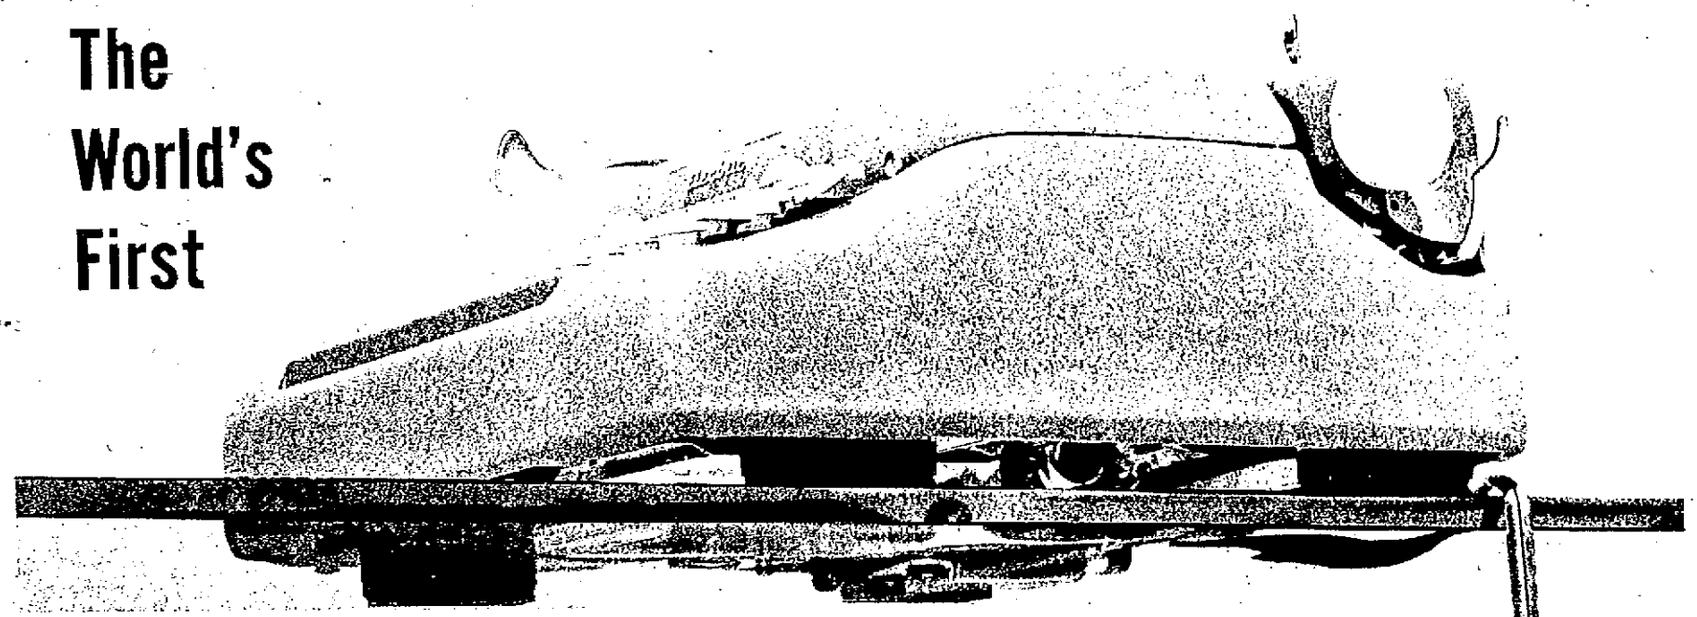

One physician at the Johns Hopkins Medical Institutions, Baltimore, world-renowned for its achievements, sums it up this way: "Increased safety is the most important factor in surgery today. It has improved all the operations and made possible a great many new ones."

A Frontier Explored

Most of the dramatic new ones have come in the field of heart surgery, partly because the heart was the last unexplored frontier of the surgeon.

Heart surgery in the U. S. dates largely from 1944, when Drs. Alfred Blalock and Helen Taussig of Johns Hopkins devised the now well-known "blue baby operation." (This improves circulation by providing a new channel for oxygen-carrying well be surpassed in the near future blood.) Since then, 1,500 such operations have been undertaken at Hopkins — plus countless others elsewhere — with more than 80 per cent success.

Since 1948, surgeons have devised a score of operations to repair defective heart valves, blisters of the heart vessels, holes in the walls of the heart and damage to the heart dating from birth.

PARADE watched an inside-the-heart operation at Johns Hopkins (see photo, left). The patient, a girl of 9, had a hole in a heart wall. During the operation a mechanical heart and lung "breathed" for her, supplied oxygen-filled blood to her brain. Skillfully, the surgeons sewed a bit of plastic sponge into the defect, filling it up.

Now, only a few weeks later, the little girl is up and around, and feeling chipper. Fifteen years ago, that heart defect would have resulted in slow, torturous death.

Close by the heart are the lungs. Here, too, surgery has chalked up notable victories. Removal of TB-infected portions of the lung (thought impossible years ago) is helping, along with use of drugs, to empty today's tuberculosis sanitaria.

The stomach also has been "attacked" by the surgeon, often with notable success. In some stomach-cancer cases, surgeons can remove almost the entire organ, leaving tiny bits of tissue no bigger than a thumbnail which will expand to serve as an "alternate" stomach. A young coal miner injured in a mine accident and later treated at Johns Hopkins is walking around today with a new diaphragm wall, made entirely of a metal, tantalum.

Broken bones and painful bone conditions have come in for their share of benefit in this golden age of surgery.

Metal Replaces Bone

Today orthopedic surgeons, using techniques developed since the war, can give you a new hip, elbow or knee joint. In a hip-bone break, for example, the top of the femur (the thigh's long bone) is replaced by a metal ball and pin which anchors into the femur itself.

One typical patient at Johns Hopkins, an 81-year-old woman who underwent the hip operation, was up and walking on crutches in a week. Formerly, she would have been off her feet four months or more.

Surgeons can even put a new "bearing" in a joint where disease is causing pain. That's the type of operation TV's Arthur Godfrey underwent (see photos). A metal cup is placed atop the femur to ease pain at the hip joint.

The saga of surgery in the past decade goes on and on through other fields.

ARTHUR GODFREY had the type of hip operation shown below in an X-ray. The metal cup (arrow) over the femur is designed to reduce pain caused by arthritis.

The brain surgeon now can operate successfully for a certain type of epilepsy — going right inside the brain to remove the diseased portion. For one 40-year-old epileptic, that surgery has meant the end of seizures for five years. For a 32-year-old woman, it has meant freedom from seizures for four years. There are 1,000 or more patients in the U. S. who have been similarly benefited.

The plastic surgeon can replace tissue lost in the head through disease or injury. Today he does the job by inserting plastic sponge. He can rebuild a jaw with metal and tissue taken right from the patient.

He also can replace a lost thumb simply by moving the first finger into the thumb's position. This operation is important because the thumb carries out 40 per cent of the hand's function.

The cancer surgeon can predict a higher number of successful operations, using today's improved techniques for patients with cancer of the throat, breast, uterus, mouth and a host of other sites.

In addition, "second-look" cancer surgery has come into its own in the past few years. This is a second-look operation for the patient who already has undergone cancer surgery. For some patients it has spelled the difference between life and death.

What of the future in surgery? What are the surgical stories you will read in tomorrow's newspapers?

Probably the most dramatic will come in the heart field. There, doctors are launching a surgical attack against coronary artery disease — the nation's No. 1 killer.

In that disease, heart arteries become clogged with "sludge." Surgeons hope to devise safe operations to "tease" the sludge out of the arteries. After heart attacks such operations could prolong life. They might even be used to prevent attacks.

A few such operations already have been tried, but they are still in the experimental stage.

In the future, too, you will read of experiments to transplant the entire heart and its blood vessels from a person who has died to one whose heart is failing.

Right now, this research is in the animal testing stage.

Challenge of Tomorrow

To the surgeon, perhaps the most exciting new horizon lies in the area of transplanting organs or parts of organs. When the mysteries of transplantation are solved, today's science fiction in medicine will become tomorrow's reality.

Today doctors know that tissue or an organ from one person will not "take" in another person for an appreciable time. Sooner or later the transplant sloughs off.

Each of us has what doctors call an "immune reaction" to another person's tissue. The only exception occurs in identical twins. Two years ago, medical history was made in Boston when the life of one twin was saved via a transplant from his twin brother's kidney.

However, scientists throughout the U. S. are laboring to break the enigma of the immune reaction. When that happens, you will read of kidney, thyroid, skin and other transplants that will startle you.

That is the great surgical challenge of the future. As for today, the late Dr. Evarts A. Graham of St. Louis, one of the world's great surgeons, has pointed out:

"There is no considerable area of the body which has escaped surgical attack. Every organ has now been operated on frequently for a variety of conditions."

And, he might have added, with greater safety to the patient than ever before in human history. ■

HOLLYWOOD GLAMOR...

What those

Is it true that all movie make-up men have the same idea of what constitutes glamor? Their handiwork does show similarities: bleached or lacquered hair, arched eyebrows, straightened or capped teeth and so on. Yet not all actresses want this. Says Doris Day, "I see no reason for covering up my freckles. People like me with freckles." Adds Audrey Hepburn, "Whatever my facial defects or physical inadequacies, they help make up my personality. Why change it?" The make-up experts say, however, that in practically all cases they work with raw material that needs changing. The photos on these pages are their work — and, needless to say, none of the stars is on record as resenting it.

New profits in OLD PLANES

On a recent business trip to South Africa, a shrewd American spotted the fuselage of a crushed Dakota transport sitting atop a tavern. The tavern owner, after picking up the plane for a song, had placed it there to keep the roof from leaking.

After some negotiation, the businessman plunked down $14,000 for the plane's remains, stripped the neon signs from its propellers and shipped the whole works to California. There it was rebuilt. He then sold the plane for a huge profit, and today the old Dakota is merrily zooming about.

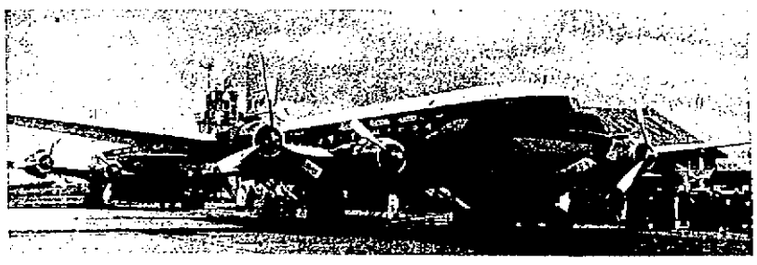

This international transaction is an example of one of the zaniest, most intriguing and profitable business ventures of 1957. The business is the selling of ancient, boneyard or used airplanes by a new breed of brokers. And they are making millions.

The bonanza market for anything that can fly started after World War II, when the airlines and air-freight companies expanded enormously. Add to this the increasing use of private planes by industry and executives and the result is a world-wide demand that outstrips supply.

Some 15 years ago, for example, a brand-new Douglas DC-3, the workhorse of the airways, sold for $40-000. Today the same plane, used, brings twice as much. Or take the more modern DC-6, which generally sold for between $800,000 and $900,000 in 1946. Used DC-6's now bring as much as $1,250,000.

This tremendous demand for planes has even put the airlines in the business of selling and swapping. Recently Swissair sold Convairs to Mohawk Airlines and United Air Lines has sold DC-3's to Northeast. In addition some airlines have sold ships to overhaul factories which, in turn, sell them to individuals and corporations. Unlike used cars, planes today can be sold as many as three times, the price going up each time

To meet the need for planes, aircraft brokers and salvage firms are on an international treasure hunt. One valuable prize was the discovery of a DC-3 that was being used as a hot-dog stand in British Columbia. An overhauler bought the fuselage for $4,000, took out the wooden floor, counter and stools and sent the wreck

USED DOUGLAS DC-6 was sold by Wold Associates to an Australian airline.

PLANE BROKER William C. Wold (l.) watches partner Joseph Barta call overseas. World-wide aircraft shortage is bringing such sellers of used planes big profits.

to the States. A wing was picked up from a damaged DC-3 and another from Air Force surplus. The overhauling cost $60,000, but the plane was sold to Bolivia at a tidy profit.

In another instance a West Coast outfit bought an ancient DC-3 which had housed a Florida family for nine years. The rebuilt plane not only passed a Civil Aeronautics Administration safety check but, fitted with modern engines, flew faster than when new.

Incidents like these have meant literal pie in the sky for brokers of old aircraft. One of these, Wold Associates of New York City, has sold $30,000,000 worth of outmoded planes since its start in 1949. Says founder William C. Wold: "We had come to the conclusion that it took no more effort to sell a $250,000 multi-engine transport than it did to peddle a $5,000 lightplane." He was right — and the firm gets 1 to 10 per cent commission on its sales.

Wold, who maintains an exhaustive and exclusive "clearing list," intimates that he can put his finger on "99.5 per cent of all multi-engined aircraft in the world." Any time a plane crashes it is duly "scratched" from the list. (Unlike broker Wold, some salvage firms purchase the wrecked planes for rebuilding.) Simultaneously he keeps up a mailing list of almost 10,000 prospective plane buyers.

The broker is continually on the alert for tips from pilots, importers and exporters. He also spends a small fortune on overseas cables and calls, and himself flies all over the globe. Not long ago Wold sold some A-26's to the French Air Ministry. On the delivery flight, he and his wife flew across the Atlantic as part of the ferry crew.

This business venture hit an air pocket on the way. Joseph Barta, Wold's partner, ran into trouble when he brought the planes from Mexico to Houston, Tex. There he was met by customs and treasury officials who had been tipped there was gold aboard. They found nothing — but the innocent broker had several unnerving minutes.

Middleman with Money

Because the price of planes has skyrocketed, another kind of business, Aviation Financial Services, has come to the fore. This firm serves as a finance agency between plane-hungry airlines and would-be investors.

The airlines themselves are badly in need of large amounts of money because of the hectic competition for new $2,000,000 DC-7's and the prospect that they will be paying $5,000,000 apiece for jet transports in 1958. The carriers used to meet their capital needs via public or private securities sales, or out of earnings or by intermediate bank loans. But now this isn't enough. Thus, Aviation Financial Services is filling the gap.

But no matter how much money prospective plane purchasers can raise, the aircraft shortage continues. Of course brokers like Wold aren't complaining. He recently spent two months in Tahiti negotiating a sale. He would be equally happy to visit your back yard if by chance you are using a DC-3 or DC-4 as a flower planter. ■

● Forgetfulness may reveal trifles or deep disturbances—but it

WHY DO YOU LOSE THINGS?

by DOUGLAS GREENE

Not long ago, pretty Belgian actress-singer Monique Van Vooren walked out of a New York restaurant. A month later, she suddenly realized she'd forgotten her wrap and rushed to tell the police. They had it — a mink stole worth $2,500.

If you think it's odd for a girl to forget her mink, brace for a few shocks. Not a few but literally hundreds of fur coats are "lost" every year throughout the U.S., in trains, restaurants, buses, theaters, hotels, waiting rooms — even in the streets. And they're only a fraction of the great variety of valuables people leave behind.

Equally interesting are the reasons psychologists and memory experts are propounding these days for the increasing run of human forgetfulness. It's practically normal to lose things like keys, hats, gloves, even small amounts of cash — but what can be said about the passenger in a Pittsburgh bus who left behind a purse containing $18,000? Or the Boston lady who forgot her bag in a train — with jewels worth about $125,000?

Forgotten: One Snake

It's hard to misplace articles like TV antennas, a 6', two-man crosscut saw, artificial legs, a cage full of white mice or a pickled snake — but these have turned up recently in lost-and-found departments. New York's Fifth Avenue Coach Lines says three or four crutches are left in buses every year. (None, incidentally, has ever been called for.) And doctors occasionally forget their little black bags.

People lose people, too. Husbands and wives wander absent-mindedly through department stores and forget about each other — until they're homeward bound alone.

Why does all this happen?

Years ago Sigmund Freud, father of psychoanalysis, said that when we lose articles we reveal hidden feelings. For instance, we may be showing a secret dislike for the article, or a hatred for some person we associate with it. Or we may be harboring guilty feelings about the manner the article was obtained, and, to punish ourselves, we lose it. Freud also believed that folks who leave things in certain places may be revealing a subconscious wish to return to those places.

However, psychologists and psychiatrists have been analyzing this Freudian notion in the light of newer knowledge and have come up with five additional reasons. One or more should fit most forgetters. Can you spot your category?

1 They keep an untidy mental house.

Some persons try to juggle a half-dozen thoughts and situations at a time. Their minds dart swiftly from one subject to another; thus they only half-attend to any one thing they do. Explains Dr. Allan Fromme, director and chief psychologist of the University Settlement House, New York: "They are impressed simultaneously by so many stimuli, it's small wonder their attentions are easily seduced from the umbrella on the floor or the package on the seat."

2 They rivet their minds on what is to come instead of concentrating on what is happening at the moment.

Dr. Bruno Furst, one of the country's leading memory experts, says: "People do one thing and think of another. A man parks his car and heads for the party a few blocks away. His mind is on the fun he will have, so he 'loses' his car, forgetting where he parked it."

ABSENT-MINDED Monique Van Vooren, who left a mink stole in a New York restaurant, gets it back from a property clerk.

Looking Too Far Ahead

Dr. Richard H. Hoffmann, prominent psychiatrist, disagrees sharply with parts of the Freudian view. He declares: "Freud would have said the doctors who left their bags on the buses didn't want to treat the patients they were going to visit. It's far more likely the doctors were looking ahead, worrying about the patients."

3 They have developed a habit of steeping themselves in thought as they walk or ride.

Typical here, says Dr. Furst, is the legendary absent-minded professor. Also in this category are persons with a special worry or problem. Declares Dr. Hoffmann: "The lawyer trying to figure out a case, the businessman with inventory trouble, the housewife planning a dinner party can all be so preoccupied that they lose articles they are carrying."

4 They break a long-standing habit, doing something in an unusual way.

The lawyer who never carries his brief case home may leave it on the train the one time he decides to take it. The fellow who rarely wears a hat might well leave it in a restaurant.

5 A physical or emotional cause may be involved.

Dr. Hoffmann points out that persons suffering from arteriosclerosis, glandular defects, migraine headaches and forms of epilepsy are prone to memory lapses. Dr. Karl A. Menninger of Kansas' famed Menninger Clinic explains that brain injuries that destroy nerve cells can result in defective retention. This, he says, can occur in brain concussions and skull fractures, as well as via the atrophying processes of age.

If you are a loser of things, is there anything you can do to tighten up? There certainly is. Dr. Furst, director of the famous School of Memory and Concentration in New York City, who has taught more than 70,000 persons to remember better, offers these tips:

- Always make certain you know the number of articles you are carrying. Count them. Then, when you leave a place, make sure you have the correct number.
- The moment you alight somewhere — a room, the theater, a vehicle — concentrate hard for a second or two on the articles you put down. Thus you immediately form a conscious association between the articles and the place. When you leave, the association will automatically help you remember your things.
- When you enter a place carrying, say, a parcel, turn and stare at the exit door. Picture yourself standing there, parcel in your hand. Then go about your business. When it's time to leave, the sight of the door will evoke the picture you had conjured up.

Try it. What can you lose? ■

Modern design

in Light refreshment

TODAY'S active, attractive people have a design of their own for everything—including a modern design for eating. The lighter food and drink they favor work magic for their figures.

Pepsi-Cola goes along with this modern diet, too. Today's Pepsi, reduced in calories, is never heavy, never too sweet. Refresh without filling—always say "Pepsi, please."

You get the features of the future in FORD today!

Wow! What a long lifeline that 'Inner Ford' has!

Want proof Ford's a standout for standup? Ask them at Bonneville, Utah. They saw a Ford whiz to 458 world speed and endurance records. It covered 50,000 miles, traveling 24 hours a day, 20 days—at 108.16 mph.

The new kind of ride is just your cup of tea!

Rough back roads are "duck soup" for this car . . . and superhighways are so much velvet. New, automatic, variable-rate rear suspension adjusts itself to road conditions. New front suspension arms are swept back 20° to soak up "rock 'n' roll."

Ford's futurific styling will stay on the ball!

You're looking at the sleek, sculptured styling of cars to come. For those smartly canted fins, those big, visored headlights, those graceful compound curves, all point to style that will stay in style.

Ford's new V-8 'Go' will star in the long stretch, too!

Ford's new V-8's range from 190 horsepower clear up to 300 supercharged horsepower. And each is electronically balanced operating under its own power ...an exclusive Ford process to give smoothest engine performance ever!

Great deal more in the cards at resale time!

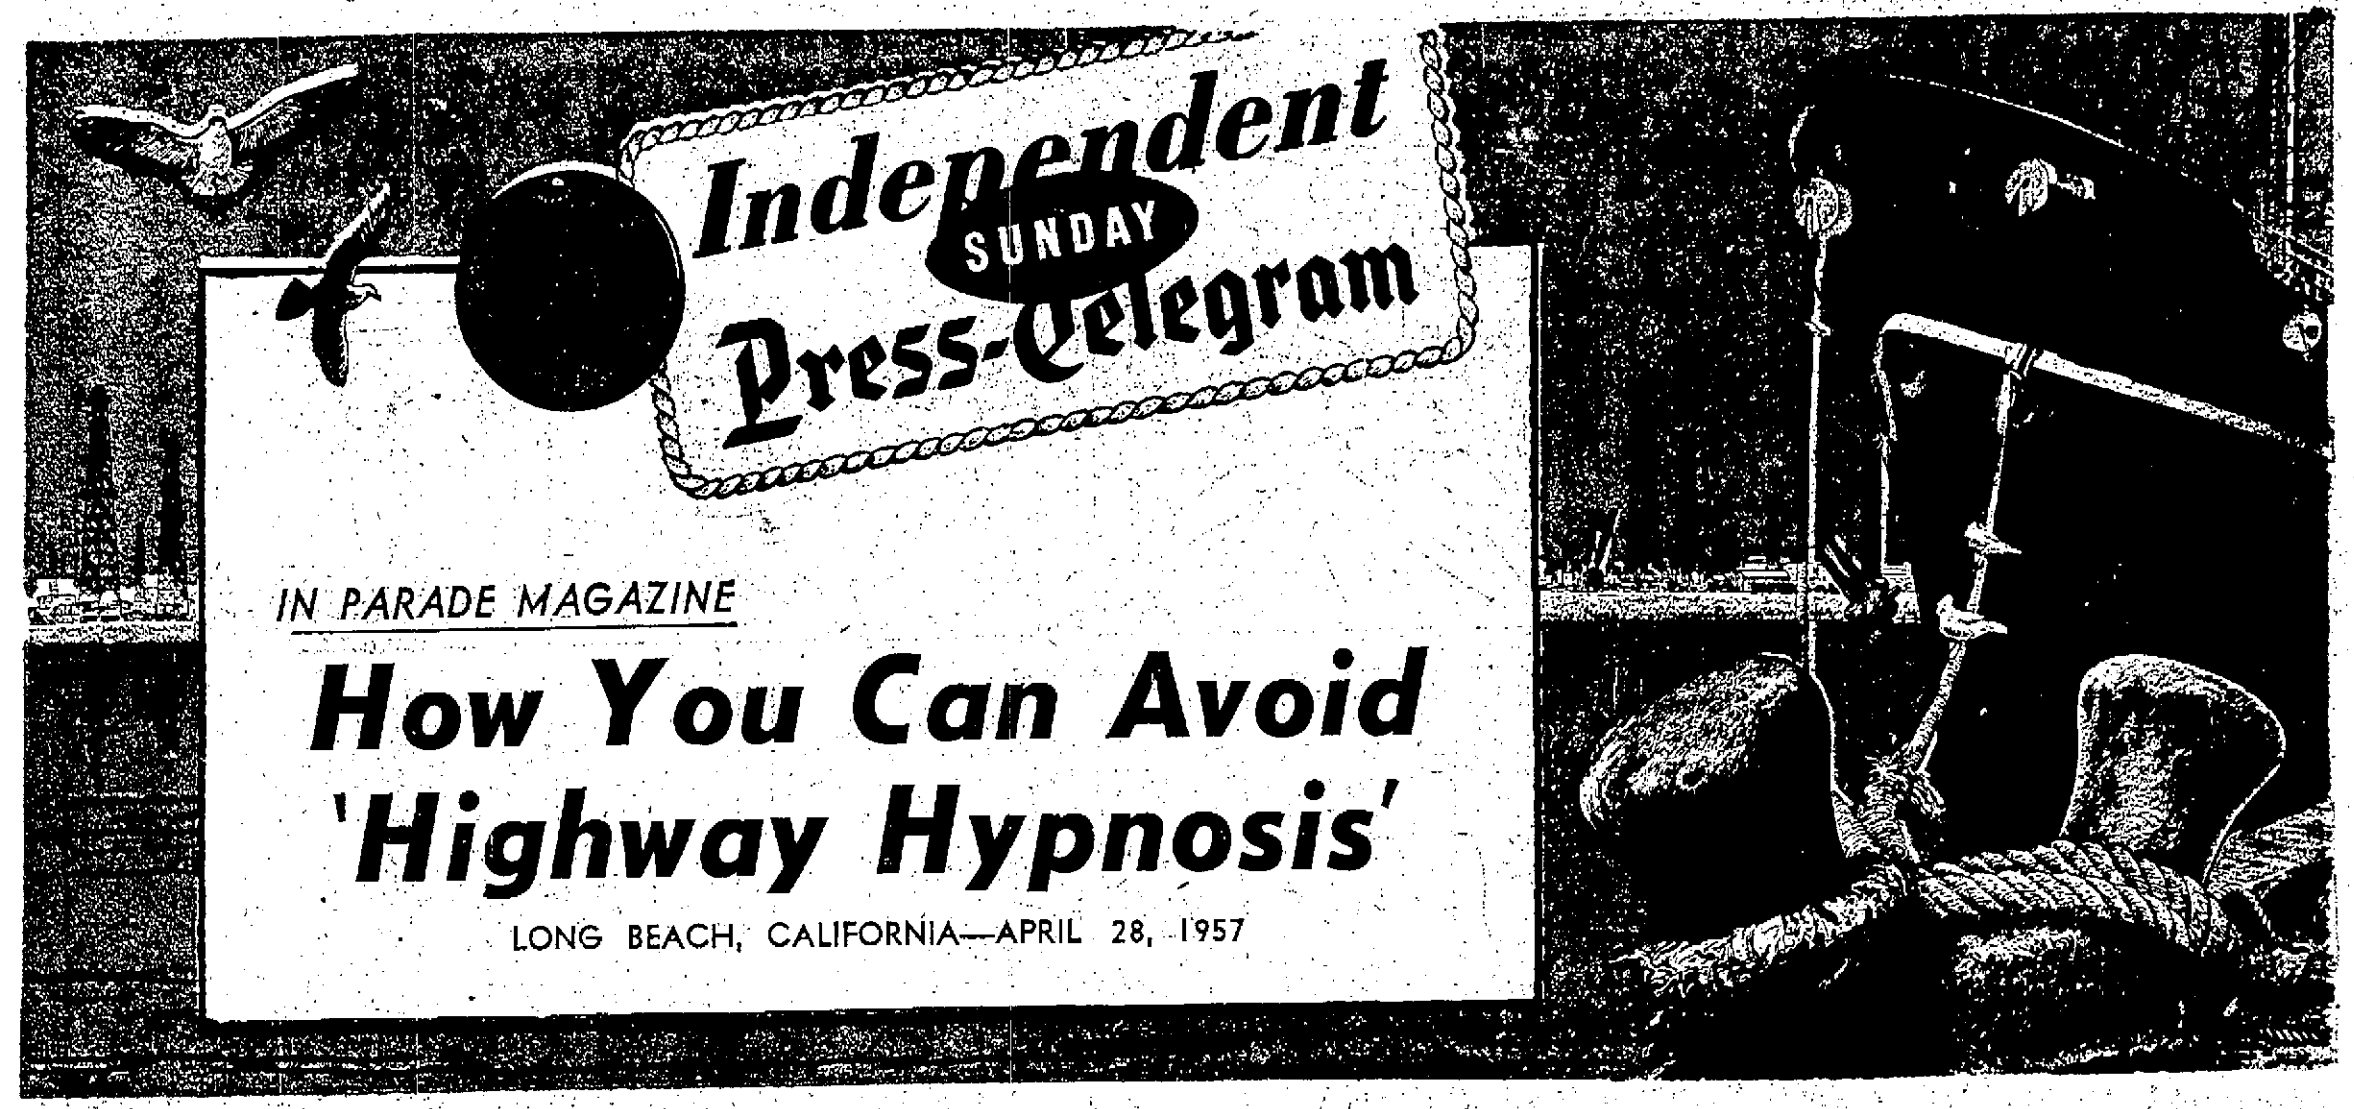

Ford has been the low-priced field's traditional leader in resale value. This new Ford with all of its years-ahead features . . . all the extra ruggedness built into it . . . holds even more promise of high resale value than ever.

NEW KIND OF LIFEBUOY:

Makes Skin So Immune to Bacteria that it Stops Odor Over 24 Hours!

At work or play...it keeps odor away!

New kind of bath soap prevents odor-causing bacteria from growing on your skin!

New Lifebuoy guarantees you "just-bathed" freshness all day long! For here is a new kind of bath soap, with a new kind of lather—rich, creamy, deodorizing lather!

Used daily, new Lifebuoy makes your skin so immune to bacteria that it stops odor from head to toe. Stops odor in almost every instance for over 24 hours. No bath before ever made you feel so clean, so confident, so completely refreshed!

Smells so good! Gentle as LANOLIN! No other soap—only new Lifebuoy—contains anti-bacterial TMTD. And independent tests have proved: TMTD (full scientific name, Tetra-Methyl-Thiuram-Disulfide) is actually twice as effective as the deodorant ingredient put in any other soap. Clears away odor-causing bacteria.

Lifebuoy clears away blemish-causing bacteria, too! Prevents them from growing—helps keep your skin clear and clean all day long.

So, for "just-bathed" freshness use all-new, fragrant Lifebuoy every day. Makes your skin so immune to bacteria that it stops odor for over 24 hours. Satisfaction guaranteed by Lever Brothers or your money back.

Make Lifebuoy Your friend-you'll never offend

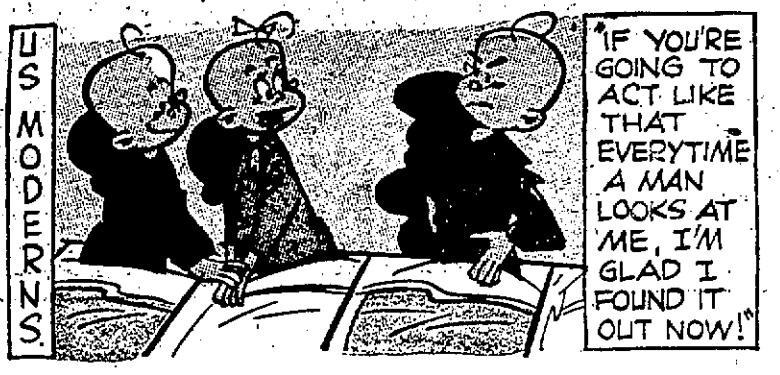

You'll like its wonderful new fragrance!

GOODBYE TO DISHPAN FINGERNAILS

NOW YOU CAN ENJOY SPARKLING CLEAN DISHES...

No dishpan job's too tough for White King's bubbly, liquid suds to tackle. That skillful blend dissolves the instant water hits it – washes off clingy food particles completely, leaving everything sparkly-clean. And another nice thing about White King Liquid – you'll find dishes dry in seconds without wiping.

–AND STILL HAVE HANDS PARTY-PERFECT TO THEIR FINGERTIPS!

There's "Built-in Manicure Protection" in every capful of White King Liquid. It's neutral as a mountain spring and absolutely free from skin-irritating alkali. Laboratory tests prove it too: No chipping, no peeling of nail polish through 21 dishpansful when White King was used. Better try it soon so you, too, can look at your hands and say "Goodbye to dishpan fingernails."
